Doctors Will Work in Shifts. Physicians in Germany propose to divide the day and night between them. They object to being subject to the call of their patients at any hour of the 24. The patient is not to be left in the lurch, however. His opportunity to spend his money on medical attendance is not to be curtailed. The German doctors propose, as a matter of simple justice to themselves, a day of 12 hours. This means night and day shifts, and as doctors need rest the same as other human beings, and can do their best work only when they have it, the change proposed seems to be as clearly in the lay interest as in that of the profession.—Kansas City Journal.

When It Blows. The months of greatest tornado frequency in the United States, as shown by the reports of Lieut. John Finley, of the United States signal corps, are May, April, June and July, in the order named. The hours of greatest frequency during the day are from 3:30 to five p. m., just after the hottest part of the day, when warm ascending air currents are most liable to meet cooler descending ones.

PECULIARITIES OF OCTOPUS

Vacuums Formed in Arms of Dangerous Water Animal Make Victims Escape Almost Impossible.

Both the octopus and the cuttlefish have arms that are clothed with a formidable array of suckers, which are wonderful pieces of mechanism, says the Searchlight. When the sucker comes into contact with an object, the central piston, having previously been raised so as to completely fill the cavity of the sucker, is at once withdrawn and a perfect vacuum produced, explaining the great tenacity with which the suckers cling. They number upward of 100 pairs to each arm of the octopus, and once they obtain a grip on the victim unless the arm is actually torn away from the body of the octopus, it is practically impossible for its prey to disentangle itself.

In addition to these suckers, the octopus has a powerful pair of jaws, shaped like the beak of a parrot, behind which is a formidable armor-plated tongue used as a rasping organ. The octopus will attack and kill crabs and lobsters of considerable size, ripping open the body by means of its powerful jaws and devouring the contents. In spite of being a creature of such awe-inspiring looks, the octopus has several enemies in various species of whales, sharks and conger eels; in fact, the latter are particularly fond of devouring the smaller octopuses.

Conger eels hunt for the octopus and, when found, proceed to browse on its limbs. The octopus tries to hug the slippery, slimy conger tight, but in vain, and, finding its limbs growing less, discharges its ink in the face of the foe and under cover of the turbid water beats a hasty retreat. It is to escape the too pressing attention of its foes that the octopus possesses the power of changing its color, in the hour of need, to correspond with that of its surroundings.

Chinese Statesman Tells Story Which Might Apply to Mothers-in-Law in General.

In a Washington club two senators' secretaries were talking about the wounded Chinese statesman, Wu Ting Fang, relates the Pittsburg Dispatch. "He was like Socrates," said the secretary who knew Greek. "At one and the same time he would make us laugh and teach us a lesson.

"I once heard him talk of a mother's congress. He was delighted. He told how the people's ancestors were revered in China. He said this reverence even included mothers-in-law.

"Then he said that all the mothers before him would be mothers-in-law some day, and therefore he would tell them something that they might remember and profit by.

"A parlor maid, he began, answered a ring at the doorbell one morning, and a few moments later ascended to her mistress.

"If you please, ma'am," she said, "the strangest lady is downstairs. She won't give her name, and she has taken off her coat and hat; and she opened the two closets and rummaged through them, and then looked at the windows and shook her head, and she rubbed her finger over the mantel and piano and then she held it up to see the dust on it, and now she is—"

"But the mistress interrupted calmly: "Dear me!" she said. "My husband's mother wasn't expected back from Texas till December."

With the exception of a few hundred inaccessible heathen on the east coast, Greenland, with its 10,000 population, is now under a uniform Christian influence.

FREE TRIP TO MAMMOTH CAVE.

Offered By The Republican to School Boys of Ohio County.

How many persons in Ohio county have seen the Mammoth Cave? Situated less than 100 miles from us, it is visited every year by people from every land, as one of the seven wonders of the world. Doubtless many of our readers have been embarrassed when in other States, they were asked to describe the wonderful Kentucky Cave and were compelled to admit, to the utter astonishment of the questioner, that they have never seen it. To contribute somewhat toward this necessary part of the boys education, the management of this paper has decided to inaugurate a pilgrimage to the cave for the first week in September of this year, and seven school boys, one from each Magisterial district in Ohio county, between the ages of 12 and 20 will be given the trip free of charge accompanied by one of the editors.

OUR PLAN.

Every school boy in Ohio county who was not less than 12 nor more than 20 years old January 1, 1906, will be entitled to be voted for. The candidate receiving the largest number of votes cast for any one in his district will be entitled to the trip. Every candidate must reside in the district from which he is named, and the right is reserved to withdraw the offer in any district from which only one is nominated. Every year's subscription to THE REPUBLICAN of $1.00, whether arrears or advance, will entitle the subscriber to 10 votes, and six months subscription to 5 votes. The names of candidates with number of votes received to date will be published each week. No employe or member of the family of any one connected with this paper will be eligible as a candidate. Persons sending votes by mail, will please cut out and use the following ballot:
