CLOVERPORT HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

Have Splendid Commencement. A Shower Of Beautiful Gifts And Flowers--Prof. Dickey Delivers The Best Kind Of An Address--Large Audience.

MUSIC VERY APPROPRIATE

The commencement exercises of the Cloverport High School held Thursday night in the Methodist church were largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed. The music under the direction of the Misses Eva and Elizabeth May was appropriate and rendered in chorus by the High School girls. The invocation was made by the Rev. Mr. Cottrell, and the benediction by the Rev. Mr. Frank L. Lewis. Miss Dorothy Burke, Messrs Randall Weatherholt, Mike Tucker and Addis Kramer, the graduates did themselves proud when they delivered their orations. Prof. Dickey said he had never seen another class in Kentucky like this the boys out numbered the girls. The remainder of the program is published herewith.

The ushers were: Messrs Eldred Babbage, Walter Hawkins, Willie Seaton, Ruther Pate, Jimmie Fitch and Percy Jolly.

The church was beautifully decorated in ferns and blue and gold ribbons and pennants were used.

Mr. Dickey's Address.

The address to the graduates was delivered by Joseph Dickey, of Bowling Green. It was attractive, humorous and deeply serious. Prof. Dickey said if he had a subject—it was a big word—so big that no one could pronounce or spell it. He gave it this way because he thinks graduates like big words. At first he told what a fast and rushing age the world has now—especially the young people were so quick and eager. He told of a young man and his mother driving in a buggy, carried by a mule and suddenly an automobile appeared on the scene. The mother jumped out of the buggy and the mule balked. The man driving the machine stopped and asked if he could help him get his mule by. The fellow answered: "I can get the mule by I think, the trouble is getting mother by."

Then he went on to tell that the young people—whom he thought were the best people—were going too fast, running after pleasure, and tried to impress on the minds of the graduates what a grave mistake it was to live wholly for pleasure. He told the story of the cynics, the epicureans and the stoics. Once there was a philosophy practiced by men in which they thought happiness came wholly by self interest or self indulgence, and disbelieved in the reality of any human purposes which are not suggested or directed by these motives. This was practiced by the cynics and proved a failure. Later came another man who thought happiness could come from giving himself wholly to pleasure and luxury. His name was Epicurus and his philosophy was a failure. Then a man decided that happiness could come from being a stoic—indifferent to pleasure or pain. This was a failure.

Mr. Dickey concluded by urging the graduates not to be cynics, epicureans, or stoics, but to be differentia. He made the fact plain that happiness comes from loving and serving—the more you love the more you will serve and the more you do for others the more you love and are loved. Just the way he told it was convincing that Love and Service made the secret of happiness.

Mr. Dickey turned from the audience directly to the graduates and closed his address, saying: If, loving and serving, you go to the play house, it's all right. If, loving and serving, you go to that grave—that's all right too. Happiness can even come from sorrow—if your heart is all right.

Leave June The First.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Newsom and little daughter, Margaret Jabine Newsom, and Miss Irene Jarboe will leave the first of June for Kansas City. They will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Ramp, who are now in California.

Beautiful Services.

The Children's Day Exercises at the Methodist church were lovely Sunday.

The decorations were in ferns and roses and white pinnies. The program was under the direction of Miss Ida White, Mrs. Shelby Conrad, Mrs. Robert Pierce and Mr. Ira Behen. Miss Mildred Babbage had charge of the music. The children took part so well and a sweeter set was never enrolled in the Sunday School. An interesting ceremony during the service was the baptism performed by Rev. Mr. Lewis, when he christened little Miss Francis Dillon Moorman, the baby of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Moorman.

The collection taken amounted to which was given to a special purpose.

Strawberries Here.

Cloverport is enjoying strawberries and cream now nearly every day. The berries are brought over from Tobinsport at 40 cents per gallon. They have a delicious taste this season.

Democrats Called

To Mr. C. E. Lightfoot

Your inquiry in the News of recent date will prove to be your city hen's fate; You have put off ten from their cosy nest, With 90 little chicks and they have done their best.

We have 8 country hens that have set early and late, They are proud mothers of 108; Your city hens that scratch around and look so shy, I figure it out they did not try.

Visit With Insurance Men.

O. T. Skillman, cashier of the Breckenridge Bank, was in Louisville during the recent meeting of insurance men and attended the handsome banquet at The Seelbach. Mr. Skillman represents seven insurance companies and his visit with the representatives from over the state was very enjoyable. He stayed at The Tavern Club where he has a non-resident membership.

Brabandt Here.

C. Brabandt is at his studio in Cloverport this week. Will be at Hardinsburg next week.

HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

Of Breckenridge County--Large Audience--Rev. Mr. English And Rev. Mr. Thomas Delivered Excellent Addresses--Parents Gratified.

WANT MORE INTERESTED

Hardinsburg, May 20. (Special)—Seldom in the history of Breckenridge county has a larger or more interested audience of representative citizens gathered than the one that witnessed the first Commencement exercises of the Breckenridge county High School on Friday evening here. The program was carried out in full as it was given in The Breckenridge News last week. Misses Judith Beard and Anna Lewis Whitworth and Mr. Irwin Taylor delighted the audience with their orations.

The Rev. Mr. Everett English and Rev. Mr. Frank Thomas took prominent parts in the program.

Methodist Meeting.

The series of meetings at the Methodist church will begin Sunday morning. The Rev. Mr. Haynes, the evangelist, and Mr. Springfield, the singer, will arrive Saturday. All the young people of the city are given a cordial invitation to attend the choir practice Saturday night. Rev. Lewis, pastor, wants a large attendance at prayer meeting Wednesday night.

Handsome Reception.

Hardinsburg, May 18. (Special)—One of the prettiest social events of the season was the reception given Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Beard in honor of their younger daughter, Miss Judith Beard, who graduated from the High School on Friday evening.

The house was artistically decorated, white and green predominating, as these were the class colors. In the hall where Miss Beard received her guests, mock orange blossoms were banked on the newel post, and great clusters hung from the grille work in the doors—under this festoon of blossoms little Miss Virginia Milner and Mary Larue Beard served the punch. The parlor and dining room were decorated in snow-white peonies. The table was beautiful, the color scheme being carried out in every detail. From the center of the ceiling, green and white ribbon was suspended to each corner of the table, in the center of which on a silver plateau was a cut glass candelabra with the green candles. Eight single cut glass candlesticks were then placed in a circle around this, while large cut glass bowls of white peonies at each end made the table very effective and pretty.

The guests were passed peanuts tied with green and white ribbons, enclosed in these were parts of mother goose rhymes. The ladies were given the first part of the rhyme, and in order to find their escorts to the table, had to hunt the gentlemen who had the remainder of them. They were then taken to the dining room where delightful ices in white and green were served these colors also being carried out in the cakes, mints, etc.

Fifty guests called during the evening, and all were delighted with the beauty of the occasion. Mrs. Beard was assisted in receiving by Messrs James Herbert Beard, Edwin Jolly, and Mrs. M. H. Beard.

Mr. Moore's Team Won

Two or three weeks ago Mr. Joe Moore, of this county, was appointed by his debating society of the Bowling Green Business University to represent it in the annual contest, one of the greatest school events in the college city of Bowling Green. Mr. Moore's team won a unanimous decision on the negative side of a larger proposition.

Mr. Moore made a great speech, and he is today one of the most popular men in the school he is attending.

THE HOUSE BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD

By Sam Walter Foss

There are hermit souls that live withdrawn
In the peace of their self content;
There are souls, like stars, that dwell apart,
In a fellowless firmament;
There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths
Where highways never ran;
But let me live by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by—
The men who are good and the men who are bad,
As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorners' seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban;—
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I see from my house by the side of the road,
By the side of the highway of life,
The men who press with the ardor of hope,
The men who are faint with the strife,
But I turn not away from their smiles nor their tears—
Both parts of an infinite plan;—
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I know there are brook-gladdened meadows ahead
And mountains of wearisome height;
That the road passes on through the long afternoon
And stretches away to the night.
But still I rejoice when the travelers rejoice,
And weep with the strangers that moan.
Nor live in my house by the side of the road
Like a man who dwells alone.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by—
They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong,
Wise, foolish—so am I.
Then why should I sit in the scorners' seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban?—
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

FROM A FENCE POST

To Success Is The Story Of The Firm Of Roy E. Moorman & Company In The Imperial Valley Of California.

The firm of Roy E. Moorman and Company was given a lengthy write-up in the prosperity edition of The Imperial Valley Press published at El Centro, California. His company made a hit the first dash out of the box with fence posts. The first two weeks after organization of the firm, Mr. Moorman, the general manager of the firm, sold 6,000 of the celebrated CarboSteel fence posts. From the satisfaction, service and promptness, he gave his patrons in these sales, he was able to develop an insurance and real estate department in his business. The press gives an assuring account of his progress and industry at El Centro.

Mayes--Hart.

Miss Pearl Mayes and Dr. Hart were married in Louisville Friday. Miss Mayes was a teacher in the Cloverport Graded School this last year and is a lovely young woman. They will make their home at McDaniels, where Dr. Hart is a well known physician of that community.

To Thine Own Self Be True

By thine own soul's law learn to live,
And if men thwart thee take no heed,
And if men hate thee have no care;
Sing thou thy song and do thy deed.
Hope thou thy hope and pray thy prayer,
And claim no crown they will not give,
Nor bays they grudge thee for thy hair.

Keep thou thy soul-worn steadfast oath,
And to thy heart be true thy heart;
What thy soul teaches learn to know,
And play out thine appointed part,
And thou shalt reap as thou shalt sow.
Nor helped nor hindered in thy growth,
To thy full stature thou shalt grow.

Fix on the future's goal thy face,
And let thy feet be lured to stray
Nobler, but be swift to run,
And nowhere tarry by the way,
Until at last the end is won
And thou mayst look back from thy place
And see thy long day's journey done.

Successful Crops, Pretty Children.

Tom Ryan's success on his farm lying on Tar Creek, near Tar Springs, is a striking example of the value of much head work and little foot work. Ryan has 120 acres on his main farm, a fifty acre farm down the creek and further on a seventy acre farm rented. He is planting thirty acres in tobacco, some of the land, Ryan says, brings 1800 pounds to the acre. Fourteen tons of hay at $20 to $30 per ton has netted him juicy profits. He is now selling corn to his neighbors at $1 per bushel cash.

Good crops take second place on Ryan's farm, because there are Mary, William and Pauline Ryan in the forefront. The children are good looking, getting this from their mother. Little Billie is five years old, knows his letters and can read.

Class Entertained.

Miss Ora Hendrick gave her Sunday School class a party to the Motion Picture Show Tuesday night. The guests were: Misses Eva Jolly, Selma Sippel, Elsie May, Nannie Hall, Messrs Hugh Tanner, Henry May Simons, Robert Hamman and Chas. Whitehead.

DR. MATTHEWS

Elected Moderator Of The Presbyterian Assembly In Louisville--Twenty-Five Hundred In Attendance.

Louisville, Ky., May 16.—Dr. Mark Allison Matthews, of the First church of Seattle, was elected moderator by the Presbyterian assembly today. He is a native of Calhoun, Ga., and held a pastorate at Jackson, Tenn. His Seattle congregation is the largest Presbyterian in the world.

Dr. Irwin, of Louisville, presented him with a gavel made of bits of historical Kentucky wood, including a piece from the Lincoln cabin.

The nominal membership of the assembly is 900. Fully 2,500 are present.

The assembly will continue with daily and evening sessions until ten days or more have elapsed, and it is expected that the total attendance will be in excess of 3,000 persons. All business sessions will be held at Warren Memorial Presbyterian church.
