

DEMOCRATS MAKE GOOD GAIN IN CITY

Registration Majority Over Republicans Increased From 111 Last Year to 165

Democrats made substantial gains in the registration of voters of the city of Richmond Tuesday over their showing of a year ago. Both parties gained in the number of voters recorded but the democratic gain was larger, so that while the registered majority last year was exactly 111, following registration, the majority this year is 163, a gain of 52 votes.

There were 61 voters registered as Independent last year, but only 43 this year. The Independent vote is not considered in figuring the democratic majority over the republicans as given above.

Both parties had workers busy with cars all day long, and interest became quite keen before the polls closed at 9 o'clock. Democratic headquarters was greatly pleased with the showing made as they went up against the strongest sort of organization. The registration by precincts is given in summary below, the complete registration showing white and colored voters in proportion will be given as soon as compiled. One Socialist registered, as usual.

Democratic Gains Over State

Louisville, Oct. 5.—The Post today says that tremendous democratic gains were made in registration of voters in this city. The republican lead of over 10,000 in last year's registration was cut to 2,900 on the first day. Reports from over the state indicate large democratic gains.

Substantial democratic gains over the republicans in Lexington, Paducah, Frankfort, Hopkinsville, Harrodsburg, Owensboro, Covington, Newport, and other cities marked the registration in Kentucky yesterday.

At Lexington the democratic majority over the republicans increased approximately 1,000 as compared with the registration last year.

Reports from all but three precincts in Winchester indicate the largest democratic majority in the city's history.

Hopkinsville went over 200 republican in first day's registration last year, reversed itself and gave the democrats a majority of approximately 200, a net gain of 400 for the democrats.

Owensboro reported the largest democratic majority in the city's history—1,088, as compared with 557, the democratic gain this year.

Although women voters in Covington showed very little interest in the registration, the democratic margin over the republicans in the few precincts reporting indicate a much larger majority than last year's. The republican majority in Newport also is less than normal.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS SHOW INCREASE

In Membership Past Year, Says Dr. Joplin's Report To Newport Convention

Newport, Ky., Oct. 5.—Sunday Schools throughout Kentucky have had a good increase in membership during the past year and larger numbers have been added to the church than ever before, according to the annual report of Rev. George A. Joplin, Louisville, General Secretary of Kentucky State Sunday School made here today at the opening session of the annual conference of the organization. Rev. Joplin reviewed the work of his office during the year praising the spirit of cooperation that has been shown by the Sunday School workers throughout the state.

During the year, he reported, more than 50,000 persons attended about one thousand Sunday School rallies held throughout the state. One hundred and thirty-four conventions were held and attended by members of the staff of the association at which 1,681 Sunday Schools were represented, and at which there was a total attendance of 18,140. Nearly five thousand persons had some part in the programs of the various rallies and conventions.

The work of expanding the Sunday Schools took the form of a definite program during the year, he said. February was set aside for the improvement of Sunday Schools along the lines of attendance, punctuality, lesson study, bringing bibles, offering from each pupil and church attendance. March was devoted to training for personal work and April to extension, with the first Sunday in the latter month observed as a day when all pupils should be present, the second as "Family Day," the third "Friend's Day" and the last Sunday as "Neighbor's Day." The first Sunday in May was observed as "Go-to-Sunday-School-Day."

During last November and December Rev. W. A. Brown, Superintendent of the Commission on Evangelism of the International Sunday School Association visited twenty points. During the summer Prof. C. E. Dudley, Miss Eliza Richards and Miss George Dunn did special work in the various districts aiding workers in rallies and conventions and otherwise assisting in organization work.

Other workers for the organization visited as many counties as possible during the year helping the county committees in preparing their programs.

Weldon Says Stick To Bible

Stick to the Bible in instruction of Adult Bible classes and do not let the opies of the day monopolize the time, Rev. J. W. Weldon, Madisonville, teacher of the Wesley Brotherhood Bible Class, the largest in Kentucky, told the Adult Division Section. He declared that classes where the discussions were allowed to stray to subject which the students had to hear every day, would not grow.

The adult bible class is unequalled as the place for developing the fellowship of man, Rev. Weldon said. The bible class is one place in the church, he said, where membership is not a requisite of taking an active part and by this means of community spirit is injected.

"It often happensthat some of our very enthusiastic supporters of the adult Bible classes are not members of the church," he said, after declaring that "anything that calls people together into one place and away from the routine of daily toil tends to even up conditions and moves towards a larger corporate body of which the church is the highest expression. The bible class is more democratic and less ritualistic than other phases of church activities."

The bible class also is an antidote for littleness and selfishness, he said, in that its activities tend to promote teamwork and competitive spirit in various ways.

Was "The Listening Ear"

"The story is the outstanding feature of the Sunday School to the small child," she said. "To tell the story well is to impress the lesson it contains. Therefore it must be adapted to the children in approach, in language and in speed of movement. For beginners the story must be a picture, with the attributes of a picture in color, composition, perspective and atmosphere—perhaps greatest of these is atmosphere. It also must be a journey, a trip to the land of 'Once Upon a Time' with a thrill of adventure and expectation as we start. It must be told so as to draw the child nearer to God. When we have a sermon we ask three things of the preacher—to be drawn nearer to God, to have our stock of religious knowledge increased and to be helped to do our duty. All of this story must do for the beginner."
