

JEFFERSON ON THE JUDICIARY.

Judges Not Arbiters of Constitutional Questions.

PEOPLE THE ULTIMATE POWER

The Single Tribunal Idea is a Very Dangerous Doctrine and One Which Would Place Us

Under the Despotism of an Oligarchy—Judges Are as Honest As Other Men and Not More So.

If there is one plank in the Chicago platform which the Republican newspapers of the country have more frequently misconstrued than another, and against which much of their venomous criticism has been directed, it is the one which relates to federal interference in local affairs, or more especially to what is termed in the platform as "government by injunction."

No sooner had the platform received the adoption of the Chicago convention than the cry was raised by the Republican newspapers in all parts of the country that the plank in question was a deliberate fling at the supreme court. It was even charged by some of these zealous guardians of the nation that the Democratic party, in adopting the income tax plank, was aiming at a radical change in the organization of that tribunal.

It is needless to say that such ridiculous charges as these were inspired by the demon of rank political hatred rather than a patriotic solicitude for the welfare of the nation. No man of any intelligence whose familiarity with the course of judicial proceedings in this country for the last few years is of such a character as to enable him to judge properly of what the language means can possibly see anything offensive in the plank.

That the Democratic party had a right to enter its protest against arbitrary interference by federal authorities is upheld not only by the spirit of the constitution, but also by the express language of Thomas Jefferson himself. The Stanford (Fla.) Chronicle publishes a letter dated Sept. 20, 1821, and addressed to William C. Jarvis, at that time editor of the Boston Republican, in which Mr. Jefferson makes use of the following terse and explicit language:

"You seem to consider the judges as the ultimate arbiters of all constitutional questions, a very dangerous doctrine, indeed, and one which would place us under the despotism of an oligarchy. Our judges are as honest as other men and not more so. They have, with others, the same passions for party, for power and the privileges of their corps. Their maxim is, 'Bonis judicis est ampliare jurisdictionem,' and their power the more dangerous, as they are in office for life and not responsible, as the other functionaries are, to the elective control. The constitution has erected no such single tribunal, knowing that to whatever hands confided, with the corruptions of time and party, its members would become despots. It has more wisely made all the departments coequal and co-sovereign within themselves. If the legislature fails to pass laws for a census, for paying the judges and other officers of government, for establishing a militia, for naturalization, as prescribed by the constitution, or if they fail to meet in congress, the judges cannot issue their mandates to them."

Nothing could possibly be more direct than the language in which Mr. Jefferson addresses himself to this important proposition. Surely if the founder of the Democratic party could so express himself in regard to an evil which at that time was only threatened or apprehended the party itself can enter its protest based upon similar views when the evil which Mr. Jefferson plainly foresaw has already actually occurred. At a time would come when there would inevitably be a clash between the legislative, judicial and executive functions of the government, or rather a time when each of these functions would, to a certain extent, be concentrated in one, and if we think that Mr. Jefferson discerned with that far-seeing statesmanship which made him one of the greatest men of his day.

Instead of being un-Democratic, therefore, the plank of the Chicago platform which has been the subject of greater abuse, perhaps, than any other, is directly in accord with the expressed views of Mr. Jefferson himself.

To quote again the words of the great Democrat: "I know no safe depository of the ultimate powers of society but the people themselves; and if we think them not enlightened enough to exercise their control with a wholesome discretion, the remedy is not to take it from them, but to inform their discretion by education."

If the people themselves have not the right to enter their protest against the evils of the judiciary, from what quarter can such a protest come?

In the clear light which the great founder of the party throws upon the plank in question, no one can truthfully bring the charge that the platform is not a plain and outspoken expression of genuine Democracy.—Atlanta Constitution.

MARK HANNA'S FUND.

THE CORRUPTING PURPOSES FOR WHICH IT IS USED.

Secret Political Agitators Put on the Pay Roll of Manufacturers Employing Many Hands.

Men Sent to Mining Camps to Work the Mexican Dollar Example.

New York, Sept. 7.—James Creelman, a staff correspondent of the New York World, who has been looking for Mr. Kinley's sentiment in the West, wires to that paper from Milwaukee:

"The worst element in this campaign is the part which Mark Hanna's fund is playing. Candor compels me to give the fact, without regard to whether Mr. Bryan's election would be a good thing or a bad thing. There is plenty of evidence, in my opinion, to show that this is rapidly becoming the most corrupt and corrupting political struggle known to the American people.

Bryan may be defeated, but the influence of the money and of Mark Hanna's method upon the voters of Wisconsin, in common with the voters of other states, will not disappear after election day. Let me give one example. I speak of a matter I know and understand. The Reliance Machine works, owned by the Edward P. Allie company, is situated in Milwaukee. There are employed in this establishment something like 1,800 men. Here the Bryan sentiment is very strong. It is an absolute fact that 18 workmen in this establishment are at this moment on the pay roll of the Republican state committee as secret political agitators. Their companions are ignorant of this fact, and do not suspect it. The result is, that these men have an influence which they could not possibly wield were the truth known.

"The Republican committee has also, I am informed, upon its pay roll a large number of men in another establishment, which employs about 2,000 workmen. In several of the factories here gold standard arguments are pinned each week to the envelope containing wages.

"The Republican committee has also sent men into the mining districts of Wisconsin to offer $5 in Mexican silver for $2.75 in American money. It is impossible to make an honest statement of the political situation in Wisconsin today without revealing these facts.

The Republicans have an enormous campaign fund and a political machine the like of which has never before been seen in the state. The Republican committee has already distributed more than a million documents in Wisconsin. The McKinley literature is printed in English, French, Danish, Polish, Norwegian and German and spread broadcast by the ton. Yesterday, in anticipation of Sunday and Labor Day coming together after Mr. Bryan's visit to the city, the Republican managers hired every bill board in Milwaukee for three days, and this morning 4,000 cartoons representing Bryan opening the mines to Europe and Asia and McKinley opening the factories to American workingmen were displayed. It takes money to do that sort of thing.

STANDING FOR ANOTHER.

What is more difficult than to stand in the stead of another, and to act for that other? And yet this is a duty which comes continually to us all. Representatives in Civil Government, delegates to conventions, attorneys, act for those whom they represent. The appointed caretaker of a child acts in a degree for the parent, and the parent, in turn, acts as the representative of the Heavenly Parent toward the child. Feeling this responsibility, many a parent, with the best of intentions, becomes sadly misrepresentative of the Infinite Wisdom. He has a burning desire to exercise his divinely commissioned authority. But he forgets that he is not standing in the stead of a merely omnipotent Being, but of one who is omniscient also. In as much exercised to know as to do? God knows the child's weaknesses, physical and mental, his peculiar difficulties, obstructions, trials and griefs. He knows his capabilities, his desires, his silent, uncommenced achievements of character. This Heavenly Father, in his omniscience, knows all this, and as much more about the child as there is to know. No earthly parent can know a tithe of it. But does he press himself to the same extent to represent the omniscient One, in dealing with the child, as he does to represent the omnipotent One? Does he recognize the gaining of knowledge of the child's nature as the prior requirement to the proper exercise of mere superior power and authority? It is for us all that "we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the righteous." This Advocate is at once the true representative, not only of the power, but of the wisdom and knowledge and wisdom of God. He is, therefore, our perfect Master. He is never unjust to us, but always true to us; for he is at once the all knowing One, as well as the One of all love, and of power. He is the perfect pattern for every one who is called upon to represent or to act for another in any sphere of life.—Sunday School Times.

FREE SILVER THE THING.

Do You Want To Cast Your Vote For England or The United States. Some Solid Facts That All

Should Know, Everyone Interested Should Read This Carefully.

The following strong appeal to the English people to use all possible influence to defeat bimetalism in America, and showing the advantages free silver would be to the United States and the disadvantages free silver in the United States would be to English financiers, recently appeared in the London Standard News. Read it and decide whether you wish to vote for England or for your own country:

"The financial situation in the United States is very serious, and it demands the immediate attention of British financiers and statesmen. The trade of the world is now in our hands, but it will not long remain there if the United States goes to a bimetallic base with free and unlimited coinage of silver.

"With the addition of silver to the volume of money everything in America would take on a new face; labor and industry would gain new life. The grip of the gold standard on the products of the world would be loosened and prices would rise. Great Britain would lose her markets in South America, Asia and Europe, and American ships would not be long in capturing the carrying trade of the world.

"British creditors must now apply themselves quickly to the American money problem. The American people are now thoroughly aroused and educated on the power and use of money, and made desperate by debt and business depression, they are forcing free silver as the main issue.

"Great Britain need fear no injury to her trade of investments if the Republican party can force a protective tariff as the main issue in the coming presidential campaign, but if free silver dominates the American mind and carries at the polls, it will bring about a change in England that will be ruinous in its suddenness and severity. The damage that can be done British manufactures by a protective tariff is slight compared with the disasters that would be entailed by a change from a single gold to a complete bimetallic standard.

"The success of free coinage will bring down the rate of interest on money, and cause an immediate rise in the price of all commodities. When silver becomes primary money, the American mines will pour their products into the mints, and a new era similar to that produced by the issue of greenbacks during the civil war, will begin. Gold will leave the banks, and enter into competition with silver in the avenues of trade, and the manufactures of the United States which have been shut down or crippled since 1892, will again resume their fight for the English markets.

"It matters not to Great Britain which party succeeds if the gold standard is maintained, but either of the old parties or a new party which goes into power, pledged to free coinage will be inimical and prejudicial to English manufactures and trade.

"The American people are massing now on free silver. When that issue comes fairly before the American people England will regret her apathy and adherence to the single gold standard."

LODIBURG.

Two Deaths The Same Day—Hon. Joe Parker Spent Friday Night With A. M. Hardin—Miss Lillie Avitt Returns From School.

(Held over from last week.) Almost everyone here is for free silver and Bryan.

Miss Winnie Hardin is troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia. Sam and Owen Keys who are at work with the bridge crew were at home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhoda Thornberry and children, of Sirocco, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hardin last Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hardin and daughter, Nina, visited the family of Mr. Al Addison near Hardinsburg Saturday night and Sunday.

The Hon. Joe Parker spent Friday night with A. M. Hardin and went from here to Hardinsburg Saturday where he delivered an eloquent speech. Miss Lillie Avitt came home Friday from her school at Preston and went to Hardinsburg Saturday to visit her brother who is assistant teacher in the public school there.

Typhoid fever is raging here. We have nine cases now, some have recovered but Mrs. Mollie Gibson and little son, Clyde, Jesse Parks, Myrna and Will Basham, Asia Miller, Koger Baily and two children are very sick with it yet.

Quite a number from here attended the speaking at Hardinsburg Saturday, in fact, nearly every man who was well enough to go. They came home Saturday evening making the woods ring with songs and burials, and I every one is still stronger for free silver and Bryan after hearing the good speech delivered by Mr. Parker.

The Angel of Death has again visited our midst and taken from us a young man and infant child. Burbon Basham died at his home near here Tuesday morning Sept. 1st. He had been very low with typhoid fever for a month when God released him from his pains and the toils and cares of this life. His remains were interred in the Walnut Grove cemetery Wednesday Sept. 2nd. The Death Angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Baily the same time and took from them a little child which God gave to them for one short year, but "He who doeth all things for the best" called this one to join him. His remains were taken to Rosetta Wednesday for interment. Weep not father and mother for your child is asleep in the arms of Jesus.

It is not unusual for druggist to recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their customers. Many of them have used it themselves, or in their families and know from personal experience its great value in the treatment of coughs, colds and croup. They know too that their customers are their best friends and naturally wish to give them the most reliable medicine they have for those ailments. Messrs. Daugherty Bros., prominent druggists of Indiana, Pa., say, "We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than of any other cough syrup, and always take pleasure in recommending it to our customers." Mr. H. M. Urey, the popular druggist at Fredonia, Pa., who has sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for several years, says: "It is truly said that it is the best cough medicine in the market." A SWELL AFFAIR. Society Given a Treat. The Beautiful Home of Mr. and Mrs. Beard Thrown Open and Guests Brilliantly Entertained.

HARDINSBURG, Ky., Sept. 7 1896.—The event of the season was the reception given on last Tuesday evening Sept 1st by Mr. and Mrs. Percy M. Beard, in honor of their sister and brother, Miss Bessie and Mr. Marvin Beard. School is a more gay or attractive throng seen. About one hundred and fifty invitations were issued and a few "Regrets" received. The large residence with its lofty rooms and spacious halls, which was brilliantly illuminated was crowded to overflowing while the well kept lawn with its hammocks, swings, rustic seats etc., etc., was also the scene of revelry. Mrs. Beard who proved herself an admirable hostess was assisted by the following: Misses Mary Beard, Annie DeJarnett, Elizabeth Beard, Mr. Frank Mercer and Mrs. Dr. Milner. As the guests arrived they were shown at once to the dressing rooms by Miss Cashman and Mr. Marvin Beard who also assisted.

As each lady arrived her name was written by Mrs. Dr. Milner on a dainty card tied with the colors white and green. These were thoroughly mixed and passed to the gentleman who drew a card and escorted the lady whose name it contained to supper. Soon the supper room was thrown open and the guests, led by Mr. D. F. Beard, filed in when Bev. Wm. English returned thanks for the beautiful supply of good things spread before them. The table was a dream of loveliness with its dazzling lights, handsomely embroidered work, lavishly displayed, its china, silver, and above all the decorations which were certainly the work of art. The supper was served in courses and required nearly two hours to each table, one of which seated forty-three. Eleven well trained servants glided about serving the guests in a manner pleasing to all. After supper was served the gentlemen were ushered into the smoking room where they found cigars, cigarettes, chewing gum flowers and heart's galore, and enjoyed them to his rears content, while the ladies were given access to the entire house.

The reception hall and parlor were beautifully decorated in white and green. While the receiving young ladies were gowned in like colors and presented a striking appearance.

Mrs. Chas. R. Reid was ever ready with selections on the piano which the severest critic could but enjoy and in her ROYAL Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report.

Bottled Up!

Whether in the form of pill powder or liquid, the doctor's prescription for blood diseases is always the same—mercury or potash. These drugs bottle up and poison and dry up the marrow in the bones at the same time.

The suppleness and elasticity of the joints give way to a stiffness, the racking pains of rheumatism. The form gradually bends, the bones ache, while decrepitude and helplessness prematurely take possession of the body, and it is but a short step to a pair of crutches. Then comes falling of the hair and decay of the bones,—a condition truly horrible.

Contagious Blood Poison—the curse of mankind—is the most horrible of all diseases, and has always baffled the doctors. Their potash and mercury bottles mystify the patient, but it always breaks forth again attacking some delicate organ, frequently the mouth and throat, filling them with eating sores. S.S.S. is the only known cure for this disease. It is guaranteed purely vegetable, and one thousand dollars reward is offered for proof to the contrary. It never fails to cure Contagious Blood Poison, Scrofula, Eczema, Rheumatism, Cancer, or any other disease of the blood. If you have a blood disease, take a remedy which will not injure you. Beware of mercury; don't do violence to your system. Don't get bottled up! Our book sent free to any address. Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Bewleyville people attended the Irvington and Guston meetings faithfully and we hope they will return the favor next week and come and help Bro. Lewis our Baptist minister, who will protect them.

An event has transpired in our vicinity this summer that reminds us of the days of ancient Rome when old Cincinnatus was called from his plow to assist in the affairs of State. Fletcher Blandford while engaged in agriculture pursued on his father's farm was waited upon by Bewleyville trustees and given the principality of school. He has fully qualified himself and will begin Sept. 14.

Rev. Mark Miner, a Dunkard minister of Deckers Point, Pa., says he can recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm to anyone in need of a good liniment, and that he considers it the best he has ever used. Pain Balm is especially valuable for rheumatism, lame back, sprains, swelling, cuts, bruises, burns and scalds. It is one of the most remarkable medicines in existence, and its effects will both surprise and delight you. For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by A. R. Fisher, druggist.

Advantage Taken of Leap Year.—Baptist Protracted Meeting—Full Attendance At Quarterly Meeting—The Sick Convalescent. Weather cool and pleasant. Malaria lurking around in all sorts of places. Farmers busy cutting corn and getting ready to sow wheat. Mrs. A. Jordan, who has been ill a long time has gone to stay with her mother awhile. Miss L. Na Drury has been quite sick, but is now much better and able to be herself again. Miss Annie Johnson will be assistant of Bewleyville school. Miss Ada Drury left Thursday for her school. She will teach in Crescent Hill. Mrs. G. P. Jolly is making an extended visit at Mr. Piggott's. Miss Lala Nannely continues to visit friends in our community. Miss Julia Sanders, Mrs. J. T. Stitt's visitor left Sunday morning. She leaves one sad heart. Allen Smith and sister, Miss Mabel, passed our town to their school near Hardinsburg. Misses Blanche Jolly and Zama Strother, her guest, made use of leap year privileges Saturday afternoon. A little girl recently arrived here is the treasure of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Piggott. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Foote were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Jolly Sunday at dinner. Mrs. A. E. Orendorf and her little grand daughter, Edmoia Perrin, of Parkman, are visiting their many relatives here.

BRYAN AND WAGeworkERS. The Plain People Are United For Democracy's Champion.

The Hanna organs and orators are developing the deepest concern for the workingman, says the Kansas City Times. For the first time in four years he has become the idol of all their hearts, the center and source of all their solicitude. From their coupon clipping, their money shaving, their bond jobbing operations these Hannaites are turning aside daily in order to warn the man who labors on the railroad, in the store, the mine, the factory, the shop, that if Bryan is elected his wages will be cut in two, and that his dinner pail will go empty. How much effect this eleventh hour sympathy is having on the men whom it is intended to gull is shown by the fact that of all the labor papers in the United States not one is for Hanna and McKinley. There is not a single labor leader of national influence who does not speak for the cause of Democracy as the hope of the wageworkers. The following extract from the Knights of Labor Journal, the official organ of the order, will serve to show the general trend of opinion among the workingmen on these matters: "Bryan is the man of the hour, brought forth by the necessities of the occasion. Bryan's whole course as a politician has been clean, consistent, forceful, manly. There are no dubious utterances of his to explain away. His position upon the chief issues has been long and definitely established, and in their defense he had already won his spurs before his name was dreamed of in connection with the presidency. "All the powers of wealth and the influence it brings are already at work to compass his defeat. Every legal robber in the United States regardless of his former politics, every man whose interest lies in the continued subjugation of the wage earner and farmer, every sheet which has prospered and grown upon the subsidies to be obtained for treachery—all this tremendous force is already moving to prevent the coming triumph of the plain people."
