HARVEY CHENAULT CAMPAIGN CHAIRMAN

Popular Democrat To Lead Fight For Nominees In County— Picks Advisory Committee

Harvey Chenault will lead the fight for a Democratic victory in Madison county this fall.

He was chosen by unanimous vote of the Democratic nominees to manage their campaign and, because of his intense loyalty to his party and desire to see it triumph again he consented to act as campaign manager.

The candidates and Democrats generally feel that no more fortunate choice for Campaign Chairman could have been made. Mr. Chenault is known to almost every man, woman and child in Madison. Probably no one in the county has more or stronger personal friends. He has also had much experience in campaign affairs in the past and can be relied upon to lead the party to victory, if victory is possible, those who know him, declare.

Mr. Chenault has appointed the following sterling democrats as members of the Advisory Executive Committee to assist in the work of the campaign: Messrs. Jas. B. Parks, V. B. Benton, S. H. Thorpe, C. C. Coy, M. E. Vaughn, T. H. Collins and W. R. Shackelford.

Covington and Arnold are expecting to go to the Normal school where they are going out for foot ball. Several new men are expected to appear in Model gridiron uniforms that will add greatly to the Model team. ONE REGIMENT MAY BE SENT HOME

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 6.—The condition in the West Virginia coal fields is said by General Bandholtz in reports to the War Department today to be such that the 26th infantry could immediately return to its Camp Dix station. This would leave 1,150 federal soldiers in the state. Asked how long the soldiers would stay in the disturbed area, Secretary Weeks said it is "all a guess." He added that something like the situation on the Rhine, "while the flag flies there will probably be no disorder." He said, however, that no soldiers will be withdrawn except on advice of President Harding.

Later the president approved withdrawal of the 26th infantry, and an order for its return was issued by Secretary Weeks.

MADISON NOW OVER 2,000,000 MARK

Seventy Growers Sign Up Crops At Conclusion of Fine Speech By Kehoe

Madison county went over the 2,000,000 pound mark in signed tobacco for the burley pool, following a splendid address by ex-Congressman James N. Kehoe, of Mason county, at the courthouse Monday.

An immense crowd heard Mr. Kehoe, who explained the co-operative selling plan so simply that the veriest child could understand it. The principal features of his address have been printed before in noting his speeches at other points in the state. He pointed out the great benefits which it appears the growers can obtain by a systematic and business-like selling of their tobacco instead of the present method of dumping it on the market and taking what they are offered.

There was intense interest in the speech made by Mr. Kehoe. It was hard to push into the courtroom so great was the crowd.

T. S. Burnam, chairman of the organization committee for Madison county, presided and introduced Mr. Kehoe.

About 70 growers, who had not as yet pledged their tobacco, signed up a total of 461,000 pounds when Kehoe had concluded. It is hoped to have Madison's 75 per cent pledged within a short time now.

Bourbon, Fayette and Woodford have practically completed the necessary amounts and Madison growers are determined that she shall not lag in this great work. An intensive campaign is to be started at once to complete the work here.

Those who signed up their crops after the Kehoe meeting Monday were:

MISS BELLE H. BENNETT ON EDUCATION BOARD

(By Associated Press)
Proposed by Governor if Amendments Carry and Legislature Acts Favorably

Louisville, Sept. 6.—Governor Edwin P. Morrow and other speakers pleaded for the children of Kentucky at the inauguration of "Better School Week in Kentucky" in the auditorium of the Louisville Male High School last night. Several hundred voters were present.

All the speakers advocated passage of the two constitutional amendments at the election in November. Mr. Morrow announced the personnel of the proposed State Board of Education recommended by the Kentucky Educational Survey Commission.

The Board of nine members, the naming of each of which evoked applause, would consist of: R. C. Ballard Thruston, Louisville; Lem Putnam, Ashland; Lewis C. Humphrey, Louisville; Morgan Hughes, Bowling Green; Charles H. Ellis, Sturgis; Mrs. Samuel M. Wilson, Lexington; Miss Belle Bennett, Richmond; Lake Dudley, Flemingsburg, and Henry Berry, Owensboro.

Mr. Morrow characterized this board as "thoroughly bipartisan" and said, before pledging its personnel, that "I am going to appoint five democrats and four republicans that no one afterward may charge that politics played the least part in its selection."

The board has been termed "proposed" for the reason that its appointment depends on the passage of the two amendments and action by the State Legislature which would vest the Governor with power of appointment in line with recommendations already made by the commission, which has conducted a thorough survey of the needs of the youth of the state, "the men and the women of tomorrow," in the way of common schools.

METHODISTS ARE IN SESSION AT SOMERSET

Delegates From Local Churches Go To 101st Annual Session of Kentucky Conference

Rev. and Mrs. W. O. Sadler, Miss Belle H. Bennett and Deaconess Emily Olmsted and Rev. J. A. McClintock are in Somerset this week for the 101st annual session of the Kentucky Methodist Conference which convenes there Wednesday, the 7th, and continues through to the 12th.

Bishop Collins Denny will preside over the conference sessions, which will be held from 9 o'clock each morning until the closing service each night at 7:30. The first session will be held on the morning of September 7 at which time Bishop Denny will deliver the opening address, after which the roll call will be held and the business session will follow immediately.

One hundred and seventy-five ministers are members of the Kentucky conference, which embraces all of the churches of this denomination in the entire Eastern half of the state. In addition to these there will be two lay delegates from each church so that a number of delegates and ministers will be more than 300. All arrangements have been perfected by the First Methodist church at Somerset to take these ministers and delegates into privacies of the town for entertainments during the five-day session of the conference and a sufficient number of automobiles will meet them at the depot Tuesday afternoon, when they will arrive, and take them to the various homes in which they will be entertained.

This marks the third time that Somerset has entertained the annual conference, the first time being in September, 1896, when Bishop A. W. Wilson, presided. The second time was in September, 1913, when Bishop E. K. Hendrix was the presiding officer. At the conclusion of the five-day session, ministers to the various churches will be assigned by the Bishop.

Rev. W. L. Clark, pastor of the First Methodist church, Somerset, where the conference sessions will be held, is completing his sixth year of pastorate there and it is almost certain that he will be assigned to another charge at this conference. The first annual conference ever held by the Kentucky Conference was held in Lexington in 1821.

GIRL ON TRIAL FOR FATHER'S MURDER

Preliminary Hearing of Allie Nolan Vance Starts At Bardstown, Nelson County

(By Associated Press)
Bardstown, Ky., Sept. 6.—The case of Allie Nolan Vance, 14-year-old daughter of the late Charles Vance, a wealthy Nelson county farmer, charged with his murder, was called in court here today for preliminary hearing.

Charles A. Vance, wealthy Nelson county farmer, was shot and killed while he slept in his home six miles from Bardstown the night of August 18, 1921. A shot gun was used and the muzzle was placed so close to his chest that his heart was literally torn to pieces.

Investigation of the crime revealed that Vance had been shot with his own shotgun and that the gun had been fired through an open window. It also developed that two days before he had chastised his pretty daughter, Allie Nolan Vance, because she had gone to a party with one boy and returned with another to whom the father objected.

Bloodhounds called to the scene of the crime found a trail leading from a porch on which the window was located, to a chicken house and then back to the house and to a door behind which three guns were stacked. One of the guns gave indications of having been fired a short time before and a piece of window curtain was found on it. The 14-year-old daughter admitted that the gun which had been fired had been in her hands but stated that she had merely straightened it after her father was shot, because it looked like it was going to fall.

The coroner's jury which investigated the case returned a verdict that Vance's wife and daughter, Allie Nolan, were "parties to the crime." Joe Lindsey, an itinerant peddler, formerly in the employ of Vance, was arrested as a suspect but later was released.

Mrs. Vance testified at the inquest that she was awakened by a telephone call and called Allie to the phone as she could not understand. She said she returned to bed and was sleeping lightly when she was awakened by a shot saw her husband sit up in bed and then topple over on the floor. She jumped out of bed and ran to the doorway where she called to her son, Ernest, but he had not returned from a party, so she called Allie. Allie refused at first to call a doctor or neighbors, saying that she was frightened, but finally was prevailed upon to call upon George Teater. Mrs. Vance said she did not return to the room because she was afraid and that her husband had expressed fear of Lindsey, who left after a quarrel over a practical joke.

The girl testified that she was not sleeping soundly and the shot awakened her. She said that she was putting on a house dress when her mother called and that she was afraid. She said her mother said someone had been shot but did not say who and the two remained in a hallway until Teater arrived. She admitted that her father had slapped her a few days previously. The day after the coroner's verdict was returned, the girl was arrested on the charge of murder.
