Rodman Wiley Makes Principal Address. Some Opposition To Proposed Route

It was quite evident from the good roads meeting held in Cloverport, on Thursday of last week, that Kentuckians of the eight counties bordering the Ohio, have come to realize the necessity of good roads and the realization, they have gotten the determination to have them. It was estimated that there were between three and four hundred people including representatives from Jefferson, Hardin, Meade, Breckinridge, Hancock, Daviess counties, that attended this gathering.
