ALONE.

I feel alone in crowded street,
Mid all the ruck and roar,
The stranger I may idly meet,
I care to see no more!
There's nothing in a world outside,
The longings felt to-day,
I have no heart in all its pride,
It takes no grief away.
Sometimes a vision rises there,
(Shuts out the surging throng.)
A green hillside, a log-house clear,
A brook that sings a song!
I seem to see a sunny slope,
Stretching toward the west,
I call it then my hill of hope,
It beckons me to rest.
Yes, all alone in crowded street,
With teeming life around,
The tragedy of love or hate
Too often here are found.
So long I for another scene,
The future cannot bring,
A home upon a hillside green,
And hear the old brook sing.

THE CRAZY QUILT CRAZE.

What a Lot of Men Have to say on the Subject.

Milwaukee Sun.
A number of gentlemen sat in the Plankton House reading-room the other evening when a gentleman came in apparently very much agitated. "What's the matter?" asked an acquaintance. "Matter? Well, I should say there was matter enough. I don't expect to leave Milwaukee with a whole suit of clothes. In fact everything I've got on begins to look like the remnants of an antiquated porous plaster. Never had experience with a lot of ladies who have got an attack of crazy bed-quilt? Of course not. I might have known better than to have asked, as it never strikes any but good looking old bachelors like myself. When a man has been there once he is satisfied, unless he is a hog. The reason they call these new fangled quilts crazy, is because everybody for twelve miles around a house where one of 'em's started is set crazy by the lady demanding a piece of silk.

"To-night I thought I'd go out to see some ladies. Old friends I hadn't more than got into the door, before one of them, with a pair of scissors in her hand, snatched my hat and made a dive for the lining. She got left. She handed the hat back with a disappointed look, as she realized that somebody had got in their work ahead of her. Why do I keep my coat buttoned up to my chin? Well, when she found the lining of the hat gone she made a dive for my neck scarf. There's nothing left but the collar-button and a piece of the scarf about the size of a ten cents piece."

The man-who-had been there then took out his silk handkerchief to blow his nose, but his hand missed the mark as it went through a hole big enough for a cat to jump through. "Well, I'll be blamed, if those women haven't carved my blower. They even raided the sleeve lining to my overcoat. In fact I haven't a whole garment on me. I am crazy so they'll have a crazy quilt sure. Why, they get the lining out of every hat they can lay hands on. It isn't safe to leave your hat in the hall, if you expect to get it again in as sound condition as when you hung it on the rack. A man who has had any experience feels like taking to the woods every time he sees a lady coming, especially if she looks smiling.

"It's not so rough on a man to take his hat lining, but if ever high-buttoned vests go out of style, nine-tenths of the young men will have their reputation for sobriety and peacefulness ruined all on account of the dilapidated condition of their neckties, so many samples being cut out of them by the ladies for these crazy quilts. Why, they will cut the lining out of a claw-hammer coat.

It's a mighty good thing that bridesmaids go into church first or the groom's coat-tails would look a ragged signal of distress. There wouldn't be enough of the lining left by the time he reached the altar to make the tails of his coat hang in any sort of shape." And the much-sampled man asked for the key of his room and went to bed a dream how "perfectly lovely" his contributions of silk looked in a crazy quilt.

A Beverage Not Found in Idaho.

A few days since a stranger was eating in an Idaho hotel, and beckoning a waiter to him said:
"Bring me a glass of water."
"Sir?" And the nonplussed waiter looked at him curiously.
"Bring me a glass of water."
The waiter went out into the kitchen and soon returned and said:
"Beg pardon, stranger, but that last order of yours has slipped my memory. What is it you want?"
"I want—a glass-of—water! Do you understand that?"
A bright idea struck the waiter and he rushed out to the bar. The bar-keeper looked over the labels on every bottle in the house, shook his head and said there wasn't a drop in stock. The waiter returned to the gentleman and reported, whereupon the latter roared out:
"You infernal idiot, don't you understand plain English? I want a glass of water—water to drink—and I want it—quick."
In desperation the waiter hunted up the proprietor and told him the story. The landlord looked puzzled, and himself entered the dining room and approached the stranger and said:

"Excuse me, sir, but my waiter is a little hard of hearing. I will take your order."
"I ordered a glass of water—nothing but straight water."
"I'm sorry," replied the landlord, "but I can't accommodate you. There is so little call for those foreign drinks here that it doesn't pay to keep 'em. We've got some prime Kentucky whisky in the bar, if you can get along on that."
The stranger finished his meal in silence.—Bismarck Tribune.

Interesting to Ladies.

Our lady readers can hardly fail to have their attention called this week to the latest combination of improvements in that most useful of all domestic implements, the "sewing machine."

As we understand it, a machine for family use should meet first of all, these requirements: It should be simple in its mechanism; it should run easily; it should do a wide range of work; it should be as nearly noiseless as possible; it should be light, handsome, durable, and a cheap as is consistent with excellence throughout.

These conditions the "Light-Running New Home" certainly meets. It has also several very important and useful attachments and "motions" of its own, which go far to make good its claims to popular favor.

TRENTON.

Saturday April 5th an election was held to elect city officers to serve one year. The following aldermen were elected:
Dr. J. S. Dickinson 1st ward; Dr. R. R. Grady, 2nd ward; J. P. Russell 3rd ward; James Wakefield, 4th ward; C. D. Runyon, 5th ward; J. C. Hancock, Judge of Police Court. Everybody voted and seemed to take great interest in the Candidates. Of course "Our Brother in Black" was on hand full of "Tarantula Juice!"
Wm. Reeves and Thomas Chesnut shot a duel with pistols Saturday night at Col. Sebree's, one mile south east of this place. Thomas succeeded in putting his little bullet in the fleshy portion of William's right leg. The places that once knew Thomas, now know him no more for he's "skipped." I think the law ought to be changed as regards carrying pistols, very few brave men carry pistols. Some of the religious papers make a mistake about this too, you will find them advertising pistols for $1.50 up. They are supposed to be down on everything that's bad and if you don't put the pistol and its uses along in the same list, please inform me where it belongs. The gentleman that made the remark about consistency's being a jewel" wasn't far wrong and our religious editors would do well to think this over.
We are pained to chronicle the death of John H. Rickman, of Elkton, Ky. He attended school at this place a few years ago and none knew him but to like him. He was a rising lawyer and a young man of great promise. He died Friday morning

April 4th about one o'clock. His funeral was preached at Elkton Sunday at 11 o'clock in the Presbyterian church, by Rev. Spurrier, of the Methodist church. He was a member of the Methodist church and when the summons came he was fully prepared. He was a noble young man and his loss will be a great one to his family and numerous friends. "If a man believe in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live again."

PERSONAL.

Mrs. John Lomis and children of Earlton, visited the family of P. H. Lockett, last week.
Miss Lillie Harris returned to Henderson, after spending two weeks with her uncle, P. H. Lockett.
Mrs. Irene Morrison and daughter, Miss Ora, of Pembroke, spent several days visiting relatives near this place. James Woodruff and Will Minnis, spent Sunday in the city. Jim thinks of practicing physic at an early date.
H. W. Chiles (Uncle Dick) canvassed southern Christian Sunday. He says Mr. Will Radford's place is very beautiful and that he is in favor of a pike from here to his residence in Christian.

Messrs. John Dickinson and Lee Guyon went to Pembroke Sunday.
S. J. Banks, (Buffalo Bill), of Louisville, is in the city.
Mrs. Sallie Pointer and daughter, of Russellville, Ky., are here on a visit to Mrs. Cabanis and family.
S. E. Hutchison, of Newark, Ohio, representing clover hullers, hay rakes, etc., "lulled around" and raked up his friends here Sunday.
Hon. H. G. Petree passed through the city to-day going to Elkton.
Sandy Dick, of Paducah, is in the city purchasing horses for the livery business in his city.
Dr. Robt. Morrison, of Pembroke, visited us Saturday and Sunday.

WOMAN.

Gen. Horace Porter, at the New England dinner in New York, spoke to the toast of "Woman." The response was as fine a vein, as the paragraphs will testify:
"The first woman finding no other man in the garden except her husband, took to flirting with the Devil. [Laughter.] The race might have been saved much tribulation, if Edon had been located in some calm and tranquil land like Ireland. There would have at least been no snakes there to get into the garden. [Laughter.] Now, woman in her first efforts-forth knowledge, showed her true female inquisitiveness in her cross-examination of the serpent, and in commemoration of that incident, the serpent seems to have been doubled up into a kind of a knot, and used in all languages as a kind of interrogation. [Laughter.] Then came the exodus from the garden. Our parents had to change their whole manner of living. We are painfully reminded of it to this day every time a tailor's or a dressmaker's bill is handed in. Adam and Eve were no doubt the originators of the Fenian organization, the first one that ever resorted to the wearing of the green. [Laughter and applause.] But then their domestic troubles began. The woman's favorite son was killed with a club, and married women even to this day seem to have an instinctive horror of clubs. [Laughter.] The first woman learned that it was Cain that raised the club. Woman has learned that it is a club that raised Cain. [Laughter.]
