NO DEBATE BETWEEN TWO CANDIDATES

Richardson Fails To Appear So Gilbert Tells of His Work as 8th Dist. Congressman

Notwithstanding the counter attractions of court day business a large sized audience of representative Democrats heard Congressman Ralph Gilbert open his campaign for re-nomination and re-election here Monday afternoon.

Many who came hoping to hear a joint debate between Judge Gilbert and his opponent for the nomination, Col. W. Vernon Richardson, of Danville, were disappointed for Col. Richardson did not put in his appearance. Judge Gilbert said that he had hoped his opponent would be present to discuss whatever issues there might be between them and said he had sent him a personal letter inviting him to be present.

An interesting feature of Gilbert's address was his reference to the bonus for ex-service men, for which he voted in the House a few weeks ago. He declared that while a civilian employe at Washington that Richardson had drawn a bonus and is now opposing a bonus for those who deserve it more than anyone.

Judge Gilbert frankly stated his position to be that though opposed to the principle of bonus legislation he voted for the bonus bill as a necessary result of other legislation passed by Congress against which he voted; that every interest whose contract were broken or taken over by the government was paid a bonus; that civil employes of the government were paid a bonus and that after he opposed all these subsidies and bonus, and they were allowed over his protest, he was unwilling to turn down the only class having any claim to a bonus. He stated that Richardson himself had drawn a bonus as a civil employe and that there was no consistency in his position opposing a bonus to military employes. The bill passed was practically the same as he told his constituents in his campaign he would support.

Judge Gilbert referred to other measures in Congress that he has supported, and declared that he is willing for his constituents to closely scrutinize his every act. He declared that from time to time in memorial it had been the custom of the 8th district to give a Congressman who had served on term and made a good record, an endorsement, and he felt that it should not have been singled out at this time as an exception to time-honored custom especially in view of the hard fight that he has two years ago to redeem the district from republicanism.

In his introduction of Judge Gilbert, County Attorney Joe P. Chenault declared that the 8th district was one of the two districts in the United States two years ago in the face of the republican landslide, to send a democrat to Congress in place of a republican, and he gave Judge Gilbert the highest commendation for his hard fight for his party and his work since as a faithful and conscientious representative of the people of the 8th district.

Judge Gilbert shook hands with many democrats while here and his friends say that he has added greatly to his strength in this county because of his good work and fine record. Friends of Col. Richardson say that they expect him here next Saturday to meet the voters.

PREFER STRIKE TO ANY NEGOTIATIONS

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 3—The line of difference was drawn more lightly than ever today at the conference of bituminous coal operators and representatives of the striking coal miners. Prior to the meeting it was evident the operators intended to force some sort of a conclusion today without yielding in their refusal to meet the union for the purpose of taking up the national or semi-national wage scale. From the view of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, it was evident the miners considered it necessary to prolong the strike rather than to agree to negotiate for district wage scales.

Secretary of Labor Davis was hopeful before the meeting was held of the impression that the Administration would intervene before permitting the gathering to fail in accomplishing a strike settlement.

OFFICERS GET FIVE MORE MOONSHINERS

Judge John D. Goodloe issued warrants Monday morning for Fielding Baxter, Mount Perciful, and Robert Spillman. Deputy Sheriff R. O. Moberly had the warrants issued. Mount Perciful is charged with selling intoxicating liquor. Fielding Baxter is alleged to have bought liquor and it is charged that Robert Spillman was about to transport the liquor in his car when Deputy Sheriff Moberly and others caught the men.

Warrants were also sworn out by Deputy Sheriff Ben Davis, of Berea, for Arthur Webb and Eb Lakes for operating a moonshine still. Bondsman for both of these men are Robert Webb and K. S. Haines. The examining trials were waived and each is held on $1000 bond to appear in county court October 3.

BUREAU WELCOMED AT WHITE'S STATION

The Farm Bureau movement in the county was given a rousing boost Friday night at the meeting held at White's Station. Judge John Goodloe presided and introduced the speakers of the evening. Geoffrey Morgan and E. P. Taylor told the Farm Bureau story and at the close of the meeting the farmers showed their complete endorsement of the Farm Bureau by signing up in the organization almost unanimously.

The White's Station unit of the Madison County Farm Bureau, already well along in the process of organization, promises to be one of the first in the county to start off on definite lines of work. The fact that there is a strong co-operative spirit in this district featured by a live community club makes the farm bureau plan of work easily understood and quickly appreciated by the White's Station people.

The following were the first to lead off as paid members of the Farm Bureau at White's Station: Judge John Goodloe, Harry Morgan, Collins Long, John Ballard, James Hockaday, Jack Twigg, John McWilliams and Oscar Harrison. Four local farmers will solicit the balance of the neighborhood within the next few days and a meeting will be held next Thursday night to elect Farm Bureau officers for the White's Station Farm Bureau Unit.

Kingston community is working for a good strong unit with assurance of all the leading farmers as members. Those leading the drive in the Kingston district are G. H. Jett, Miller Lackey, Arch Hamilton and John Green.

The Farm Bureau meeting at Paint Lick Saturday afternoon was well attended by farmers from both Madison and Garrard counties. The local committee, composed of Rice Woods and Harry Francis, had prepared for the meeting by placing a large number of chairs under a large elm tree. After listening to the speakers who explained the object of the Farm Bureau about 10 Madison county farmers signed up and A. W. Stewart, Rice Woods and Harry Francis were appointed as a committee to solicit further members. Garrard county is also organizing a Farm Bureau and Swinebrod, of Lancaster, attended the meeting and took the memberships of about fifteen Garrard county farmers.

JIM MARET INSPECTS ROADS IN MOUNTAINS

On an inspection trip to Knox and Bell counties last week Col. Jim Maret the Boone Way man, collected the following road notes: Bell county is reconstructing the 19 miles of Boone Way across its territory, from Four Mile through Pineville and Middleboro to Cumberland Gap. The new construction is of Kentucky rock asphalt. Knox county has all of its bridges completed and has but a small gap of incomplete grade. Some surfacing will be done during this year. Laurel county is pushing surfacing on several sections and expects to have a completed line across the county by fall. Rockcastle river bridge is being erected at the Laurel-Rockcastle line, most of the steel having already been placed. This will complete the list of bridges on the Dixie Highway and Boone Way. Most of Rockcastle section of the road will be surfaced by fall. Owing to late spring rains the road, where not surfaced, has been cut up by traffic while in a muddy condition. Some places in Rockcastle and Laurel are yet in rough condition, though they are being ironed out by the use of graders and scrapers by road gangs in the various counties, and the highway should be in a travelable condition at an early date. Travel through Knox county, a present, is rather strenuous though it is expected to be made better soon. Whitley county is surfacing the Dixie Highway thru that county.

THOMAS WAS MAN SLAIN IN ANDERSON

The body found early Saturday morning in Anderson county one-half mile from the Boné Brothers' distillery has been identified as that of John "Cappy" Thomas, 1741 Oak street, Louisville. The identification was established by his brother Dennis Thomas, who went to Lawrenceburg Saturday afternoon. Later the body was taken to Louisville.

Thomas was unable to throw any light on the mystery surrounding the death of his brother and was only able to account for his absence from the community by saying the brother had gone on a fishing trip ten days ago and had not been heard from since that time.

The burden of the investigation now will be shifted to the Louisville officers, it is believed, who will attempt to trace Thomas' movements.

In fact he insures everything.

HENRY WATTERSON JOURNALISM SCHOOL

Suggested By Ky. Press Association As Most Fitting Memorial To Great Editor

Gemmill B. Senff, editor of the Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat, and newly elected president of the Kentucky Press Association, spent the week-end with friends here enroute home from Crab Orchard, where the newspaper men held their annual summer convention.

To say that the scribes were pleased with their entertainment at the Springs is expressing it mildly. Under the new management of Messrs. Haselden and Fickensen, a complete metamorphosis has been worked in the famous old resort which in the "good old days" was the mecca for rest and recreation seekers from all over the south. Clean as a pin, with every modern convenience, splendid meals, delightful music, bathing, dancing and other features, and a general service to guests that would be hard to improve upon. Crab Orchard Springs is going to rival the newer and more pretentious resorts of other states just as soon as the people learn of the renaissance that has been effected. Plump spring chicken, old ham, real corn bread and sho' nuff old-fashioned southern biscuits were on nearly every menu, and a guest got as many "helpings" as he wanted. The cuisine is really a most attractive feature of many which surprised every one who had not been to the famous Springs Hotel since the new management took charge a couple or three years ago.

The newspapermen discussed various phases of their work. They went on record as opposing injection of politics into the location of the two new normal schools, and urged that the memorial it is planned to erect in Kentucky to the memory of Henry Watterson take the form of a great School of Journalism at State University, to be known as the Henry Watterson School of Journalism. Association pledged its members to united support of such a movement, and its ambition is to make such an institution the greatest school of journalism in the world, as would only be appropriate to the memory of the greatest of latter day editors.

New officers elected by the Association were: President, G. B. Senff, Mt. Sterling; Vice President, L. S. Fitzhugh, Wilmore; Chairman Executive Committee, S. M. Sauley, Richmond; Secretary and Treasurer, J. C. Alcock, Danville (re-elected). The Executive committee was named as follows: W. L. Dawson, La Grange; Keen Johnson, Lawrenceburg; Malcolm Bayley, Louisville, and R. L. Elkin, Lancaster.

FATHER AND SON DROWN IN SCOTT

Earne Williams, 35, a prominent farmer of Newtown, near Georgetown, and his son, Albert Lee Williams, 7, were drowned Saturday while swimming in a pond on his farm.

It is their daily custom to go swimming every afternoon after work. A three-year-old son was left playing on the bank.

On the other side of the pond neighbor, named Warth, and his son were in swimming. According to Warth, after they had been swimming for several minutes he looked over in their direction and neither father nor son was in sight. He said he heard no cry from them and that when he last saw them Williams was riding his son on his back.

Williams' body was found within 10 minutes, but the body of the boy was not found for half an hour, about 30 feet from that of his father's.

Williams is survived by his widow and three-year-old son.

Dr. B. F. Robinson Performs Operation

It was Dr. B. F. Robinson who operated on R. Harris Crooke, at Robinson hospital, Berea, last week. Mr. Crooke is doing most well. In the columns of the Daily Register for Friday it was erroneously reported that Dr. M. M. Robinson performed the operation.
