LOUISVILLE, KY., SATURDAY, AUGUST 8, 1903

ALL HAIL PIUS X.

The entire Christian world with glad acclaim hails the election of the new Pope, who has chosen to be known as Pius X. Every Catholic bows in homage to the new head of the church, the latest successor to the chair of St. Peter. That a good man would be chosen to succeed the venerable Leo XIII. no Catholic doubted. How could it be otherwise. The priests are men who have a special vacation for that office. The church picks from among the priests the men who seem best fitted to be Bishops and Archbishops and Cardinals. In every case it seems to be a survival of the fittest. The Cardinals are the Princes of the church. They are men noted for learning and piety. As Princes of the church, and meeting together in attending to their various duties, it is only natural that, inspired by the Holy Ghost, ere long they should recognize their ablest confere. Hence it was that the Cardinals in conclave spent a comparatively short time in electing the new Pope.

Cardinal Sarto was beloved as Patriarch of Venice, as Bishop, as pastor and as curate. Surely he will be beloved as the Vicar of Christ upon earth. All hail Pope Pius X.

HIBERNIANISM.

Doubtless there is no purely national society in the world that is making as great progress at the present time as the Ancient Order of Hibernians. It is a conceded fact that it has the largest membership in the world among societies of a national character. Its members, whether in the United States, in Canada, at home in Ireland, in England, Scotland or Australia, are men tried and true. They must be practical Catholics and must be of Irish birth or parentage. Add to that that its members pledge themselves to live up to the motto, "Friendship, Unity and True Christian Charity," and you can readily understand why the Ancient Order of Hibernians is the greatest society in the world, socially as well as numerically.

Everywhere the order is growing. Each division is constantly adding to its membership and in every State in the Union new divisions are being instituted. Larger divisions and aggregations of divisions are building their own halls, thus adding to the beauty and prosperity of their respective cities.

Moreover, individually and as divisions, the Hibernians are constantly going into their pockets relieving brothers in distress and feeding, clothing and educating the orphans, thus mitigating in some degree the grief of the widows. God alone knows the good that this society has accomplished. They are lay missionaries, preaching faith, hope and charity by example and in an unostentatious way. Some of them are well off in the world's goods. Other are mechanics and laborers, but their motive is charity.

There are no factions in the Hibernians. The order is unity personified. Its officers, local, State and national, are able, God-fearing, law-abiding men, men of whom any nation might be proud.

The poorest Hibernian as well as the richest points with pride to the fact that he cherishes a love for the land of his birth as well as the land of his adoption. May the Ancient Order of Hibernians grow and flourish.

"Till Erin shall stand
 'Mid the isles of the sea,
 A nation unfettered,
 Great glorious and free."

YES! YES!

The greatest curses of Kentucky are the ambush fighters—men who, too cowardly to attack an enemy in the open, assault him either from the rear or use the deadly rifle while safely concealed behind a sheltering rock or tree. The anonymous correspondent is more cowardly than the man who takes a human life while in ambush. Now, Mr. Irish-American, whoever you may be, you want a surprise. People are not in the habit of looking for surprises. You say you are, and thereby perpetrate a bull. In the first place, this is an Irish-American paper, and it could not possibly be an Irish-American journal unless it were an Irish Catholic paper. Yes! Yes! we answer to both questions, but hereafter be man enough to come out in the open and sign your name. Cowardice is neither an Irish nor an Irish-American trait.

GOOD NEWS.

The news that the Illinois Central Railroad Company has secured an option on eighty acres of land and proposes to build new and extensive shops here is good, if it is true. Let us hope that it is true, and lend our aid to securing every advantage for the gigantic plant proposed. For many years past the emblem of industry hung upon the walls in Louisville has been an uplifted arm supporting a hammer. Let us change our industrial coat-of-arms as it were, and make the emblem of industry a steam or an electric elevator—anything so it will be uplifting instead of the hammer.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company has made Louisville the gateway to the South, but the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company has been materially aided by Louisville's progress. It was a case of helping one another. Now neither side regrets, can not regret, the help given. More than $100,000 are distributed over the length and breadth of this city every month when the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company pays its employees. This money goes to no one class of people. Merchants, manufacturers, milliners, dress-makers, clothiers and landlords, all benefit from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company. Now that same company is building a much larger plant at South Louisville, where more than double the number of workmen will be employed and where new homes are already going up. Within two years the neighborhood of South Louisville will be a new city in itself.

If it be true that the Illinois Central railroad plans new shops here, shove the plans along. It will mean more pay days, more workingmen and their families, consequently more good citizens, more prosperity, more Americans and more Irish-Americans.

Fire insurance companies have been in the habit of increasing rates in Louisville, owing to alleged inadequate protection from fire. The indications are that it will not be long before the life and fire insurance companies will increase rates, owing to the inadequate protection of those who take early morning swims or undertake hunting expeditions at unseasonable hours.

It has been said by sages that faith can move mountains. We have heard for years of the great faith of the Irish people. It certainly stood them in good stead last week when, according to the Louisville Herald, the Irish took a hop, skip and jump and carried the Lakes of Killarney from their home in the province of Munster to the wilds of Conemara in Connaught, and all in honor of King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

The Evening Post was the first paper in Kentucky to announce the election of Pope Pius X. The Post has always been fair in its treatment of Catholics, and they in turn should appreciate its enterprise.

FRIENDS FOR HIM

Joe Nevin is Being Urged to Become a Candidate for Alderman.

Many friends of Joseph Nevin are urging his candidacy as a member of the Board of Aldermen. There is no reason why he should not be nominated. He has always made Louisville his home and his interests are all here. Being a large taxpayer, any benefit to the city would be a benefit to Mr. Nevin. Any detriment or hindrance to the city would be to the disadvantage of Mr. Nevin. Joe Nevin, as his familiar friends love to call him, is a thorough business man and a practical man in every sense of the word. He has been engaged as a contractor since his boyhood and understands the improvement and repairing of streets, the building of sewers, etc., as probably no other man in the city. His four years' service as a member of the Board of Public Works also gave him an insight into public affairs that was valuable to him and would make him doubly valuable to the city. There is no branch of the city government that he is not familiar with, and his election to the Board of Aldermen would be hailed with delight by taxpayers. If he is nominated he will certainly add strength to the Democratic ticket. No Irish-American in the city has more friends in both high and low places than Joe Nevin.

SATOLLI'S VISITOR.

Satolli Council held an unusually large meeting Monday night, considering the season. It has been found expedient to hold semi-monthly instead of weekly meetings during June, July and August, nevertheless the meeting last Monday night was a surprise even to President Harry Colgan. An honored guest was Brother Celestine, better known as James Cassin, a charter member of Satolli Council, now a teacher at Notre Dame College. Brother Celestine was at one time President of Satolli Council.

During the evening a great deal of routine business was transacted. Messrs. George Perry, John M. Ryan and Philip J. Stitzel were appointed a committee to make arrangements for the entertainment of the visiting delegates to the Grand Council. William J. O'Connor was elected delegate to the Grand Council and E. J. Aud was elected alternate.

DR. EMMET'S BOOK.

"Ireland Under English Rule, a Plea for the Plaintiff," is the title of a new book by Dr. Thomas Addis Emmet, of New York, a grand nephew of Robert Emmet, the illustrious patriot and martyr. As its title indicates, Dr. Emmet's book is an indictment by Ireland of England for her government during the past 600 years. Ireland pleads her own cause to the bar of the world's judgment, offers her testimony and presents her witnesses. The book is the result of more than twenty years of patient delving on the author's part in the long neglected testimony of almost forgotten eye-witnesses, as well as the copious yet judicious use of the testimony of accepted modern authorities, both English and continental. Dr. Emmet is a doctor of laws as well as a graduate of medicine. The book is published by G. P. Putnam's Sons, of New York and London, and is in two volumes.

FAVORABLY IMPRESSED.

Col. John Meagher has returned home after a month's trip to Mexico. He combined business with pleasure, in that he studied the condition of the country and the needs of the people. He says that there are many opportunities for business men in certain lines, while in other lines the opportunities are not so good. The Mexicans, Col. Meagher says, have been grossly misrepresented. They are a most law abiding people and pay strict attention to business obligations. The principal industries are mining and cattle raising, while farming is neglected to a great extent.

DONAHUE'S.

Donahue's Magazine for August is not only in keeping with its usually high standard, but the several articles on our late Holy Father Leo XIII. are surpassingly good. Each of these articles come fresh from the pens of gifted writers and are especially appropriate at the present time. Besides there are various articles of interest to Americans and non-Catholics as well as to Catholics.

It is said that the raw potato has an acid that not only keeps the knife blade clean, but actually preserves its sharpness.

SOCIETY.

Miss Mary Canfield, of Parkland, is visiting friends in Bardstown.

Miss Cornelia Burke, of Jeffersonville, is visiting friends in Kentucky.

James and Will Hannan leave today to spend a week at Dawson Springs.

Mrs. Dan Murphy, wife of the City Assessor, spent last week in the country.

Miss Mabel McCarty, of Jeffersonville, is visiting relatives and friends in Indianapolis.

Miss Margaret O'Brien will leave Monday to visit friends in Madisonville and Danville.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Constantine, of Jeffersonville, have gone to Milwaukee on a visit.

Miss Irene Binford is one of a party of young people who are enjoying a trip on the Kentucky river.

Martin Brumleve, who holds a responsible position with Callahan & Sons, spent the past week in Chicago.

Mrs. Jennie McKeirnan and Miss Emily Beach, of New Albany, have gone to Petoskey to spend several weeks.

Misses Alice and Bena Cahill are spending a few weeks visiting New York, Atlantic City and Washington City.

Miss Emily McAteer has returned home from a pleasant visit to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Beard, at Hardinsburg.

Misses Rose and Mary Conroy, of 528 Twenty-sixth street, and Miss Kate Henly left Tuesday for Niagara Falls.

Miss Cecilia Meagher, of St. Catherine street, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Weitzel, in Frankfort.

Miss Mary O'Donnell, of New Albany, has gone to White Sulphur Springs, Crawford county, Ind., to spend several weeks.

Mrs. John J. Seiberz and son Robert, who spent several weeks at McBraver, have returned home greatly improved in health.

Misses Rose and Nellie Kehoe, who have been visiting relatives in Kentucky, have returned to their home in New Albany.

Miss Nellie Fleming, of Nashville, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Bridget Kelly, West Spring and Lafayette streets, New Albany.

Fred Loeffler, foreman of W. G. Johnston & Co.'s pressroom at Pittsburg, has been spending the past week with relatives in Louisville.

Mrs. William J. Semonia and daughters, Camille and May, and Miss Adele Carby, left Monday to visit Mrs. W. J. Ragland in Jeffersonstown.

Dr. Frank S. Clark, one of the Louisville delegates to the American Federation of Catholic Societies, is spending several days in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas J. Gathof, who are enjoying a bridal tour in the East, will be at home to their friends at 800 West Market street, after August 15.

John Deely is the happiest man in Limerick. A pretty baby boy arrived at his home, 702 West Oak street, last week. Mother and child are progressing nicely.

Robert G. Goebel and Adam Snyder, well known in the East End, are spending a month's vacation in New York, Washington and other points of interest.

William Korz and Peter Summers, of Newark, O., who visited Mrs. Nichols, and other relatives in New Albany, left Thursday for home after an enjoyable sojourn.

Mr. and Mrs. William Furlong will leave Wednesday to spend several weeks visiting New York, Washington, Philadelphia and other points of interest in the East.

Walter D. Binford, the efficient superintendent of the Courier-Journal advertising department in the composing rooms, is taking a month's vacation at South Park.

Mal J. Shaughnessy, who has been in the employ of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company for several years, has accepted a more lucrative position with the J. M. Robinson-Norton Company.

leen Kerrigan. Before her marriage she was on the stage several years as leading lady for Frank Mayo.

Misses Katie and Bridget Riordan will leave about August 15 to make a tour of the New England States, spending some time in Springfield, Mass., Indian Orchard and Berkshire Hills. They will later spend two weeks in New York City and will return about October 1.

The many friends of Mrs. Peter Jennings, of Atoka, Tenn., formerly Miss Maggie Finegan, of Louisville, will be sorry to learn that she is suffering from a severe attack of swamp and malarial fever. She is now at the home of her father, Michael Finegan, at Ninth and Kentucky streets, where she will spend several weeks in recuperating.

Cards are announcing the engagement of Miss Margaret McMurtry Shannon, of Lexington, and Ernest Frederick Bohne, of Louisville. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Shannon and a graduate of Nazareth. Mr. Bohne is a son of E. C. Bohne, the banker, and a designer for the Louisville Bridge & Iron Company. The marriage will take place in St. Paul's Catholic church, Lexington, on September 8.

MODERN HOTEL.

Nic Bosler is Prepared to Accommodate the Traveling Public.

It is a pleasure to call attention to the advertisement of Nic Bosler's Hotel, which appears in another column. It is situated on the southeast corner of Second and Jefferson streets, adjacent to the wholesale district and right in the heart of the retail district. It was formerly known as the St. Cloud. Recently Mr. Bosler, who has been in the hotel business on Market street during the past five years, took hold of it and had it renovated and refurbished from top to bottom. Every article of furniture from kitchen to top floor, every carpet, is new in each of the fifty rooms. While Mr. Bosler will look after the management he will be represented at the desk by two clerks of long experience. William L. Murphy will appear during the day and Otto Ritchler at night. The hotel is new, neat and modern in every particular. In the case George Shea and Joe Columbus will officiate and wait on the thirty public. The service will be first class and the rates reasonable.

ST. ANTHONY'S PICNIC.

The annual picnic for the benefit of St. Anthony's church, at Twenty-third and Market streets, will be held at Riverview Park next Monday. During the afternoon and evening the young ladies of the congregation will conduct euchre games. More than fifty handsome prizes will be distributed among the winners. The married ladies will have full charge of the dining-room and will serve substantial meals at reasonable prices. The men will have control of the wheel of fortune, with Ben Schieman in charge. Mr. Schieman has secured a car load of novelties from Chicago, to be disposed of on the wheel. Arrangements have been made with the Louisville Railway Company to carry the children from the school-house on Market, near Twenty-third street, up Market to Fourth, out to Walnut, and thence down to Riverview Park, for one fare.

ENJOYED AN OUTING.

The California Fishing Club has returned from an extended trip on the Texas railroad. The party consisted of Col. H. P. Billings, formerly Judge of the Criminal Court at Seymour, Ind.; William Fehler, George Atkins and Wm. Sloane, vanguard of the Texas road. The club camped at Sinking creek and had a very enjoyable outing. Judge Billings is considered a hero because he captured a thirty-pound catfish.

CHURCH DEDICATED.

The new church at Brown's Valley, in Daviess county, was dedicated last Sunday. In the absence of the Right Rev. Bishop McCloskey the Rev. Father Fitzgerald officiated. A special train carried many visitors from Owensboro, and the choir of St. Paul's church, Owensboro, assisted the local singers. The new church is a handsome structure and reflects credit on the Catholics of Brown's Valley.

CONVALESCENT.

Sister Mary Everista, of the Sisters of Providence, at St. Mary's-of-the-Woods, near Terre Haute, Ind., who has been suffering from typhoid fever contracted in Chicago several months ago, is now convalescent. She is a sister of County President Richard Fleming, of New Albany Hibernians, whose daughter, Miss Nellie Fleming, died of typhoid fever last week.

LADIES' AUXILIARY.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will meet and hold an initiation at Hibernian Hall, Seventh and Market streets, tomorrow night. State President Keenan, State Secretary Meehan and the other State officers invite all the county officers to be present. It is believed that at least 100 ladies will be initiated at this meeting.

ENJOYING A TRIP.

The Rev. Father Michael Ryan, C. M. D. D., of St. Louis, Mo., and his cousin, Charles Raldy, of Louisville, left Wednesday to visit Mammoth Cave, Nazareth, Loretto, Gettysburg and other points of interest in Kentucky. They are enjoying a pleasant trip.

VISIT CULLEY.

Readers of the Kentucky Irish American will note in this issue the advertisement of R. M. Culley, the cut rate wall paper man, at 1383 Seventh street. Mr.
