

O'REAR SAYS THEY LIED

expense for that election law and approved it. He stood sponsor for the amendment and the result of that Music Hall convention and approved it.

"McCrary was advised of the contest conducted by Mr. Gibson against Mr. Beckham's own judgment and inclination, so the fact that McCrary might ride into power subsequently upon the political wave of prejudice and passion thereby engendered."

Judge O'Rear was introduced by J. H. Gibson, Commonwealth's Attorney, who called him the man of the hour. Judge O'Rear's address in the main dealt with the necessity for upholding constitutional government as the only means by which equality of representation, rule of the majority and self-government by the people can be insured.

EQUALITY DENIED.

Gibson charged that the right of equality of representation has been denied certain sections in order that the Democratic machine and the lobby may retain control of the Legislature, through the Democratic Legislators, regardless of the popular majority in the State. McCrary, who denounced the machine, when he was a candidate for the nomination for United States Senator against Beckham and was defeated, has become its candidate, he said, and he told why.

"Mr. Beckham charges that Senator McCrary bolted his nomination and aided in his defeat. Why then did Gov. Beckham and his machine select Senator McCrary for their candidate for Governor of Kentucky. There must have been a reason for it and there is a reason for it, and I charge the reason to be this: That on account of Senator McCrary's intense partisanship, his willingness to back anything that his party in convention or through its leadership would declare for, regardless of its own past expressions, that they felt that he would be the safest man to have in the Governor's chair at Frankfort, while the machine continued to ruin all of the other business of Kentucky.

"At the same time, they had figured it out, Senator McCrary had in the past been a very successful politician, was a man of smooth, oily speech, a man who had never been against anything or anybody, and therefore would not be an objectionable candidate to any element. Furthermore, they realized that Senator McCrary's attitude upon the liquor question was wholly unknown to the State and that having been supported in his last race by the liquor interests, Mr. Beckham would bring in the dry interests and between the two, they would have both wings flying together and they would fly. What they wanted to do was to win; they didn't care so much for McCrary. Therefore, they nominated him."

BRADLEY'S ELECTION.

This led him to refer to the election of Bradley. He said if it was wrong for those Democratic bolters to vote for Bradley it was worse for them to vote for McCrary, since he had just been defeated for the nomination by Beckham, and if any one was foolish to vote for Bradley it is a self-evident proposition that he was bolting to vote for McCrary first.

Judge O'Rear said he had asked McCrary whether to produce letters he wrote the bolters or permit them to produce them, and McCrary evaded the question by saying he had letters from Gus Richardson and Mr. Ferris, telling him that he had written them to request that they ask the bolters not to support him.

"Now I have given Senator McCrary every opportunity to tell whether he wrote to those four men," said Judge O'Rear. "He evades that question. I now charge Senator McCrary that he did write to those four men after they had bolted Beckham, and thanked them for having done so and for voting for him."

This assertion of party partiality on the part of the Democratic candidate for Governor was greeted with a storm of shouts and applause.

THOUSANDS PRESENT.

Two thousand people rode or drove into Scottsville today to hear Judge O'Rear speak, and but for the threatening aspect of the skies this morning, more would have been expected.

Judge O'Rear arrived about 10 o'clock this morning in an auto, riding twenty-five miles from Bowling Green in company with Thurston Dixon, Chairman of the Speakers' Bureau of the Campaign Committee and an Alto county boy.

The party was met a couple of miles from the county seat by a delegation of four autos and conducted to the courthouse square, where an immense throng was gathered to cheer the candidate on his arrival. The Scottsville band was playing when the procession moved around the square to the hotel. Scarcely had they entered when a heavy downpour of rain set in and lasted all day.

This necessitated the abandonment of plans for an outdoor speech and the meeting was held in the court room, and consequently a thousand were disappointed in failing to hear him, but hundreds of them called on him at the hotel.

All-in county is the home of Jack Oliver, Republican candidate for Secretary of State and it promises to give a majority of at least 600 for the ticket.

OUR WEEKLY GRUMBLE.

Did you ever notice that "talk" doesn't hurt a man much? Perfection isn't looked for in man, and when some one tries to injure a man by ranting about a few faults he has, the absent one who is probably attending to his own affairs, is gladdened in the hearer's estimation, while the informant is lowered accordingly. If a man keeps along, doing fairly well people realize that while he has some faults, he has more virtues, and they are charitable enough to overlook these faults. But it is different with a girl or woman. No matter how good and pure a woman may be, let someone start an infamously about her and everyone is willing to pass it along, and there is always someone to believe it. That is a never-be-lived-down. It may burn low but the gossip-loving are ready with new fuel. Did you ever think how damnable mean some goodly-good people are in this respect?

DO YOU KNOW

One-Seventh, 336,000, of the Population of Kentucky Is Disfranchised and Not Represented in State Legislature?
STUDY THE MAP AND READ THE EXPLANATION BELOW

The above map shows two Senatorial districts in Kentucky, one being the smallest in point of population and Democratic, while the other shows the largest in point of population and Republican in politics. One State Senator is allowed the Democrats for 28,000 population, while one State Senator is allowed the Republicans in the mountains for 163,000 population, 1910 census. In other words it takes about five and six-sevenths Republicans to equal one Democrat, or 135,900 citizens are disfranchised in the Seventeenth Senatorial district alone. But this is only one illustration of the most outrageous gerrymandering that was ever practiced in any State in the Union. Take the Thirty-third Senatorial district, which is in the mountains and Republican and composed of ten counties, Clay, Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Leslie, Letcher, Harlan, Martin, Perry and Pike, with a population of 145,075. Its area is 2,982 square miles. Compare it with the Twenty-third Democratic district shown on the map.

Then turn your attention to the Representative districts. Here the gerrymandering was even more unprincipled. Hancock county is the Twenty-ninth Representative district with a population of only 8,512 and an area of 195 square miles. It has one Representative in the State Legislature. On the other hand, the Republican Ninety-third district in the mountains, composed of Bell, Harlan, Leslie and Perry counties, has a population of 59,244 and an area of 1,571 square miles, with one Representative.

Taking all the Senatorial and Representative districts, it was shown by a decision by the Court of Appeals that 336,000, or one-seventh, of the population of Kentucky is disfranchised. It was to right such a flagrant wrong as this that Judge O'Rear declared he would keep the Legislature in session for two years, if necessary. Remembering the blood of our forefathers from Lexington to Yorktown, would the enfranchisement of 336,000 citizens be expensive at such a cost? IS IT ANY WONDER, IN VIEW OF THESE FACTS, THAT BECKHAM, HALY & CO. HAVE ISSUED ORDERS TO JAMES MCCREARY, McDERMOTT, ET AL., TO BEAT THE TOM-TOM OF NATIONAL ISSUES AND AVOID RELIGIOUSLY ANY DISCUSSION OF STATE ISSUES?
