

BUILDING NOTES.

M. J. Behen Gets Masonic Contract—Scarcity Of Lots Preventing Much Building.

The contract for the new brick building to be erected by Breckenridge Lodge F. & A. M., No. 133, has been let to M. J. Behen, the lowest bidder. The contract price is private.

The building will be erected on the lot between the Masonic Temple and F. T. Haysler's confectionery. It will be two story and 23x80 ft., which are about the dimensions of the Masonic Temple. The two buildings will be about similar in construction as well as dimensions. Mr. Behen expects to begin work on the new building about October 1. When it is completed J. C. Nolte & Bro. will change their grocery department from the basement of the Masonic Temple to the first floor of the new building. The second floor will be used for office or lodge rooms.

There is a slight building boom on here just now in the way of residences and small business houses, but the boom is not what it should be, in view of the long period of inactivity in building circles since the boom after the big fire of 1901. A prominent building contractor stated to a representative of the News Friday that there would be a larger building boom here this fall if it were not for a scarcity of desirable lots. He said that there are a number of local people who would build if they could find lots to suit them.

HOLDING ITS OWN.

Kentucky Building, World's Fair, St. Louis, Sept. 20.—Kentucky stock in the World's Fair cattle show is certainly holding its own against big odds, for the competition is admitted to be the warmest ever seen. Interest today centered in the exhibition of herds, and Kentucky entries took prizes in Jersey, Shorthorn, Hereford and Aberdeen Angus classes.

Rhodes was Mr. Henning's brother-in-law.

DO YOU NEED A MEDICINE?

IT COSTS YOU NOTHING TO INVESTIGATE.

There is no one who does not need a Liver Medicine occasionally. The symptoms of Liver Complaint are well known to every one, such as constipation, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, headache, a tired feeling and many others of a similar nature.

Thousands die annually by not heeding the warnings of nature. Many acquire some chronic disease from which they never recover.

Many of these could be spared for years of usefulness, by keeping in the home some reliable remedy.

We believe that we can convince any fair-minded person that there is no better remedy for the Liver known than Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup.

The formula is known, consisting of: Buchu, Hydrangea, Mandrake, Yellow Dock, Dandelion, Sarsaparilla, Gentian, Senna and Iodide of Potassium. You know just what you are taking. How many other formulas of a liver medicine are published? Ask your druggist about this. It is already prepared and can be taken immediately.

The strength is extracted in the most skillful manner, certainly superior to any powdered preparation known. (We also manufacture a Liver Medicine in powdered form, with which any druggist can supply you, but this, like all other dry Liver Medicines requires preparation.)

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is pleasant to take, does not lose its strength, as Liver Medicine in dry form, and will keep in any climate.

Your doctor, however skillful, could prescribe nothing better.

There is no opportunity for a doctor to make a mistake in writing a prescription, or a drug clerk to make a mistake in compounding the same, (besides a doctor's bill and the cost of the medicine.) You can be absolutely sure of the proper proportion being in every dose.

The French Archives.

The archives so magnificently housed in the Hotel de Rohan form one of the most interesting sights of Paris. Here, bound in white calf, thousands of folios contain the history of France, dating from the Capet and Valois kings, all documents being classified under four heads—administrative, historic, legislative and judicial. Among minor objects of interest not shown to visitors without special permission is the table on which Robespierre, wounded, was placed in the Hotel de Ville on the eve of Thermidor and the inventory of Marie Antoinette's wardrobe, with patterns of her dresses, and also of Mme. Elizabeth's. Insignificant indeed would the collection appear beside that of a fashionable lady of today. In these historic premises, busy as bees, indefatigable searchers are continually at work.—Westminster Gazette.

Baltimore, Ireland.

Baltimore, in Maryland, gets its name from a small and unostentatious fishing village in Ireland. The word Baltimore signifies the "village that grew up about the big house," and the derivation is plain when one sees the ivy covered ruins of the very remarkable big house that was once the stronghold of the O'Driscolls. It is situated upon an imposing height, a sentinel over the numerous little dwellings that have sprung up and increased in the vicinity of its wrecked and deserted life. From the village of Baltimore enormous catches of mackerel are sent to America.—Exchange.

Read His Own Banns.

A distinguished English churchman tells this in M. A. P.: "The vicar of Swanscombe was a very eccentric man. I remember—indeed, who could ever forget it?—that he once read out his own banns of marriage with a lady who had not only not consented to marry him, but whom he had never asked to do so. He did this for two Sundays. On the third her father rose and formally objected to such a ridiculous proceeding."

Waiting His Turn.

"Well, Jack," said his chum after Jack had proposed to the most popular girl in the town, "is it all right?" "Well," said Jack ruefully, "I can hope—that's all." "What did she say?" "She said she'd file my proposal with all the others and consider it when she got down to it."

His Lack of Tact.

Barnes—Howes is a pretty good sort of fellow. Shedd—Yes, but he hasn't got any tact. At the restaurant the other day he asked me if I was fond of cats, and I was eating rabbit stew at the time! The idea of asking such a question at such a time as that!—Boston Transcript.

Eminently Qualified.

Practical Aunt—Do you think you are qualified to become the wife of a poor man? The Confident Girl—Oh, yes; it's all settled. We are to live in a cottage, and I know how to make cottage pudding already.

The Servant Problem.

"What has been the greatest difficulty with which you have had to contend, Mrs. Kinder, in your struggle with the servant girl problem?" "Preventing the good ones getting married."

Hard Seats.

It is not well for sedentary workers to sit on cushions. In man, owing chiefly to his erect carriage, there is a strong development of the muscles of the pelvis and the thighs, which almost completely clothe the strong bones of that region. In the seated position, to obviate undue pressure, nature has provided a proper cushion over these bones. Hyrt's saying is well known, "We sit on the fat of the seat as on a mattress."

In sitting on a smooth and hard surface the body rests upon three main points, but in sitting on a soft cushion pressure is imparted to the muscles and interferes with the circulation in all their parts.

Great attention has been paid to this matter in the construction of bicycle saddles and, speaking generally, with very beneficial results. Nothing can be said against a certain amount of covering, if not too yielding, but the office stool, properly shaped, is an excellent seat.—Pearson's Weekly.

Food Aversions.

Cows' milk is said to be abhorred by the Japanese, and rabbits are never eaten by the Abyssinians, who explain that rabbits are too much like big rats. The natives of the Sandwich Islands would not take caviar for a gift. Cheese in Mexico is simply curds desiccated and pressed in pancake shape, and even then it is patronized only by the Caucasian colonists. The half breeds accept it with hesitation, and a two ounce slice of hamburger would stampede a tribe of mountain Indians. They resent it as a practical joke in questionable taste. But why the Koreans eschew ice cream, as a traveler reports is the case, is less easy to explain. Perhaps they share the Japanese prejudice against dairy products or the Chinese predilection for superheated tibids.

A Queer Italian Custom.

On Aug. 1 of every year the people of Val di Rosa, in Italy, gather in the great square, which is also a thrashing floor, and proceed to exorcise the devil for the benefit of their own dreams and for the well being of their vineyards. The most intelligent man in the community is chosen master of ceremonies. A small fire balloon is made ready and to this the master of ceremonies solemnly attaches a puppet representing his Satanic majesty. Amid the shouts of the peasantry the balloon, with the devil attached, is liberated. The good people believe that for the rest of the year the evil one will not disturb their dreams or damage the vintage.

Fungus Slippers.

Before the discovery of lucifer matches a large hoof shaped fungus growing on the trunks of trees was used throughout northern Europe for making amadou or tinder. The thick, brown, woody flesh of the same fungus, cut into slices and beaten until it assumes the appearance of felt, is used at the present day in Germany for the manufacture of chest protectors, caps, purses, bedroom slippers and various other articles.

One Exception.

"Papa, is the hand that rocks the cradle the one that rules the world?" "That's what I've heard." "Well, I know one that don't." "Who is it?" "Nurse. She wanted to go downtown, and mamma told her she'd give her if she went and wouldn't give her no recommendation."—Indianapolis Sentinel.

A Chronic Habit.

"No," said the man who had recently made his fourth pilgrimage to the matrimonial altar; "I can't say that marriage is a failure." "Of course not," rejoined his bachelor friend. "With you it is merely a habit."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Get rid of those pimples. Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup will do it. The druggists know.

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION CURED BY THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

Because the liver is neglected people suffer with constipation, biliousness, headaches and fevers. Colds attack the lungs and contagious diseases take hold of the system. It is safe to say that if the liver were always kept in proper working order, illness would be almost unknown. TheDFord's Black-Draught is so successful in curing such sickness because it is without a rival as a liver regulator. This great family medicine is not a strong and drastic drug, but a mild and healthful laxative that cures constipation and may be taken by a mere child without possible harm.

The healthful action on the liver cures biliousness. It has an invigorating effect on the kidneys. Because the liver and kidneys do not work regularly, the poisonous acids along with the waste from the bowels get back into the blood and virulent contagion results.

Timely treatment with TheDFord's Black-Draught removes the dangers which lurk in constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and will positively forestall the inroads of Bright's disease, for which disease no cure. Ask your dealer for a 25c. package of TheDFord's Black-Draught.

The Confederate Cent.

There was only one complete die made for the purpose of coining money by the Confederate States of America—that for a one cent piece, which was made by Lovett, the Philadelphia engraver, in 1861. After he had finished the dies Mr. Lovett found that he was unable to send them to the persons who had ordered the work done, and, becoming alarmed, he "struck off" twelve nickel cents and then carefully secreted both cents and dies. For twelve long years the engraver kept his secret, which was finally revealed through an accident. One day in 1873 he went to the hiding place of the rare coins and selected one for a pocket piece and within the month passed it out unknowingly to Hazeltine, the Philadelphia restaurant keeper. This man, knowing the piece to be Lovett's work, sent it to J. C. Randall, the coin collector. After some little trouble Hazeltine and Randall succeeded in buying the die, and from it they struck fifty-five copper pieces, twelve in silver and seven in gold. This accomplished, they mutilated the die, and coin dealers now hold Confederate cents at a very high figure.

England's Uneducated Children.

In every big town the children of the slums habitually go to school improperly fed. Many of them are not only improperly fed, but the food they do get is far too little in quantity. In the hard winter season, when the building trades are idle, many again go to school either with no food at all or having only stayed their hunger in the morning with a crust of dry bread. In sharp, frosty weather it is a common experience for teachers in the elementary schools of the poorer parts of our great towns—I have often seen it—to find children suddenly seized with vomiting. This is not so much caused by the fact that the stomach is upset as that it has revolted against the effect of the cold upon its empty condition. And not only is this state of things true of the poorer parts of the big towns. It is also true of many of the agricultural villages. Let a visitor to a village elementary school look closely at the children. They are in many cases flabby and pale. They need more nourishing food. A breakfast of "teakettle broth," a bit of bread and treacle and some abominably poor tea—these form the three meals daily.—Dr. T. J. McNameara, M. P., in Nineteenth Century.

Athletes and Consumption.

There must be no exercise as exercise for the consumptive patient. If you are able and feel like it, amuse yourself, but don't take exercise to build your system up. I know, I, too, have heard those stories about men given up to die who began work in a gymnasium and by violent exercise entirely recovered their health. When the lung tissue is attacked by tuberculosis it heals, if it heals at all, by fibrous scar material filling in the cavity. No new lung tissue is formed to replace what has been lost, and this scar material is useless for breathing. Suppose you had a deep cut in your hand and you kept working that hand violently, how long do you think it would take the cut to heal? When exercise is taken or you "expand the lungs" you have to work the lung tissue just as you work your hand, and if it is wounded there will be a much larger proportion of scar material useless for breathing when it does get well.—Everybody's Magazine.

An Enormous Sundial.

A curious phenomenon is reported in the columns of a geographical publication. It is a large promontory in the Aegean sea, known as Hayon Horoo, which extends 3,000 feet above the level of the water. As the sun swings around, the shadow of this mountain touches one by one a circle of islands separated by regular intervals, which act as hour marks. It is the largest sundial in the world.

Some Hope For Him.

Young Sorreltop—Then you utterly cast me off, Esmeralda? Miss Esmeralda (with great gentleness)—Why, no, Sylvester. But—but it would be so silly for a girl to say yes the first time. If—if you are of the same mind you might ask me again some day, you know.—Chicago Tribune.

Cut Off at Bargain Rates.

Percy—Young Rapidgait had hard luck. He was disinherited recently. Harold—Cut off without a dollar, eh? Percy—No. His mother did the disinheriting. He was cut off with 98 cents.—Pittsburg Post.

All the More Annoying.

"But his statement about you is a tissue of malicious lies, is it not?" "No; it's a very substantial combination of malicious lies, with a tissue of malicious truth."—Philadelphia Ledger.

GENERAL KUROKI, THE "LEE OF JAPAN."

General Kuroki's admirers months ago dubbed him the "Lee of Japan," for, while he is a great fighter, his forte appears to be strategy. The series of maneuvers by which he forced Kuropatkin's flank inch by inch back upon itself until it was no longer a wing of the army and his strategy in making a feint to the south of Liaoyang while he detached a considerable portion of his army to cross the river stamp him as a genuine military genius. The disastrous effects of these maneuvers upon Kuropatkin's elaborately thought out plan of campaign demonstrate that Kuroki's premises were sound. The illustration shows him as he appears in the field during an engagement.

THE FAD FOR BROWN.

The color brown has come to town, they are wearing it up and wearing it down.

There never was a greater fad for a color than that for brown this season. Merchants and fashion makers say that all collars are good style, and that is so, but if there is one color above another that everybody is wearing, it is brown. London brown, onion brown, tobacco brown, Havana brown, light brown, dark brown, just any color so it's brown. Men's hats and women's hats; men's gloves and women's gloves men's suits and women's suits; men's shoes and women's shoes; men's ties and women's ties; in fact, every article of outer wear for old, young, men or women, any one and every one. If there is any doubt about what color to get in a fall suit, one may be sure of being in style right up to the minute if some shade of brown is chosen.

AWFUL EXPLOSION.

Melrose, Mass., Sept. 21.—An outward bound electric car containing thirty-two persons was blown to pieces in this city to-night by striking a fifty-pound box of dynamite that had fallen off an express wagon. Six persons were killed outright and three more died of their injuries within an hour. Nineteen others on the car were taken to the two hospitals suffering from severe injuries. At least a score of persons in the immediate vicinity of the explosion were hurt by flying glass and splinters.

NATURE'S DEFENSE.

How are children so often able without injury to swallow such sharp things as pins, needles, tacks and bits of glass? The secret, as disclosed by Dr. Albert Exner of Vienna, lies in the fact that, when a pointed or sharp-edged body comes into contact with the lining of the stomach or intestine the part touched contracts and puckers so as to thicken itself in that place. At the same time it withdraws itself in such a manner as to form a little pocket, and gradually twists the object around so as to turn the edge or point away, pushing the thing along.—New York Tribune.

WINS AFTER 7 YEARS.

Springfield, Ohio, Sept. 22.—Because his offer of marriage was refused seven years ago by Miss Anna Orr, who had vowed to wed only a minister, Robert Wilson sold his grocery, went through college and was graduated from McCormick seminary in Chicago. Now he is the pastor of a Presbyterian church in Michigan and today they were married at the bride's home in Cedarville, near here.
