VALUABLE PEARL.

Found Growing on the Back of an Enormous Turtle.

(New York American.)

Of all the persons in Coney Island last night, no two were quite so happy as Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morrison, of Jamaica Bay, for on Sunday Mrs. Morrison caught a 575-pound loggerhead turtle at Rockaway Inlet, and yesterday she found that the big lump on the creature's back was a "pearl barnacle," 100 years old and worth $500. When Mrs. Morrison and her husband heard this they started at once for Coney Island to celebrate.

Mrs. Morrison, who is afraid to look at the turtle again for fear it may have a diamond necklace or a sunburst concealed somewhere, is preparing a list of her friends to give then a turtle supper. The turtle will attend the feast in a big mooden cage and the pearl, mounted, will adorn the center of the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison were out for weakfish at Rockaway Inlet, when there came a bite that almost pulled the hardy fisherman out of the boat. She held on and her husband began to row for the shore. An immense turtle crawled out on the beach and tried to get away with the line, but little Martha Morrison ran up and jumped on his back. The three soon had the creature fastened in a rope cradle and then towed it to Canarsie.

Crowds went to J. B. Casey's landing in Canarsie yesterday to get a glimpse of the big loggerhead. According to all the old fishermen of the place the turtle was an in-jaut about 400 years ago, or a short time after Columbus made his first visit to the United States.

CALLED ISLE OF THE LOST

Island of Saghalien Is Known by That Name Because No Criminal Ever Lives to Return.

Seventeen cents a day is said to be the cost of Maxim Gorky, the Russian novelist, to the Russian government for food. Gorky was recently arrested and immured in a solitary cell by the government for his complicity in the outbreak of the people. He is luxuriously fed in comparison with the Russian political prisoners and criminals on the Island of Saghalien. The allowance for these is seven and one-half cents for the same period.

Saghalien is an attenuated island lying off the eastern coast of Siberia, in the Sea of Okhotsk. Russia has used it as a penal colony since 1869. Among the people of Russia it is called the Isle of the Lost. It is well named by them. No person who is sent to this island ever returns. The government apparently desires to add to this impression of hopelessness by preventing as far as possible, any description of the life lived there from reaching the people. It would have an atmosphere of gloom hang over the island. It would have exile to this forsaken spot mean the crossing of a yawning gulf into a world from which no word can return. There a false passport is not worth the trouble of writing it. Passport or no passport it makes no difference. A few foreigners have been able to spend a short time on the island in recent years. It has usually been difficult to secure pictures of the life there.

Only those who are sentenced to penal service for life because

READ THIS

Milledgeville, Ky., Jan. 1, 1904.—Dr. E. W. Hall, St. Louis Mo., Dear Sir: I have been a great sufferer from kidney disease and was treated by my home physicians with no benefit. Your Texas Wonder has cured me and I am satisfied it saved my life, and I can cheerfully recommend it to ladies suffering with kidney and bladder troubles.

Respectfully, MRS. ELIZA FROST.

A TEXAS WONDER

One small bottle of Texas Wonder, Hall's Great Discovery, cures all kidney and bladder troubles, removes gravel, cures diabetes, seminal emission, weak and lame backs, rheumatism and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Regulates bladder trouble in children. If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. One small bottle is two months' treatment, and seldom fails to cure any of the above mentioned. Sold by all druggists. Dr. E. W. Hall, sole manufacturer, P. O. box 629, office, 2931 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo.

of some great crime, personal or political, are sent to Saghalien. The prisons are not great stone dungeons, such as those to which the American is accustomed. They resemble barracks, or great wooden warehouses. The stockades around the portion devoted to the incarceration of the most violent criminals if constructed around an orchard would only add to the fun of stealing the apples for an American boy. Leaving the prison, however, is like jumping from the frying pan into the fire, so the temptation to do so is not great. The main prison is divided into three parts. One is for the privileged convicts. The workshops and cells for the best behaved prisoners are here. The good conduct prisoners, who are permitted to go outside in the day to labor, occupy the middle part. The northern quadrangle is surrounded by a strong stockade and overlooked by a watch tower. There are kept the most desperate criminals, who wear "irons" weighing 14 pounds. All the prisoners are kept there through the first year of their incarceration.

As capital punishment is not a part of Russia's criminal code, many of the prisoners are murderers who have been sent there to remain for life. All the servants of the officers are criminals.

AFTER READING NEW NOVEL

Some Questions It Might Occur to the Reader to Ask Concerning Features of Story.

Why did the town nestle among the hills? asks Tom Masson, in Life. Why did she feel a mantling blush steal over her cheeks? How did it happen that a strange sense of unrest swept over him? What was it that she swept out of the room? Why did she never look more strangely beautiful than upon that evening? What made him fleck the ashes from his cigarette? How long did her heart stand still? Why did the cold wind that fanned their cheeks feel so good? Why did it seem to her as if all the light had gone out of her young life? What made the house stiller than death that night? When confronted by the lawyers, why was he visibly affected? Why was she the life of the whole gathering when her heart told her that all was lost? Why did the dog look up at that moment and wag his tail, as if he, too, understood her? What choked his utterance? What made her look back on that day all the rest of her life? Why was there a long pause? Why were her hands so nerveless when she let the telegram drop? What made her suspect that he had been drinking? Why did he clutch the photograph so wildly?

ALL RIGHT BUT THE RING.

Photographs Were O. K., But New Young Man Hadn't Given Her Solitaire as Yet.

Yarnall Abbott, of Philadelphia, who, though an amateur, is admitted to be one of the best photographers in America, collects with much zest stories about the camera.

"A North Ninth street photographer," he said the other day, "told me that a young woman brought back to him a dozen cabinets that he had made of her the week before."

"What?" he exclaimed, in dismay. "Bringing them all back? I thought they were very successful."

"The young woman reassured him with a smile.

"Yes," she said, "oh, yes. They are successful. I only want you to touch out the ring. I've got a new young man."
