Studebaker

This is a Studebaker year

We have been asked the question how we account for the tide of Studebaker popularity which has swept the country.

Among others, two fundamental causes explain it:

- 1—The outstanding cause is the value of Studebaker Cars, in quality, style performance, durability and price, demonstrated by the complete satisfaction and enthusiasm of nearly one-half million owners who know values.
- 2—The universal respect for and confidence in the integrity of the name STUDEBAKER which for seventy years has been the symbol of quality and fair dealing.

Crowning proof of the dependability of Studebaker Cars is reflected in our diminishing business in service parts

With approximately 116,000 more Studebaker Cars in operation on September 1st, 1921, our parts business the first eight months of this year was 3 per cent less than in the same period two years ago.

While our car manufacturing plants operated this year 41 per cent ahead of last year, our service parts manufacturing plant has operated at from one-half to two-thirds of last year.

Studebaker Cars are standing up in service and staying out of repair shops, to a degree unexcelled, we believe, by any Cars of whatever price.

demand; but the aim should always be to secure a seed bed such as that described above. Cowpea stubble usually can be prepared for rye by disking and harrowing. The time of seeding rye depends upon the use to be made of the crop. If it is intended as a cover crop to prevent the washing out of plant food, or if intended for grazing purposes, it should be sown between September 15 and October 15.

Rye can be sown with success later on fertile land in a good seed bed than it can on poor land in a poor seed bed.

It is better to sow rye in drills 6 to 8 inches apart with a regular grain drill. Less seed is then required, it saves labor and a more even and uniform stand is secured. Many farmers do not have drills, and hence must depend on sowing broadcast. When a drill is not available, rye may be sown broadcast by hand or with a seeder and covered by harrowing. The one sowing the seed may save labor and can sow more evenly and rapidly by standing or sitting on the rear end of a wagon as it is drawn slowly back and forth across the field. Some farmers sow the grain from horse back. This is especially good when sowing in corn.

Rye alone or with hairy vetch or crimson clover is frequently sown with good results as a cover or grazing crop. The crop should be sown early to allow a good growth before plowing, and a variety making large early growth. Better results are secured by sowing rye with vetch or clover than by sowing it alone.

When sown early on good land in a well-prepared seed bed with a drill, 3 or 4 pecks per acre is a sufficient quantity of seed; on poorer lands and for later sowings, 4 or 5 pecks are required. When sown broadcast and when sown for pasturage, at least 1 peck more per acre than the quantities stated above should be sown. Under the poorest conditions 6 or more pecks are required.

FIFTIETH BIRTHDAY FOR BIRMINGHAM

(By Associated Press)

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 8.—The chief feature of Birmingham's celebration of her fiftieth birthday during the week of October 24-29, will be the historical pageant depicting the half century of development from a group of cornfields in 1871 to the South's leading industrial center in 1921.

Since the first house was built in Birmingham only 50 years ago, the pageant can present only a half century of the history of the city itself. The early history of Alabama, colonial days and the Civil War period and reconstruction will be grouped in a prelude. The main pageant will consist of a series of separate episodes showing the various periods in the building of Birmingham.

Fifteen hundred people will take part, including a chorus of 500 specially trained voices, and several hundred young people who will take the dancing parts. Orchestras and bands will provide the music.

The pageant was prepared from a mass of data compiled by local historians. The episode to be presented will show the discovery of coal, iron and limestone in large quantities in sight of the present city of Birmingham, the construction of the first small, crude iron furnaces, the opening of coal mines in what are now the limits of the city, the growth of the city from a crude, rough, lawless mining camp, the boom period followed by the financial disaster of the 80's, the period of deflation and then the launching of Birmingham on a firm foundation.

Then will come the experiments in steel making, which were finally attended by success, the entry of the United States Steel Corporation into Birmingham, following the acquisition of the properties of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, the construction of many steel mills, the passing of the city from the raw material to finished product era.

The closing episode will deal with Birmingham of today, a city of 200,000 people. It will show coal, iron and limestone, the three requisites for steel making found side by side within sight of the many furnaces where pig iron is made, at the side of the giant steel plants where finished steel is made and then converted into all kinds of steel products, where it is loaded on barges made of Birmingham steel, floated down a river open to perennial navigation to Mobile and New Orleans where it is loaded into steel ocean liners, made of Birmingham steel by a Birmingham corporation and then sent to every civilized nation of the world.

One part of this episode will show the opening of the Warrior river to navigation after the government had constructed Lock 17 which has a dam 63 feet high, and two locks with a lift of 31 1-2 feet each, more than three of the Gatun locks on the Panama canal. This dam created Lake Bankhead which backs up water more than 60 miles, enabling Birmingham to tow her products to the gulf ports.

Other episodes will depict the progress of Birmingham along educational, social and civic lines from the early days when lawlessness was rampant until today when the city lays claims to actions as a home city second to none.

MISS WHEELER URGES LAW ENFORCEMENT

Tobacco Evil Scored In Speech at W. C. T. U. Meeting—Movies and Gambling Attacked

(By Associated Press)

Danville, Ky., Oct. 8.—An appeal to the Kentucky Woman's Temperance Union to fight steadily for law enforcement in the state was made by Mrs. Anna B. Wheeler, of Louisville, corresponding secretary of the organization, in her annual report before the convention of the state organization here today. She declared that the best place to begin teaching reverence and obedience to "all law" is in the home.

After reviewing the work of the organization during the 21 years she has been connected with it, Mrs. Wheeler cautioned the delegates that the work of the organization is not finished. "There is law enforcement" she said, "to be looked after. The prohibition law is marvelously well enforced when we consider how new it is, the money political influence, the unconverted brains and the poor old sets with depraved appetite, all joined in close compact, organized endeavor to defeat enforcement and some front pew church folks aiding and abetting them. This will not last long. We need fear no defeat from folks who do not have audience with God.

"May I name some of the outstanding 'giants' to be conquered? Lawlessness, not some particular law, but reverence, and obedience to all law, and the best place to begin is at home.

"Legalized gambling must be overthrown, the 'movies' must be made wholesome or put out of business. The soft drink stand, all too often a den of vice and drunkenness, the degrading dance hall, the pool room, promoters of illness, and spendthrifts making worthless citizens. Immorality in dress must go, many, many changes must be brought out in society, and last I shall mention and largest of all the 'giants' is the tobacco evil which also must go if our government is to stand and be the leading nation of the world and our citizenship become the Christian power we claim and ought to be."

Mrs. Wheeler urged the organization to continue its fight against cigarettes until it shall be unlawful to "have, give, buy or sell cigarettes or cigarette material."

During the year the state president and the corresponding secretary attended twelve district meetings, Mrs. Wheeler said in her report. Unions at Central City and Parkland have been reorganized and new unions organized at Butler and California during the year.

Richmond was visited by the first taste of winter today. The thermometer registered around 40, and many overcoats were seen coming out on the streets this morning.

For Rent For Year 1922

We have for rent a modern 8 room country home with good apple orchard, garden, barns, etc., attached, approximately 120 acres of land, 25 acres of which can be tilled in corn, 2 acres for tobacco, 30 acres for seeding in oats, and a small acreage for potatoes or other staple crop. Balance in grass.

Lying close to the above mentioned farm, we have 55 acres of blue grass land which has on it barns but no dwelling. This land will be rented separately or together with the first mentioned tract, principally for grazing, but will allow a few acres for tobacco, potatoes or other crop.

This land is located on Kingston and Speedwell pike near Crooksville. Liberal terms and prices to an acceptable party.
