Twin babies, their sister, mother and grandmother, who are awaiting the return of Papa Charles I. Cate, employed by the Government at Panama.

SOCIETY.

Mrs. John Riney spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. Mary A. Nov, last week.

Alton Leake has returned from a visit to his sister, Mrs. Edwin C. Dawson, at New Haven.

Miss Hildegard Daly, who has been suffering from a severe case of grip, is slowly improving.

Miss Mollie Collins, who has been recuperating at Martinsville, Ind., will remain there another week.

Mrs. Mike A. Wall, of Jeffersonville, who has been seriously ill, has improved within the last few days.

James Tyrrell, formerly instructor of swimming at the Coliseum pool, has sailed for his home in Belfast, Ireland.

John W. Gray and wife, of West Chestnut street, have returned from a most enjoyable visit to friends in Pendleton county.

Miss Josie O'Neill suffered a dislocation of her right arm Thursday and will be unable to leave the house for several days.

Mrs. Robert Higgins, who recently submitted to a serious surgical operation at St. Joseph's Infirmary, is rapidly improving.

Mrs. W. B. Long has returned to her home in this city after a pleasant visit to her mother, Mrs. Cynthia Sullivan, at Elkton.

Miss Athaire Mattingly, who has been the guest of her cousin, Miss Katherine Mattingly, has returned to her home in Lebanon.

It is a pleasure to announce that Mrs. Paul Villiers and Mrs. J. Zieser, both of Portland, have recovered from their recent indisposition.

Mrs. James Connor, who was recently the guest of Mrs. Jasper Hagan, at Bardonia, has returned home much improved in health.

Capt. Harry Bundschu, who was seriously injured while fighting a fire at the Pilcher organ factory several months ago, is rapidly recovering.

Miss Josephine McGill, the well known pianist, has gone to New York to pursue her musical studies. She will remain in the East until June.

Misses Mayne Daugherty and Cecilia Barber, who spent a pleasant visit with friends and relatives in this city, have returned to Bardonia.

Mrs. Ed Cowan, of Dayton, Ohio, arrived here Monday to spend several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Nancy O'Neill, 520 West Breckinridge street.

Mrs. Adele Villier, of 3628 High avenue, was hostess for her euchre club last Saturday afternoon. A bounteous luncheon followed the game.

Miss Lena Rosewald, of Sixteenth and Walnut, has gone to St. Louis, where she will be a member of a large house party for the next two weeks.

Much to the delight of his many friends, Col. John F. Kellner, President of the Central Consumers Company, is able to be out after a serious spell of illness.

John J. Flynn, the popular Master Mechanic of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, now stationed in the South, spent Sunday here with his family on West Broadway.

George J. Lantz, the popular tailor, is much pleased over the arrival of a little daughter at his home. His friends in Mackin Council are busy extending him their congratulations.

Miss Virginia Murphy entertained her dancing club at her home, 3316 High avenue, last Saturday. The young people of Portland who belong to the club spent a very pleasant evening.

Friends throughout the city will be pleased to note the improved condition of John Lepping, who was threatened with pneumonia and ill for the past three weeks at his home on Eighth street.

The first girl in Michael McDermott's family arrived at his home, 912 West Oak street, last week and was baptized at St. Louis Bertrand's church Sunday afternoon. Mike now has a pair and is contented.

John R. T. Hennessy, who has been in the employment of the Western Union Telegraph Company at Memphis during the past eight months, has returned to accept a more lucrative position with the same company in this city.

Mrs. James T. Swift, of Richmond, Va., was among the out-of-town guests who were here to attend the Hallinan-Lally wedding on Wednesday.

day. She will remain with her mother for a week before returning to her home.

Dr. Harry Couchman smiled and smiled this week every time he pulled a tooth. His patients were unable to smile with him until they learned that a handsome baby boy had arrived at his home, 542 Fifth street; last Sunday.

John Goodwin, the well known machinist who was seriously injured in an accident at the railroad shops in South Louisville several weeks ago, is progressing slowly toward recovery at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Tom Burke, on Twentieth street.

Dr. George Phillip Beutel, Sr., who was injured in a street car accident last July, is reported as somewhat improved this week. For a long time he was in a serious condition, and last week his life was almost despaired of. Dr. Beutel has been practicing medicine in Louisville more than thirty years.

Frank Wessels, the well known dealer in hay and grain, feels several inches taller since Tuesday, when twin baby girls made their appearance at his home, 324 Twenty-sixth street. Mrs. Wessels and the babies are doing nicely. The little ones will be baptized at St. Anthony's church tomorrow afternoon.

Quite a number of friends of Miss Louise Lepping gave her a linen shower at her home, 430 Tevontic street, Thursday night. The gifts were numerous and handsome. The event was in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Lepping to Charles Edward Yager. The nuptial rites will be solemnized February 26.

Owing to the recent death of the father of the prospective groom the wedding of Miss Corinne Leverone and Ernest Brockman next Wednesday will be an exceedingly quiet one. The happy couple will take a wedding tour of three weeks before beginning housekeeping. On their tour they will visit New York, Philadelphia and Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Nancy O'Neill, one of the oldest and most highly esteemed Catholic women of this city, is critically ill at her home on West Breckinridge street. She is the venerable mother of James O'Neill, the well known L. and N. engineer; Miss Margaret, Josie, Ellen and Mary O'Neill, of this city, and Mrs. Edward Cowan, of Dayton, Ohio.

Mrs. M. J. Bannon tendered her husband a surprise birthday dinner last Sunday. The dining room was tastefully decorated for the occasion and the viands were triumphs in the culinary art. After supper the hosts and their guests engaged in a pleasant game of eucro.

The guests were Messrs. and Messdames Ben Schieman, Charles Diern, Mrs. Jacob Hubbuch, Miss Carrie Weber and Frank Wessel.

Mrs. William Stitzel, of Eighteenth and Chestnut streets, was tendered a surprise card party by a number of her friends Tuesday evening. The guests gathered to congratulate her on her birthday. After the card game all sat down to a tasteful luncheon. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. William E. Stitzel, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Simonis, Mrs. J. Gantner, R. Romp, L. Gies, J. Combs, E. Ziegler, H. Simonis, George F. Simonis and Miss Louise Combs. Prizes were won by Mrs. Gantner, Miss Combs and Mr. Ramp. George F. Simonis won the consolation prize.

Ben S. Hund and Miss Dymphna Bax will be united in the holy sacrament of matrimony at St. John's church at 6:30 o'clock on Tuesday evening, February 25. Immediately after the ceremony the bride couple will be entertained at breakfast and then depart for a trip of ten days or two weeks through the South. They expect to witness the Mardi Gras festivities at New Orleans before returning home. Mr. Hund is yardmaster for the L. and N. at East Louisville. The bride is a niece of the Very Rev. Father Bax and a sister of L. D. Bax, the well known undertaker.

Much surprise was caused last Sunday when the bans announcing the forthcoming marriage of Patrick Coleman and Miss Catherine Thome were published for the first time at St. John's church. Both are well known and are receiving hearty congratulations. The wedding will be solemnized at St. John's church, Very Rev. Father Bax officiating, at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, February 26. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Coleman will take a honeymoon trip of three weeks through the South. Mr. Coleman is employed in the inter-change department of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, at Tenth and Zane streets. His bride is a charming young lady of the East End.

Miss Helen Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Butler, was given a surprise birthday party last Thursday at her home, 1993 Northland avenue. It was her thirteenth anniversary and the little one enjoyed herself hugely. The guests were Misses Margaret Dolan, Rose Kelly, Mary Gallagher, Loretta Trough, Annetta Small, Regina Stewart, Rose Donahue, Mary Lally, Mary Hines, Corinne Davis, Florence Giltname, Lillian Andrieu, Mildred Robinson, Ella Dillon, Ellinor Robinson, Anna Lee Gassman, Rose Ella Keenan, Ruth Jones, Evelyn Secor, Mayme O'Brien, Laura Langan, Mary Ellen Maloney, Mary and Elizabeth Campbell, Marie Dougherty, Edna Butler, Ellen May, Mary Loretta and Anna Rose Butler, Mary Louise Wenzell, Alice Wilcoxson, Edna Deep, Agnes Davis, Theresa Rose Butler and Masters John Campbell, Allen Milligan, D. J. Paul and Rogan O'Connor, James Dougherty, Mark Ryan, Dougherty Keenan, Thomas Giltname, Leo Adams, Patrick Lally, Thomas Scully, William Hoban, James Porter and Joseph Butler.

SILVER JUBILEE.

Trinity Council Preparing For Great Event Next Month.

Trinity Council, Y. M. T., had one of its old time rallies, full of business and enthusiasm, Monday night. President James B. Kelly presided and kept things on the bum. Every officer was present and the enthusiasm displayed indicated that the council's prospects were more encouraging than ever before. The council decided to celebrate the silver jubilee of the Young Men's Institute at the club house, on East Gray street, on the night of March 2, Edward Kelly, Emmet Slattery, Eugene J. Cooney, Albert F. Martin and Edward Wolf were appointed a committee to arrange the details of the celebration. It is intended to make the entertainment surpass anything ever attempted by Trinity.

Adam Schneider announced that quite a number of tickets for the euchre and dance to be given Thursday evening, February 20, had been disposed of. He said the committee felt that the forthcoming event would be a social and financial success. Henry Beckman was elected Collector for the council. The remainder of the evening was spent in the transaction of routine business.

DEATH WAS SUDDEN.

Mrs. Martin Donnelly Clancy, one of the most popular Irish-American ladies in Louisville, dropped dead at her home, 1531 West Walnut street, Sunday morning. She had just returned from mass. As she crossed the threshold she screamed and fell unconscious. Her medical aid arrived she was dead. The Coroner announced that death was due to total paralysis brought on by uremic poisoning. The deceased was born in Ireland fifty-nine years ago, but had spent the greater part of her life in Louisville. She was the widow of Patrick Clancy. Three children, Miss Florence, Edward and John Clancy, survive her. The funeral took place from the Cathedral of the Assumption Tuesday morning. Many friends called at the home of the bereaved family Sunday night and Monday to pay their last respects to the remains.

GOV. WILSON'S TRAVELS.

Gov. A. E. Wilson has been a fast traveler this week. Monday he was in Washington, D. C., and during the forenoon spent a pleasant hour with President Roosevelt. Later he called upon Justice Harlan, of the United States Supreme Court, his former law partner in Louisville. In the afternoon Gov. Wilson and Justice Harlan paid a visit to the Capitol, where both were admitted to the floors of both the Senate and House of Representatives. Gov. Wilson was introduced to many of the leading Republican Congressmen of both Houses. That evening he was the guest of honor at a dinner tendered to the judiciary. Tuesday night Justice McKenna gave a dinner in his honor. Wednesday he went to New York City, where he was the guest of honor and one of the principal speakers at the Lincoln memorial dinner. He is expected to be in Louisville tomorrow.

RETURNED FROM FUNERAL.

Mrs. Dan Haager and Mrs. John Bartman returned from Cincinnati Thursday, where they went to attend the funeral of Mrs. Rose Regan, which took place from the Cathedral, there Wednesday. Mrs. Regan was for fifteen years matron of the House of Detention in Cincinnati, and was crushed to death in an elevator accident at that institution last Monday. She visited Mrs. Haager annually and was well known to many Louisville people. The deceased was highly esteemed in Cincinnati.

WILL TRY IT AGAIN.

Early in May Mackin Council's opera company will present the latest effort from Aulyn Kanston, composer of "The Dreamers," which was given with such artistic effect and financial success last spring. The committee arranging for the coming production is made up as follows: Louis J. Kieffer, Chairman; Ben Reed, Secretary, and Thomas D. Cline, Treasurer. The production will be on a more elaborate scale than last year.

FOR WORTHY CAUSE.

A grand euchre for the benefit of the Building Committee of the Catholic Women's Club will be given at the club house, Walnut street, between Third and Fourth, next Tuesday afternoon and evening. The games will be called promptly at 3 o'clock and 8 o'clock, and the admission will be one cent. Quite a number of handsome prizes have been donated.

DINNER TO THE PUBLIC.

The Catholic woman of Lebanon who are members of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Augustine's church there have hit upon a unique plan to raise funds with which to continue the good work they have been doing. Next Thursday night they will give an oyster supper and on County Court days during the months of March and April will serve dinner to the public.

MACKEY MAKING GOOD.

Word received from Washington, D. C., brings the pleasing information that Edward Mackey, private secretary to Congressman Sherley, is making excellent progress at the National University and has an excellent standing in the senior class at that institution.

KINDLY SUGGESTED.

The Rev. Father J. T. Roche, LL.D., who it is expected will be offered the editorial chair of the archdiocesan paper of Chicago, the New World, has written a series of interesting articles on "The Business Side of the Church." These articles are full of good things for clergy and laity alike, but in a very recent letter the reverend writer says: "We have never yet been able to organize a Catholic young men's society similar in general scope to the Y. M. C. A." That there is a real need for an organization of this kind no one will deny. Might the Kentucky Irish American be pardoned for suggesting that the Young Men's Institute is as broad in scope as the Y. M. C. A. with the exception that its members must be practical Catholics. On the other hand, Catholics may join the Y. M. C. A., but are not permitted to hold any office. It might be well for Catholics generally to investigate the Y. M. I. and see the good work that is being done. Father Roche would be more than welcome should he visit Mackin Council in Louisville, and would certainly not regret the visit after he had seen its club house, gymnasium, reading rooms and baths. For Catholic young men the Y. M. I. is doing a great work.

WHAT WILL BE DONE?

"Birds of a feather flock together" is an adage as old as the English language. In spirit it is as old as the principle that water seeks its level; that like seeks like. Small wonder is it, then, that Detective Robert Foster attended the negro celebration of Lincoln's birthday Wednesday night and paid a big round dollar for the privilege of being there. He also congratulated the negroes on their apparent intelligence, and it is said put in a few lines for Secretary Taft. This ought to make Foster stand high in the opinion of W. Marshall Bullitt. By the way, this is the same Detective Foster who acts as a smelling committee on Sunday and who was recently deprived of his revolver by a man whose home he had invaded. If a Democratic policeman were to make a speech at a Jefferson or Jackson birthday celebration he would be fired forthwith. What will be done to Foster? Promoted? Perhaps.

SOMETHING IS AMISS.

Not for love of Ireland, but for purely advertising purposes, an American daily journal, of sensational tendencies and thoroughly British policies, has challenged Ireland to produce the photograph of the original of a more beautiful girl than its protegee. It is cable, though the information is by no means authentic, that the Dublin Weekly Times has accepted the challenge, and that hundreds of photographs are pouring in upon the editor with every mail. It may be surprising to our Irish-American mothers and grandmothers to know that photographic galleries are so profuse in every village, town and hamlet in Erin. It will be still more surprising for them to learn that Irish girls have lost their maidenly modesty and have gone in for a beauty quest. There are thousands of beautiful girls in Ireland, but they are not now and will never be on dress parade for the purpose of advertising a newspaper.

YONTS' DUAL ROLE.

Not satisfied with the ravages of the Tobacco Trust, all the woe, the barn-burning and the heart-burning it has caused, there are some people who want to establish a Milk Trust in Kentucky. Morton K. Yonts, who is the paid attorney of the City of Louisville, neglects his business here to go to Frankfort and address the Legislature as the hired attorney and in the interest of the new trust. Of course Mr. Yonts and his clients declare the new trust is a necessity and lay the blame on poor old Taber. If Tuberculosis and his anti-to pay for all the free advertising they get these days they would be bankrupt. Morton K. Yonts and the other money changers in his party got a black eye in November. They had better beware lest they be scourged from the temple of Democracy.

HINTS OF SCANDAL.

In certain high political circles in Ireland the theft of the crown jewels, sometimes called St. Patrick's regalia, from Dublin Castle continues to be a theme of discourse. The people, as a people, do not care a fig for the crown jewels, but as a mental curiosity what became of the jewels. Why? Because they are part of the insignia of British royalty, and for that the people of sainted Erin have no use. Just now the papers of the United States are teeming with alleged London cablegrams to the effect that these crown jewels were worth $300,000 and that King Edward is keeping the Dublin scandal hid. Some Americans and a few Irish-Americans believe this, because they do not stop to consider that a scandal so nearly touching the throne would be allowed sent by cable.

The latest story is that King Edward VII. is keeping down the scandal because its exposure would be so far reaching as to affect the very throne itself. Secretary Birrell has flatly refused to make a public inquiry into the theft of St. Patrick's regalia. Nasty, dirty, ugly, abnormal orgies are hinted at in Dublin Castle. The people of Ireland would rather suffer the loss of the jewels than hear the nasty stories detailed.

In a recent lecture at Holy Rosary church, Milwaukee, the Rev. Dr. T. L. Harrington said: "The double standard of morals set for our boys and girls is chiefly responsible for the social evil of today." Dr. Harrington is correct, but even Catholic mothers and fathers can be found who, while guarding the purity of their daughters, wink at the moral delinquencies of the sons and call it "sowing wild oats." The people of Irish birth and ancestry have always stood for the single standard of morals.

Many people who have the general welfare of Kentucky at heart are in full sympathy with the committee from the House of Representatives in the State Legislature, which has decided to report favorably a bill to make the carrying of concealed deadly weapons a felony. It might be well, too, to amend the bill that the Governor, or acting Governor of the State, could not remit the penalty imposed upon the person convicted of such an offense.

The New York Legislature has before it a bill making it a felony for any person to give a fictitious name when placed under arrest. For years many men and women when arrested in the Empire State sought secrecy by giving an assumed and usually an Irish name. The same bill might be introduced in Kentucky. A rider should be added to include felony for pugilists who assumed Irish names.

JUST TO BOTH.

Employers' Liability Does Not Mean Great Burden.

That employers should protect their employes in case of accident is one of the most forcible doctrines of President Roosevelt in his latest message to Congress. Hear him:

The same broad principle which should apply to the Government should ultimately be made applicable to all private employers. Where the nation has power it should enact the laws. It is to be observed that an employers' liability law does not really mean mulcting employers in damages. It merely throws upon the employer the burden of accident insurance against injuries which are sure to occur. It requires him either to bear or to distribute through insurance the loss which can readily be borne when distributed, but which, if undistributed, bears with frightful hardship upon the unfortunate victim of accident. In theory, if wages were always freely and fairly adjusted, they would always include an allowance as against the risk of injury, just as certainly as the rate of interest for money includes an allowance for insurance against the risk of loss. In theory, if employes were all experienced business men, they would employ that part of their wages which is received because of the risk of injury to secure accident insurance. But as a matter of fact, it is not practical to expect that this will be done by the great body of employes. An employers' liability law makes it certain that it will be done, in effect, by the employer, and it will ultimately impose no real additional burden upon him.

ST. MICHAEL'S BAZAR.

Members of St. Michael's congregation are arranging to give a gazar for the benefit of the church in the school hall, on Brook street, on March 2 and 3. Rev. Father O'Connor has materially reduced the debt of the church during his pastorate and his people are very anxious to help him in his good work.

IRISH COPE.

Pope Pius X. is to be presented with a handsome cope of exclusively Irish manufacture. The chap of the cope is in the form of a Celtic cross adorned with Irish amethysts. The poplin and silk are the products of Dublin looms. On either side of the foot border of the cope are embroidered the Pontifical arms with the Pope's own arms upon the shield.
