

NEXT ISSUE.

The next edition of this paper will go to press on Friday, July 15, and the Irish-American Society of this city will be made one of its attractive features. The above named society is one of the most patriotic and liberal in the State, its rolls containing the names of nearly every prominent Irish-American official and merchant in the city. As it has already endorsed this paper, we will endeavor to make our Irish-American number one that will interest its readers and do justice to the Irish-American Society of Louisville.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

We ask the officers and members of the various Irish-American societies to send in their communications as early in the week as possible.

It is rumored that a number of the members of the Young Men's Division No. 6 are preparing to spring a sensation in the near future.

Since the Times joined the union it has begun the publication of a labor column, and is doing all it can for the cause of organized labor in Louisville and vicinity.

The Knights of St. Edward, of New Albany, left last week via the Monon for Detroit, to attend the national convention held in that city. They presented a fine appearance.

Messrs. Dougherty & Keenan have some of the finest carriages we have knowledge of, and upon the occasion of swell events those who can procure them consider themselves fortunate.

Manager Macauley is booking a large list of fine attractions for the coming season, and it is predicted that this will be one of the most prosperous years in the history of this old and popular play-house.

The next meeting of Young Men's Division No. 6 will be held at A. O. H. Hall Tuesday evening, July 5. A number of new members will be initiated. Members of other divisions are cordially invited to attend.

Jerry Morrissey, formerly a compositor on the Times, has joined the Volunteer army, and is now in Cuba fighting for his country, like so many other Irish-Americans. He is a very clever young man, and his friends hope he will return home safe.

Young Men's Division No. 6 gave a delightful moonlight excursion last Wednesday evening on the steamer Columbia. A large crowd was present and fun ran riot among the merry dancers, and on returning home all agreed that the affair was another laurel for No. 6.

We today congratulate the large number of men employed by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company on the restoration of half of the reduction that took place several years ago, and hope the other half may be speedily returned to them. They are certainly worthy of it.

Among the business men whom fortune has smiled upon are Daniel Coblenz & Bro., proprietors of the Captain Tom cigar factory. They are not affected by the war in Cuba, having on hand an immense supply of Havana tobacco contracted for two years ago, and they are therefore not compelled to increase prices. They are giving employment to a large force of men.

The Reagan Outing Club will spend the next two weeks in camp at Prospect, on the Ohio. This club is composed of a number of jolly East End gentlemen. Among its members are Emil Waltenburger, Arthur Fryxell, William Lattis, John Timmons, James Reagan, James Burke, and many others. Thursday will be Reagan day, when a large crowd from this city will be entertained.

The Mose Greens are having a delightful outing up on the Narrow Gauge road. They are entertaining about 150 visitors a day on the fat of the land. The Mose Green Club never does anything by halves, and those who have visited their camp returned home delighted. The club dispenses more charity in a year than any other similar organization in the city, and its members are the most liberal.

James Mellett, brother of the late John J. Mellett, was badly injured

Thursday by being thrown from a buggy. Mr. Mellett is aide to Assistant Chief Tully. While responding to an alarm of fire he endeavored to turn to one side of the street to allow an engine to pass. In doing so he was thrown from his seat and sustained quite severe injuries. Mr. Mellett was taken home, and will not be able to resume his duties for some time.

Mr. Val Fitzpatrick, of Peoria, Ill., was in the city the past week in the interest of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. Thursday afternoon he addressed a large meeting of railway men, and explained the objects of the organization. He is the First Vice President of the Brotherhood, and a conservative and able official. During his long connection with the order there have been but two strikes. His visit will result in a large increase in membership.

Martin Cusick, State President of A. O. H., was the recipient of honors and a gold-headed cane from Division No. 1, at a special meeting called for the purpose of giving a farewell greeting before his departure for the convention. Speeches and a general happy time marked the occasion. It was recognition worthily bestowed upon a faithful and hardworking member and officer of the A. O. H.

Mike Hickey, proprietor of the Paradise Saloon, has forged to the front in the last few years. He was educated in the parochial schools in the Dominican parish, and early in life indicated his business ability. A few years ago he took hold of the Paradise, and soon made it one of the most popular resorts in the city. His brother John Hickey, or "Top" as his friends like to call him, presides at the bar during night, and has made himself popular among newspaper men.

OUR INDIANA FRIENDS.

Hereafter this paper will devote some space to Irish news in Indiana. Commencing with next number Jeffersonville and New Albany news will appear each week.

THE LYNCH DRY GOODS CO.

This Progressive House Now Enjoying a Very Large Business.

Mr. William Lynch, at the head of the dry goods store bearing his name, is probably one of the best known men in the business. Since his return to this city he has opened the large store at Brook and Market streets, which is stocked with a fine selection of goods. Judging from the number of people to be seen in the store at all hours, the hot weather and hard times have no effect on his great trade. This may in a measure be accounted for by the fact that all goods advertised by the new company are always found to be as represented. We call the attention of our readers to his advertisement in this issue.

FRANK DUGAN.

One of the Hustling Young Irish-Americans of the Tenth Ward.

Than Frank Dugan there is no better known young man in the Tenth ward. After receiving the benefits of a good education, Mr. Dugan proceeded at once to earn a livelihood, and that he has succeeded his present business attests. The calls made on him for various charities are numerous, and when one leaves him it is never empty-handed. He is the son of Mr. Martin Dugan, of Sixth street, and a brother of M. J. Dugan, the well-known Market-street printer and publisher. His friends are legion, and with all he is a great favorite.

SALESMEN'S CONVENTION.

The national convention of the Retail Salesmen's Protective Association to be held in this city next week promises to be the most important and largely attended in its history. The sessions will be held at the New Liederkranz Hall. The local association deserves credit for bringing this meeting to Louisville, and our citizens should assist its members in properly entertaining the visitors.

Mr. John C. Brady has received a letter from Edward P. Stanton, Secretary to Admiral Dewey. It will appear in these columns next week. He is on the flagship Olympia.

ERIN GO BRAGH!

The new store greets the IRISHMEN. It invites them to come and get acquainted—assuring them of an always hearty welcome. This store is but three months old and has none but NEW GOODS. The big business already built up shows that there was, and is, ample room in Louisville for ONE STORE that sells only GOOD GOODS; that runs no fake schemes and that treats EVERYBODY right, ALL the time. We ask the IRISHMEN to come and see how much BETTER we can do for them than the other stores.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Results in the Death of Engineer Martin and Serious Injury of Vincent Decoursey.

Death came in awful form to Engineer Lee Martin in a wreck on the Illinois Central road at Vine Grove, Ky., thirty-seven miles from here Tuesday afternoon. Martin was crushed beneath his engine and was killed instantly. Fireman Vincent Decoursey was badly hurt.

The train was going at a fifty-five miles an hour, and the engine as Vine Grove was made without incident. Suddenly the huge mogul engine gave a leap and the next instant had left the rails and was tearing and bumping over the cross-ties. Decoursey moved from his seat and started toward the cab door, intending to leap and save his life. Martin, the engineer, remained in his seat. He had thrown the brake forward and closed the throttle. For nearly a hundred feet the engine bumped over the ties and then careened and turned completely over on its side and reversed. Fireman Decoursey was thrown twenty feet into the air and landed heavily on a pile of debris some yards from the track. It all occurred so quickly that Engineer Martin, after throwing the brake, had no time to get out of the way, and he was crushed beneath the mass of steel and iron. Twelve coal cars followed the engine and the track was strewn with coal and the wreckage of a dozen cars for nearly a half of a mile. The engine tender, torn from the tracks, had been hurled over forty feet beyond the engine. Those of the crew who escaped injury hurried to the assistance of their less fortunate companions. Decoursey was picked up and carried to a neighboring farmhouse. His body was covered with bruises and two of his ribs were crushed in. At first it was thought his injuries would prove fatal, but his physicians now report him as out of immediate danger, and entertain hopes of his recovery.

Mr. Decoursey is the son of Stephen Decoursey, living at Sixth and Kentucky streets, and is widely known in railroad circles.

Martin was found terribly crushed, but in his seat. He was covered with debris, while escaping steam and water had literally cooked the body. His death must have been instantaneous. He lived in this city, on Fifteenth street, near Broadway. He had been in the employ of the road for a number of years.

Do not fail to attend the excursion of the Cathedral to Fern Grove. Revs. Bouchet, Rock and Schumann will see to it that all will enjoy themselves. There will be a number of interesting events for the amusement of young and old.
