

SPENCE CALLS ON TEACHERS TO HELP

County Agent Wants Big Enrollment of Junior Agricultural Club Members

County Agent R. F. Spence, of Berea, is making an appeal to the school teachers of Madison and Rockcastle counties in regard to the Junior Agricultural Club work. He sends a copy of the letter he is mailing out, which reads as follows:

December is here. Christmas is nearing and your school closing. I know that you are glad for these three things. Not merely because December is here and Christmas brings gifts and school is closing, but because the end of a long period of hard work is nearing and brings you a rest or a change of work.

I, too, am happy because 1921 is closing with all its joys, pleasures and worries and above all the opportunities which will pass in 1922 in my work. There is one thing which I am not satisfied with the coming December, nearing Christmas, closing of school and the coming New Year and that is my Junior Agricultural Club enrollment. It is not big enough. It is not what it ought to be. It is not what it could be. It is not what it is going to be.

In this closing month of school and the last school days with your boys and girls, why not enroll a number of club members and put them in touch with the opportunities which belong to them and give them a chance to read and do some thinking and planning this winter.

I want to help them and you are the means of my getting in touch with them. You are with them now and can put them in touch with me, the State College of Agriculture and U. S. Department of Agriculture by sending me their names and addresses, and what they want to raise or grow, as has been explained before. Use the enrollment blank sent you. If you haven't the blank, send names and addresses. I will do the rest.

In doing this you are not doing it for the County Agent but for your county and people. You are doing a favor which will not be forgotten by these young people who hear your words and take your directions.

Won't you take a part in helping Kentucky enroll 25,000 club members and thereby raise the standard of education in rural life?

Yours for a greater opportunity for our boys and girls on the farm,

ROBT. F. SPENCE,
County Agricultural Agent
Berea, Ky.

Grand Champions In

Stock Show Named

Chicago, Dec. 2—Many grand championships in livestock were awarded today at the International Livestock Exposition here. Prince Marshall, owned by E. E. Blandford, of Hayward, Okla., was named grand champion Aberdeen-Angus bull. Kansas City won the award for grand champion breeding Hereford bull, Harlequin, belonging to W. A. Pickering, being declared the winner.

Kirk Livingston King, owned by the Bowvus Farms of Denver, Col., is the new grand champion bull of the milking shorthorn. Clover Leaf Royal, entered by W. C. Rosenberger & Sons, of Tiffin, Ohio, captured the award of breeding shorthorn grand champion bull.

Arbuckle Wins A Point

San Francisco, Dec. 2—A special medical commission's report that the bladder of Miss Virginia Rappe showed evidence of chronic inflammation and the presence of rupture was submitted today in the manslaughter trial of Roscoe C. Arbuckle in connection with Miss Rappe's death. The defense contended that the bladder rupture which caused Miss Rappe's death was the climax of a chronic condition and not caused by external force applied by Arbuckle, as the prosecution alleges. The prosecution was granted the privilege of examining the report. The commission was named by the court and counsel for both sides.

Roy Williams to Get Marshalship

Covington, Dec. 2—Roy Williams, of Jackson, was tipped today as the next United States Marshal for the Eastern Kentucky District. Republican leaders assert that he will succeed Marshal Henry Cox next spring.

Roy Williams is a brother of Reed Williams, of Richmond.

ELECTION CONTEST IS FILED IN BREATHITT

Jackson, Ky., Dec. 2—Notice of contest to be filed by Bryce Cundiff, democrat, contesting the seat of Rev. James Johnson, republican, as representative from Breathitt and Lee counties, was served on the contestee today. The wholesale killing on election day at Clay Hole precinct is one basis of contest. The notice sets forth twenty grounds on which he asks to be seated. Five precincts are sought to be thrown out on allegations of fraud, bribery, intimidation and open voting on the table. Cundiff also charges that Johnson was illegally nominated while holding the office of Justice of the Peace, and that he could not be voted for until six months after receiving his quietus for public moneys collected as a magistrate.

Cundiff declares that $30,000 was spent by Johnson and his organization to "buy up" the election; that a conspiracy was formed to prevent the holding of elections in large Democratic precincts, and that in carrying out that conspiracy seventeen men including three election officers were shot and either killed or wounded in Clay Hole precinct. In other precincts he says they had participated in vote buying, took part in counting the ballots, that one man stole, carried away and burned nineteen democratic ballots, and returned to finish the count. A number of children who are alleged to have voted are named.

SUGGESTS 'SHINE FOR HOSPITAL USE

Somerset, Ky., Dec. 2—A saving of money to hospitals of the state which need alcohol for bathing patients and for other purposes is believed by the editor of the Pulaski County Republican to be possible if instead of pouring out seized moonshine whiskey, prohibition agents would render it unfit for beverage purposes and send it to the hospitals. The proposal is made in a story telling of the destruction of a quantity of moonshine by prohibition agents. "It could be poisoned so that it would not be fit for drinking," says the editor.

Bo and Red Picked

Bo McMillin and Red Roberts, of Centre College, are given All-American positions on the first team to be picked by Eastern newspaper, the Boston Post. Bo is given the quarterback berth. Roberts is placed at an end. The eleven was chosen by Neal O'Hara.

Ground To Death Under Train

Stanford, Ky., Dec. 2—Andy Stapleton, 30 years old, was ground to death by a freight train from which he fell in front of the Stanford depot early Thursday morning. His body was cut to shreds. He leaves his widow and several children. He lived at Crab Orchard and was in the

Big Log Run On River

Frankfort, Dec. 2—The winter flow of logs to mills here from far up the Kentucky river will set in soon, it is expected. One local firm is having 20,000 oak, poplar, chestnut, and basswood logs cut and they will be started on their journey down stream on a high tide in time to reach here for the mill to begin operation by the first of the year.

PHONE RATES PASSED ON TO NEW COUNCIL

Retiring Board Cleans Up Its Slate and Ends Term of Fine Service

The city administration of Richmond changed personnel Thursday evening, when the councilmen who have served faithfully and well for the past four years, relinquished their duties and the new councilmen elected on November 8th were sworn in and started their work.

New city appointive officers were elected by acclamation, as a result of the caucus a few days ago. William O'Neil, who has been serving as mayor to fill out the unexpired term of L. P. Evans, deceased, was elected for the full four-year term, and the complete roster of officials named.

The old council met in its last session and transacted unfinished business before it. Then it adjourned, and the new councilmen were sworn in. The resignation of Wm. O'Neil was tendered as a co-councilman. Heas lenton was elected as the caucus nominee to succeed him and the appointive officers also were elected.

When the old council was called to order, reports from city officers showed tax collections of $184,999 by City Collector Jesse Dykes during November. Chief of Police Devore attached his check to his report showing collection of $81 from the police court during the month.

Following an opinion by City Attorney J. P. Chenault the council struck from the minutes of the salary reduction ordinance the reduction in the salary of the police judge from $900 to $800 a year, and Judge Murray Smith won his fight to prevent the reduction. Attorney Chenault ruled that the council should have fixed the salary for the entire term of four years for the police judge instead of two years which the council did in the ordinance, as the police judge is elected for a four-year term.

Mayor O'Neil reported steps taken in the phone reduction case. He pointed out that it is now up to the city to employ an engineer to go over the Cumberland Telephone Company's plant here and make an inventory of its worth, if the city desires to prosecute further the suit for reduction of rates. He said this would entail a great expense to the city. Opinion of Councilman Terrill the whole phone rate question was passed on to the new council.

The Mayor reported his inability to buy $10,000 worth of street improvement bonds from brokers who had purchased same at par and accrued interest. He said he did not believe that the city should pay more than that. There is now a surplus of about $12,000 in this fund to pay off these

MANY PRISONERS FORGOTTEN BY KIN

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 2—Preparations are being made at the various state institutions to make this holiday season one to be remembered by unfortunate who are wards of the state, according to reports from superintendents received at the office of the State Board of Charities and Corrections here. There will be special dinners, Christmas celebrations with Santa Claus, and Christmas trees at the state hospitals, institutions for the feeble minded and other institutions.

The superintendents, however, are disturbed about the situation of many of the inmates whose families apparently have forgotten them. Last year the superintendent of one hospital sent out a Christmas letter to the relatives of every inmate. Between 200 and 300 of these letters were returned without being claimed. This situation, according to the superintendents, results in many inmates not being remembered on Christmas except for what little the state can afford for them. As a result the superintendents have appealed to friends of the institutions for reading matter and presents of all kinds that would gladden the hearts of the forgotten.

MAYOR O'NEIL PAYS TRIBUTE TO RETIRING COUNCIL'S WORK

Just before the final adjournment was taken by the old City Council Thursday night, and their successors were sworn in, Mayor William O'Neil paid a brief and eloquent tribute to the work that the retiring councilmen have done during the past four years, which will undoubtedly be endorsed by everyone who has watched their course closely, and noted the fidelity to duty and the best interests of the people they have represented, during these four years. Mayor O'Neil spoke in full as follows:

Unless something comes up that requires your attention, this is your last meeting. You have served for the past four years and during that time your first year was at the time our country was at war and the remaining three were years with the high cost of living and reconstruction, and the city was like the individual—it had to economize to make ends met.

Your first move after you came into office, was to install the fire truck instead of horses. This has proved to be both financially and from a service standpoint, one of the best moves the City of Richmond ever made. Where it formerly required an expenditure of $100 a month for the old apparatus (gasoline, repairs, etc.) to the fire truck do not amount to over $4 or $5 a month.

You have done more public improvements during your term of office than any council that ever served the citizens of Richmond. You have spent around a half million dollars of the taxpayers' money and no one can say that the money was not well spent or that the city did not get value received. The streets and sewers have been completed just a year and you have paid $20,000 of the bonded indebtedness and now have in your sinking fund sufficient funds to take on $10,000 more of those bonds.

On behalf of the citizens of Richmond I wish to thank each and every one of you for the services you have rendered as councilmen during your term of office. Especially do I want to thank you for the support and co-operation you have given me since I entered upon the duties of Mayor.

You have at any and all times been ready to give your time and attention to any question that might promote the progress of Richmond. While your compensation has been nothing, you might say, you should feel that the record you leave behind will pay you for the services you have rendered and in the years to come the city council of 1918-19, 20 and 21 will always be spoken of as the council that brought Richmond out of the backwoods.

NEXT WEDNESDAY IS BUSINESS HOLIDAY

Many Stores To Close While Final Drive Is Put On To Sign Madison Growers

Many business men will close up next Wednesday to assist the organization committee of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association in competing the final drive to sign Madison growers to the great pool which means so much for the welfare of every Kentuckian. The following paper has been signed by those who will close up their stores while the final drive is in progress Wednesday:

Business Holiday
We, the undersigned business men of Richmond, Madison county, Ky., believe it to be the best interest of Madison county to make the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association a 100 per cent organization, and as evidence of our faith in such a movement, we do declare Wednesday, December 7, 1921, a business holiday for the city of Richmond, and agree to close our places of business on that day and tender to the organization committee of the Association our services to assist in getting additional signers to the contracts of the association.

Waller Bennett, R. M. Rowland Oldham and Hackett, Cox and March, Richmond Welch Store, Citizens National Bank, D. B. McKinney, Rice and Arnold, J. S. Stanifer, R. C. H. Covington Co., Hamilton Bros., Douglas & Simmons, Taylor & Maffett, W. M. Hamilton, D. Kincaid, P. L. Will Telford Electric Co., P. L. Willing, McKinney and Arnold, W. F. Higgins, Muncy Bros., R. E. Turley, J. B. Stonifer Company.

Much interest is being manifested in the appearance here on Monday of Judge R. W. Bingham of Louisville, who will speak for the tobacco association. Judge Bingham has given unselfishly of his time and money to promote this great movement. He is really the father of it, and there is no doubt but that a tremendous crowd will hear him.

ELEVEN MORE WORKING DAYS AND THE TALE IS TOLD

Miss Minnie Shearer

Daughter of the late Mrs. Maggie Shearer, of Red House, Miss Minnie is a very attractive young lady and has many friends in the Red House district where she has always lived.

Her many friends could be of great assistance to her by sending in subscriptions to the Daily Register, giving her the votes, and in this way aiding her to gain one of the grand prizes which are being given away.

She is now one of the Leaders in this campaign and she wishes to inform her friends and acquaintances whom she has been unable to see, that she is still among the leaders and that they can still send her subscriptions to the Daily Register for one to ten years, and have the votes credited to her, thus keeping her position among the leaders.

THIS GAL MARRIED TWELVE HUSBANDS

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Dec. 2—At least 42 husbands who served in the army or navy are confined to Mrs. Helen Dredler, of Waukegan, Wis., who is regarded as the champion collector of allotment checks according to federal authorities, who had her in custody today. She is alleged to have married husbands in different parts of the country, divorced none and received approximately $400 monthly from the government for the past three years. They say she spent most of her time not married in marrying, in traveling around at the government's expense, evading secret service men.

Don't forget Baptist Bazaar Saturday, Dec. 3rd, Masonic Temple. Doors open 9:30.

Lawrenceburg Factory Burns; Loss $25,000

Lawrenceburg, Dec. 2—The main building of the Anderson County Broom Works was destroyed today with a loss estimated at $25,000, partly covered by insurance. The fire was started by a spark from an electric scraping machine. Simpson & Smith owners announce they will rebuild at once. The plant employed about 25 persons.

Woman Jailer's Election Contested

(By Associated Press)
Hyden, Ky., Dec. 2—Mrs. Sylvia Duff will be jailer of Leslie county for the next four years if the courts uphold her election in a contest suit filed by Allen Muncy. Mrs. Duff's husband was defeated in the primary. She entered the race and won in the general election by 29 votes over Muncy, who succeeded Mr. Duff as jailer four years ago. Mrs. Duff is 53 years old and was born and reared in eastern Kentucky.

Contentants In Daily Register's Drive Are Bending Every Effort To Win Grand Prizes—Leaders Are Very Close Still "Anybody's Race"

The Daily Register's automobile contest will close on Thursday, December 15th and workers have just 11 more days of the contest. Contestants should not spend an idle waking moment of that time. It is vital time and the fate of all as far as the contest is concerned, hangs on efforts made during the next 11 days.

Beginning next Monday, Dec. 5th, the Daily Register will give 15,000 votes with each $50 turned in. This is just for the week, and each week the extra vote will be smaller for positively this week is the largest bonus vote the workers will be able to get, so all contestants should bend every effort to collect all promises this week.

An idea seems to prevail that the LAST DAY is the time to lend a helping hand. This is erroneous. For on the contrary all aid should be given when it will give the candidate the EXTRA VOTES and the LARGEST number of extra votes.

For instance, suppose you want to add your favorite in this race, and with a ten-year subscription or $30 worth. If given this week it would mean 25,000 extra votes besides the regular vote. If given after tomorrow, you see it would only mean 15,000 extra votes or a loss of 10,000 votes. Then you see your promise being delayed has cost your friend thousands of votes. That is a hardship on the workers and you may have turned the scales and caused them to lose instead of win. The standing of candidates will appear twice each week to the end.

SAFE BLOWERS IN LEXINGTON AGAIN

Lexington, Dec. 2—Cracksmen operating in Lexington for the past three weeks, staged their fifth robbery last night when they forced the safe belonging to the Loms des Cognets Company and obtained $800 in cash.

The robbery was discovered by a watchman. On the floor near the vault, which had been badly damaged, lay $10,000 in negotiable bonds, which the yeggen discarded.

An inner compartment of the safe which withstood the charge of nitro-glycerine contained $400 in checks, $100 in currency and $200 in Liberty Bonds.

The police declare that all five operations staged here during the last three weeks have been the work of experts. No clues have been obtained.

HEIDELBERG RIVER BRIDGE COLLAPSES

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 2—The $300 foot bridge built over the Kentucky river at Heidelberg, Lee county, fell Tuesday, according to a report received by I. C. Johnson, government river engineer here. The debris has stopped navigation. The loss to the Oregonia Bridge Company, of Lebanon, O., having the contract, is estimated at $20,000. Captain Johnson said that he would send a boat there to assist in lifting the debris from the channel.

DEFECTIVE CORN CAUSES HORSE LOSS

Owensboro, Ky., Dec. 2—The loss of several valuable horses by Daviess county farmers has caused more careful inspection of feed corn, believed to have been the cause of the death of the animals. After several horses had died of a disease said to have been caused by defective corn, a notice was sent to farmers to the eliminate defective ears. Worms which got into the corn during the early stages of its growth are said to be the cause of the trouble.
