Jarrett left yesterday for Nashville, on a visit to her brother, Mr. Walter McCombs. Esquire Alex Campbell, of Eldorado, Kans., formerly of this city, is in the city and it is not improbable that he will return to the city to live, in a short while. A. C. Shyer left for Cincinnati Tuesday, and will be absent a week or more, leaving in a supply of clothing and gent's furnishing goods for the Spring trade.

MARRIED.

At the Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon, at 4:30 o'clock, Mr. M. A. Snodgrass, of Martinsburg, West Va., to Miss Mary A. Campbell, of this city, Rev. J. N. Prestridge officiating. The attendants were Miss Lee Campbell, and Mr. P. H. Harrison, of Chicago, and Miss Susie Edmunds, of Mr. Gus. Moore, of Owensboro, and the ushers were Henry Sites, Henry Abernathy, Hiram Phelps and Frank Cook. Mr. Snodgrass is engaged in the drug business and ranks high among the business men of Martinsburg. His bride has always been a favorite in social circles and is the possessor of many lovable traits of character that have endeared her to all who knew her. The bridal presents were numerous and costly. The happy pair left on the 5:30 train in the afternoon for a trip to the eastern cities.

In Memory of Jimmie Lyle.

He has gone from out our midst, He has passed to the quiet tomb; In all the finish of his manhood days, Unmolested by sorrow's gloom. He has gone in the prime of health, And the glow of youth's fresh bloom. And the earth has received its blossom it trust, Ashes to ashes and dust to dust. Sleep in peace 'neath the fever's bloom, In the lowly bed of the silent tomb; The angels watch thy sleep from the vault above, The stars are bright and thy God is love. Calm thy grief, fond parents, And remember the strokes That took your Jimmie from you, Was sent by our Father, God, With neck bowed low, and trusting heart Receive his chastening rod. And ever look up through falling tears, To the promise which he made for us, The time he has loaned from earthly things Are but blinding you closer to heaven. —W. A. McConaick.

Mr. Wiley is a gentleman of large influence and a strong man with his party and is going in to win and will doubtless prove a formidable foe in the coming battle.

HERE AND THERE.

Candler's Stock Sale to-morrow. Master Nelson Fuqua has secured a position with A. L. Wilson. Ross Rogers represents the Mutual Life Ins. Company of Kentucky. There is very little improvement in the condition of the county roads. Born, to the wife of R. Cook Roach, of Clarksville, on Tuesday morning, a fine, large girl. When you want the toughest and best grocery bag on the market call on us and be supplied. Henry Drexler will have on the market, to-morrow morning, beef from a 1,825 pound Holstein, four years old, raised by W. T. Radford. A fight occurred on "Trading alley" Monday, but the participants left the city immediately after the fight and their names, or the cause of the trouble, could not be learned. The Grand Jury is at work on the cases against some of the prisoners now in jail, and will dispose of all of them that come up before beginning outside investigations. Buck Anderson who has been in the employ of A. L. Wilson for several years, has resigned his position and secured one with the American Musical Association of Chicago as traveling agent and will leave for Chicago in a few days. The West Fork rock crusher will be moved here at once and set up ready for operation. It will be located on the East side of the L. & N. road, near the water tank, on a portion of land recently purchased by the L. & N. Company for the purpose. A difficulty occurred Monday afternoon on Eighth street, between Dr. H. P. Morrison and James Boyd. Several blows passed between friends could separate them. Neither gentleman was much hurt. The court assessed a $500 fine against each, which was paid and thus the matter rests. Mrs. Margaret E. Campbell, wife of Joseph W. Campbell, died of inflammatory rheumatism at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night, after having been a great sufferer for more than two months. Her remains will be interred in the City Cemetery this morning. For the benefit of those who do not seem to understand the rules governing the insertion of obituary notices, we will again state, that all such notices of over ten lines will be charged for, at the rate of five cents per line for each line over ten, the first line inclusive, only being free. This rule is imperative and will not be deviated from under any circumstances, the cash being required before the notice appears. About 1 o'clock Wednesday morning Byron West discovered a burglar trying to open the back door of Mr. J. P. Pyle's grocery store and fired in the direction of the door, from the head of the stairway, the ball passing through the lower panel but did no apparent damage to the door, as he took to his heels rattling empty oyster cans, etc., over which he scrambled in making such a sudden departure and was soon out of hearing. W. F. Hamilton a prominent merchant of Cadiz, fell dead in his store Tuesday afternoon, of apoplexy. Deceased was about 54 years old and had been in public business for many years. He was a consistent member of the Methodist church and a highly esteemed and valuable citizen of Trigg county. He was once married, but none of his family survive him. A large estate is left. The whole town was shocked when his death became known and it could hardly be realized that such a noble man had been so suddenly cut down in his midst. By a reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that J. S. Moore, Clarksville, Tenn., inserts an advertisement with us. Mr. Moore makes a specialty of repairing any and all kinds of sewing machines and all work done by him is warranted to give entire satisfaction. He has been a resident of Clarksville ten years, having been in this particular kind of business for five or six years and is a thorough workman and moderate charger. He also handles dress-makers, cutters, fishing tackle and sportsmen's supplies and also repairs anything in the above lines. Those in need of his services can get them by calling on him at his place of business, Franklin street, front of Caldwell's Livery Stable. The season is at hand when building will commence and the question very naturally arises among the building public where they can get the best material for the least money, and to those we would suggest a perusal of the advertisement of Smith, Clark & Co., of Clarksville, Tenn., which appears elsewhere in this issue. This is an old reliable firm and has by fair dealing with the public, built up a trade that they should feel proud of. They handle doors, sash, blinds, flooring, siding, cedar post, shingles, rough lumber and building material of every description, and at prices to suit the times. They make a specialty of estimates and will furnish the material alone or contract to furnish and build. As we before said their prices are made just to suit those who argue hard times and they never fall to please, as all lumber and work is warranted as represented. Call on or address them when needing any building material and you will not fall to be pleased.

REVENGE IS SWEET.

THE POLICE DOWN ON THE NEWSPAPERS. Below we give a copy of a postal card mailed to this office by the Chief of Police, F. W. Biggerstaff: HOPKINSVILLE, KY., Mch. 6, '88. SEMI-WEEKLY SOUTH KENTUCKIAN: You will please discontinue your paper to me, and send in your account, and I will pay it off with pleasure. Yours Truly, F. W. BIGGERSTAFF.

This little act of supposed revenge on the part of the Chief, was probably the result of a perusal of the article in the last issue of the KENTUCKIAN, which met with the approval from the business men of this city and the like of which will be seen in these columns from time to time until a change is made. The Chief will not be gratified to see the KENTUCKIAN go into insolvency as he might wish, but on the other hand there will be at least one enterprising citizen in Hopkinsville who will take his place. We know that the Chief will read the KENTUCKIAN, and had he continued his subscription it would have saved him the trouble of getting the news from other readers of the paper. It would have been a better plan for the Chief to have taken our suggestion and ascertained what was needed and sought a remedy, for the business men of Hopkinsville realize that a better police system is needed and will not be satisfied until something is done. We understand that the police say that the newspapers complain but do not state what is needed. We will ask the Chief, who is supposed to be an experienced policeman, if he ever knew, in a city that claimed a well-regulated police system, of two policemen walking the same beat together, or if such policemen are allowed to stop and lean against a lamp post, or sit down on their beat for an indefinite time together and talk politics, or about the current events of the day. It would also like to know why it requires two policemen to meet passenger trains when one could do more than is now done by two, if he would only use his authority and make hackmen stand out of the way. We heard an enterprising business man say that it looked very much like the policemen made the passengers get out of the way of the hackmen. You go to Nashville or any other city and such is not the case, but hackmen are made to stand at the edge of the platform and if passengers want their services they will always go to them. Mr. Loggson, late railroad agent, did all he could to remedy this bad state of affairs at the depot. He even put down strips as a boundary line to which no attention is paid. The KENTUCKIAN has time after time called the attention of the police to such a state of affairs, but instead of an improvement, things are growing worse every day. Go to any city and you will never find but one policeman at a depot, and when he gives a command some attention is paid to it. The trouble is our policemen have been so lenient that loafers believe they will not assert their authority, and hence they do as they please. Where there is a will there is a way, and there is no use saying that these things can not be done, for the evils are remedied in other places and can be improved in Hopkinsville when the necessary efforts are put forth. We have nothing against any of the police, but Hopkinsville must be better protected, and it is hoped the enterprising citizens will combine to carry out the result needed.

DON'T WAIT

FOR THE NEWSPAPERS TO DO ALL THE WORK, BUT REMEMBER YOU HAVE AN INFLUENCE, So Put it to a Good Use.

The people of Hopkinsville are too much in the habit of standing off to one side and suggesting to the newspapers how to write articles advocating needed improvements, without bringing what influence they desire to assist in producing the desired result. The papers can do nothing unless the people are willing to back them, and put forth the necessary efforts to accomplish what is needed. The great trouble with our people is if they have an opinion they are afraid to let it be known, and there is too much of an inclination to let things move along in the same old ruts. If you appreciate the efforts of the KENTUCKIAN to bring about reform, and advance our commercial interests, come out and say you are willing to do what you can to assist. Whenever the people of Hopkinsville realize that the only way to make a success of anything is to roll up their sleeves and work for it, then many things now needed will receive the necessary backing to carry them into effect. Our citizens should take a proper view of this all important fact, and remember that a paper is run for the good of the community, which it is ever ready to advocate, and if they will put in as much good work for Hopkinsville's interest as manifested by the papers, they will not long linger where they now are. More enterprise, additional pride, and plenty of energy will accomplish what we want, so make up your mind to do what you can.

Mr. R. P. Stevens has on exhibition in his store, a fan made of a stick of pine wood, all in one piece and is really a curiosity. For fine workmanship it cannot be excelled and was cut out of a small piece of wood by a tramp, a few days ago, while he was resting his bones preparatory to migrating Southward.

A SERIOUS AFFRAY.

IN WHICH W. L. BRADLEY'S SKULL IS FRACTURED AND HIS RECOVERY UNCERTAIN. Dan Wharton, Col., the Party Who Did it, Safely in the Clutches Of The Law. Last Tuesday night about 7 o'clock W. L. Bradley met Dan Wharton, col., at the house of Charles Green, colored, near the water tank, and just east of the old ice factory, and the two became involved in a difficulty in which hot words passed when Wharton struck Bradley across the face and again across the head with a large rod of iron used as a poker, breaking in the skull bone a length of three inches, breaking his nose apart from the skull bone and mashing his cheek bone to a pulp. Bradley fell unconscious and was removed to his home, a few hundred yards away and there lies in a precarious condition. Wharton immediately gave himself up to the proper authorities and is in jail. Bradley is the man who shot and killed Robert Nelson, an L. & N. brakeman, on the night of the 22nd ult., and was out on bail, for his appearance at this term of the Circuit Court to answer the charge. Wharton's statement of the affair is about as follows: Bradley met him the afternoon before and informed him that he had particular business with him, and at night they met at Green's house, where Wharton was assisting Green in getting supper. Bradley remarked that some one had told a d—n lie on him at his (Bradley's) examining trial. There being no response, Bradley then said "you are the d—n — that told a lie on me," and arose from his chair, with his hands in his pockets, saying "Netsy (alluding to his pistol) never fails, she killed one d—n — and she will kill another," and advanced upon Wharton, when Wharton, warning him to "look out!" took the poker and struck the head of Bradley, who fell to the ground. Bradley's statement differs entirely and is about as follows: Bradley went to the house of Green to inform a friend as to the whereabouts of his friend's horse, and there met Wharton. Wharton asserted that Bradley had been lying on him in stating and circulating a report that he (Wharton) had misrepresented Bradley's facts at the examining trial, when he was not examined as a witness. Bradley replied that it was a lie, he had done no such thing but that he owed him money for building him a house and had lied about paying him for it and Wharton immediately gathered a heavy iron poker and struck him with it. He further states that he had no idea of having a row with Wharton when he met him. From the statements given there is such a conflict that it is yet uncertain exactly how the affair started or exactly what was the cause of it and not until the trial comes up and all the testimony is taken will all the facts be known, probably. The attending physician thinks Bradley's chances for recovery are about equally divided.
