

"CHICKAMAUGA" A STIRRING STORY OF LOVE AND ADVENTURE.

A FINISHED EDUCATION.

There is No Such Thing, For We All Learn Something New Every Day That We Live.

It is Not What We Learn in School But What We Learn After Leaving it,

That Fits Us for the Duties of Life

Lay Aside Your Books, Study Men and Things, God And Nature.

AND DO YOUR OWN THINKING.

Cast Off the Yoke of Human Opinion, And Cultivate Individual Judgment.

Dress Your Minds More Than Your Bodies.

We hear much in this age about a "finished education at college." There is, alas, too much truth in the expression "finished" on the day of graduation.

Before the discovery of America, Spaniards prided themselves on the supposed fact that their country was the last point of solid land on the earth westward. Beyond them, they thought there was nothing but a vast expanse of water—a shoreless ocean—a mystery never to be solved. Consequently the early coins of that country in order to give prominence to this idea, were indented with a picture of the pillars of Hercules, the two great sentries on each side of the Straits of Gibraltar. Encircling these pillars on their coins was the inscription, "nothing beyond," and how often is it that young men just through college place the same inscription on themselves, "nothing beyond" and there they cease to study. How few young men meet the expectations raised by their educational advantages? How a few years sadden, loving hearts; with disappointed hopes? How many stars shine brilliantly within college walls, then go out to be seen no more; and all this the result of a "finished education." They may have promised much at the beginning. On their success high hopes were built; loving hands were impatient to breathe their brows with garlands of victory. But, alas, those hopes have been blighted and those garlands have withered. We see them in the pulpit, at the bar and in all the other vocations of life. They are failures, not for want of mind, but for want of application. They have not followed up their victories, and their victories have turned to defeat. They are resting on the honors of faded laurels. It is not what we learn in school, but what we learn after leaving it, that determines our success or failure, for the collection of facts amounts to but little unless with those facts we build towers from which to take higher and wider views of truth.

A "finished education" there is no such thing. One may have finished his books, but an education is not derived simply from books. These we need, but we need them simply as help. We should make them our servants, not our masters, thus it is that an education demands more than a means, not as an end. A "bookworm" is sometimes a very inferior kind of a worm. Some men that the schools call highly educated rely so much on books that they are nothing in themselves. They have no mind of their own. They deal altogether in second-hand goods, and study men and things—commence with God and nature. We must be educated to think. To think much—to think accurately. To do our own thinking, not have it done for us. We must learn to do the right thing at the right time. Thus in order to do the right thing at the right time, and do it well, we must learn to think about the right thing at the right time. This is one of the most important features in mental training. Another important end to be attained in an education is independence of thought. We need to cast off the yoke of human opinion and cultivate the individual judgment. We are too much the slaves of fashion. We are disposed to dress our minds as well as our bodies after the fashion of the times. This destroys originality and independence of thought. I know it is argued by some that an education will lift the masses above their vocations and cause them to become dissatisfied with their lot, that the cultured mind despises a drudgery. The very reverse of this is true. Culture dignifies labor and destroys drudgery. The man determines the dignity of the calling, not the calling the dignity of the man, the principles apply with equal force to the women of this day. One of the great evils of our land and especially in the south is, that domestic labor is not sufficiently dignified. The number of mothers in the ordinary walks of life, silly enough to think that ignorance of domestic duties is an accomplishment for their daughters, is by no means small. This results from a want of true education and common sense. There is no just reason why a young lady should not knead her dough and conjugate a Greek verb at the same time with equal skill. Many men are highly educated in their calling who were never educated for it, this is self-education in its true sense. Though it is argued that the poor have not time for self-education, this is one of the great mistakes of life. It is not time that we want, it is inclination. An earnest purpose will either find time or make time. All may educate to a great extent, but there is no such thing as a "finished education," for every man learns something new every day and our education here is only preparatory for admission into God's great university from which no man shall ever graduate. RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

The Owensboro Bar Association Pays Tribute to the Memory of Judge Murray.

At a meeting of the Owensboro bar held in the circuit court room in Owensboro on the 23d day of January, 1895, Major Joe Haycraft presiding and Graham Hughes, Esq., acting as secretary, the death of Hon. John Allen Murray, formerly judge of the criminal court of this judicial district, was suggested, and J. A. Dean, W. S. Morrison, J. D. Allison, Geo. W. Jolly, L. P. Little and W. T. Owen were appointed a committee to draft resolutions expressive of the feeling of the members of the bar and the esteem in which they held Judge Murray.

At an adjourned meeting held on the 23d day of said month the said committee reported the following resolutions, which were adopted as the unanimous sentiments of the meeting, viz:

Resolved, That it is with profound regret and sorrow that we have learned of the death of Hon. John Allen Murray, of Cloverport, Ky.

That as judge of the criminal court of this judicial district we recognized in him an able, conscientious and upright jurist, and an affable, courteous and dignified officer.

That as a member of the bar he was universally esteemed for his ability, courtesy, high-minded integrity and candor, and as a man, for the noble generosity of his nature.

That in his death the bar has sustained the loss of one of the most cherished, beloved and illustrious members, and the community one of its purest, most patriotic and useful citizens.

That we deeply deplore his loss, and hereby tender to his bereaved family our profound sympathy.

That the Daviess circuit court, which is now in session, be requested to spread upon its records the proceedings of this meeting and these resolutions, and that copies of same be furnished the press, and the original transmitted to the family.

CUSTER.

We can beat any town in the county for mud.

Mr. E. B. Lyon was in Louisville last week selling tobacco.

Mr. Bob Shively spent Sunday with Miss Ethel Springate.

The young folks enjoyed themselves at Mr. John Ramsey's last Saturday night.

Mr. David Meyer gave the young folks a party Thursday night. All enjoyed the merrily.

Prof. Joel Pile spent Saturday and Sunday with Alexander & Pile.

A Swell Wedding.

Society in Elizabethtown, says the News, is much interested over a swell wedding that is to take place here on February 6. The high contracting parties are Mr. Horace Hays, the popular cashier of the First National Bank and one of the leading young business men of this city, and Miss Kate Stanley, the very handsome and attractive daughter of Mr. George M. Creep, the well-known dry goods merchant.

The event is to take place at the Methodist church at half past 8 o'clock in the evening, after which the young couple will go on an extended trip to Florida.

A Fine Butter Record.

Mrs. W. R. Thomas, of Glendale, again comes to the front with a fine butter record for 1894. She sold during the year 517 pounds of butter and 193 dozen eggs besides furnishing an abundance to the family. In forty-two years Mrs. Thomas has kept a record she has sold 18,269 pounds of butter.—Elizabethtown News

There is good reason for the popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Davis & Bousard, of West Monterey, Clarion Co., Pa., say: "It has cured people that our physicians could do nothing for. We persuaded them to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and they recommended it with the rest of us." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. R. Fisher, Cloverport, Ky., and Kincheloe & Board, Hardinsburg, Ky.

From the Land of Fruits and Flowers.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., January 17, 1895.—DEAR EDITOR:—I will write you a few lines for the benefit of your readers if you will give me the space in your columns and tell them something about this city of 300,000 inhabitants. It is a cosmopolitan city. I believe every nationality is represented here. It is not as prettily located as Louisville, Ky. It is very hilly. We have cable cars that run over the hills; electric cars on a portion that is level and horse cars on some of the short streets. Chinatown is quite a curiosity for anyone to see. We are now having our winter rains. I hope they will let up soon. If we should have a sleety snap here and you were to step out of doors, you would never stop short of San Francisco Bay. The thermometer today is just 53. It never gets cold enough here to freeze. We have plenty of lovely flowers here the year round and fruits of all kinds. I took dinner last Sunday with an old Breckenridge county boy, Richard Owen. He lives at Oakland. I met Alex May, a brother of Dick May. I guess you have seen in the papers where California inaugurated a Democratic Governor last Friday, the 11th. He said in last November on the Republican side. I get the News almost every Monday morning after it is printed. It is always a welcome visitor. I take the daily Owensboro Messenger. I see from the News that you are having some old-fashioned winter at home. With best regards to the News and all friends, I am yours truly, CHAS. P. SAWYER.

E. W. Bagby, a prominent lawyer of Paducah, Ky., says that Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey cured his children of whooping cough when all things else failed. It's a new remedy for all coughs. Death of Mrs. Bridget Payne. Mrs. Bridget Payne, wife of J. R. Payne and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Rooney, died very suddenly near Knotsville, Daviess county, Ky., Dec. 30th, 1894, age 21 years. She was loved by all who knew her, was of a bright happy disposition and had a kind word and a winning smile for all with whom she came in contact. She was just in the prime of life. Little did I think when I saw her last that cruel monster death, would so soon claim her as its victim. But in the midst of life we are in death's power. We all must learn to say that Holy will be done not ours. Her remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery at St. Lawrence Jan. 1. She leaves a husband and two little daughters, father, mother, two sisters and five brothers to mourn her loss with many friends. MARY.

BEWLEYVILLE.

Held over from last week.

Mr. Amos Sipes and Miss Effie Triplett were married at the home of the bride's parents Wednesday evening at 6 p. m. Rev. George Morris tied the knot and Fred Triplett and Mr. Bell and Miss Clara Jordan and Mrs. Frank Bandy were the attendants. The bride wore gray and looked lovely and everybody had a good time they say.

The measles have made their appearance in our town. This means ill to the little ones and we give them our sympathy.

Mr. John Cox is on the sick list. His daughter, Mrs. Tom Ditto, is still ill at his home.

A GOOD WORD FOR THE NEWS.

Enron News.—Having recently come across a copy of the dear old News and seeing letters from so many places and none from here, thought I would contribute a few lines either for its columns or the waste basket.

Having been raised in Breckenridge county, I read the News every week for many years, and thought it the best county paper I ever saw, but had not the slightest idea of the possibility of it improving so as to become the great weekly, known and read so extensively as it is and to occupy the position that it does among the great journals of this fast age. But dear old Breckenridge county is just capable of making a success of anything and she is proud of her paper and has stood by the editor and held up his hands, while he pushed his paper to the front. Please tell the good people of Breckenridge that one of them and the twelve years of my absence don't change me. (But about our town)

Upton is a prosperous little village of perhaps 300 inhabitants, situated on the main line of the L. & N. R. R. fifty-nine miles south of Louisville, also on the old Louisville and Nashville turnpike. It is surrounded by a splendid farming country on the north, east and west.

We have five general stores, hardware, furniture, drug store, lumber yard, with all kinds of building material, doors, sash, all kinds of machinery, etc. We have a fine roller mill also wagon factory two hotels, two churches, Methodist and Baptist and a colored Methodist church. We have also an excellent school, spring term will open Jan. 21, 1895, conducted by Prof. Creme and Layman. They, like the rest of our citizens are live, energetic, wide-awake gentlemen, all we lack is more such men and women as those composing our town. If you are a good citizen and want to locate in a good community, Upton offers you a hearty welcome.

Miss Lee King, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Lillie King, has returned to her home in Sonora.

Misses Stella and Emma Moore, of Elizabethtown, have returned home from a visit to friends here.

Miss Lou King is visiting friends this week in Elizabethtown and Sonora.

Married on 6th inst., at Mr. James Pointer's in Upton, Miss Fannie Pointer to Mr. Mc Wright, of Glendale, Ky.

On the 23rd inst., Mr. Thos. Handly, one of our young merchants of this place, is to be married to Miss Lillie McDonald of Three Springs, Ky.

Amey, little daughter of Dick Keith, has been confined to her bed with rheumatism for several weeks.

Mrs. C. M. Bradley, who has suffered with consumption for several years, and been almost an invalid for three years, left on 2nd inst., for Bowling Green, Fla. for her health. Mrs. Bradley has many friends in Breckenridge and Meade counties who will be glad to learn that she is improving.

Warfield McGill, of the firm of McGill & Gaddie, general merchandise, has sold out to Mr. Bob Gaddie, of Hammonville, Ky., and bought a store in Hodgenville, where he will go in business in a few days. We regret to give Mr. McGill up, but congratulate Hodgenville, and predict for Warfield a successful future.

Miss Nettie Hazard, of Campbellsville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Dr. Turner, of this place. Miss Hazard is quite an accomplished lady and we are glad to have her among us.

But I am writing too much for the paper and more than I want to contribute to the waste basket. Wishing a prosperous year to the News, its editor and many readers, I bid you

GOODNIGHT.

The way to cure a cough is to stop the coughing. Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey cures the mucous, heals the lungs and bronchial tubes quickly. Cures grip cough in one night. For sale by Short & Haynes, Cloverport; Dr. R. H. McMullin, McDaniels; M. Meyer & Co., Buras; Geo. Heyser, Constantine; A. Taylor, Rosetta; Drury, Bennett & Co., Bewleyville, Ky.; W. E. Brown, Irvington, Ky.; Jno. P. Nichols, Garfield, Ky.; A. R. Morris, Big Spring, Ky.

Mr. Henry Jolly, of McFall, Mo., is visiting relatives in Breckenridge county. He spent Friday and Friday night with his uncle, T. J. Jolly, took dinner with him on Saturday and then went on his way. Mr. Jolly has never been in Kentucky before though his parents were born and raised in our county.

Miss Ada Drury and pupils are preparing for an entertainment at the close of the school. Everybody is sure to come, for Miss Ada knows how to do such things and we promise you that you will not be disappointed.

Alberta Drury is attending school at Brandenburg. She and her little brothers spent Christmas with their grandmother, Mrs. A. Moreman.

Mr. Elisha Smith, of Stony Point, and Mr. Tom Lyddian, of Irvington, called to see young ladies in our midst Sunday afternoon. They are often seen at their respective places and we are beginning to think they mean business.

Let me say a few words for W. W. Keath. He wants to sell his goods bad, and he is very kind and obliging, so we advise you to give him a call.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller continue their visit to Mrs. Wolverton.

It has been announced that our next Quarterly meeting will be the 2d Sunday in February. Rev. Allen is our presiding elder and that means good preaching. Bro. Cantiff intends to protract from his next regular appointment, the 1st of May. Plenty of good help is expected, so all of you good people come to our meeting—have a good time, yourself and help us out.

The religious services at Bowleyville Jan. 29th, were first Sabbath school, then preaching in Baptist church by Bro. Snyder, Epworth League, devotional meeting in afternoon and preaching again at night. Bro. Snyder's text in the morning was "And when I see the blood, I will pass over you."—Exodus 12—13.

Dear Brandenburg are you very sure you know Golden Rod? I want to tell you I am a strong politician, but sometimes feel that it's little use and grow despondent—then I think of the boys who need teaching and "line upon line" then there is "Joelah" who must have a round once in a while. Perhaps it's the woman after all who keeps things straight in this world and I, for one, want truly to be on the right side. As I said before sugar sweetens my disposition wonderfully, and I haven't found any one yet who is willing to let me have it for the love I bear them. It's money or it's equivalent they must have. I have never met you face to face, but I always liked your communications, and now your kindly words have quite gone to my heart.
