FARMERS INSTITUTE

Held in Hartford for Two Days.

Attendance Fairly Good and Scientific Lectures Were Delivered by Able Men.

The Ohio County Farmers' Institute met at the court house in Hartford, Nov. 14, 1911.

The house was called to order by John G. Blair at 10 o'clock. E. C. Baird was elected as president; Henry M. Pirtle, secretary.

First item of business was the election of delegates to attend the State Institute. Henry M. Pirtle was elected as delegate with C. N. Taylor, L. B. Tichenor and J. D. Taylor as alternates.

Mr. Lucian Beckner made an instructive talk on the good of the Farmers' Institute.

Mr. John G. Blair, L. B. Tichenor and others made interesting and instructive talks.

Moved that the State officials arrange to have the Farmers' Institute to meet with the County Teachers' Institute. Motion carried.

Adjournment was then made until 1 o'clock, the general program then to be taken up.

Called to order at 1:30 by president Blair.

First no program was Lucian Beckner. Subject: "The Soil." Mr. Beckner told of the composition of soil, different elements required to produce a good crop; how to place such in the soil and maintain it.

Next subject discussed was Alfalfa and How to Grow It, by John G. Blair. He told what Alfalfa was. He stated that Alfalfa analyzed side by side with wheat bran.

Next was general discussion by Lucian Beckner, which was very interesting and instructive.

Next was Farm Management by Lucian Beckner. This should have been heard by all.

Adjourned to meet 9:30 Wednesday. WEDNESDAY MORNING SESSION. Called to order at 10 by President Blair.

First subject, Agriculture Education, by Lucian Beckner. He showed the importance of Agriculture.

Cattle was discussed by Albert Cox. Good Roads was discussed by Judge Miller in a splendid manner.

Raising Fertility to Worn Out Soil was ably discussed by John G. Blair. This was a lecture of much importance and every farmer should have heard this lecture.

Adjourned until 1 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

First subject in the afternoon was Poultry and its Products, was discussed by John G. Blair. This was a good and very interesting talk.

Next subject, Woman on the Farm by Lucian Beckner. This was quite a good treat as well as instructive.

Next subject, How to Improve the Wheat Crop, by John G. Blair.

Next subject was, The Value of Farmers' Institutes by Col. C. M. Barnett. Mr. Barnett made a good talk and suggested that a committee be appointed to arrange a contest for next meeting and to arouse an interest.

Moved and seconded that the Chairman appoint a committee to arrange a program for a contest of farm products. Motion carried and the following committee was appointed: Col. C. M. Barnett, J. R. Waller, Henry M. Pirtle, C. N. Taylor, Albert Cox, Mrs. E. C. Baird and Mrs. Albert Ohlen and Mrs. L. B. Tichenor.

Next on program was the Apple Orchard by F. W. Pirtle.

Next was Cultivation and Seed Selection of Corn, by John G. Blair. This was a good and instructive talk that gave much information in regard to corn. Institute adjourned.

HENRY M. PIRTLE, Secy.

Tichenor-Goff.

A beautiful wedding was solemnized at Central Grove church on Wednesday evening, Nov. 16, at 6:30 o'clock when Mr. James B. Goff and Miss Jennie Lee Tichenor met at the hymeneal altar.

Miss Louisa Miller, attired in blue silk, took her seat at the organ, sound of the notes of the wedding march and the bridal party entered. First came Miss Ruth Tichenor, sister of the bride, and Mr. E. H. Goodfellow, Miss Myrtle Park and Mr. John Rieder, following, came the bride and groom.

The bridesmaids and bride passing up the right aisle, the groomsmen and groom passing up the left—meeting at the altar, the two brides were united—Rev. H. P. Brown performing the ceremony.

The bride wore a coat suit of dark blue serge, white hat and veil. The bridesmaids wore tan serge with velvet trimming.

They left immediately for the home of the groom's parents, where a beautiful supper awaited them.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvey Tichenor, of Central Grove neighborhood—an accomplished, intelligent and deserving young lady. While Mr. Goff is a prosperous young farmer, and their many friends extended sincere congratulations.

The happy couple will leave to-day on the 12:30 train for Owensboro, and will be at their home near Centertown after Nov. 26.

May no clouds rise to darken their pathway—may it be bright as was their wedding day. A. M. F.

Special Departments.

In every issue of The Republican there are several special departments, which we trust will be of interest and profit to our readers. The House hold Hints are given for the benefit of the housewife, and many new recipes are given each week. The Farm Notes should be of special interest to our farmer readers, and anyone who has any idea they care to tell their friends about is asked to use the columns of this newspaper.

Cupid Hits Again.

It will come as a bit of surprise to everyone when it is learned that Miss Ira Mills and Mr. W. H. Gillespie are married. The young couple left early Thursday morning on the Illinois Central for Louisville, where that day they were married at the beautiful residences of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith the latter being a cousin of Mr. Gillespie. After spending a few days in Louisville they will return to Hartford, probably Saturday, and will be at home to their friends.

Miss Mills is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ashford Mills, of near town and one of our most estimable young ladies. For several years she has held a responsible position in the Hartford postoffice, and is well liked by everyone. Mr. Gillespie is a budding young business man, being a member of the firm of Gillespie Brothers. He was reared in this city and is popular with all, and like his bride, has a large circle of friends. The Republican joins their many friends in extending best wishes.

Free Entertainment.

"The Romance of the Republic" illustrated with Moving Pictures and colored stereoscopic views, will be given free to the farmers and others interested at Dr. Bean's Opera House Friday evening, Nov. 24 at 7:30 p. m.

This is the great agricultural entertainment which was given at the State Fair in September. It is presented by the courtesy of the International Harvester Company of America and it is offered at Hartford through the combined efforts of Ohio County Supply Co., and J. A. Daniel. The entertainment is free but the admission will be by ticket. All who are interested in the progress of agricultural and farm machinery are invited to attend and may secure tickets by calling on either Ohio County Supply Co. or J. A. Daniel, I. H. C. dealers of Hartford. 1812

Notice to Taxpayers.

You are hereby notified that the penalty of 6 per cent. will go on all unpaid taxes the first day of December. I am very anxious that all taxes be paid before that time, but if not paid, the penalty will be put on and properly advertised for taxes, as I have to collect in order to make my statement with the Auditor. Please give this prompt attention and avoid this extra cost. 1814 T. H. BLACK, S. O. C.

A Keepsake.

Only a little shoe,
Roughened at the heel and toe,
Padded and worn the string,
And soiled the tiny bow;
But dearer far to me
Than any jewel rare
This wrinkled little shoe
My darling used to wear.

PERSONAL MENTION.

(Contributed.)

Perhaps none of his many supporters gave Judge O'Rear earlier or more devoted support than the Hon. C. M. Barnett, and perhaps the Judge himself. It was less surprised than his voters, an Vice Chairman of Hartford when the returns came in, but the fault was not in the management of O'Rear's campaign (somebody blundered when McCullough was named on the Campaign Committee, thus giving Hoarsh Woodson a chance to decisive the temperance vote) but the real reason was that every big honest and corrupt politician in the State was openly opposing or secretly fighting the Judge. The writer hopes to see a progressive league of Republicans organized in Kentucky at once, each member paying $1.00 a year as dues to push the ideas advanced by O'Rear until they are enacted into the law of the Commonwealth. Such a plan is now on foot and it would make the Republican party at large free from the corrupt campaign contributors on the one hand and from financial chicanery on the other. 25,000 O'Rear supporters in Kentucky would pay one dollar a year each to advance the cause of popular government, and only popular education is lacking to win the cause.

Take it from us the next Republican nominee for Governor was decided up on during the past campaign and he made one speech at Hartford. No, it is not Jack Oliver.

E. G. Barnas was in Louisville several days last week. Ed says he got sick while there, and he did come back looking bad, but he happens to know he was looking bad before he started up there.

They are already starting to figure on the candidates for the various County officers next time. T. H. Black, Sheriff and Bernard Felix are disqualified by law from running for re-election. W. S. Tinsley, County Clerk will have served two terms and is willing to retire, while E. G. Barnas time will not expire for four years yet. I is our opinion that County Attorney Smith will devote himself to his law practice, though he has made a faithful public servant and may ask a re-nomination.

Judge Wedding and Henry Leach would each doubtless appreciate a reelection though neither has indicated they were in any sense candidates.

Will Middelf, the present jailer has been exceedingly polite and has kept the public buildings and grounds in most excellent condition, but he will have opposition in all probability in the person of Uncle Buck Duvall. Watch that race, and don't bet your money till all prospects are laid out.

We are not so confident of our ability to pick the winners as we were before Nov. 7th, but if Mr. Smith declines the offer of a second term Mr. Otto C. Martin would be our sure shot for the Republican nomination for County Attorney, and Mr. Fogle will just about be the Democratic standard bearer. Both are good boys, but we confess we would hate to run against a Democratic one.

And speaking of nominations the "Big Show" will soon be on, and the ones who think Mr. Taft will be re-nominated without opposition are going to be worse fooled than fat John W. Langley when he said McCleary would be beaten 25,000. Right here in Ohio county the La Follette men are going to dispute the President's right to a re-nomination. We could tell you who will lead the opposition in this State and in this county, but for the present we'll content ourselves with saying the opposition will at least have leaders—How many followers, this depends sayah not.

And on the Democratic side the pot boils merrily. G. B. Likous will be the next Postmaster at Hartford if the Rogers pulls down the grass in the Nation as he did in Kentucky. Mr. Johnson and other Democratic politicians being for him.

But Y. L. Mossy thinks Karl Marx will send a dispatch to the White House.

Any how, we don't have to have to go through a political campaign in China!

THE MAN AROUND TOWN.

It does us good to see that there are some people in Hartford who treat their horses in a humane manner in every sense. The other night when going home the wind was blowing and the night was somewhat chilly. On the way we noticed a horse hitched at a friends, where the master and mistress were spending the evening in social entertainment. But in their desire to amuse themselves they never forgot the faithful old horse, and they saw to it before leaving him for his long stand that he was well covered with heavy blankets to protect him from the November winds. The world would be better if there were more people, who are so thoughtful about the dumb brutes.

The new concrete sidewalk in front of several of the residences on clay street gave that street a city appearance, and greatly facilitates the travel of the pedestrians and which is probably more than any other street in the residence section of Hartford.

The other day there was a gentleman in Hartford with the view of locating here permanently. We were talking to him about it, and the first question he asked was if we had a good school here. Upon investigation he found Hartford College as we represent it to him, and we think that there is a probability of six more pupils being enrolled in that splendid institution.

Judging from a letter we received recently from a metropolitan newspaper, the daily press has its eyes focused on Ohio county at present, for this paper that wrote us stated they were expecting some good results from the tests for oil being made in this county by the West Kentucky Oil Co. They urged us to give them complete reports from time to time.

The election is now all over, even the shouting and men who came home to vote have returned to their employments, and those of us already at home have settled down to work.

Sheriff T. H. Black and his efficient office deputy, Miss Harriett Flenor, have been as busy as bees for several days sending out tax notices to those who have not settled their account with that office.

A visitor to Judge Wedding's office these days will find His Honor all smiles and in the best of humor. Aside from his duties as County Judge, Judge Wedding deals in live stock in a small way, and he tells us he has a fine calf at his home.

It is much easier to speak one's own language correctly than several others badly, as so many persons do.

The home talent play, "A Noble Outcast," at McHenry Saturday night was splendidly reproduced and every character in the drama was well played. Special mention is due Thad Wilkerson, the tramp, Will Duncan, as the Colonel, and "Busher" Risinger, the best amateur clog dancer in these parts. The proceeds went to the Central Park Graded School, and a neat little sum was realized.

CROMWELL.

Nov. 13.—Winter, with all its variations, has struck this place. The storm reached here last night at 12:30, and was pretty hard, but did no serious damage.

Mr. W. S. Gilstrap, our fueling salesman, was at home on the sick list last week. He is better at present.

Mr. Joe Kahn, Morgantown, was in town yesterday. He is still hustling for business.

Mr. E. W. Jackson had some repair work done on his house last week. Messrs. Elvet A. Van, McHenry, and Harry Leach, Rockport, came home to-day to vote.

Messrs. Dorah and Sons are preparing to go to Evansville soon with a nice lot of logs.

Mr. Charles Bennett, who has been traveling for 33 years, was here one day, last week for Mackey Nisbet & Co., and sold a nice bill to Cooper Bros.

Mr. Sherman Taylor, who is teaching at Jubilee, was here Tuesday.

Quite a number of our young people have been attending the meeting at Bald Knob, which is being conducted by Rev. Harper and Burd.

School is progressing nicely. Sunday School and prayer meeting is doing well. A nice crowd was out Thursday night, and some splendid talks were made.

Mr. James Tamm, McHenry, passed through town yesterday. He said everything was very dull on account of the railroad strike, the mine not being able to get cars.

Messrs. "Doc" Faught, Geo. Trout and Geo. Dennis went to Bowling Green last week with several fine mules.

Now that the weather is bad, let each parent provide some means by which their child or children may be able to go to school, for it is highly necessary that each pupil attend the full session, if possible, of the public school, and every one who can should take the course in High school. In this way Kentucky can be brought to take her place, to which she is justly entitled, among the first of the land.

Mr. L. L. Tapp, the coffee man, was here one day last week and was surprised to say, surprised called on a stand and expressed himself as thinking it might not go higher.

Farm for Sale.

170 acres of Rough River bottom land. All cleared and well improved. Good residence, barns, outbuildings, wells, etc. Terms reasonable.

Baptists are Convened.

Puduch, Ky., Nov. 13.—The Kentucky Baptist Pastors' Conference convened in Paducah tonight. It is the first auxiliary meeting of the seventy-fourth session of the General Association of Kentucky Baptists, which will convene Wednesday. The Rev. J. M. Fowler, of Lagrange, preached the annual sermon to the conference tonight. The Kentucky Baptist Historical Society will convene tomorrow. Several hundred delegates are expected.

I. P. Barnard Re-Elected.

The Louisville Herald Tuesday said:

We want to congratulate Capt. I. P. Barnard on his election as President of the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company. The annual election of officers was held yesterday and Capt. Barnard was elected for the twelfth term. It is evident that he enjoys the confidence of his business associates.

Home Talent Saturday Night.

The McHenry Amateur Theatrical Co., will present "A Noble Outcast" at Dr. Bean's opera house Saturday night. Every one in Hartford knows how well the McHenry people always put on a play, and this is one of their best productions. The drama is interesting throughout, and the audience immediately falls in with Jerry, the tramp, which is played by Thad Wilkerson. The role of Col. Lee is played by Mr. W. W. Duncan, assistant postmaster at McHenry, and he has a splendid conception of his part. Miss Mary Marie plays the part of Mrs. Lee, and she also delineates that character to a perfection.

This drama was presented at McHenry Saturday night to an immense audience. Every seat in the opera house was sold, and chairs had to be placed in the aisles.

The specialties alone are worth more than the price of admission. There are several splendid songs, and the dancing by "Little Busher" Risinger and Thad Wilkerson is hard to be equalled. The members of the troupe are all our neighbors, and they should be given a large audience. Don't forget the time, Saturday night, Nov. 18 at Dr. Bean's opera house.

Reserved seats now on sale at Dr. Bean's Drug Store.

Birthday Dinner.

A birthday dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Baird, Oct. 20th in honor of the latter's mother, Mrs. Mollie Tichenor's 70th birthday. Those present were: Mrs. Jennie Hawkins and daughter Miss Vera, of Hartford; Mrs. P. H. Hood, Mr. Lucian Ambrose and wife; Mrs. W. R. Carson and little son Kell; Mr. Marvin Baird and wife; Mr. Plummer Barnett and wife and little daughter Willie; and Don Tichenor of Pleasant Ridge. All report a pleasant time.

WINTER CAME SUDDENLY

Radical Change in the Weather.

Saturday Was an Ideal Day and Sunday there Was Snow and Ice.

It has been many a day since so radical change of weather conditions has been seen in this section as that which occurred between midnight Saturday night and 5 o'clock Sunday morning. All day Saturday and up to 11 o'clock that night the most pleasant weather conditions prevailed, and aside from this brisk blowing of the wind the conditions were almost ideal.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Saturday night there was one of the most violent wind-storms experienced around here for a long time. This was followed by a tremendous down pour of rain, which lasted for about fifty minutes. The temperature immediately began to drop and in less than six hours the thermometer had dropped from 68 to 20. Sunday morning the late Sunday sleepers awoke to find themselves in the embrace of real winter, with lots of snow and ice everywhere there was any ice making material upon which the frigid elements might operate. This is the second snow that has fallen here this winter.

Ordinarily, at this time of season fine weather prevails, and what this sudden flurry of winter may mean not even the weather experts do not know, as it may be the forerunner of a long, cold winter, or it may only prove to be only a temporary flurry to be supplanted by some finer weather, until the time comes when settled winter usually sets in.

The present however, is not the first time that winter weather has been known to open prior to the middle of November. It was the fall of 1889 that on the 13th of November, a snow six inches deep fell, and for three months to a day the earth was never entirely bare of ice and snow, the last of it having been seen on the evening of February 13th. Never since that time, until Sunday has such a winter flurry been seen in this latitude.

Yellow Jacket Stingers

Even Republican soup would be preferable to Democratic dishwater.

The fellow who is drunk on fanaticism is more dangerous to society than the jasper who is drunk on rotgut. Did you ever think of that?

In the course of human events it will become necessary for Old Man Bryan to get a new set of tires. He has about run everything out.

Mr. Taft may not be the strongest man the Republicans could name, but anyway he is one man that the Democrats dread to see put up, just the same.

Samson had the edge on some of our people today. Samson used the jaw-bone of the Democratic donkey to kill the Philistines, while in these modern times the Democratic party uses the jaw-bone of its pall-bearers to annihilate all wealth and all progression.

The only reasons under the heavens why the country is not today enjoying as wide an area of prosperity as it did when McKinleyism was at its highest is simply because Democracy, by deception, has scourged itself upon the platform and frightened confidence away.

Don't forget that Thanksgiving comes along now pretty soon. And when you look around and wonder what you have to be thankful for, remember that President Taft vetoed all the food legislation of the special session of the Democratic Congress. That ought to call forth great thanksgiving.—From the Yellow Jacket, Moravian Falls, N. C.
