

EASTERN NEEDS MORE ROOM BADLY

So Regents Vote To Purchase Or Condemn William Gibson Farm Adjoining

The Board of Regents of Eastern Kentucky State Normal School and Teachers' College met in regular quarterly session at the office on the campus and much business was transacted. The chief business was to hear the complaint of the North Jellico Coal Co. that the school increase its contract price for coal of $5.20 per ton delivered on the campus. It based its petition on the increased cost of labor which has occurred since the contract was made and alleged that whether an increase was granted that the coal would be delivered as required in the contract. The board, after due consideration, concluded that it had no authority to increase the contract price and therefore refused the request for the increase.

The Board of Regents also decided unanimously that the State should acquire by purchase or condemnation the entire farm known as the Wm. Gibson farm, which lies east and south of the Normal School campus, as there is no doubt that Eastern now needs and in the future purposes and development of this great institution of learning will have to have this entire farm or at least and at once a very large portion thereof.

SQUIRE JOE LONG IS STRONG FOR ROAD TAX

Former Strong Opponent of Road Taxes and Bond Issues Changes Position

Squire Joe Long, of Kirksville, who has voted against every road tax and road bond issue, previously proposed for Madison county has come out strong for the special 20c road tax that will be voted on by the people of Madison county on Nov. 7th.

Squire Long declares that he is not only for the road tax this time, but he is working for it. He says that there has been a great change of sentiment in his section of the county, also, Kirksville and the Posey section have usually given majorities against the road bond or tax questions, but Squire Long says there has been a remarkable change of sentiment, and he expects to see his whole county down there roll up big majorities for the tax.

Squire Long was in Richmond a short while Monday en route to the Masonic Grand Lodge meeting at Louisville this week. He told the Daily Register why he has changed his position so completely on the road tax question.

"In the first place," said the popular Squire, "I have the utmost confidence in the members of the Citizens' Committee which the Fiscal Court has designated to have complete charge of the special road tax fund, if voted. They are all men of the highest type: men of integrity and business and enjoy the entire confidence of every one in the community."

"Then, too," said the Squire, "I have been noticing what our neighbor counties have been doing. They have been voting their money and building good roads and enjoying them. I have come to the conclusion that it won't do for old Madison—the very best county in the Blue Grass—to be behind the procession any longer. If we're going to keep step with progress, we've got to build good roads, and there's only one way to do it. The state wants to pay half the cost, and it's bad business not to let it. We have to vote a tax to provide our share and I'm for it now and working for it, as I hope my friends will do."

SIMPSON BEGINS REVIVAL TONIGHT

Big crowds attended both services in the opening of the revival meeting yesterday at the First Christian church. The morning audience in which the Communion service was the chief factor filled the big auditorium and brought together almost a unanimous attendance of the members of the First Christian church. In the evening service the big chorus under the direction of Miss Mary White of Lexington, was an attractive and inspiring feature. The special music last night was rendered by the male quartet and was greatly enjoyed. The big audience responded in a remarkable way in the opening song service and everywhere there is the opinion that the singing will be one of the most attractive features of the meeting.

Dr. Simpson is expected to arrive from Atlanta tonight and will preach his first sermon in the evening service at 7:15. At the close of the service there will be an informal reception for those present to meet Dr. Simpson and Miss White.

If the opening day has any significance in a meeting, the community may expect one of the most successful in the history of Richmond. Everything is in readiness for two weeks of intensive campaign.

BOGGS HAS STRONG ARGUMENT FOR TAX

State Highway Engineer Hopes His Home County Will Help Him Build It Good Roads

Intense interest in what Madison county purposes to do in regards to voting the special 20-cent road tax was manifested by State Highway Engineer Joe S. Boggs, who came over from Frankfort Sunday to spend the week-end at his old home here.

Mr. Boggs, as head of the State Road Department is very anxious to do something for his home county of Madison, and for that reason hopes the people will vote this special tax and provide funds so the State can meet them halfway in building good roads here.

Although he dislikes making a speech to his home people, Mr. Boggs is coming back next Saturday afternoon to tell them face to face just what he thinks of the road tax they are asked to vote, and to urge them to vote it if they really want good roads. Jeff Morgan, formerly of Madison and Farm Bureau leader, and Rowman Wiley, ex-commissioner of Roads, will also speak here with Mr. Boggs.

Mr. Boggs says that the figures show there are something like 2,000 automobiles in Madison county. The yearly depreciation to an automobile from bumping over bad roads is figured by experts at $100 a year. Thus the automobile owners of Madison county are losing $200,000 a year in costs, repair bills, maintenance, etc. of their cars because of their bad roads.

The State Highway Engineer points out also a great saving that the farmer who has produce and crops to haul to market effects over good roads. These figures are estimated by the most careful statisticians who have studied records also. Over a bad road a farmer requires a team and a wagon to haul a ton of stuff; whereas over good roads he can haul with the same team two tons. Thus with the extra efforts, wasted energy time consumed, costs etc., the difference between bad and good roads is easily $200,000 a year. It has been conclusively proven that the money which is wasted on bad roads would build and maintain a splendid system of highways in the state.

Mr. Boggs speaks in Richmond, at the courthouse Saturday afternoon and at Berea that night. He will undoubtedly be heard by large audiences.

CANTRILL TO SPEAK FOR GILBERT FRIDAY

Democrats and other voters of Madison county will undoubtedly be glad to welcome here Friday night Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, who comes to speak for the re-election of Congressman Ralph Gilbert and the Democratic ticket. Congressman Cantrill is one of the strongest speakers in the party in the state.
