The gentleman recently disposed of his interest in the South Kentuckian, a newspaper published in Hopkinsville, of which he was editor and part proprietor. Under his conduct, the Kentuckian was edited with marked ability, and was a journal of more than ordinary merit. He was a graduate of the State University, Va.—Mecklenburg (Va.) Democrat.

FINANCE.

Mr. Julius Scott, the manager of the Stewart English Opera Co., was in the city last week and made arrangements for his company to exhibit here next Wednesday and Thursday nights. H. M. S. Pinfare and "Trial by Jury" will be presented and the mere announcement of the pieces is sufficiently to ensure a full house. The company is first class, and Mr. Scott the manager is well known, as an actor, having been associated with the Strakosch Opera Co. for two seasons. "Pinfare" has a national reputation, and of course everybody will want to hear it and we predict a crowded house.

POLICE NEWS.

GOOD FOR HIM. Aleck Ogg the notorious thief who has been giving the community so much trouble for several years, but who has somehow managed to keep clear of the law, was shot and killed Friday night while stealing corn. Lewis Younglove an orderly peaceable colored man had been missing his corn, and stationed himself in the field to watch. Ogg came into the field and began to take the corn when he let him have the contents of his gun, killing him on the spot.

Younglove gave himself up to the authorities, but was released without a trial. An inquest was held and a verdict rendered in accordance with the above facts. The people are rather disposed to comment than to censure Younglove for ridding the town of such a troublesome character.

REWARD OF MERIT. Wm. Merritt the exceedingly slick gentleman who has been so successful in eluding the officers of justice for so long has at last got his reward. Some time ago he was accused of some misdemeanor, and a deputy sheriff arrested him, but unwarily let him "step into the next room to fix up the bond" required, so that was the last of him for some time. Learning of his whereabouts a posse surrounded and captured him again, this time securing him with handcuffs. He was left in charge of one of the deputies who listened to his entreaties and promises, and took off the cuffs, and the first thing he knew his prisoner had darted out at the door, pulling the door to after him, and was gone again. He escaped to Paducah and wrote a defiant note back to the deputy, and pledging his support when he wanted to run for sheriff etc. A warrant was sent to that city, and the gentleman promptly taken in custody and brought to this place and he is now boarding with Mr. Long.

DIED: August 31st 1879, Miss Mildred L. Campbell, only daughter of the late Col. Wm. Campbell.

Why are the lamps not lighted? One has to take a lantern to keep from running against the posts these dark nights.

Dr. Rodman has recently secured a fine new safe for the asylum, of the Mosley patent, which is ahead of anything in that line in these regions.

Mr. J. W. Yancey has opened a saloon, restaurant, and billiard hall under this office and will keep everything usually found in such establishment.

Lost:—A pair of saddlebags with a pair of ladies slippers in one side and a bath brick in the other. A reasonable reward will be given to the finder if returned to this office.

A little child of Mr. Aleck Anderson fell into a tub of water Thursday and was drowned. It was just beginning to walk, and being missed some one went to look for it and found it dead.

The river was higher Tuesday than it ever known to be at this season of the year. All of the cisterns ran over and the cellars are full of water. The clerk of the weather sent us a young flood that time sure.

The music at the K. of P. Concert Monday night will be made by one of the best bands to be found anywhere. The whole entertainment promises to be superior to anything of the kind ever in the city.

The K. of P. Lodge will give the grandest concert of the season at Mozart Hall next Monday night. Only 50 cents admission. Of course the hall will be crowded and those wishing seats had better apply early and avoid the rush.

There have been some slight changes made in the Railroad schedule. The North bound train now passes at 12:22 and the South bound at 3:15 P. M. The accommodation leaves for Nashville at 5:35 A. M. returns at 8:30 P. M.

The two best red men in the city were those who slept upon the street the other night and found themselves palmed next morning. It was a mean piece of business, who ever did it and the perpetrators ought to be kicked out of town.

"Somebody's Coming When the Dewdrops Fall."

"Ellahey," as sung in Frits.

"Keep one Little Thought for Me"

"Dreamy Eyes that Haunt Me Still," can be bought from S. H. Turner at 40 cents each.

Wheeler, Mills & Co., received the first new hoghead of tobacco brought to this market, last week. It was raised by Henry Steele of Bellevue who is entitled to the stove pipe hat offered as a premium for the first hoghead. It was not priming either but well matured tobacco.

Mr. Owen the ticket agent at this place requests us to say that he is now selling tickets to the Louisville exposition at greatly reduced rates. The single tickets, round trip, good for 6 days cost $11.30. In clubs of five $9.65, and in clubs of ten, only $7.85. These low rates ought to induce a large number to attend from here, as no doubt they will.

We have again been remembered by the clever proprietors of the Cerulean hotel, and are in receipt of another bill complimentary. This is going to be "all in all," and a "ball that is a ball" so to speak, and every body that wants to have one more good time before the season closes ought to attend. The last ball was pronounced by all the best of the summer, and this is going to beat that, so don't fail to go and enjoy it.

There is no telling the amount of damage that has been done to the crops during the last two weeks, all over the county. Acres of tobacco were ruined utterly by the overflows last week, and last Sunday a fearful hail storm swept over the whole northern part of the county with effects equally as disastrous. It is estimated that two or three thousand acres of tobacco in the county will be unfit to cut. Great damage has been done to hay, corn, and whatever else was in the low lands, subject to overflows. Even the tobacco that is left will be greatly injured by the excessive rainy weather of the last two weeks.

N. C.

Poor old Nancy Grady Liberated at last.

At the March term of the Circuit Court, no case excited so much interest as that of Nancy Grady, the chicken thief.

The peculiar circumstances surrounding the case, gave it to additional interest. It was discussed in the papers, upon the streets, in the home circles, and the question, "Is Nancy Grady guilty?" was even proposed for discussion in the debating society. She was caught in the hen-house of Mr. J. P. Braden, with a chicken in a bag. The hen-house was nailed up, and a bell attached to the door by a wire from the house. When the door was opened the bell rang, and Mr. Braden ran out and shot his gun and then summoned a friend, and examined and found Nancy in the hen-house. She said she was at the point of starvation, and the Lord directed her to get a chicken and make some soup; that she started, but hesitated, and prayed for advice from on high, and the Lord commanded her to proceed. She did this several times, and arrived at the hen-house with the above result.

She was indicted for burglary, and tried in March. Counsel was appointed to defend her. The court room was crowded throughout the trial, and intense interest was manifested. The verdict of the jury was two years in the penitentiary the least of the law for burglary. Her attorney, however, got a new hearing upon the ground that breaking open a hen-house was not burglary, and she was remanded to jail to await this term of the court.

Her trial came up last Friday, and at the conclusion of the speeches, pro and con, the court instructed the jury to find a verdict of "not guilty of burglary."

They did so, and she was released. She is an old, sick and debilitated creature, and as she hobbled from the court house, she was heard to mutter, "If God will forgive me this time, I'll never steal another chicken."

Asylum Notes.

Considerable improvements have been made in and around the Western Ky. Lunatic asylum grounds recently. An additional building, capable of accommodating about one hundred patients, has been erected in the north-eastern part of the enclosure. We were shown through it, and it is very conveniently and commodiously arranged. A new fence has also been built in front of the main building next to the street, which is the admiration of all passers-by.

Dr. Rodman displays fine taste in improving and beautifying the premises, as well as great skill in administering to the wants and needs of the patients.

Years of experience, have made him thoroughly conversant with his work, and it is doubtful if there is another man in the state, who could manage the institution as he does. He is certainly the man for the position. We were shown through the buildings, and treated with great courtesy by Dr. Rodman and his family.

The Trans Atlantic Show.

The great Trans-Atlantic Allied Shows, Menagerie, Aviary, Caravan, and Double Circus will exhibit in Hopkinsville next Thursday 11th inst. giving two performances, afternoon and evening. The outfit is entirely new and a rich treat in store for our people. In looking over their advertisements we see that they have some of the most celebrated actors who have ever delighted the circus going public either in this county or others. Among them is the renowned Miles Orton, one of the most noted bare-back riders of modern times. The menagerie is large and complete, comprising some thirty cages of animals; while the circus department with Orton at the head, assisted by four first class clowns is one of the best on the road. Remember the day and date—Thursday, 11th inst.—and turn out in the forenoon, thus being able to see the gorgeous street parade, which is spoken of by our exchanges as being something grand. One ticket, 50 cts. admits to all, turn out and see the fun.

The morning train from Hopkinsville arrives at Guthrie at 7:30 A. M., making direct connection for Louisville.

When Henry Steele gets on that new hat, and makes his weekly trip down about Cadiz, Jno. Cooper won't be a circumstance. Better look to your laurels John.

LAFAYETTE.

September came to us in tears; we sorrowing for the departure of "the sunny summer days;" that we should know no more; nor were these tears more April showers; but on the contrary, fell in torrents—something akin to "the great opening" in those antediluvian days, when our forefathers were so much discommoded by the prolonged fall of rain, that lasted forty days and forty nights. Ours, however, was not attended with such serious consequences. After continuing Monday and Tuesday, the sun appeared for the brighter Wednesday morning, for the recent gloom convincing us, that a little shading enhances the beauty of the brightest picture. We suppose it would not do to have the days all sunshiny—any more than our lives all happy—for, as the poet beautifully and truthfully tells us:

"Too much of joy is sorrowful; So eases must needs abound; The vine that bears too many flowers, Will trail upon the ground."

That much-abused topic, the rain, not only discommodates the farmers, making them blue, but when it falls on mail days, and our carrier (foot being water proof) fails to put in an appearance, it just gets up the ire of the whole community—as on the 23d of last month—after waiting and watching all the evening, we gave up in despair, feeling assured that we should have no communication from the outside world before Monday.

But alas! for the revived hopes of that longed-for Monday, when at last the mail was received. Our letters were wet; our papers unreadable; the Courier-Journal beyond recognition. On Tuesday, Sept. 2nd, we were more favored; the mail came in dry season, and better form.

Since so much depends upon the success of the farmer, we have listened to talk of "the crops," and become interested in them, too. Serious fears are entertained, that much of the tobacco is ruined; which, if true, will no doubt cripple our resources in many respects. For, despite all that may be said disparagingly of "the weed," failure in its production is attended with disastrous results.

The Lafayette high school, now in charge of Prof. Long, has been opened on the 1st of Sept., was retarded until Wednesday morning; the attendance as good as could have been expected under the circumstances; and despite the high water courses, three young ladies matriculated from the Roaring Springs neighborhood, Misses Lays, Dalton and Garry. On Saturday evening, Aug. 23d, the death Angel came, and bore from our midst, little Clara Clyde, the winsome brown-eyed darling of Mr. Thomas and Mrs. Ella Collins, aged three years.

"When e'er He sees a smile too bright, Or hears too pure for talent or wit, He turns it to that world of light, To dwell in paradise."

Among the visitors sojourning in Lafayette, are Miss Ella Wilkinson, of Cadiz, and Miss Ida McKelicks, of Linton. Two pleasant and attractive young ladies; guests of Mr. Robert Cooper.

Miss Hammond, of Hopkinsville, is visiting the Misses Carother.

Mr. H. J. Crother and Mr. W. Carver, both improved in health, are just home from Sebrre.

Dr. H. D. Tuck, who has been testing the waters of Buena Vista, was on the streets to-day, as genial as ever, and rejuvenated by his trip.

The 10th of September will be a gala day in Lafayette. The lovers of stungles and saw dust, will be out in full force. OLIVE BRANCH.

CHURCH HILL.

Church Hill affords one Prof.—Wills West—the church sanctuary. The nights are delightfully cool. Fine time to muzzo dogs. Chills and flux prevail.

Dove shooting is the order of the day. Wish they'd turn the tune, and fill the trees with music.

Oceans of young partridges are in readiness for the fall hunt.

Little river was much higher on Tuesday last, than for twelve years—so good authority informs.

Though the circus is coming, it cuts no figure here.

Dr. Williams has purchased a new buggy. Suspicious, Dr.

The tent photographers have not arrived yet.

Lawn parties are very inviting these cool, moonlight evenings.

Our people are making hay while the sun shines, and are cutting corn, tobacco, and so on.

The rain of Monday and Tuesday last injured the tobacco, and much of the corn.

Mr. Abe Ford is just recovering from an attack of fever.

'Twill soon be time to make hot houses.

It has been predicted that we will have heavy rains from now until the end of the present month.

We didn't find the album, but a memorandum book containing the picture of his girl, duly sworn in, and taking things coolly. On application, the package will be delivered promptly.

What's become of that Bellevuean that knew it all, but couldn't write, because a certain correspondent from that point was "in ahead?" Show thyself, and make hay while the sun shines, for to-morrow ye may die.

Grant, in his remarks to the Victory of Trenton, paid the very highest compliment possible to the Confederate soldiers, (which was justly due) when he said: "The soldiers of the Southern armies have shown themselves by all odds—the best part of the Southern population." Our armies were not mercenary on either side, and no people are more peaceable in civil life than those who have seen war. They know what war is.

The moonlight picnic given at Mrs. Mary Mcintosh's on Friday evening last, was a success, and decidedly the most enjoyable of the season. The entertainment was appreciated by all present. Many charming young ladies were in attendance; among whom were Misses Collins, Stanfield and Edwards, of Mayfield; Miss Boone, of Elkton, and Miss Wharton, of Cadiz. Miss Lizzie McReynolds, deserves credit for her untiring efforts to please her guests, and to make all go away satisfied with the evening's enjoyment.

Dr. Edgar Anderson, under whose patronage the picnic was gotten up, gave us music on the violin at intervals, interspersed with piano airs, Miss Lizzie White; and in fact, proved a "Prince" of good fellows. SHORTTELLOW.

TRENTON.

Dr. Stapp's condition is more favorable this week.

Mrs. Bradley was seriously hurt last week. She was riding her horse, when it became frightened, reared up and fell backward, breaking her collar bone, and bruising her very seriously. A little girl riding behind was unhurt.

Squire Boon was out squirrel hunting last week, and shot by mistake, a negro woman and child, who were behind some hazle-nut bushes gathering hazle-nuts. The child had both eyes shot out—the shot lodging in the brain. It is not expected to recover. The woman had one eye shot out, and was otherwise very seriously injured. Mr. Boon says he saw the woman's hand reaching up after hazle-nuts, and thinking it was a squirrel, took aim and fired, with the above effect.

Our young friend, Willie Ware, left last week to attend school at the Columbian college, Washington City. Says he will represent Trenton in the White House.

Bad Byars has gone to Evansville to attend the commercial school.

Miss Lou Arnold resumed her school duties at Cedar Hill last week.

Mrs. Johnston expects to leave Monday to spend several weeks with friends and relatives in Bowling Green.

Miss Minnie Lander, one of Hopkinsville's most intelligent and charming young ladies, and a graduate of Bethel female college, favored us with an unexpected visit Saturday and Sunday. She was accompanied by Mr. Otho G. Lander. It such a pity that Miss Emma was not at home; and Joe, poor fellow, he's sick.

Mrs. Cross, wife of Geo. T. Cross, is very sick, and not expected to live.

Rev. H. W. Williams, former pastor of the Alesville church, has been called to take charge of the Baptist church in this place.

We have a barber now, that hasn't been blown up.

Didn't know there were black squirrels in this neighborhood. CHUCK.

Daughters' College.

At Harrodsburg, Ky., whose advertisement appears in this paper, is one of the oldest and most celebrated institutions for the education of women in the State. Many of the most accomplished and useful women of the country claim it with pride as their alma mater, and are now sending their daughters to take their places in its halls. It is situated on the site of the old Greenville Springs—whose waters are so famous—and is surrounded by one of the most lovely and healthful regions in the West. No institution has done more to elevate the standard of female education, and the constant patronage it has received from all the surrounding States; as well as from Kentucky, indicates the high esteem in which its methods and appointments are deservedly held.
