ADJOURNED.

The American Federation of Labor Will Meet at Scranton.

The convention of the American Federation of Labor completed its business and adjourned at 5:30 o'clock last Saturday evening, after doing more work than any of its predecessors, passing numbers of resolutions that must be of great benefit to the toiling masses.

The election of officers resulted as follows, all being re-elected except P. J. McGuire, who was not a delegate:

President—Samuel Compers.
First Vice-President—James Duncan.
Second Vice-President—John Mitchell.
Third Vice-President—James O'Connell.

Fourth Vice-President—Max Morris.
Fifth Vice-President—Thomas I. Kidd.
Sixth Vice-President—D. A. Hayes.
Treasurer—John B. Lennon.
Secretary—Frank Morrison.
Fraternal Delegates—Daniel J. Keefe and Joseph Valentine.

Delegate to the British Trade Union Congress—John R. O'Brien.

The hospitalities extended all during their stay made a deep impression on the visitors, who are loud in their praises of Louisville.

Scranton was chosen as the place for holding the next convention.

READY FOR DUTIES.

Barney Coll, the popular Jeffersonville Hibernian and Elk, will on January 1 enter upon his duties as Treasurer of Clark county. His chief deputy will come from Charlestown.

BREAD FOR THE POOR.

New York trade unions have started a movement to establish co-operative bakeries and provision stores for the poor throughout the city. They propose to cheapen the price of bread by greater economy of manufacture, and also to make war upon bakeries in cellars, whence, it is said, contagion is spread among the poorer classes of the metropolis. At a meeting of the Bakers' Union it was reported that 180 members of the union had taken $900 worth of the stock of the first co-operative bakery to be started. The plan is to sell $2,500 of the stock to five hundred bakers.

President Starcken, of the Bakers' Union speaking of the project, said:

"We shall start the first bakery by the middle of next month. When it is successful we shall start other bakeries. We hope to abolish bakeries in cellars, since we regard them as the breeding places for disease.

"But," continued he, "we shall not stop at bakeries. We shall open many other stores in which the necessities of life will be sold to the poor at cost prices. We shall be backed by 5,000 members of various other unions, and within two months we hope to have a $25,000 co-operative fund."

President Starcken said the following unions had pledged their support to the fund:

The Bricklayers' Union, No. 11, the Decorative Painters' Union, one of the painters' unions, the Piano Makers' Union, the Workingmen's Educational Association and the Workingmen's Singing Society.

All union men will be called upon to support these enterprises, and the meeting last night was enthusiastic in the belief that the movement would grow to great proportions.

ELECTED OFFICERS.

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary of Trinity Council 230, Young Men's Institute, held its annual election at the club house, 718 East Gray street, last Tuesday evening, and the following officers were chosen: President, Miss Louise Schwanigan; vice

OUT AGAIN.

It will be gratifying news to the many friends of Depty Sheriff John Greany to learn that that popular official will be able to be out again Christmas day. For the past two months he has been confined to his home, and at one time hope for his recovery was almost entirely abandoned, but thanks to his strong constitution and regular habits he was able to stay the hand of death. He will receive a warm greeting when he makes his appearance at the Court House, where he is liked by all.

Silk petticoats are being supplanted to a great extent by the wash skirts of dainty white lawn trimmed elaborately with lace and embroidery.

Labor representatives have adopted resolution requesting Mayor Van Wyck, of New York, to appoint John A. Dooner, Superintendent of Buildings, to the post of Building Commissioner, which will become vacant on January 1 by the retirement of Thomas J. Brady. Mr. Dooner is a charter member of Bricklayers' Union No. 7.
