

DAVID R. MURRAY,
REV. J. L. EDRINGTON, EDITORS.

HON. J. PROCTOR KNOTT
Is a candidate for re-election to the Lower House of CONGRESS, subject to a Democratic Convention, should one be called.

Rome fair this week.
We are all alone with the devil.

Texas will have a beautiful corn crop.

See the Local Option Notices in another column.

The dry weather has cut the late potato crop short.

Local option is being talked of through the town and country.

Capt. J. M. White has our thanks for late Cincinnati papers.

No preaching in town next Sunday. This is a day for the new bonnets, hats, etc.

Circuit Court convenes at Hardinsburg the second Monday, October 14th.

Dr. N. L. Lightfoot is the Greenback candidate for Congress in the Second District.

Rev. J. L. Edrington is attending Conference which meets to-morrow at Cadiz, Ky.

Judge Ben Cissell don't allow any whitening in the courtroom.

There is a great deal of malarial fever all over Kentucky and in Southern Indiana.

Breckenridge county has corn enough to bread her people and fatten all their hogs.

Mr. Charles Murray, of the steamer Pargoud, is visiting friends in Cloverport.

Be sure and read Phil Rial's advertisement and give him a call. Phil is all right.

Hon. Alexander H. Stephens is suffering from hemorrhages.

The candidates for Congress, in the First District are warming each other considerably.

Messrs. Withers and Rhoades shipped, last Sunday, fifty fine hogs, averaging 300 pounds gross.

Dried fruit meets with a ready sale here at the following prices: Apples 34 per pound, peaches $1.50 per bushel.

Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. Alex. W. Jones to Miss Mollie Ruth Tucker, of Louisville, Ky., Oct. 3rd.

All who heard Hon. D. W. Voorbees speak, last Friday at Cannelton, came home well pleased.

Governor J. Q. A. King, formerly of Kentucky, is a candidate for Legislature in Colorado.

It only costs a man $25 and fifty days' imprisonment, in Hart county, to whip his mother.

The Elizabethtown News is going to dress up and enlarge itself. It is already one of our best exchanges.

It is a good doctrine yet: "He that would eat the kernel must first crack the shell."

An intelligent German thus expressed his preference for a quack doctor: "I wouldn't call him out mine cat was dead!"

In France a party of editors have been hunting wild boars. Happy country! Over here the editors are hunted by tame bores.

Geo. Hevins, a one-armed soldier, was burned to death at Fon Du Lac, Wisconsin, Sept. 19th.

A child of the editor of the Feliciana, La., was bitten by a rattle snake, and the father sucked the poison from the wound.

Thomas Connell shot and severely wounded Martin Grimes at Maysville, Ky., September 24th.

Robert Richardson killed Martin Harlan with a pitchfork, near Richmond, Ky., while in a fight, September 24th.

Five down with the chills at Mr. Satterfield's. Mr. J. B. Satterfield, of Caldwell county, in the number.

Louisville Conference M. E. Church, South, will meet at Cadiz Oct. 3rd, Bishop Geo. F. Pierce will preside.

The young people, of Cloverport, when they will, can make as good church music as can be found in any town in Kentucky.

A large crowd of the pretty girls and nice boys, from Holt's Bottom, were at the Methodist church the fourth Sunday night.

Rev. A. J. Miller preached the funeral of the late lamented Lewis Moorman, Sunday, Sept. 22nd, at 11 o'clock, to a large audience.

We need a literary society that everybody can participate in. Let it consist in reading, declamation, composition, dialogues, music, etc.

Six convicts last week attempted to escape from the Jeffersonville penitentiary, two of them were shot by the guards, one of them is reported to be mortally wounded.

You Hardinsburg boys had better hold up while. The young men of Warren county have taken the wind all out of your sails; the boys are running male races and giving the proceeds to the yellow fever sufferers.

Fin Cissell, of Woodland, gives us an item of news, to-wit: A blackberry bush growing on his place, twelve feet high, with twelve branches, and produced five gallons of fine berries. He can show the papers for it, and the jam the berries.—Meade Record.

No, sir, we want no papers on that but the Meade Record, and all we have to say is if any newspaper in Kentucky can beat that in the size of the bush and the amount of berries the News will give it up.

The bodies of O. B. Davis and George W. Keating were found hanging on a tree near Deadwood, September 18th. They were noted horse-thieves.

Two cases of murder and three of manslaughter will be tried at Mt. Vernon soon. We suggest that the lower counties of Ky. had better imprt some juriesmen.

A widow in Rock Castle has married a Mr. Calico. We tender our congratulations, and can say of a truth there is one woman happily married.

It is to be that the small boy wafted on the gentle breeze, from 8 to 10 P. M., the "sweet bye and bye," now it's "shack-shack-a-roller," and "all in."

The hunting season is now upon us, and we would advise all who have guns to put them in order, as they will certainly have a chance to lend them.

Two of the happiest looking young men we know of are Jim Robards and Jim Withers. This will all be explained about the 9th and 10th of October.

The matrimonial business promises to be good this month, and we would advise Mr. Jolly to lay in a good stock of blanks.—O! if she would only say yes.

An engine blew up near Water Valley, Miss., September 24th, severely injuring the engineer with several other parties very badly, and killing James Smith, the fireman.

In a hand-to-hand fight at Mount Vernon, between David Bethurum, a desperate character, and Jack McCall, the latter received a pistol shot through his arm and side.

The Rev. and Hon. Mr. English, a greenbacker, is keeping Hon. J. A. McKenzie company in the Second Congressional District. They spoke on the 23d ult. at Madisonville.

Mr. J. B. Ross, a lending grocery man, of Madisonville, was knocked down and robbed of $250 on the night of the 23d of September. The robbers are thought to be negroes.

Now is a good time to improve your sidewalks and prepare for the mud next winter. A few loads of gravel which can be obtained for a trifling cost, will help out wonderfully in many places.

The steamer Mary Elizabeth, a Louisville boat, was fired upon by order of the Mayor, of Apalachicola, Florida. It seems the steamer violated some quarantine regulations.

Some thief who is making a business of stealing bridles about this town will find himself in the calaboose one of these beautiful October mornings if he makes another attempt at thieving. A sharp eye is upon him.

The apple crop is almost an entire failure in this county. We have not seen an orchard or even a tree full of good apples this fall. A great many trees in the orchards seem to be hanging full of dry, rotten fruit, as if some disease in them prevented its maturity.

The citizens of Garnettville were very frightened one day last week. A wagon drove through the town with a sick man in it, and the yellow fever panic immediately seized the inhabitants. They wanted very much to know whether the man really had the yellow fever or not, but the question as to who would bell the cat prevented them.

Louis Guetig, clerk in the Spencer House, Indianapolis, coldly and deliberately shot Mary McClue, a beautiful young girl. She asked him, for God's sake, not to kill her, but he shot her through the neck, and then fired two shots into her lifeless body after she fell. All of this was just because she would not marry him.

This is October, and but little if any wheat sown in Breckenridge or the contiguous counties. There is no preparation being made as yet in consequence of the dry weather. Wheat should always be sowed in September, then it gets a good hold with the roots and is not easily frozen out. If sowed early and put in deep, with the ground well pulverized, we would be more successful. In order to do this the farmer should break up his fallow ground early in the summer, before it gets too hard to plow. Even if it did cost the hire of an extra hand it would be more than paid back in the extra yield of wheat, in quantity and in quality. Try it.

Eld. D. Dowden while preaching for Rev. I. J. Bruner at Rolling Fork, in Nelson county, had a very severe chill which prostrated him very much, the next day he had something like a sunstroke; his condition was critical for a while, but we are glad to say he is recovering. Brother Dowden has been honored with the title of D. D., or rather he honors the title.

The above is taken from the Breckenridge News, and the latter clause of the item is new to Elder Dowden and the people of this community. These titles are generally conferred away from home, and guess this was made at Cloverport, as we notice that paper is now edited by Rev. David B. Murray.—Meade County Record.

There, now! look, what you've done!!! You have made the Hon. D. R. Murray mad, by calling him Rev. That's news to the people of Breckenridge and Hancock counties. Rather a queer idea you have of "Rev." The Western Recorder of September 5th is responsible for those two D. D.'s.

Rev. Dr. Joseph O'Jib, who was once editor of the Western Recorder, died in Evansville, Ind., Sept. 15th, and was buried with Masonic honors at Owensboro, on the 16th.—Exchange.

Cloverport wants a turnpike road from Main street straight out to the Falls of Rough creek, and she wants somebody to build it for her. Such a road would nearly double the business of the place, and open up a connection between this place and the railroad; then in low water or in times of ice we could get out and other people could get into us.

Mrs. William Austin, of Washington, has had forty-four children; and has only been married twice. She has had triplets six times and twins thirteen times. Only eleven of them living. She has a sister, Mrs. Carrie Kinney, who has had twenty-six children, and she is only forty-three years old. And a sister-in-law who had forty-one. The Washington Post is responsible for the above.

Mrs. Mary Wilson, daughter of Beard and Elizabeth Street, died at her father's residence, in Hancock county, Sunday, Sept. 22nd, at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Wilson has been in bad health for several years, and has been a great sufferer. She had heart disease which terminated in dropsy. She was truly an estimable Christian woman, a light in her church. The husband and parents have our sympathies.

"The ads are all right, Sherman, lock up the form and put the paper to press." These were the last words of the dying foreman of the New Orleans Picayune, who fell by the fever a week or two ago. Noble words of a working man! "Let us cross over the river and rest under the shade of the trees," has been made historic as the dying words of a great soldier; but to our mind, these words of the peaceful worker are as truly great.

It is a good time now for the citizens of Cloverport to fix some of the crossings on our streets. They are almost impassable in the winter time. It is said by travelers and visitors that we sell more goods and do more business than any town of its size this side the Alleghany. In order to preserve this business, let our leading men give some attention to the roads leading to and from this place. Good roads will bring trade.

The Brave Kentucky Youth in Washington City.

The banquet was at the White House. The learned, the beautiful and the cultivated were there. Ministers from Royal kingdoms were there. Proud and talented Senators and Congressmen were there. Ladies of rare beauty, the bon tons of France, England and America, with their musical voices, were there, and the brave Kentucky youth was there. Music of the sweetest strains spread its softening influences over the assembled multitude, and every heart was melted down to that state of quietude and peace when all hearts seem to beat as one. The table was loaded with the richest and most costly viands the world could afford. Wines of the most delicious flavor sparkled in their glasses, eyes of beauty sparkled, repartee sparkled, wit and humor sparkled, separate old maids were there and they wanted some of the nice gentlemen to spark them. The brave Kentucky youth was a silent but close observer of all that transpired, and he was noticed by some of the party. It was observed by Mrs. Lincoln, for her and Mr. Lincoln were living and sparkling at the White House, and both happened to be at home on the night of the party, that he drank no wine, and thinking that the youth was embarrassed she handed him a glass of Catawba and invited him to drink. "No, marm, I never drink any wine," said the boy with a tremulous voice. "O, but you must drink, drink this for me, I am Mrs. Lincoln." "Yes, warm, I know you are, I don't never drink any wine."

"What!" exclaimed Mrs. Lincoln in perfect astonishment, and by this time all eyes were turned upon the boy. "What! refuse to drink wine when it is offered on such an occasion as this and by such a fair hand as that?" said a by-stander. "No!" said the youth, with an emphatic and determined air. "No! I'll drink wine from no fair hand, but if you will bring me some old Bourbon I'll show you how to cuter."

Eleven thousand women are telegraph operators in Great Britain, and it is said that generally they keep the secrets intrusted to them.

The High School.
Our High School has opened well, and the prospect for a harmonious and useful session is good. The teachers are vigorously at work trying to infuse their own zeal among the pupils, and the pupils are acquiring themselves creditably in their various branches of study. The attendance has fluctuated from 109 to 170, the average being 152. The great amount of sickness in the community has kept the average much lower than it should have been, for the whole number of pupils enrolled is 212. Let the people send their children punctually and in all things co-operate with the teachers, and the work of the year will be pleasant and harmonious to all concerned and an inestimable blessing to the young of our city.
