WHAT WILL THE HARVEST BE?

From present outlooks the farmers of the State will not be overburdened with a bountiful harvest of crops this season. And there are doubtless few of them who will splurge in broad cloth suits or purchase brown stone fronts on the strength of present prospects. To supplement the unfavorable conditions apparent from personal observation among the farmers of the county, comes a tale of woe from the State Commissioner of Agriculture, respecting the condition of crops generally throughout the State. In his report for May the Commissioner says: "Crops of all kinds are far behind, and in most cases anything but promising." And there are no end to the reasons for the gloomy prospects—all more or less attributable to the backward season. What vegetation the frosts and cold, damp weather failed to destroy is now coming in to serve as a good meal for the army worms and cut worms that are invading nearly every locality in the State in large numbers, according to the report of the Commissioner. In concluding his report, the Commissioner says:

"Much of the cornland has not yet been planted on account of too much cold and wet, and many fields of the early planted had to be planted over."

"The average compared with a five-year average is a little short, being 96 per cent. Condition is 77 per cent., which is fairly good, considering the weather and worms."

"The average of wheat is 90 per cent. of a five year average. Condition is 82, a falling off of several points since our May report. The oat crop is a little short in acreage and has fallen off in condition from 83 in May to 78 at this time. Rye is some better in acreage and conditions. Hemp is 83 per cent. of a five year average and 90 in condition."

"There is a general complaint of a scarcity of tobacco plants and lateness for being ready for transplanting. It looks now that it will be impossible to plant a full crop, and much of that will be late. Only a small per cent. of the crop was planted June 1. This is applicable to both Burley and dark."

"The scarcity and high price of stock peas has cut the acreage of that crop. Apples promise about a third of a crop and peaches nearly a failure. The berry crop promises a fair yield."

"Gardens are backward, and the cold weather gave tender vegetation quite a setback."

However, it is not too late yet for the elements to redeem the past with good deeds, giving us favorable weather from now on and thereby doing untold good to the growing crops. With seasonable weather in the future much of the injury done can be overcome.

To say the least, nothing accurate as to the final outcome can yet be told. A good harvest or a very poor yield in late crops depends upon the weather from now on.

The members of the Kentucky Press Association, their cares aside and their Sunday clothes on, are spending their annual vacation at Estill Springs. With naught to bother them, except to worry about a way to spend the "come-easy" cash from dollar subscriptions, they are a happy-go-lucky crowd this week. While the average Kentucky editor expects little here below, and was never known to founder on that, he certainly knows how to enjoy a week's vacation to the best advantage, minus the headache in the dawn of the morning after. It's a time when he turns the affairs of State and nation over to the "devil" and gives dull care a swift kick.

The Hon. Augustus E. Willson will head the Republican State ticket in the campaign this fall, if the convention in session in Louisville to-day to name the nominees of that party carries out the sentiments of the majority of the voters of the State, expressed at the various county conventions Saturday. Mr. Willson's name will, in all probability, be the only one presented to the convention to head the ticket. Little interest was manifested in the county conventions regarding nominees for minor offices, though Senator Cox, of Mason county, and Hon. Ben L. Bruner, of Grayson county, will probably receive the nominations for Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General, respectively.

Seasonable weather in big chunks is what the farmers want and must have without delay if their granaries are to be of any service to them this season.

With the Kentucky editors away on their annual vacation this is the week when the devil gets his dues—the printer's devil.

EXPLAINS ATTITUDE

Of A. S. of E. Towards Daviess County Equity Warehouse Co.

Q. (1) I want some information in regard to the standing of the members of the A. S. of E. who were patrons of the Daviess County Equity Warehouse and who were turned out of the Green River District. Does this action mean that everybody who pooled tobacco with the company are out of the Green River union, and out of the American Society of Equity? (2) Will you also explain why this action was taken? We have worked as hard for Equity as any people ever did and before we take another step we want to know where we are, going.—Henry L. Graham, Secretary Thruston Local Union No. 1, R. R. 1 Owensboro, Ky.

A. Replying to (2) first: The matter of the alleged Equity warehouse and its relations to the Society has been explained in this paper before. But briefly I explain again. The Daviess County Equity Warehouse Company, or as sometimes called, Home Warehouse Company, is a corporation to receive, store and market tobacco. They also adopted the pledging plan as practiced by the A. S. of E. By their laws the growers who stored with them must sign their pledge instead of the pledge of the Green River district, in which district the warehouse is situated. This pledge also gave the warehouse company the right to sell the tobacco when the price was satisfactory to the corporation, or a percentage of the patrons of the warehouse; also, it did not conform to the rule of the district that the old crop should be sold before the new crop was offered.

The existence of this company made two factions and brought the business of marketing down to a competitive basis, the very thing that the Society hopes to end. On complaint of the Green River District union a trial of the case was held before the Board of Directors of the A. S. of E. Department of Tobacco Growers last December. The finding was against the company, and it was ordered that contracts then made should not be interfered with, but that before any more contracts were solicited, if they desired to be considered an Equity warehouse, they must conform to the laws and rules of the Society, and particularly of the district in which situated. This finding was accepted by the company.

The time came to make pledges of the 1907 crop and the company proceeded, or moved to proceed, on the old lines, and because of this the action to turn them out of the district union and not recognize them as an Equity warehouse which is embraced in the following resolution:

"We, your committee, respectfully report that after a complete consideration of the position and proposition of the Board of Directors of the Home Warehouse Company, we were unable to reach any agreement satisfactory to your committee and said board. We therefore recommend that the people composing the Home Warehouse Company take no further part in the meeting of the Green River District Tobacco Growers' Association of the A. S. of E.

until such time as the Board of Directors of said Home Warehouse Company agree to abide by the constitution and by-laws of the Tobacco Growers' Association of the A. S. of E."

The report was adopted. (1) The standing of the members of the A. S. of E. who pooled with the warehouse company in the past is not affected, but they must understand that if they continue unlawfully pledging pooling, or marketing through the independent company they will forfeit their membership in the American Society of Equity.

The stand taken by the Society is not against home storing and financing, as the Society stands committed to this, in preference to foreign storing, where conditions are equal. But it is to establish and maintain the true fundamental principles of the A. S. of E. on which farmers must stand or go back to the cold, bad competitive system.

SCALY SORES AS BIG AS PENNIES

CURED IN 3 WEEKS BY CUTICURA COSTING $1.50

"After having the measles my whole head and neck were covered with scaly sores about as large as a penny. They were just as thick as they could be. My hair all came out. I let the trouble run along, taking the doctor's blood remedies and rubbing on salve, but it did not seem to get any better. It stayed that way for about six months; then I got a set of the Cuticura Remedies, and in about a week I noticed a big difference, and in three weeks it was well entirely and I have not had the trouble any more, and as this was seven years ago I consider myself cured. I used one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, one box of Cuticura Ointment, and two cakes of Cuticura Soap. I think it a splendid medicine, and I recommend it whenever I can.
