Gaunt Refugees From Russia Only Semblance Of Former Days Reach Serbia.

Belgrade, Serbia, June 3—Nearly half the former Russian Imperial Court have reached Serbia's capital with the crowds of refugees now flowing into the country from Salonica, where they have been shipped by American Red Cross relief transports.

Most of these fallen stars from Russia's imperial constellation of pomp and grandeur have clung to the priceless furs they once wore when they shown in the brilliant circles of the Czar's court.

It is a common sight in Belgrade to see a band of Russian nobles, men and women, penniless and hungry, but carrying on their backs furs that would fetch in New York a small fortune, filling into some local relief station for a bowl of soup and a chunk of coarse bread to stay their empty stomachs.

A Russian countess, formerly one of the most toasted belles of Petrograd, recently appeared at the American Red Cross relief station here, barefooted, with a rag wrapped about her head in lieu of a hat, but attired in a rich ermine cloak originally worth thousands of dollars, now dinged and tattered from hard wear and exposure to the weather.

FABULOUS PRICES PAID FOR FANCY CATTLE

At the Holstein-Friesian sale at St. Paul, $30,000 was paid by Gustav Pabst for a Holstein cow. A two-months old bull was sold to the Roycroft farms, in Canada, for $50,000.

A bride and groom were buying their furniture. "Is this a good, strong bed?" asked the groom. "Yes, sir," responded the clerk, "we stand behind every bed we sell." "Oh, my," whispered the bride to the groom, "we don't want to buy a bed here."

"JUST LOOKING"

She was the kind that makes you take down everything on the shelves and then says she is "just looking." She asked to look at union suits and the obliging clerk showed her everything in sight. Still she was not satisfied. He brought out on the reserve stock. As he deposited the last box on the counter he said: "There, madame, is our stock?" "Oh, my! Is that all you have?" said the "looker." "Yes, ma'am, it is—'cept for the one I've got on."

PASS THIS ONE ON

Another thing we have noticed in our twenty-six years running a paper in Belle Plaine, and that is the merchant who is really interested in increasing his business and advertises what he has to sell with a zeal that will bring results, never has to be run down and sandbagged to get the copy for the ad.

If he is at all interested, he sees that his ad is readable and that he has it down to the printer's in plenty of time to get it set as attractively as possible.—Belle Plaine (Kans.) News.

CUT THIS OUT AND TAKE IT WITH YOU

A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase, and as a last resort takes something else instead. That is always disappointing and unsatisfactory. The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quite so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion, in

Ask Your Neighbor! ALTON PARK, TENN.—Dr. Pierce's medicines have been used a great deal in my family with the very best of results.
