Sale of Stock of Goods.

John Hicks, who recently sold his interest in his store at Stone Ky., has purchased from H. D. Lee his stock of merchandise at Judson, Ky. Possession will be given as soon as invoice can be made.

Accident.

Last week the Daily press announced that H. Clay Herndon, a prominent Internal Revenue official, had fallen through an elevator shaft, at Maysville, and received fatal injuries. Capt. William Herndon, this city, who is a brother, was preparing to go to Maysville, when he received a telegram that the injuries were not fatal and that he would soon recover.

Land Sales.

Hughes & Swinebroad, the real estate men, report that they have just sold for G. B. Swinebroad, the 143 acres of land purchased by him from Lem Teater for five thousand dollars. The sale was made to E. B. Ray and John A. Masters, Mr. Ray getting 68 acres of land and Mr. Masters 75 acres. They also report that P. T. Brown has sold his farm of 119 acres on Sugar creek to H. D. Lee at $62.50 per acre.

Base Ball.

The Harrodsburg Herald says that the base ball team of that place has outclassed every team in this section, "even Lancaster". We desire to correct that statement and add that Lancaster defeated Harrodsburg early in the season 7 to 2 and 12 to 0 in double header, and recently defeated their Kentucky Central league team 9 to 5 and the management of Lancaster team states they can arrange another game if they are not satisfied. The Harrodsburg paper referred to will please correct the statement.

City Ticket.

Over 200 names have been signed to a petition favoring the re-election of H. T. Logan for Mayor and J. R. Mount, James Hill, H. C. Hamilton and James Smith, members of the old Board of City Council, adding the names of G. S. Greenleaf and W. M. Zanone. That the city administration has been acceptable is evinced by this petition. The council has handled the affairs of the city in a business like consistent manner, and Chief of Police Herron has discharged his duties faithfully. It is not likely that there will be another ticket.

The county election commissioners are now Sheriff C. A. Arnold, R. H. Batson and James Clark.

Learning Wisdom from Others. It is a great thing to mix betimes with clever people. One picks their brains unconsciously.—Bulwer Lytton.

Good News.

Mr. F. S. Hughes, Editor of this paper, writes from Norfolk, Va., on a card with a picture of many bathing, on the Virginia Beach, in which he says, "This is the first bath tub I have seen that is long enough for me." We hope he will remain until he becomes clean.

Going Down.

The rebellious angels had just been cast out of heaven. In the swift downward flight Lucifer overtook Beelzebub. "What's troubling you, Bub?" he called. "An old problem," answered the future soul fiend, between somersaults—"Where are you going this fall?"—Philadelphia Record.

Police Court.

Chief Herron arrested Fred Emerson, colored, on the charge of selling whiskey, and in Judge Harris' court, he was fined $60 in one case and $60 and 25 days in another. This is the first case of the kind in some time, and he had 100 quart bottles in the room.

Beyond Medical Aid.

G. D. Weathers, Avon, Ky., says: "My hogs were so badly diseased with cholera, I did not think medical aid could possibly save them. I gave them Bourbon Hog Cholera Remedy and it cured them without a single loss. Sold by J. R. Mount & Co."

County Superintendent.

Brown.

Mrs. Nancy J. Brown, widow of the late Judge Ephraim Brown, died at her home, in this city, on the 9th, being 84 years of age. Appropriate funeral services were conducted, in Lancaster cemetery, in the presence of many relatives and friends, by Rev. C. C. Brown, and the mortal part of that pure and much loved woman, was laid to rest beside her husband.

She was a member of the Presbyterian church, and her excellent traits of character endeared her, not only to her splendid family, but to all who know her.

She left seven children who are prominent and live and move in the best society. They are Mesdames J. A. Royston, this city, W. O. Parks, Columbus Mississippi, Geo. H. Bruce, Spring Lake, New Jersey, J. N. Lake, Terre Haute Indiana; Messrs. W. G. and J. R. Brown, of Chicago and R. G. Brown, of Leavenworth Kansas. These are worthy, highly respectable and their lives evince the worth of the parental training with which they were blest. The following is contributed:

Mrs. Nancy Gray Brown the wife of the late Judge Ephraim Brown, was the daughter of William Gray, of the Philadelphia Gray family, and who was noted for his piety and Godly life in this community. She was gifted with fine mental endowments, and her ambitions and ideals were high, but for many years she was a semi invalid which disqualified her from active service and her earthly life was far from what she had hoped it would be in achievement.

In life her beautiful faith sustained her and in her declining years she longed to be with her Saviour, and in Heaven she will realize all of her anticipations, her wishes and her hopes, and her glorified spirit pursues the lofty career of its immortality.

The sale of property by E. B. Estridge, Trustee of H. W. Cornelius, amounted to about $1,000.

J. I. Hamilton exchanged 49 acres of land, on the Danville road, for 60 acres, on Sugar Creek, the terms of the deal not being given.

One of the most unique gatherings in the history of religious organizations will be the Centennial State Convention of the Christian church to be held in Lexington, September, 20 to 24.

Elder F. M. Tindler will fill his pulpit at the Christian church Sunday forenoon, and will preach at the home of Mrs. John A. Sanders, in the country, Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, where arrangements will be made to seat the audience.

School Notes.

The first week's work has given promise of a very successful year. Pupils and teachers have entered upon the work with great enthusiasm. While the members enrolled in the High School is not so great as for the past two years there is manifested a spirit of earnestness which is gratifying. The other grades are as full as usual.

A few minutes each day are devoted to physical culture drills in all the grades. Systematic exercises are given such as to induce proper carriage breathing, to promote health, and give strength to the body.

The eighth grade is unusually large numbering thirty. Under the direction of Miss Fleetwood they have organized themselves into a club which they have named "The Excelsior Circle." Its aim is the cultivation of all which is helpful and the suppression of all which is harmful. The club poet is Longfellow; the colors, blue and gold; and the watchword, Excelsior.

There has been offered a prize to the pupil of this grade who makes the greatest improvement during the year in free hand drawing and penmanship.

Several of the members of the "Excelsior Club" met the teacher Saturday, and spent the morning beautifying their room with pictures and other decorations.

Out door work will be done in Nature study and Geography, at least twice a month, by pupils and teachers of the first five grades.

Miss Anderson will spend two periods a week in simple manual training work with the second and third grades, an exercise which must prove a source of pleasure, as well as profit in training eye and hand.

The School Board meets with us regularly once a month this year. We shall expect a visit from them on the first Wednesday afternoon of each month. The Board has made as generous expenditures as could be afforded in purchasing maps, kindergarten material and other school supplies, and every room is fairly well equipped.

We invite our friends to come as often as opportunity is afforded them and see the work we are doing; see some of the things we need, then help us to obtain them.

D. W. Bridges, Principal,
Lancaster Graded School.

The Funny Side.

Sociologist—Do you have much trouble keeping down expenses?
The Toller—Not so much as keeping up the revenue.—Milwaukee Journal.

"A schoolgirl with large feet was sitting with them stretched far out into the aisle, and was busy chewing gum when the teacher espied her.

"Mary!" called the teacher, sharply.

"Yes, ma'am!" questioned the pupil.

"Take that gum out of your mouth and put your feet in!"—New York Observer.

"It's no disgrace to fall if you have done your best," said the philosopher.

"That may be so," replied the man who had failed. "But it's pretty tough to have to admit that the best you could do was fail."—Detroit Free Press.

Jack—Perhaps you don't like my style of dancing.

Orme (in distress)—Well, there is rather too much sameness about it.

Jack—Er—how can I vary it?

Orme—Suppose you tread on my left foot once in a while.

Too Hasty.

Coal Dealer (anxiously)—Hold on! That load hasn't been weighed. It looks to me rather large for a ton.

Driver—"Tain't intended for a ton. It's two tons!"

Dealer—Go ahead.—New York Weekly.

Tommie—I see wood yields about one-fifth as much heat as coal.

Bobbie—I guess my dad don't know that.

Tommie—Why?

Bobbie—Because when he "warms" me he always uses a shingle.—Yonkers Statesman.

Larger Than Mammoth Cave.

Professor Edgar L. Hewitt, the archaeologist, has just discovered greater caves in the northeastern part of Arizona than the world-famed caverns of Kentucky. They have chasms and vaulted chambers in which an office building of forty stories could be stowed away, and are surrounded by ancient and mysterious ruins never before visited by a white man. The Indians have long known of the existence of these caves, but have kept it a secret. A Navajo guide led Professor Hewitt to them. Several natural bridges between hills in the vicinity the professor found so large as to make the rock bridges of Utah and Virginia look puny by comparison. The ruins contain relics, household articles, and remains of a race of which the archaeologists have no trace. These caverns doubtless formed the shelter and home of early tribes, and this discovery will be of world-wide interest to scientific scholars.

And he came thither unto a cave, and lodged there. (1. Kings 19:2)—Christian Herald.
