EVERY WEEK BY LOUIS LANDRAN, Publisher, LANCASTER, KENTUCKY.

THURSDAY, June - 1, - 1899

"I should say," writes Rev. Amory H. Bradford, D. D., on "What is the Good of Going to Church?" in the June Ladies' Home Journal, "attend church that you may worship God; that you may learn of the things of the spirit; that you may be brought face to face with 'the doctrine of grace,' which in hours of deepest need alone can satisfy either the mind or the heart. If you answer, 'I believe in none of these things,' then I reply, 'Attend church that you may hear the loftiest ideals presented to those who have no selfish ends to subserve, and that you may be kept sensitive to the moral order of the world in which all men are included, the violation of which means ruin and misery, and harmony with which is followed by benefit and blessing.'"

If as much time were given by church people to fighting sin as they spend in parleying over mouse-track questions, this old world would be much better off. In a remarkable sermon at the Louisville church Sunday morning, the Rev. Carter Helm Jones denounced the action of the trustees of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in accepting Dr. W. H. Whitsett's resignation as President of that institution. He said Dr. Whitsett was the victim of combined malice and ignorance. During the sermon the congregation was much wrought up, some of the men stung their feet in approval and many women crying.

A LOT of time, and much money is being spent in holding a "peace conference" between the great nations. This is furnishing a great pleasure jaunt to a number of politicians, but what good will be accomplished will never be known. Nations are like individuals, when their angry passions arise they are going to fight, no matter what kind of agreement may have been entered into. The "peace conference" is nothing more nor less than a lot of fat-bellied politicians sitting on their pants, drinking expensive wines and smoking, while the people of the nations represented have to grin and pay the fiddler.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY issued an amendment to the civil service rules releasing from the operations of the civil service rules about 4,000 offices. About every department of the Government is affected. The civil service is only a tool which enables the holding in of favorites and the firing out of those who fail to keep step to the political boss' fiddling.

WITH GLORY The Lancaster Graded School Pupils Cover Themselves at Somerset.

Although the Lancaster school has been in existence for several years, she never before entered the State Tournaments which are held every year. Prof. Patterson made up his mind some time ago to have the school represented, and last week a number of pupils went to Somerset to take part against those who have had experience in such matters and show what our school can do. The Progressive Home Journal of that city, prints a lengthy account of the Tournament, from which we take the following extracts:

On Thursday afternoon No. five brought to our little city one of the most interesting assemblage of people that has ever honored us with its presence.

Between two and three hundred young ladies and gentlemen, from the Graded Schools of our Central Kentucky towns, came here to contest for the beautiful medals and the high honor of being best in the various departments of scholarship, music and athletics. The bright, happy and intelligent faces of the many boys and beautiful girls made one long to be a child, and live over those happy school days again. They came for a three days' visit and went first to the Opera House where they were assigned to our citizens to be entertained at their homes. After dinner, which was, of course, a "special order" of business, the first thing on the program was a ball game between the teams of Somerset and Harrodsburg. The final score was 22 to 4 in favor of the visitors.

On Friday afternoon the game of ball between Lancaster and Richmond was played and after a great battle up to the seventh inning Lancaster "left the earth" and Richmond won an easy victory by a score of 14 to 3. For Lancaster M. Denny played a great game and made every score that his team got across the plate. Every man in the team from Richmond did well and each had a prominent part in winning the victory. * * * On Saturday morning, immediately after the contest at the Fair grounds, the crowd adjourned to the Hall Park and witnessed a game of ball between Harrodsburg and Richmond * * * On Thursday evening at the Gem was held the contests in vocal and instrumental music. The house was filled to the doors, and for more than hours the large audience enjoyed the splendid music. * * * The Lancaster winners were as follows: Best Vocal Solo, Female—Birdie

The Lancaster people captured, in all, ten awards. The principal and teachers are delighted with the result and justly so. The folks returned Saturday afternoon and were met by a big crowd of admirers, who showered congratulations upon them. At night Prof. Patterson entertained the party at supper, as a slight token of his appreciation and joy over the outcome. At Somerset, Rev. F. M. Hill, formerly of this city, took special pains to see that the Lancaster delegation were well taken care of, and they are loud in praising his kindness. The most amusing incident of the trip happened to Prof. Patterson. An amateur performance was being given at the opera house, and between acts the clever professor came before the curtain to make an announcement. Just as he began, the curtain was raised and a young lady, dressed as a ghost, rushed, with drawn dagger upon him. Like Covert, he made a desperate dash to escape, but was headed off at each avenue. The boys say he finally ran up a white flag, a truce was had, and he was allowed to leave the stage in safety.

The Paragon throws the visitors this bouquet at parting: "Goodbye, Richmond, Harrodsburg, Midway, Winchester, Paris, Nicholasville and Lancaster. Somerset is glad you came, and she hopes you'll come again. We have tried to do well by you, but next time we'll know better how to do the job, and we'll give you a warmer welcome."

His Life was Saved. Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I had taken Typhoid Fever, that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at R. E. McRoberts' Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed. Im

WALTER HIATT IN LONDON. Mr. Walter S. Hiatt, formerly of the Herald staff, but now on a tour thro' England, Scotland and France, writes to the manager of The Morning Herald the following charming letter which will be read with pleasure by the friends of this bright young Lexingtonian: London, England, May 8, 1899. My Dear Mr. Breckinridge: You will most likely have come to the conclusion that I had dropped myself into the Atlantic or been taken in tow by some English man eater since I have failed to write you. The fact is that I have been so busy seeing the sights and doing nothing that I have delayed writing you until after reaching this place. I arrived here yesterday evening after a five days' run from Liverpool through Chester, where I saw the Prince of Wales, Shrewsbury, Birmingham, Kenilworth (the scene of Walter Scott's "Kenilworth") Warwick, (the home of the kingmaker), Stratford-on-Avon, where I dozed and mused for a morning in the spot in which "Ceath Will!" spent his last and happiest days undisturbed by the world's turmoil on regatta, and lastly to "merrie" London, to colleges of Oxford; on through Henley-or-Thames, the scene of the annual regatta, and

"HIS NATURE WARNED YOU?" Nature herself died in the early parts of spring, blossoms forth trees and flowers causing the dependent earth to witness to this, the most delightful of all springtimes and how do you feel? Have you that tired shabby feeling the forerunner of Chills, Malaria and Typhoid Fever? If so, you must not pass this warning as it is an indication of sickness; avoid this counsel so as our advice costs you nothing. Call on your druggist and procure a bottle of Dr. Carstedt's German Liver Powder. Take one dose a day at bed time for six days; then follow by procuring a bottle of Carstedt's Chills Tonic, following the directions and after two weeks' course of these two great remedies, you will find that the fever has left the system. Prepare yourself for the material of hot season when the summer months are full of fever, if you do not use this Chills Tonic, you will regret the above. These Remedies are sold and sold by R. E. McRoberts.

lastly to "merrie" London. I have seen many things of interest about each of the above spots and may have some good stories shortly. The whole of the distance, nearly, I followed the one Roman road and marched in the path beaten by centuries of English history. At Whittington Castle, near Shrewsbury (where I ate a Shrewsbury cake), I slept one night. The castle is but a ruin now, but very interesting. It was built in 832.

But I could reel off this sort of stuff to you by the yard. I will devote several of the following days to writing to you and then for more sight seeing. My wheel has been of great service. On the ship I was really a cabin passenger through a little manipulation. I can return when I like.

I don't believe I shall go about London a great deal, as even now the thing is losing some of its charm. Everything is too American—nothing new.

Remember me to all. This letter is very hurried as my tea is waiting. Yours sincerely, WALTER S. HIATT. P. S.—All mail to Exeter Hall, Central Y. M. C. A., London.

GOOD LETTER. Former Garrard Man Writes Interestingly from his Kansas Home.

PEABODY, KANSAS, May 20, '99. Mr. Louis Landran, Lancaster, Ky.

Dear Louis:—Your divers and sundry threats in a recent issue of your good paper to send Bob Henry after your delinquent subscribers caused me to refer to the number and date on the wrapper of my copy; and to my intense horror I discover I am somewhat in arrears. I used to know a family by the name of Henry in Garrard county some thirty years ago, who were good and clever people, but I cannot exactly locate Bob; but have pictured him in my mind as a holy terror—a grizzly-faced, wild featured, fiery-eyed whangdoodle, with nails and dew-claws like a mountain lion, teeth like the fangs of a shark, breath like a mighty cyclone and death in the sting of his remorseless tail. It was said of a noted pioneer hunter that he was so sure a shot that when he took his trusty old rifle into the forest for game the squirrels and coons would call from the highest tree-tops, "please don't shoot, I'll come down!" And so I would say to Mr. Bob, "please don't manifest your hideous presence in these parts, I'll come down with the cash." This little mite will set me a peg higher on your book, and entitle me to the RECORD until the early part of the next century.

I like your paper, for it speaks to me of the noblest people and grandest country beneath the skies. It tells me of the friends of the good old, long ago, and awakens within my breast precious memories of many who will ever be as dear as life to me. Whenever I unfold its pages and scan its columns, what a host of beloved faces well up before me! There are the Wherritts, Kinnairds, Landrans, Reeds, Prices, Sweeneys, Lucks, Robinsons, Whites, Dennys, Dotys, Greenleafs, Pettys, Masons, Colliers, Hudsons, Myers, Yantis, Millers, Waldens, Walkers, Andersons, Peacocks, Hills, Sandfers, Browns, Letchers, Owsleys, Beazleys, Wests, Gallighers, Smiths, Huffmans, Salters, Elkins, Herrings, Hoppers, Herdons, Burdets, and scores and scores of others just as good and true, whose names I cannot write here; but they are engraven on my memory's pages and will be ever dear to my heart. God bless them everyone.

We have had an unusually long and hard winter here, but everything is lovely now. Strawberries are ripening and the roses are in bloom. Sincerely your friend, R. L. COCHRAN.

We should not overlook the value of ashes in building up the bone of hogs. Even in the West, where no ashes accumulate, the cobs from the corn should be burned and spread where the swine can get at them. Hogs are not advancing in price as rapidly as some would like to see them. The quality offered for sale are above the average, but not just the right kind to bring fancy prices. The white hogs still top the market.

Want a Hen Hens. Mr. EDITOR:—In your paper I see a notice of hens eggs which you have for sale and you say they will begin to lay when 5 months old and never quit Them the hens I want—I want one bad and I want her right now. In fact this is the kind of a Hen I long have sought and mourned because I found her not. You are a public benefactor to introduce such a Hen as that and I will utilize her for you. On General principles I am a Aunty moppet but in this case I think it proper for me to control the whole outfit and get a corner on them eggs that is if a pig can be cornered. I have an interest in the one patent egg nests that lets the egg drop out of site of the hen everytime when she turns around to cackle and when she dont see it she thinks she made a mistake and laughed too soon and goes At it and lays another one. Your never quitting layer will be just the kind to put onto that nest. I aint greedy and am willing to stipulate that your hens can lay off of nights and rest on Sundays for I have some reputation for goodness which I dont prefer to sacrifice. Set your price and the Hens too on all them augs you have got. A. POLETRYMAN.
