WIZARD DEFENDS KU KLUX KLAN

Dramatic Scene in Congress When Chief Officer Denies Charges of Lawlessness

Wizard Attacks Ex-Clastrman

(By Associated Press)
Washington Oct. 13.—Resuming his testimony before the House Rules Committee, William J. Simmons, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, launched an attack against C. Anderson Wright, former clansman, who recently published what purported to be an expose of the order.

Simmons asserted the Klan was not organized for profit. He said his salary of a thousand dollars a month was fixed by the executive committee. Simmons produced a Klan ritual and read many paragraphs which, he said, showed the Klan pure Americanism. The Klan membership, he said, did not exceed 90,000 and declared it had no counterpart of the Klan organized in the south after the Civil War.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Sweeping denial of charges that the Ku Klux Klan contained within its ranks a lawless band of hooded hoodlums was made before a House committee Wednesday by William J. Simmons, of Atlanta, its founder and imperial wizard.

Turning squarely upon members who had listened intently for nearly two hours to a dramatic defense of the organization, Mr. Simmons declared "standing here in the presence of God" he wanted the world to know that if one thousandth part of the charges were true, he would forth with call together the grand council of the Klan for the purpose of forever disbanding it in every section of the United States.

Called after a number of negro witnesses from Boston and Chicago had urged a congressional inquiry of the Klan, the imperial wizard, first asking to be sworn, told the committee the Klan welcomed the investigation, but protested against attacks in some of the pending House resolutions.

The wizard was permitted to read his statement without interruption, although at the session today he will be questioned by committee members, especially with reference to published reports of various acts of vandalism charged to the Klan.

"There is no room in our organization for those who take the law into their own hands," he declared, banging the table. "We have been charged with everything from the wave of high prices to the sweeping march of the boll weevil. It has been charged that our primary aim was intimidation of the negro in the south. But it might surprise you to know that the growth of the Ku Klux Klan has been much greater in the north and the east than in the south."

Referring to the "attacks on the Klan by Hearst newspapers," Mr. Simmons, turning toward C. Anderson Wright, a former Klan member, who wrote a series of articles about the organization, said: "Just as Judas betrayed Christ for thirty pieces of silver, so there was found by the Hearst paper C. Anderson Wright, former Klan member, who for money, betrayed his oath. My information is that the Hearst papers repaid this man $5,000 cash and $100 a week as long as he worked on the stories; and also agreed to protect him from any damage suits and other legal action resulting from his libelous stories, these stories being false from start to finish."

Denying that officials of the organization received large sums as salaries or bonuses, Mr. Simmons said:

"We are spending the surplus money of the Klan in further building and enlargement of Lanier University in Atlanta, Ga. We have spent and are spending on Lanier University $150,000."

"The charge is made that we are organized to preach and teach religious intolerance and especially that we are anti-Roman Catholic, anti-Jew and anti-negro," Mr. Simmons continued. "The work of the Klan proves this absolutely untrue. Many alleged outrages have been attributed to the Klan, but none of these were against the Roman Catholics, Jews and negroes per se and none were committed by the Klan."

Washington, Oct. 13.—Sweeping denial of charges that the Ku Klux Klan contained within its ranks a lawless band of hooded hoodlums was made before a House committee Wednesday by William J. Simmons, of Atlanta, its founder and imperial wizard.

Sourwoods and 'Simmons Can't See G. O. P.

A prominent republican candidate was telling the members of the bar the other day of an amusing incident he had when posting some of his cards requesting the citizens of the county to vote for him. He said that he noticed a number of cards of his opponent tacked up at various places and that he invariably tacked one of his cards just under that of his opponent. He said that while thus engaged near Hybeetown, a man rode up and watched him, and when he had finished tacking up the card, he explained to him that he was a candidate and requested the man to vote for the republican party. The man answered him: "What? Vote for the republican party? Do you think a man living on 'simmons in the sourwoods would vote for the republican party this year?"

Heavy Liquor Sales Revealed in New York

New York, Oct. 13.—Papers revealing the purchasers of the thousands of bottles of liquor from bootleggers have fallen into the hands of prohibition agents thru the arrest of six men in Long Island City. Deliveries were made to clubs, restaurants, cafes and fashionable apartment houses. In certain instances the papers show the prices charged. Whisky costing bootleggers $24.50 a case brought on an average of $87.

One of the papers bore a notation directing a truck man to deliver three cases of whisky to an address near the criminal courts building. It said: "Deliver Lafayette street side. If policeman is there, O. K. Afternoon to 6 p. m., mornings after 7."

Besides the papers the pockets of one of the men arrested contained $22,500 in cash and a certified check for $10,000.

The six men are alleged to have been attempting to effect delivery of 2,000 cases of liquor from a bonded warehouse by means of forged permits at the time of their seizure. Each was held in $5,000 bail.

TOBACCO POOL SUCCESS IN VA.

Succored Association Got $1625 Hundred Compared With $9 Under the Old System

Richmond, Va., Oct. 11.—Elated by the success of its pool of 1920 succored tobacco, which resulted in the recent sale of the entire crop of pool members—165,000 pounds—at an average of $16.25 per hundred as compared of $9 received by growers who sold their crops in the old way, the Virginia Succored Tobacco Grower's Association has begun a campaign to enroll all producers of such tobacco in the state for a 1921 crop pool. It is estimated that the 1921 crop will total more than 4,000,000 pounds.

The 1920 crop pool was recently sold in one lot for approximately $200,000. The members of this pool were located mainly in the area composed of Carolina, Louisiana, Hanover, Fluvanna and Goochland counties. The Association for 1920 had 682 members. As the 1920 crop was rated as of inferior quality the members of the pool were much gratified by the price obtained.

The lot of tobacco fills more than 1,000 hogsheads, and as soon as the tobacco can be examined by buyers and paid for the association announces it will distribute the net proceeds to each farmer, which will be within a couple of weeks.

The success of the Virginia venture is expected to prove of great interest to tobacco growers in the two Carolinas and Kentucky in connection with a cooperative scheme for marketing by the farmers of the entire tobacco crop of the four states. In Virginia, sufficient farmers have already signed up to put the venture over and the campaign is gaining headway in the other three states.

The business of the association in Virginia has been conducted for the farmers by four agents, J. R. Quisenberry, chairman, of Fredericks Hall, Virginia; J. C. Stiles, of Ashland; W. W. Green, of Bowling Green, and W. S. Garrett, of Bula, Goochland county.

Should the present campaign to sign up a pool of all the succored tobacco growers of Virginia be successful they will handle more than 4,000,000 pounds of tobacco, most of which is raised in the vicinity of Richmond. In order to put over the pool, it must be completed by November 1. A large per centage of the crop has been signed up, and the committee is confident that when the price obtained for the 1920 crop becomes known to the farmers they will have no difficulty in signing up 75 or 80 per cent of the growers of that kind of tobacco by that time.

CORN AND TOBACCO CROPS FAR SHORT

FINANCIAL AID SURE FOR TOBACCO PLAN

All Question of Backing For Marketing Association Set At Rest By Statement

Financial aid for the proposed cooperative marketing association of burley tobacco growers is assured by a statement and ruling issued Monday by the Agriculture and Live Stock Loan Agency of the War Finance Corporation from the offices in Louisville.

The conditions on which this aid will be given were laid down and a ruling made that tobacco will be accepted as security for advances to finance the marketing of the Kentucky product.

Assurance had been given to representatives of the proposed association some time ago that aid would be forthcoming, but no definite ruling to this effect was made until a meeting of the War Finance Corporation on Thursday.

Similar assistance was promised directly to representatives of the tobacco movement September 21, in a ruling issued by W. P. G. Harding, of the Federal Reserve Board. Under this ruling the notes of the association, accompanied by weight tickets showing the amount of tobacco securing the notes, can be discontinued under certain restrictions, through the Federal Reserve system as agricultural paper.

The statement which made it certain that the organization when formed will be able to obtain money to market the product, is said to have been drawn at that meeting, but was not announced until last night.

The ruling removed the last financial obstacle in the way of the success of the cooperative tobacco marketing plan, it was declared. Reports from the committee campaign office in Lexington indicate that the 75 per cent of this year's product necessary to the formation of the association will be reached before November 15, the date set as the limit for this year's campaign to obtain signatures for the contract.

The way is also paved for similar associations for handling other agricultural products, it was pointed out. Loans to individuals for direct marketing of livestock and other farm products are made much easier, it was explained.

At the same time the statement issued by the War Finance Corporation committee expressly denies aid to tobacco speculators and dealers who purchase tobacco for resale. The statement also details the methods of obtaining loans. Banks and trust companies which lend money to farmers or associations of farmers marketing their product directly can obtain loans from the War Finance Corporation for this purpose.

The notes covering these advances from the War Finance Corporation to the lending banks are limited to one year. Interest rates will be determined from time to time by the Board of Directors of the War Finance Corporation.
