If anyone else came here as regularly as Ed Walton, we would quit publishing his name, but he has so many friends in Garrard that we are duty bound to chronicle his visits. He went home Monday with more money than Carter had oats.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Baughman have been visiting in Lexington and Danville. Mr. B. has been here for two months having his grain put in. He and his charming better-half will move here permanently Jan. 1, and will be warmly welcomed by many friends.

W. G. Romans and family left for Scheet City, Missouri, Oct. 9. Mr. Romans was born and raised near Lancaster and it was for the health of his wife that he took leave of his former home. His many Garrard friends regret to see him leave but wish him success in his new home.

Capt. J. B. Douglass, of Jellico, was here Monday and made our sanctum a pleasant call. Capt. Douglass is an old Ellen N. boy and for many years has had charge of a passenger run between Jellico and Corbin. His wife and children accompanied him and attended the wedding of Miss Mollie Douglas.

Our old school mate, W. R. Jennings, of Paint Lick, was in the office this week and tells us he has a constantly increasing trade in the saddle and harness business at that place. At school, "Tige" was always head of the class, and he has turned us down more times than we could count in ten weeks.

Being a fine conversationalist and of fine sense, his visit was greatly enjoyed by many of his old friends.

Last Thursday evening at her pretty home near Manse, Miss Susie Parks entertained in honor of her charming visitor, Miss Wood, of Danville. At an early hour about forty guests ar-

The bride has resided in this city for some time, and by her lovely manners and many good and noble traits has made a large number of friends and admirers who extend their heartiest congratulations and well-wishes. The groom comes highly recommended as a gentleman and industrious young man. The couple left at once for Henderson, where the groom goes as a delegate to the grand lodge Knights of Pythias. He has shown by his selection that he knows a good thing, and most people seem to think so. They will return to Versailles, where Mr. Stone is connected with the railroad.

Bro. Walton Synthesis.
The Stanford Journal says: "The Southern railroad engineers, under Capt. Joel Mabel, who have been encamped at the water works here, struck their tents yesterday and moved to Halls Gap. Capt. Mabel tells us that the route via Danville here is a very practical one and can be built with no extraordinary outlay. Capt. W. H. Respass, who is in charge of the party that ran the line via Lancaster, was here Sunday from his camp at Mt. Vernon, expecting to meet Maj. Wells, the chief engineer. He says that the Lancaster line is an expensive one, requiring besides others, a high bridge 750 feet long. We dislike to have to keep our Lancaster friends out of the road, but if we do, they must charge it to our shortsness and cheapness of route and general advantages."
