

THE CENTRAL RECORD

LANCASTER, KY., FRIDAY, MARCH 3 1905.

NUMBER 49

Items of Local Interest

Money for school teachers has arrived. Bring your reports and get pay.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of the Christian church, will give a social on the evening of March the 10th. Particulars later.

The Aid Society will have a bonnet sale Friday and Saturday, March 10th and 11th at the post office. Sun bonnets, baby bonnets, beauty bonnets, dust caps, etc.

We wouldn't trade places with the King of England this week. Our friend, Tom Wall, brought us a large jar of fresh maple molasses, and we have been "in clover" knee deep.

J. C. Thompson sold his ginseng roots at $7.65, a remarkably good price. He has a lot of plants and seeds which he will sell at reasonable prices. There is a lot of money in ginseng and it will pay someone to raise it.

J. S. Parks, who recently sold his farm, near Marcellus, to R. B. Rose of Owsley county, moved this week, to Harrodsburg, where he will reside. Mr. Parks is a good citizen, and we regret to lose him.

The Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church will give an entertainment at the church, tomorrow (Friday) night, and the public is cordially invited to attend. The exercises will begin at 7:30 sharp.

This office is getting out a new telephone directory for the Bastin Co., so many new 'phones having been put in that the old card is almost useless. It will be in book form and contain a big lot of advertising matter.

Capt. Phil Price, who runs the day trains, is again crippled up with rheumatism and has gone to Hot Springs. Capt. Parker is running in his place. The latter has made many friends on the Branch, who are always glad to see him.

The best attended meeting Camp M. D. Logan ever held was that on Monday, and was very enjoyable for the old Confederate Veterans. Mr. Joe H. Arnold was re-elected commander, R. R. Denton adjutant, Wm. Hamilton secretary and C. G. Thompson chaplain.

R. E. McRoberts, license to sell liquor as a druggist for medical purposes expired last Monday and he declined to renew on account of worry caused by handling it. As everybody knows, Mr. McRoberts complied with the law in every particular, but he did not care to handle liquor and will keep none in his store.

For the 'Steenth Time.

For the 576,985th time, we wish to say that unsigned communications are given no attention in any printing office. All newspapers are pleased to have brief, well-written articles, but a long-winded, unsigned document stands about as much show as a snowball in the final home of the wicked. Sign your articles, that we may know from whence they came, and, if we cannot print them, we want to exercise proper courtesy by answering your letter.

Elmore.

Mr. Jas. W. Elmore was called to Versailles last week by the death of his grand-mother, Mrs. Julia Ann Elmore, who died at the home of her son, Mr. S. D. Elmore, Tuesday night, Feb. 21st, aged 90. She was the widow of Thos. D. Elmore. Before marriage she was a Miss Coffman, and was born and reared in Jessamine county, and was a sister of the late S. D. Coffman, of Wilmore. She was one of a family of long-lived people. A sister, Mrs. Kitty Morrison, died Feb. 19, in Missouri, aged 84. Two other sisters survive her, Mrs. Tucker, of Mercer county, and Mrs. Susan McCrohan. Mrs. Elmore died in the house in which she had lived for fifty-two years. She had been a member of the Christian church for seventy-two years and was a woman of fine character.

Going South.

The Glasgow Times says that from one railroad alone 487 home-seeking passengers have been ticketed to a single Alabama county, and letters received in their former northern homes indicate that many of them are proposing to remain in the south. The immigration southward is largely due to the severity of the present winter. One blizzard has swept the train of another all over the north states during a period of nearly three months and nearly two more months of bad weather are feared in the north. Farming, and especially stock farming, in the regions of a climate such as that is discouraging, and many farmers at the extreme north and northwest are turning their eyes to the Gulf States—a land of fertile soil, mild climate and reasonable prices. With immigration and the building of the Panama canal, a new era of prosperity will again open up for the South—a section that was once the garden spot of the world and that will one day again assume the supremacy to which it is entitled by reason of its magnificent agricultural and commercial resources.

Farm Wanted.

Good place, containing about forty acres, with dwelling. Must be within few miles of Lancaster. For particulars call at this office.

Court Day.

A good many people came in Monday, but the weather was miserable and business was slow. There were about 200 head of cattle at Estes' pens, about half sold at from 31 to 34 cts. Mr. Estes says there was a demand for cattle, but the price was a little stiff.

A Good Record.

Danville Advocate:—The many friends of Mr. Henry G. Sandifer will be glad to learn that he is able to be out after being confined to his bed for four days with a severe case of grip. During his forty-four years connection with the Boyle Bank, this is the first time that he has been kept from his desk for four consecutive days by sickness.

A Stitch In Time.

The moving picture show, at court house Wednesday evening, was enjoyed by a large crowd. The whistling and cat-calling indulged in by some youngsters, was proof of lack of proper training in some homes. A boy can be a gentleman as well as those of mature age, and if the young idea is taught to shoot, the "aim" at that period is likely to be even better than when old age makes his nerves unsteady.

The Voice Of The Turtle.

Signs of warm weather have a good effect on our friend, Editor Walton, and he is now listening for "the voice of the turtle." He says in Tuesday's Journal: "A few more days like last Sunday and the beautiful voice of the turtle will be filling the land with melody, flowers will appear on the earth and the time of the singing of birds will come, for winter will be past and the rain over and gone."

A "Fitting" Opportunity.

An event that is looked forward to by the good dressers of Lancaster, is the visitation to the store of Joseph Mercantile Co., of the cutter and fitter from Schloss Bros & Co., the well known Baltimore tailoring house. He will be here March 17th and 18th with patterns of the very latest Spring and Summer fabrics, and a fund of information that will be helpful to every good dresser. If you like to wear well fitting clothes "that cost no more than the ordinary," drop in and see the tempting array of stylish textures.

Appendicitis Killing Off Quail.

The number of quail in Central California has been greatly reduced by a disease which the local doctors say is similar to appendicitis in human beings. So many birds were found dead or ill it was at first thought that somebody was using poison, and arrests were even made on suspicion. But with the investigation developed the fact that quail were dying from the effect of eating too many grapes, the seeds lodging in the small intestines, closely resembling the vermin of human beings, and causing inflammation.

We Stole Clay's Thunder.

The editor of The Record has been doing a lot of laughing in his sleeve over the fact that the snake stories appearing in this paper have been credited to our good friend, Mr. H. Clay Sutton, whose ability as a writer is well-known all over the state. Clay didn't like the idea a little bit, but we intended to keep a silent tongue and enjoy hearing the people "kid" him. However, Miss Mary Elizabeth Marksbury, the splendid Elizabeth correspondent to the Danville Advocate, lets the cat out of the bag in the following neat and highly-appreciated jolly: "In letter of last week Clay Sutton was credited as the author of the snake story that appeared in a recent issue of the Central Record at Lancaster, but it seems the guess was a wrong one. It is not generally known that Garrard county has developed another snake story teller, but Mr. Landram the versatile editor, has assumed that role and is giving to his readers some thrilling stories along that line. Mr. Sutton is giving his attention to crayon work, and both are throwing sunshine into many lives."

ONLY A FEW DAYS MORE.

Our Cincinnati Post Offer Will Be Withdrawn in a Few Days.

Come Running.

Our low rates offered on the Cincinnati Post and Central Record brought in many orders, and the people appreciate our effort to get them a daily paper to give all the markets and general news of the day at a low price. Notwithstanding our statement that we must have the entire $2.25 in advance several wanted us to only receive that portion for the Post and let The Record's part wait. We can not and will not do that, as the price on both papers is cut almost in half. Send or bring us $2.25 and you will receive The Record and Post one year. The Post is printed every day at noon and gets into Lancaster at 8:26 that night. If you live in the country, you will have the Post early next morning.

Explanatory.

While we believe in protecting the home merchants against itinerant dealers, we feel that the imposition of a license, on the home merchant in order to keep the foreigner out, often works a hardship on both the consumer and the merchant, and if a license will keep the itinerant away, his business could not have been considerable. The home man is often a liberal taxpayer and it is certainly not equitable to put him on an equal footing with the traveling man. Yet Federal interference favors this when action is taken against the itinerant, but we are not compelled to take action if a hardship follows.

Again, the law permits a license on all occupations and it is certainly not equitable to select one occupation and place a license on it alone, thus discriminating against that occupation and ignoring the fixed rule of equality and uniformity in taxation.

There are many who concur with us in this opinion. Yet, if the courts adjudge the license of $50, on merchant tailoring, valid, we will pay it, for we want our share of the trade.

Death of Judge Sandifer.

After an illness of several months, Judge Sandifer died at the home of his son-in-law, Prof. H. K. Taylor, at Beechmont, near Louisville, Friday. He was in his eighty-seventh year and had been in failing health for some time. The funeral services were held in Danville Sunday, the interment taking place at the Danville cemetery. Judge Sandifer was well known to our older citizens, having resided in Lancaster many years ago. He held the office of county judge and was one of Garrard's most useful men. For many years he traveled for a wholesale house, and we have often heard him tell interesting experiences he had while "on the road" in his wagon, there being few railroads at that time. Judge Sandifer was as pure, as noble and as honorable a Christian gentleman as Kentucky ever produced, and his many noble traits won for him a home in "that Temple not made by hands, eternal in the Heavens." He is survived by eleven children, four of whom were at his bedside when the end came. The children are as follows: Henry G. Sandifer, cashier of the Boyle National Bank; Charles Sandifer, of Georgetown; J. P. Sandifer, of Covington; George C. D., and Cash Sandifer, Mrs. H. K. Taylor and Mrs. Marjorie Bowden, of Louisville; Mrs. Marshall Hill, Mrs. Gabbert, of St. Joseph, Mo., and Mrs. Bate, of Denver, Col. A reunion of Judge Sandifer's children was held about five years ago, at which all of them were present.

The Danville Advocate says:—He was in his eighty-eighth year, and for the past eight years had been making his home with his daughter, near Louisville. The funeral services were conducted by Dr. E. H. Pearce and Ryan Commandery, Knights Templar, of which, at the time of his death, Judge Sandifer was the oldest member, and took place yesterday morning at 10:30 at the Centenary Methodist church, and the interment was made in Bellevue cemetery, Dr. J. M. Worrall officiating at the grave. Judge Sandifer was born March 18, 1818. He united with the Methodist church at Danville in 1840. In August, 1845, he married Miss Mary J. Greene, and to them were born eleven children, ten of whom survive, with twenty-three grand children. He was for twelve years Judge of the county court of Garrard, and declined to stand for re-election although earnestly importuned by friends to do so. He was a man of powerful physical constitution, never being ill for a single day during a period of twenty-seven years, while undergoing all the exposure of a commercial traveler, which occupation he followed until he was seventy-seven years of age. He never let anything interfere with his religious duties. He was a great reader, and especially of the Bible.

The old testament had been read through, according to marks on his bible, six times; the new testament 244 times, and five times in January, 1905, and one time between January 25th and January 29th. He was made a Mason in Morrison Lodge, Danville, in 1840, and was Past Master and Past High Priest. He was created a Knight Templar in Ryan Commandery November 17, 1890, in Danville. He was a man of stainless integrity; sympathetic to serve and help the needy, thoughtful and faithful to his obligations, ever devoted to the highest and best welfare of his family and the good of his fellowmen. Probably no man as a Christian in sixty years of fellowship in Boyle county held and served higher standards of duty and good will to those about him. His end was in great resignation, peace and triumph, his last words by notable coincidence being those of the late Bishop Phillips Brooks, of Boston—"I want to go home." Judge Sandifer was tenderly and lovingly revered by his family, and no man had more devoted and faithful friends in every walk of life. A noble life is ended, yet not ended here below, for in the influence of his life for righteousness, "being dead yet speaketh."

T. S. Elkin wants 100,000 pounds of wool, and will pay the highest cash price for same. He has a fine line of staple and fancy groceries and the best fresh meats in Central Kentucky. If Lancaster friends have received invitations to the marriage of Editor Sam W. Menefee, of the Danville Advocate and Miss Helen Cassell Taylor, of that city. The wedding will take place in the Trinity Episcopal church Tuesday morning, the 7th of March, at eleven o'clock. Mr. Menefee is one of the best and most popular editors in the state, and his brother newspaper men wish him all the happiness it is possible to obtain in this world.

Mr. John M. Duncan was quite ill for a short time last week, and his legion of friends are glad to know that his condition was not as serious as first reports had it. He had been suffering from grip, and while sitting in front of the fire, fainted. He was soon out of danger and is now rapidly recovering. There is no more popular man in Garrard county, nor do we know a more honorable, upright Christian gentleman.

Richmond Climax:—The Methodist parsonage was the scene of a quiet marriage on last Wednesday, the contracting parties being Mr. W. B. Duereson and Mrs. Allie Powell, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. W. Crates. The bride is a daughter of Mr. John Leavelle, of Lancaster, and is an attractive brunette. She is a young woman of rare sweetness of disposition, and numbers her friends by her acquaintances. The happy groom is a son of Mr. W. T. Duereson, of this county, and is one of our most substantial young farmers. Mr. and Mrs. Duereson left immediately for Wellington, Kansas, where they will make their home.

Stanford Journal:—We are glad to state to our Garrard county readers that we have secured the services of Miss Margaret Mount, the bright and attractive daughter of Mr. J. M. Mount of Lancaster, as correspondent from that place. She will begin with Friday's issue and a newsy letter may be expected in that and all subsequent issues.

The Record congratulates Bro. Walton upon securing the assistance of this accomplished and lovely young lady.

The people of his home town certainly rejoice that Bob Hughes has met with so much success since locating in Louisville. His rise in the news paper business was rapid, while his selection as secretary of the Kentucky Exhibit Association, at the World's Fair was something remarkable for one of his years. Now that he has been made secretary of the Commercial Club, the leading business organization of the South, his many friends are rejoicing and exceedingly glad. The thing that brings joy to us is the fact that all these honors will not cause Bob to suffer from a case of the big-head. He is the same good natured, whole-souled, big-hearted "Bob" as of old, and wears the same size hat he wore when posing as a Lancaster Reube. Nine out of every ten fellows who secure some appointment or position of importance, develop into a demphool as naturally as a tad pole turns into a frog, but this rule did not hold good with Bob, and he is always glad to see any of the Hay-seeds from "Home." This characteristic of fellows who have resigned as chief pilot of the old brindle cow and gone to the city to seek fortune and fame. All success to you, old fellow!
