

GOEBEL!

Not The Worst Sinner In The State.

Says Our Old Time Friend and Democrat "Cump" Henderson.

He Don't Approve of His Methods But It's Politics

AND THAT GOES RIGHT OR WRONG.

MR. EDITOR:—I have been much amused at the number of papers and people who have become preachers of righteousness since the late Democratic convention. One who was familiar with the history of conventions would think from what is being said and written, that conventions in the past had been conducted on the very highest moral plain and that all who participated in this last one were angels of light, except Goebel and his friends.

The truth is, conventions have been the reverse of that.

To read the abuse heaped on Goebel, one would think he was the greatest rascal on earth. While line on line have been written showing him up, not one word have I seen from any source condemning Stone for the part he played in the matter; on the contrary we see much written to show how bad he was treated, making him almost a martyr.

It looks a little to me as if the preachers did not care so much for the sin, but cared a great deal about who committed it. You remember the convention held at Elizabethtown three years ago, to nominate a man to represent this district in congress. We all remember what was said of that convention. It is a well known fact that the nominee of our State Convention for Clerk of the Appellate court, bought his nomination, paying for it in places in his office.

Who ever saw a county convention where there was a full county ticket to be nominated, and two or more for each office that there was not trickery and combinations. It is the rule and not the exception that trickery and combination control conventions. The late convention was no worse than many other. Admitting what Mr. Owen says to be true, in regard to throwing out 150 delegates and admitting 150 others, that most of them were willing to do anything Goebel said, he then liked 200 votes of having a majority. So we see organizing the convention and throwing out delegates did not nominate him. Then how was he nominated? By following the rules of former conventions, making fortunate combinations with candidates for the minor offices.

I heard a very sensible Hardin man say he owed his nomination more to his fine judgment than anything else. I was a Stone man and I don't think he and his managers ought to say a word, but sought to take their medicine like little men. What about the Hardin men? I think they ought to do the same. I think they bolted too late. Had they come out of that convention when it was organized and all the reports adopted and said to the people that it was through fraud that those delegates were unseated and that there was no chance for a fair nomination, then that would have put a different face on the matter. They failed to do that, but said and thought they would nominate Hardin. They fought to the bitter end and when they failed they bolted. I am surprised at the action of some of the delegates from this county. If I was bolting there would be nothing surprising about it. I addressed a letter some time ago to the party through your paper in regard to the methods resorted to in this county to secure nominations. You dubbed it the wall of a deluded candidate, and I have had it in for you ever since. I feel sure you would not do it again, so I forgive you for it. I think democrats are setting very foolishly in letting the Dispatch disrupt the party through hatred and spite. It is evident it is willing for the Republican party to control the State and elect a Senator to gratify its hatred, not so much of Goebel.

SIMPLE SENSE

There is a right way to do all things. An expectant mother can easily realize, if she stops to think a moment, how dangerous wrong it is to swallow medicines when in her condition. She can see that the outside application of a liniment which softens and relaxes must certainly be the thing for her to use. Such a liniment is which she can depend upon during her whole period of pregnancy and during labor. Send us for our free illustrated book, "Babies Baby in Danger." Mother's Friend is sold in drug stores but if a better form than any other is desired, write to us for a copy. It is the duty of every mother to be prepared to be present.

of the Courier Journal and that faction in the city. I have as much confidence in Goebel as I have in the Dispatch, controlled as it is by Whalen. Whalen is doing a great deal more to corrupt the morals of the people of Louisville and the State than Goebel and his methods can possibly do. I am taking the Dispatch, and I think I never saw more spite manifested than is in its columns. Look at its action in regard to the Goebel election law. It defended that measure until since the convention. You know its course since. I have a perfect contempt for such hypocrisy. I do not write this in defense of the methods that obtained in that convention, nor any other political convention. I have intimated that I had expressed myself plainly in regard to trickery practiced in conventions. Yet I do not think Goebel near as bad as he is represented to be. I do not believe him to be a traitor, either to the party or to Blackburn. I believe he is in accord with the platform. I believe there is much to be said in his favor. He surely is a smart man. His public acts have generally been with the people.

He worked and voted for the McCord Bill and the Chinn Bill, which had they become laws would have been worth more to the people than all the bills considered at the session.

There is another thing that raises him in my estimation and that is, he did not have while that convention was going on, whiskey, wine, beer or cigars to corrupt men with, while at both the other headquarters could be had anything that would debauch and degrade men. I think it is a shame that men seeking the highest office in the State should be guilty of such things. In conclusion I will say I am not seeking favor of Mr. Goebel, or the Democrat party, nor am I one who believes that if the republican party controls the State that we will go to destruction, but I am a democrat in principle, and I simply write to show Goebel not to be the worst sinner in the State.

Late Wells Finds Farming Profitable.

Late Wells who resides near Atkins, a station on the branch, purchased a small farm in that locality. At the time it was the general opinion of the neighborhood that Wells would not realize his aim. He did not pay any attention to outside remarks but went straight forward tilling the soil and giving his whole attention to the upbuilding of his farm. He paid for the farm the first year. This year he has one of the finest tobacco and corn crops in that section.

It shows what a man can do and what nature will help him do, if he puts in his time and don't whittle it away on goods boxes.

The Farm Journal is unlike any other paper; for one thing it prints no quick medical advertisements; for another it takes five-year subscriptions and gets the paper to its subscribers the full time if they are anywhere on this planet, even if they move two or three times; if they die their heirs get it. Now we are going to send the Farm Journal for the balance of 1899 and all of 1900, 1901, 1902 and 1903, nearly five years, to every advance paying subscriber to the Breckenridge News but better speak quick, as we have only a limited number Farm Journals to offer on these terms.

Farmers Institute.

Dr. P. W. Foote president of the Breckenridge and Meade County Agricultural society has an article in this issue calling attention to the farmers meeting which will take place about the latter part of this month. These meetings are in every way beneficial to the farmer and it is the duty of every farmer to be present.

FARMERS MEETING.

Timely and interesting Suggestions From President Foote.

BRECKENRIDGE NEWS:—The Secretary of the Breckenridge and Meade County Agricultural society will in a few days send you the names of those who will address our Cloverport meeting in August, and the subjects they will present. Also date of meeting which will be near the end of the month.

Our Irvington meetings, have been both successful and profitable and I am lead to believe that the meeting we will hold in your city will be even more successful and well worth the time and expense of any farmer in the county quitting his work to attend.

Tell the farmers that these meetings are going to be strictly agricultural meetings gotten up for no other purpose than to stimulate a broader and a deeper growth of agricultural citizenship, and to do what we can to get the farmers to see the importance of more intellect and better methods on the farm.

We do not come among you claiming apostles of agriculture, but expecting to "get good," rather than "do good;" to get ideas that will save our farms from the wasteful effects of ignorance.

Now that our crops are all made, or laid by for this season, let us come together next month in Cloverport; and after thanking our master for bounteous blessings, devote one day to a discussion of ways and means that we may employ to reduce the cost of production, for we farmers are in the forefront of a merciless competition and must produce as cheap as any or loose the market and do this at a profit or the farmer and his farm will perish together. So let the farmers meet.

Dr. P. W. Foote, Pres't.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her that she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own household and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Short & Haynes' Drug Store. Large bottles 50 cents per $1.00.

In Memoriam.

Benjamin Bate Weaver, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Weaver, born June 9, 1899, died June 9, 1899.

Only for an hour was this little angel allowed to be upon this earth, when he was recalled to Our Heavenly Father, who only let him remain with his father and mother, who would have so fondly lavished everything in their home to the comfort and happiness of this loved babe. It seems sad to us who cannot see and understand why we are called upon to stand these trials. We can only trust and believe that He who knoweth all things, did this in his wise judgment and when some day, how soon none can tell, this father and mother, now so sad, clasp their little darling, who will meet them in the other world. All will be made clear and when as a reunited family, enjoying the companionship which will never end. The wrongs of this world will be all forgotten. The little form lying in Cave Hill is only the cloak or outer covering for the little jewel, the soul, who is living on and will forever and ever.

BALINAG, P. I., JUNE 5, 1899.
MISS SADIE OBINCHAIN, MY DEAR SISTER.—I will answer your letter which I received a few days ago, will tell you something of my trip and the time I have had since I landed at Manila. We broke camp at Calucan and left with Gen. Lawton's brigade on the 22nd of April for the interior of this hot island. We were shortly in a fight with the insurgents. We cut off all communication with the outside world and marched towards the mountains with the enemy on all sides of us. We had several small battles in a few days, killing many of the enemy and losing many of our men either killed or wounded. We were in all the towns you have read of in the papers and when we got here we had to whip the insurgents again and burn their town. We left Balinag and in two miles had a fight resulting in defeat to the enemy. We went three miles further and had another fight with the same results. We have had a great many more battles but I will not recount them now. It is enough to know that I am getting used to being shot at but don't think any better than I did at first. I have made many close calls and have stood in places where the bullets were raining so thick it seemed impossible for one to escape but I have never been hit yet. No telling when I may be killed but I have an abiding faith in my Maker who watches over the destinies of men and line in hopes of getting out alive. I take cover and protect myself when possible, but when I have to stand exposed I take it cool and trust to providence. We sent one company out the other day and it was soon surrounded by the insurgents and had it not been that one lucky fellow broke out and gave us the alarm the boys in that company would have all been slaughtered without mercy. We brought the brave fellows in with the loss of only two men. We don't get credit for what we do here. The regulars are the ones that do the fighting and the volunteers get the credit. They mix us up with the 23rd and 3rd artillery and the volunteers are the only ones who get any praise. They have their correspondents right along with them and they always have time to write a glowing account of their deeds. The regulars have no correspondents that have the time to spare to write falsehoods about us, we fight and think it our duty and that settles it. The people in the states don't get a correct statement about matters here. I have a poor opinion of these negroes here. They are treacherous and mean to an extreme. We fed some of them at Saumagui and they were fighting us the next day. They are a strange people. They have two suits or rather changes of clothes apiece which they always carry with them. They say they are friends and would carry a white flag and in five minutes be shooting at you from some thicket. They have the advantage of us, knowing as they do every bamboo thicket on the island. They would murder anyone if they got a chance and they come around the next day and beg like a dog for something to eat. The better class here don't want to fight, but the rough, mean ones rule the rest. They are a band of murderers, thieves and cut-throats. They murder and ruin their own people and don't care for freedom as long as they can lay around in dirt and filth and pilfer some one, dividing the goods while their officers divide the money. Don't talk to me about freedom for these people. If they were set free they would be murdering each other in a week. If they were to surrender to-morrow there would still be as many of their would-be soldiers as now. Their generals say they are in it for what they can get out of it. If the people who live in the States and read papers which condemn this war as inhuman would come here and stay awhile they would think different. I have been fighting ever since I got here but we are quartered here now in private houses and may stay for two months. I received the Breckenridge News which had one of my letters to you in one of its columns and I felt like I was most home again. Write me often. We don't have the chance here to write as you do so don't be uneasy if I don't write you again in two months. Farewell for this time,
Lovingly,
GEORGE W. OBINCHAIN,
Sergeant Co. M., 3rd Infantry, Manila P. I.
