OFFER $700,000
STOCK IN POOL
SUBSIDIARIES

Growers Will Be Given The First Chance to Subscribe
Nearly 500 More Contracts Received At Burley Co-operative Headquarters.

An issue of seven hundred thousand dollars of preferred stock in the various warehousing corporations subsidiaries of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association is being offered this week and next to growers of the district. It is the wish of President James C. Stone and the directors of the association that growers be given the first opportunity to subscribe for this stock and banks throughout the burley district will receive subscriptions.

The preparations for the issue are in the hands of fiscal agents, James C. Wilson & Company, the well known stock brokers of Louisville, who will advertise the issue in all the newspapers of the Burley district the coming week. The stock subscriptions must be in the hands of the fiscal agents or of the association by June 15th, as the warehouse properties are to be taken over as of that date, under the warehouse contracts signed by the former owners on the one hand and Director of Warehouses Ralph M. Barker, acting for the association, on the other.

The stock, in order to make it attractive even to the smallest grower, will be issued in shares of $10 par value, thus giving every grower an opportunity to own some of this stock. It will pay 8 per cent guaranteed dividend, the main association being the guarantor of both principal and dividend, and should prove, in the opinion of bankers of the district, an attractive investment.

Nearly 500 New Contracts
Nearly 500 additional contracts were received the past week at the offices of the Field Service Division of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, Assistant Chief William Collins reported Saturday. The exact number was 486. Assistant Manager James A. Dixon, of the Huntington, West Virginia, district, said that 187 contracts had been signed in that territory. These, however, had not been received at the Field Service Division offices and, therefore, were not included in the week's report of contracts received.

Mr. Dixon, who was in Lexington for a brief visit before returning to his field of labor, said the association was gaining rapidly in western West Virginia and Eastern Ohio and that the campaign had reached a point at which it was deemed advisable to start county organizations. Many of the burley growers of Gallia and Lawrence counties in Ohio, have signed the contract. Warehouse interests are waging a vigorous warfare on the association but with a purpose so evident that it is having little effect in that territory.

Director of Warehouses Ralph M. Barker returned from a week's active work in the field, having finished valuing warehouses over the entire district. The past week he was in southern Ohio, including the towns of Ripley, Georgetown, Peebles and West Union, and also visited Brooksville, Augusta, Vanceburg and Grayson.

HIS BIRTHDAY
By DOROTHY KNIGHT

The world looked bright and rosy to John Patterson. It was his thirtieth birthday and his second wedding anniversary, and he had just received a substantial increase in salary. He could hardly wait to tell Mary the good news.

He hurried home only to find the apartment deserted. The tiny kitchenette, however, showed that everything was in readiness for a hurried assembling of the dinner on her return.

He wandered aimlessly and forlornly around. He looked about for the note he had so often found, explaining her delay, but there was none. There was, however, a note half concealed under some bills, which he took out and read mechanically, until the full import of it reached him like a sharp stab. His eager happiness was changed to acute suffering. He read:

"Dearest Jim—Your letter arrived this morning and has made me gloriously happy. It has lain next to my heart all day and through the monotonous dishwashing, sweeping and dusting of my life has run the wonderful melody of your love. It has made me very happy, and it will make me very happy all through the years to come to know that you love me, even though the knowledge of your love is all I have, for I can never have the reality. We must renounce—"

He read to the end and then with a heart as heavy as lead he paced the floor.

"Why John, what's the matter? You look as if the bottom had dropped out of the universe."

He started at her unexpected presence. He had not heard her come in.

"Why, I guess I have a slight headache. Been working rather hard today."

"You poor dear, and I bet you are half starved, too. But I will have dinner ready in a jiffy."

She was as good as her word.

"You poor dear, you're too tired even to eat. I wish you didn't have to work so hard. I hate to have you slave away at the office every day just to earn money for me to spend. I do wish I could help you. But I do try to be economical."

"You're a wonder, Mary. You're the best manager in the world."

He tried to speak naturally. He must not let Mary suspect he knew her secret until he had decided what to do.

Somewhat the dinner was finished John, strangely silent, but his wife as merry and talkative as ever. If she noticed his silence, she attributed it to his being tired.

When they were comfortably settled in the living room he immediately took up his evening paper.

"Well, what day is it?"

The question cut deep.

"I don't know," he muttered, from the depths of his paper.

"Why, John Patterson, aren't you ashamed of yourself?"

No answer.

"And after I've worked so hard to get you a present that I earned all myself."

No answer.

"If that's all the interest you take I'm glad I'm no Eleanor Hallowell Abbot, and couldn't afford to buy a sedan for a present."

Still no answer.

"Well, don't you want to know what I got you?"

"Why, of course. What is it?" in a lachrymical tone.

"Well, it's on the table beside you."

He reached out for a much beribboned package, with trembling hands, and started to open it.

"Dear, I'm really afraid you're going to be sick. You look so pale."

"Nonsense. I'm all right. Well, this is just fine. That's my favorite cigar, but I can't afford to smoke them every day. Oh, I have a package for you, too."

He went out to his coat pocket and returned with a box of chocolates. Then while he smoked, she munched chocolates.

"Don't you want to know how I earned the money?"

By a supreme effort he managed to act naturally.

"Yes, of course, and what was it you said about Eleanor Hallowell Abbot?"

"Why, she's the author of 'Molly Make Believe' that you enjoyed so much."

"And what, may I ask, has she to do with my cigars?"

"Well, one day I was telling Ruth I wished I could earn some money all my own to buy you a birthday present with, and she suggested that I should try writing stories. I finally got five dollars from the Western Tribune."

"Well, that's fine. What for? Getting subscriptions?"

"No, for writing a love letter."

Mary may have been somewhat surprised at the strange effect of this news on John and at his great joy over her "literary success," but he never explained it.

WASH ALL MILK CANS AS SOON AS EMPTIED

Most Dealers Have Appliances for Cleaning Utensils.

Hotels, Restaurants and Others Buying Milk in Wholesale Quantities Are Particular in Giving Attention to Containers.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The milk can has the same relation to the wholesale trade as the milk bottle has to the retail trade, and it is just as important that it be washed immediately after being emptied, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Milk dealers have appliances for washing and sterilizing the cans, but this does not excuse the buyer from rinsing them before they become sour as a result of the multiplication of bacteria in the film of milk left in the can. Cans that become foul in this way are hard to clean when they arrive at the plant.

Investigations show that hotels, restaurants, bakeries and other places which buy milk in wholesale quantities do not always give proper attention to the containers. As soon as the cans are emptied they are placed on the doorstep or left in a warm room until collected by the dealer. They return to the plant teeming with bacteria, and the mechanical washers will not always clean and sterilize them thoroughly. They must be soaked, washed by hand with a brush, and then sent to the machine washer.

Consumers can help a great deal in making it easier to maintain a safe milk supply. All that is needed is a little care at the right time, says the department.

Some Day.
The day will come when women will pay no attention to styles in dress, says an exchange. On that same day all the clams will come out of the sands, rear themselves on their hinges and bark at the moon.—Portland Express.

Shabby Leather Chairs Brightened.
When leather chairs begin to look shabby try this remedy. Wipe all dirt and dust from the chairs and then rub with a cloth that has been dipped into white of egg, well beaten. Rub well with soft clean cloths when dry and the leather will look like new.

Plants That Catch Cold.
That trees, like human beings, are liable to catch cold, was a point in a paper on "The Relation of Soil to Plant Growth," read in England at the Surveyors' Institution. "Plants respond to changes in environment," said the author.

Concerning Floor Coverings.
Floors are not only part of the background of the room along with the walls and ceiling, but they also form the foundation of the whole decorative scheme. Therefore the floor coverings must necessarily be darker in color than the walls, otherwise they will spoil the entire proportion of the room by the effect of instability produced.

Putting Asunder.
The late Lord Halsbury was on one occasion addressing a gathering of legal conferees. The subject was "Matrimonial Law," and much laughter resulted when he reminded his hearers that Sydney Smith once wrote that "frequently it is that those persons whom God hath joined together in matrimony, ill-cooked joints and badly boiled potatoes have put asunder."

Clock With Twenty Dials.
A clock in San Diego, Cal., has 20 dials, and the time of day or night in various parts of the world can be seen at a glance. The dials also show the day of the week and the date. The clock, which is 21 feet high, is encased in plate glass. Four of the dials are each four feet in diameter. It is jeweled with tourmaline, topaz, and jade, is illuminated at night, and winds itself automatically.

Wheelbarrows Climb Stairs.
One of the interesting sights of the city of Chungsha in China, is the wheelbarrows which climb stairs. Some distance ahead of the regulation wheel there is another smaller one. In climbing over flagstone steps or bridges, the handles of the wheelbarrow are lowered until the auxiliary wheel rises above the next higher step. Then the wheelbarrow, which often carries 200 or 400 pounds, seesaws from wheel to wheel until the next level stretch of flagstones is reached.

"Biddy" Has Long Pedigree.
The chicken, common barnyard fowl, has a pedigree that has been traced back to 700 B. C., when chickens were fluttering about homas in southern Asia. Dr. Clark Wissler, noted anthropologist, says, "Within a comparatively short time, considering lack of transportation and the great distance, chickens appeared in Africa. Doctor Wissler says. Next they appeared in Egypt, according to traces found, and after this they were scattered until they were more or less common throughout the world."

Everybody Pleased
"I didn't find a single sorehead on the trip," said Director Barker. "We have arranged for the taking over of almost all the warehouses and have had no difficulty in reaching an agreement with the owners as to actual value, without arbitration. I have found the warehousemen fair and entire absence of any disposition to take advantage of the association. We rather expected that situation, inasmuch as most of the warehousemen are tobacco growers and members of the Association."

Could Do Without Fido.
Mildred couldn't induce Fido to come into the house. She called him over and over again; he paid no heed whatever, but unconsciously trotted off with another dog. Mildred was deeply hurt and angrily shouted at Fido's fast-disappearing tail: "If you'd rather have that old dog for a chum than nice little me, all right! I guess I can find nicer, prettier people to play with than you, anyhow!"

PLAN FOR SUMMER SPRAYING
More Care and Attention Necessary Than Work in Winter—Combinations Save Time.

Summer spraying requires more care and attention than winter or dormant spraying because summer sprays must be applied after the buds or leaves are started and hence when there is danger of injuring the foliage. The common spray for the control of chewing insects is arsenate of lead, but arsenate of calcium is gaining in favor. Paris green is still used to some extent on Irish potatoes and tobacco. Nicotine sulphate, or tobacco paste, sometimes called blackleaf, is effective against plant lice. Bordeaux mixture is an effective spray when reduced to summer strength for apples, pears, grapes and other fruits.

But there are combinations for various fungus diseases and insect pests that save time and trouble and are highly recommended by practical or chardists and gardeners.

SOY BEANS AND SUDAN GRASS
Combination Makes Good Feed and May Be Handled Like Timothy—Work Land Well.

Soy beans and sudan grass seeded together at corn planting time and cut for hay when the beans are in the dough stage make good feed, and may be handled same as timothy. Moist black land is suitable for this use, and some of the alkali pest soils may be used to advantage for this crop mixture. Work the land down well, and sow broadcast about 12 pounds of sudan grass to the acre, then drill in three pecks an acre of beans. The drilling will cover the grass seed. Mammoth Yellow or Hollyrock Mongli are good soys.

SWEET CLOVER FOR PASTURE
All Types of Plant Make More or Less Undesirable Hay Because of Its Coarseness.

Under most conditions sweet clover can only be used profitably as pasture. When it is decided to use it for this purpose, the cattle should be put on it and not be allowed other pasture until they start to eat it. This will take a day or two, after which they will thrive on it. All types of this plant make a more or less undesirable hay because it is coarse and has comparatively few leaves. For the best quality of hay, it should be cut just as it starts to blossom.
