The young men entertained at a card function of attractive arrangements in honor of the Thursday evening club at the Odd Fellows hall. A number of guests were present in addition to the club members. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The lucky contestants were Miss Mattie Elkin and Mr Sam Denny. Mr William Burton carried off the consolation prize. At the conclusion of the game the happy party repaired to the Mason hotel where one of the most delightful repasts had been prepared under the skillful supervision of Mrs Simpson. The dining room and tables were especially pretty and the menu, consisting of sandwiches, salads, pickles, olives, coffee, chocolate, ices, strawberries and cakes, was heartily enjoyed. This was the last meeting of the Thursday evening club which has afforded much pleasure during the winter months to the members and its invited guests.

It is seldom that a talent for any one particular thing runs through an entire family, that we wish to mention the wonderful aptitude of Mr. A. Bastin and his sons in regard to telephony. Mr Bastin, who was born in Lincoln county and lived there until coming here, took charge of the local exchange when it was in its infancy. Prior to that time, he taught school, and a singular fact is that he received a first-class, 2nd grad. certificate to teach after being in school for one year, he took the Lancaster exchange when there were only a few lines in use. He went to work immediately to make it one of the best in the state and that he succeeded will be cheerfully testified to by any of the several hundred subscribers. He understands every working of telephony, and gives personal attention to much of the work.

The oldest son, Henry, is 21 years of age. He was at State College three years and graduated in electrical engineering, standing at head of his class. He then went to Perdue University, Lafayette, Ind., from which institution he will graduate in a few days. His principal study is telephony, and we saw a letter where he would grade with the first in the class Henry put in the new system in the Lancaster, and the work has been highly praised by every electrician who has seen it. He will receive a diploma from Perdue, something few electricians can boast of. He has a brilliant future before him. He already has a number of splendid offers from leading telephone people, but has not yet decided what he will accept.

Ross, the next son, is one of the best telephone men in Kentucky, and, notwithstanding he has not yet had advantage of schools in the business, he can do anything needed by the local company. When it is stated that the local company covers a vast amount of territory, and has never had to send to the city for an expert to do any work, and the further fact that the local system is the best in Central Kentucky, it goes to show the remarkable aptitude and skill possessed by Mr Bastin and his energetic sons. Prior to entering the telephone business, Mr Bastin was engaged in the mercantile business at Crab Orchard. He is a good business man, and the thorough system with which the Lancaster exchange is conducted, goes to show what careful study and hard work will accomplish. Lancaster has the best telephone exchange and service in the state, and the people owe Mr Bastin a debt of gratitude for the hard work he did to bring it about.

DEWEY'S NEW RESPONSIBILITY

Picture of the Hero of Manila on a Button That Was Put to Good Use.

The boy pupils of a down-town school were studying the history of the war with Spain, says the Philadelphia Times. One boy seemed to have difficulty in remembering the names of some of the American naval commanders who were conspicuous in that trouble.

"Here," the teacher said, finally, going to her desk and taking out some souvenirs of the jubilee parade of 1899, "take these buttons home this afternoon, study them over night, and tell me in the morning which is Schley, which is Dewey and which Sampson." She handed him the buttons bearing the likenesses of the three commanders, and the boy took them and went home.

In the morning the teacher called him to her desk and asked him if he knew the names of the three officers. He produced two buttons saying: "This is Schley, and—" handing out the second—"this is Sampson."

"That's right; that's right; very good! Of course the third is—where is the third button I gave you?"

"Please, ma'am," he replied, "me mudder took Dewey and sewed him on me fadder's pants dis morning."

French Women Sailors.

Questions having been raised on the subject of the decision of the French maritime authorities to allow women to act as sailors in the channel fishing smacks, the minister of marine has addressed a circular to all the French port officials, in which he says: "Women cannot navigate as captains, but, according to the French law, they cannot be prevented from embarking as members of the crews."

Contagious Blood Poison

Is the same sometimes given to what is generally known as the BAD DISEASE. It is not confined to dens of vice or the lower classes. The purest and best people are sometimes infected with this awful malady through handling the clothing, drinking from the same vessels, using the same toilet articles, or otherwise coming in contact with persons who have contracted it.

It begins usually with a little blister or sore, then swelling in the groins, a red eruption breaks out on the body, sores and ulcers appear in the month, the throat becomes ulcerated, the hair, eye brows and lashes fall out; the blood becoming more contaminated, copper colored spots and pustular eruptions and sores appear upon different parts of the body, and the poison even destroys the bones.

S. S. S. is a Specific for this loathsome disease, and cures it even in the worst forms. It is a perfect antidote for the powerful virus that pollutes the blood and penetrates to all parts of the system. Unless you get this poison out of your blood it will ruin you, and bring disgrace and disease upon your children, for it can be transmitted from parent to child. S. S. S. contains no mercury or potash, but is guaranteed a strictly vegetable compound.
