BURNAM FINDS BRICKS IN PLACE OF BOOZE

Prohibition Director Sam Collins received a telephone message Wednesday from members of his enforcement staff engaged in checking the contents of the free warehouse of the Old 76 distillery at Newport, Ky., saying that whisky had been removed from 1,000 cases and bricks substituted for the whisky bottles.

Agents L. A. Burnam and J. T. Tartar went to Newport Tuesday to check the contents of the free warehouse, which was supposed to contain 2,600 cases of whisky. A partial check had revealed substitution of bricks for whisky bottles in a thousand cases. The officers are still at work. Prohibition authorities said a thorough investigation will be made as soon as the check is completed and the exact shortage determined.

The prohibition department recently refused to renew the permit of the distillery to do business. Three of the reputed owners of the distillery, Sam Freedman, Arthur Johnson and Max Morris, are under indictment in federal court for alleged conspiracy to remove liquor from the warehouse on permits bearing the forged signature of Director Collins. They are scheduled to go on trial at the October term of federal court at Covington.

EASTERN MAKES IT TWO STRAIGHT WINS

Eastern made it two straight by winning over Union College at Barbourville Wednesday by a tight score of 7 to 6. Lewis pitched fine ball after having won the game the previous day from the same team. The locals registered a total of 13 hits for the day compared with 10 made by Union. The Barbourville team used three pitchers in an effort to win, but to no avail. This game placed Eastern in a tie with Sue Bennett for the baseball honors in the Eastern Kentucky Athletic Association. Both have taken two games out of three from Union besides breaking even in two games played.

Union started a rally in the ninth inning but could not overcome the Eastern lead, although they scored four runs in that inning. Lewis was especially effective with men on bases. He would tighten every time a runner reached third. Time after time Union men were left on the sacks. Lewis came near getting another home run drive in the game but was robbed by Howard who made a fine running catch. Nichols hit best for the locals, making a total of three safeties out of four trips to the plate. Welch and Fox made two hits. In the field Stephenson and Welch did some fine work toward winning the game. Danville, Ky., June 1—Dr. John Carey Acheson, president of the Pennsylvania College for Women, has accepted a call to the presidency of the Kentucky College for Women, of Danville, to succeed Dr. Marshall Allen, who placed his resignation before the board of trustees more than a year ago, to become effective on June 1, 1922.

WORST CASUALTIES OF WAR COME NOW

(By Associated Press) Indianapolis, Ind., June 1—The worst casualties suffered by the American soldiers during the war are just beginning to show themselves. By contract troops injured on the battlefields are lucky compared with the greatly increased casualties of today, according to C. H. Harris, an official of the American Legion's national headquarters here, in charge of ex-soldier claims against the government.

There is an average of two ex-soldier suicides a day, Mr. Harris declares, following a study of reports. These men, Mr. Harris finds, almost without exception were in the battle lines of France. These soldiers, the Legion official contends, were discharged by army doctors as normal. Since the war, however, these men, struggling for a living, have undergone mental anguish that their war-racked nerves could not withstand.

There are two ways in which the Legion hopes to minister to these mental cases and to prevent their increase. Mr. Harris points out. The Langley bill, now law, provides $17,000,000 for the construction of new hospitals.

The larger portion of this money is to be spent in creating facilities for the treatment of the neuropsychiatrics, mental patients. The Legion is also preparing to petition Congress to liberate the present Sweet bill. This bill now makes it impossible for an ex-soldier to obtain government treatment for war injuries which show up more than two years after discharge from service. The Legion contends that it might easily be five years after discharge before injuries physical and mental effects would appear.

Mr. Harris further charges that the United States Veterans Bureau in charge of the treatment and rehabilitation of the world's war disabled, is in error concerning the gravity of the neuropsychiatric sufferers. A recent veterans bureau report shows that the bureau's total capacity for treatment of neuropsychiatric cases is 6,099 beds. Mr. Harris says he has reports from Legion liaisons representatives in each of the bureau's 14 regional districts to show that in four of the 14 districts alone there are 24,506 mental cases on record. These four districts include West Virginia, District of Columbia, Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Maryland, Florida, Georgia, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Washington, Oregon, and Idaho. Of the number 2119 are being treated in government hospitals and 996 in contract institutions.

The Veterans Bureau reports 4,628 service men in the entire United States undergoing treatment for mental disorder in government institutions.

The Legion is asking the cooperation of the public in its efforts properly to protect post-bellum shell-shock cases. Mr. Harris says that friends and relatives should be quick to report an ex-soldier who shows signs of mental disorder, and to induce him to submit to an examination and treatment.
