A PRETTY ROMANCE.

Wanderer, Who Was Believed to Be Dead, Becomes Wealthy and Will Now Care for a Blind Brother.

HARRODSBURG, Ky., Jan. 6.—Thirty-five years ago a penniless youth wandered from his father's home in this county and long ago was given up for dead by his relatives, for all their searching for him was in vain. One by one his relatives passed over the river of death, until an only brother remained to tell the story. His name is Duvall Bradley, who was a child when his brother left home. Duvall has been blind for many years, and the charity of his neighbors supported him. Last week he received a letter from his brother, John Bradley, once a penniless wanderer, but now a wealthy merchant of St. Louis. He bade his blind brother come live with him the rest of his days, and Thursday morning he left for the great western metropolis.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

Resolutions Adopted Thanking President McKinley for Utterances in His Atlanta Speech and Elsewhere.

MIDDLEBORO, Ky., Jan. 6.—At a meeting of the Henry M. Ashley bivouac of Confederate veterans, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

1. That we extend our heartfelt thanks to our president, Hon. William McKinley, for his noble and patriotic words uttered in his speeches at Atlanta and other points during his recent tour of the south.

2. That this bivouac pledge its hearty support to him in all measures that look to the upbuilding of the country and the honor of the old flag.

3. That we are in no sense applicants for pension, that we believe the manhood of the south can be maintained without being put upon the pension rolls.

4. But if the people of the north should become magnanimous enough to put our poor upon the pension payroll, we see no reason why we should not accept.

5. We rejoice that our common country is ruled by a man so broad minded and patriotic as William M. McKinley. We also rejoice that the south took such an active part in the late Spanish war, and we take especial pride in Joe Wheeler and Fitzhugh Lee.

New Telephone Company.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Jan. 10.—The Green River Telephone and Telegraph Co. has been organized to construct a line from Owensboro to Henderson and other points, with ex-Mayor J. H.
