TOLSTOY'S PREDICTION

Prophetic Words a Few Hours Before His Death--Visions of the Great War and Its Results.

"This is a revelation of events of a universal character, which must shortly come to pass. Their spiritual outlines are before my eyes. I see floating upon the surface of the sea of human fate the huge silhouette of a nude woman. She is—with her beauty, her poise, her smile, her jewels—a super-Venus. Nations rush madly after her, each of them eager to attract her especially. But she, like an eternal courtesan, flirts with all. In her hair ornaments of diamonds and rubies is engraved her name, 'Commercialism.' As alluring and as bewitching as she seems, much destruction and agony follow in her wake.

"And behold, she has three gigantic arms with three torches of universal corruption in her hand. The first torch represents the flame of war, the second torch bears the flame of bigotry and hypocrisy, and the third torch is that of the law.

"The great conflagration will start about 1912, set by torch of the first arm in the countries in the Southeastern Europe. It will develop into a destructive calamity in 1913. In that year I see all Europe in flames and bleeding. I hear the lamentations of huge battle fields. But about the year 1915 a strange figure from the North—a new Napoleon—enters the stage of the bloody drama. He is a man of little militaristic training, a writer or journalist, but in his grip, most of Europe will remain till 1925.

"The end of the great calamity will mark a new political era for the old world. There will be left no empires or kingdoms, but the world will form a federation of the United States of Nations. There will remain only four great giants—the Anglo-Saxons, the Latins, the Slavs and the Mongolians."

Jones' Name on Ballot.

Frankfort, Ky.—The reported withdrawal of Dudley C. Jones, of Elizabethtown, Progressive candidate for Congress in the Fourth district, in favor of W. Sherman Ball, Republican nominee, comes too late to keep Jones' name off the ticket. Secretary of State C. F. Creelious has certified Jones, name to go on the ballot to every County Clerk in the Fourth Congressional District.

Death of Mrs. Ruth Graham Ewing in Louisville Wednesday

Mrs. Ben Ewing died of peritonitis at the home of her parents, Dr. H. W. Graham and Mrs. Graham, in Louisville last Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock. She was a granddaughter of Mrs. Eliza Webb, and during her girlhood made frequent visits to her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Skill-man, of this place. Mr. Skillman and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Skillman, attended the funeral which was held from the home in Louisville Friday afternoon.

NAMES OF SALOONISTS TO BE KNOWN SOON

Licenses Granted to Be Published Before Election.

Columbus, Oct. 19.—The state liquor licensing board, by order of the governor, sent out notices to local boards in all the 13 wet counties to announce the names of saloonists whose licenses have been renewed, and the recipients of new licenses, within the next eight days, or more than a week before the November election.

Under the license law, the names of licensees need not be announced until Nov. 5, which would be two days after the election. However, the position is taken by the administration that it will not suffer the names of licensees to be withheld until that time for fear that some of the men engaged in the business might feel that their license depended upon their political activity.

To Carry Xmas Gifts to Europe.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The naval cutter Jason has been selected by Secretary of the Navy Daniels as the "Xmas ship" which is to carry gifts from the children of America to the children in war-stricken Europe. The Jason will be loaded at Bush Terminal, N. Y. It will sail on Nov. 19.

Railway Disaster in France.

Boulogne, Oct. 19.—Thirty persons were killed and 100 injured by a collision just outside this city between two trains carrying refugees.

Vanzant Rural Route Extended.

The Postoffice Department has notified the postmaster at Vanzant that the proposed extension of Route No. 1, to Cabot, in Hancock county, has been adopted and ordered; delivery to commence October 16. This will be a great benefit to people of the Cabot community who have been deprived of mail route for over a year.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Frakes Scott Wedding Will Take Place in Ewleyville Next Thursday Afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Drury announce the approaching marriage of their niece, Miss Carra Drury Frakes, to Mr. H. Winfield Scott, on Thursday afternoon, the twenty-ninth of October, one thousand nine hundred and fourteen at half after three o'clock, Methodist church, Bewleyville.

Go to Church Movement Will Have Wonderful Support In Rural Communities

ADVERTISING in the newspapers, securing the co-operation of the telephone companies, announcements at farmers' granges, unions and clubs are suggested as means to arouse interest in a GO TO CHURCH Sunday for rural workers. The Orange Judd Farmer says editorially:

"THE RURAL CHURCH HAS HAD ITS SHARE OF CRITICISM IN RECENT YEARS. SOME OF THE CRITICISM IS JUST, BUT MUCH OF IT IS SENSATIONAL AND UNJUST. THAT RURAL CHURCHES ARE A VITAL PART OF EVERY RURAL COMMUNITY THERE CAN BE NO QUESTION. WITHOUT THEM COUNTRY LIFE WOULD GO TO RUIN AND DESTRUCTION, AND THIS ASIDE FROM RELIGION. TO SAVE COUNTRY LIFE, THEN, WE MUST SAVE THE RURAL CHURCH, AND TO SAVE THE RURAL CHURCH WE, AS INDIVIDUALS, MUST DO OUR PART IN PERSONAL DEVOTION AND ATTENDANCE.

"The problem now before us is this: What can we as farmers do to promote this movement and accelerate the churchgoing custom of olden days? The answer is simple. Go to church ourselves, ask our neighbors to do likewise and ask minister or priest to join in welcoming everybody of the community."

To make a great success of this affair it will be necessary for each and every one to see his pastor, tell him of the plan, get his co-operation and then get generally busy. Let it be known in every church in this broad land—from Pacific to Atlantic, from the lakes to the gulf—that special services will be arranged and an effort made to have every person in the community attend church.

ASK THE LOCAL TELEPHONE OPERATOR TO NOTIFY ALL SUBSCRIBERS OF THE TELEPHONE LINES. BY WORD OF MOUTH, BY ANNOUNCEMENTS FROM THE PULPIT, BY NOTICES IN THE GRANGES, CLUBS AND SCHOOLS LET THE NOTICE GO OUT THAT THERE IS A GO TO CHURCH MOVEMENT THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRYSIDE.

HILL ITEMS

If you desire to get out of the jam of the crowd you must climb high in your vocation. The poet has said: Consider the tower a hill, See where the multitudes stop, There's always a crowd at the base, But plenty of room at the top. —Rev. J. B. Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. John McKinney, of Tobsinsport, were visitors on the hill last Saturday.

James Seaton and Mrs. Seaton went last week to see Mrs. Seaton's mother, Mrs. Adkinson, who is ill at her home near Hardinsburg.

Mrs. James Rollins, after spending a week with Mrs. C. W. Satterfield, her sister, has returned to her home in Pineville.

Vane Pate, of Louisville, came Saturday to visit his daughter, Mrs. F. Taberling.

Julius Hardin spent last Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ireland at Skillman.

Millard Frank has been confined to his home several days with rheumatism.

Mrs. Harvey Wilson arrived from Howel last Thursday with her infant son, Harold McCoy Wilson, to be the guest of relatives and friends.

Lynn Campbell and Mrs. Campbell have gone to Maceo to visit her grandmother, Mrs. Baker.

After an extended visit to her sister, Mrs. John Pauley has returned with her daughters, Ethel and Hortense, to Owensboro.

Notice to Election Officers of August Primary 1914.

The law directs that all election seals and keys to ballot boxes shall be delivered to the County Court Clerk ten days before the November election 1914. You are hereby notified that same must be delivered to me on Saturday, October 24th, 1914, in order that I can destroy the primary ballots and get the ballot boxes ready for the Sheriff to deliver to the various precincts for the coming election on Tuesday, November 3d.

C. V. Robertson,
County Court Clerk.

Masonic Grand Lodge.

The following are delegates to the Grand Lodge in Louisville this week: Andrew Crawford, of Stephensport; D. C. Heron and W. J. Piggott, of Irvington; Lefe Behen and R. L. Oelze, of Cloverport.

Cereal Duties Reduced.

Rome, Oct. 19.—The government has made an exceptional order reducing by one-half the customs duties on wheat, corn, oats and other cereals. This reduction, which is to be in force for five months, is made with the object of encouraging the importation of those commodities.

QUIET HOME WEDDING.

Miss Rebecca Jackson Willis and Mr. Carl Balis, of Athens, Ohio, Married Thursday.

A pretty wedding was that of Miss Rebecca Jackson Willis and Mr. Carl Balis, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Willis, Thursday morning in this city. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. E. O. Cottrell at 8:45 o'clock, in the presence of the bridal couple.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Dwight Randall, Miss Martha Willis, a sister of the bride, and Miss Louise Balis, a sister of the groom, held the altar ribbons and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride wore a blue coat suit trimmed in fur and a blue traveling hat and her bouquet was made of roses. Immediately after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Balis left for a trip to Chicago, after which they will be at home in Athens, Ohio.

Mr. Balis is a nephew of Mr. Jas. B. Randall and Mrs. H. D. Ross, of this city. Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Randall gave a luncheon in honor of the wedding party, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross entertained that evening for them. The only out-of-town guest besides Miss Balis, was Mrs. Anna Balis Snow, of Louisville.

SWORDS AND PLOWSHARES.

Bryan Mementos Turn Isaiah's Prophecy Into Reality.

Realism has been given by Secretary Bryan to the prophecy of Isaiah, "They shall beat their swords into plowshares." The United States army furnished the swords, and between times of signing peace and arbitration treaties Secretary Bryan had them beaten into plowshares, and when an ambassador or a minister signs one of these treaties he carries away a plowshare to remind him of its meaning. It is made from a real sword too—a sword that has seen service.

But as for the plowshare, it isn't a real big plowshare. It's just a miniature steel plowshare, nickel plated, intended to be used as a paperweight. The ministers and ambassadors are getting the blades of the swords and the handles are being finished into paperweights for the senate foreign relations committee.

69 PER CENT OF ALL EUROPE AT WAR.

Sixty-nine per cent of the total population of Europe, according to a press estimate, is now at war. Taking the Balkan war as a basis for calculation, the casualties in the present war will approximate 650,000 killed and 2,200,000 wounded.

A UNITED EUROPE AFTER THE WAR?

Possibility of the Late W. T. Stead's Dream Coming True.

WOULD MEAN LASTING PEACE

Famous English Editor and Sir Max Waechter, Founder of European Unity League, Co-operated in Movement to Establish a Federation For Nations' Common Welfare.

The name "United States of Europe" is continually being mentioned in discussions of what is going to happen after the present war is over and peace is here. Numerous well informed men, says the New York Times, have declared themselves as believing that peace will be maintained hereafter by the United States of Europe—a federation of the powers for the common welfare and lasting peace of the continent.

If the United States of Europe becomes an accomplished fact it will mean the realization of the dream of the late William T. Stead and the fulfillment of the aims of the European Unity League, which was founded by Sir Max Waechter and was hard at work just before the war in furthering its purposes.

Mr. Stead, in using the term the United States of Europe, declared that the phrase was naturally suggested by the United States of America. "The latter" he used to say, "enables the former to be at least thinkable." Napoleon III, Mr. Stead pointed out, used to dream of constituting some kind of a federation of Europe.

Called a Conference on Subject.

Sir Max Waechter, a German by birth, though a naturalized Englishman since 1865, worked with Mr. Stead toward the proposed federation of Europe, the formation of the European Unity League being the outgrowth of the work. In 1900 a congress was called, on Sir Max's initiative, in Rome, where delegates from various nations discussed the feasibility of a federation. It was not a conference of governments, but of eminent men from all parts of Europe.

A few years ago Sir Max made a tour of Europe and laid the plan before sovereigns and governments. He studied the difference between the nations and was led to the conclusion that it was not an impossibility to bring about a European federation.

Last year Sir Max estimated that the armed peace was costing Europe $5,000,000,000 yearly, declaring that all progress was retarded by this expenditure. In discussing the question of armaments he made a prophetic forecast, saying that Europe might soon find relief from militarism in a mighty war.

Once the great masses of the populations of the great powers became convinced that a federation of Europe would mean permanent peace, and once they could be educated up to appreciate the blessings of such peace, Sir Max thought that the United States of Europe might become an accomplished fact.

Advantages of a United Europe.

After his investigations all over Europe he came to the conclusion that one of the great steps to bind Europe together is to break down the tariff walls between the nations, and while admitting that this would be difficult to achieve, he believed it would not be insuperably difficult. Of the advantages of a united Europe, Sir Max said: "When the unity of Europe is firmly established great European wars would become impossible. The excessive armaments would become unnecessary and would gradually disappear. Security would become greater. Money would become more plentiful. Prosperity would increase by leaps and bounds. Salaries and wages would rise.

"For not only could hundreds of millions of pounds which are now spent on armaments be saved and be applied to industrial and other productive purposes, but the productive power of millions of able-bodied men, who now spend their time in military drill, would be added as an important factor in producing the things required by mankind."

Send Us a "Bale" of Cotton.

Ernest Carson, of Jackson, Miss., sent the Breckenridge News last week a small souvenir bale of cotton. Mr. Carson writes: "It is no uncommon thing to see one or more bales out in front of a merchant's place of business. The buy-a-bale movement has been a great thing for the farmers."

Treatment to a Clerk.

Dr. G. P. Miles.

One thing that many of us need to know and put into practice is proper treatment of salesmen in stores.

There are people who are entirely polite everywhere else, but gruff and disagreeable, dictatorial and even contemptible, when they come to a store and buying things. There are hundreds of men and women, who go to price things without any idea of purchase. They are not satisfied until every roll of goods is brought down and they have pointed out all the real and imaginary defects. They try on all kinds of gloves and stretch them out of shape; they put on all styles of cloaks and walk to the mirror to see how it looks on them, and then they sail out of the store saying, "I'll not take it today," which means, "I don't want it at all. Never intended to buy it." Leaving the clerk amid a wreck of ribbons and laces, cloth to smooth out, $500 worth of goods, not one cent of which did that man or woman buy or expect to buy.

Now I call that dishonesty on the part of the customer. If a boy runs into a store and takes a roll of cloth off the counter and sneaks away with it, you will all join in the cry: "Stop, thief." When I go into a store, not expecting to buy anything, stealing the time of the employer, I say too, "Stop, thief."

And yet you expect the clerk to meet you with a smile the very next time you come into the store, and with as much interest about your health and welfare and general condition of the family. So clerks need a great deal of the grace of patience. The indignation of high price of living comes on the clerk, for instance, a great war is on; manufacturers are closed; the people go off to battle; the price of goods run up; a customer comes into the store. "How much is that worth," he says, "A dollar." "A dollar; outrageous; you are a grafter." Who is to blame for the fact that it has gotten up to a dollar? Does this indignation go out to the employer who is out at his summer home resting? No, it comes to the clerk. He got up the war; he levied the tax; he put up the rents, of course, the clerks.

People who may read these lines, lay not aside your Urbanity, when you come into a store; treat the clerks like gentlemen and ladies.—Western Recorder.

Large Crop of Pecans.

The largest pecan and hickory nut crop in many years will be gathered in Henderson county this fall. The pecan trees bore more prolific this year than for the past twenty years. The trees are so heavy with the nuts that large limbs have broken off from their weight. Along the bottoms of Green and the Ohio rivers vast pecan orchards are located. At the mouth of Green river in what is known as the "Point," is a pecan orchard of nearly one hundred acres. At gathering time pecans bring from two to four cents per pound. The owner of this big orchard, Mrs. Thomas Lack, of Newburg, Ind., expects to realize $6,000 from the sale of nuts this season.

In Honor of Miss Kincheloe.

Hardinsburg, Oct. 19.—On last Wednesday afternoon at her home on Fourth street, Mrs. Jesse R. Eskridge was hostess to the San Souci Club. Dainty refreshments were served. This was the first meeting this autumn. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Eskridge, president; Mrs. Paul Compton, vice-president; Miss Martha Gardner, secretary, and Miss Nancy Kincheloe, treasurer. This week they will give an outing and kitchen shower in honor of Miss Della Kincheloe, who will be married on the twenty-eighth to Mr. Russell Compton.

Endorses Oolite Limestone.

J. R. M. Boyd, author of a little pamphlet, The Farmers Alfalfa Guide, Columbus, O., says: "The Oolite lime produced by the Webster Stone and Lime Co., Irvington, Ky., is probably the best raw ground lime for farm purposes produced in this country." His endorsement of Oolite puts it in the front rank of all fertilizers for alfalfa. He says it can't be grown successfully without the use of lime.

Sells Store at Mattingly.

W. N. Pate has sold his store at Mattingly to W. T. Mason and J. W. Newman. The parties were in town last Saturday and closed the matter at the office of V. G. Rabbage. Mason and Newman are now in charge of the business.
