And come on bent knees to seek
God's blessing from on high.

CREAM OF THE NEWS.

Insured Only One Week.
Wm. N. Childress, the young farmer who dropped dead near Beverly on the 31st ult., was another example of the great value of life insurance. He was in perfect health and had never seen a day of sickness, but as he had a wife and two small children dependent upon his work for support he decided to insure his life for their benefit. The policy for $2,000 was taken out in the Equitable and Mr. John M. Heiser, the local agent, delivered it to him on the 24th, just one week before his death. The risk was considered a first-class one in every respect, but the payment of the first premium was the only one that will ever be made, and as the company is a reliable one in every respect the widow, who is in needy circumstances, will soon come into possession of the money her husband's provident foresight accorded to her.
The New Sheriff.
Sheriff Wm. West, elected last August, was sworn in yesterday for a term of two years. He is the first Democratic sheriff the county has had for many years. His deputies are Matt S. Major and Lucien C. Cravens. The latter has had considerable experience under Sheriff Boyd, and is a good and capable officer. Mr. Major is also a good selection and will no doubt give general satisfaction as an official. The new sheriff is a young man of the very best character and will undoubtedly make a most acceptable public officer.
Will Remain With Us.
It has been announced that Prof. M. L. Lipscomb would leave in a few days for Missouri, where he would take the chair of Physics in the State University—a lucrative position. We are pleased to make the announcement now that he has been prevailed upon to reconsider the step and decided to remain in our midst. This bit of information will no doubt be gratifying to his numerous friends who would regret very much to know that he proposed making his home elsewhere.
Amusements.
The Frank Burr Company appeared at the Opera House last night in "Just in Time," on very short notice, owing to a failure of the bills to arrive in time. The play is a pretty comedy drama, very entertaining in every act. The special scenery was especially good. This evening the same company will present the play "Saved," another piece equally as good. Don't fail to attend.
Fire At Crofton.
The dwelling house together with its contents, belonging to Mr. Tom Long, of Crofton, was burned last Wednesday morning. Everything Mr. Long had was burned, and the citizens at once circulated subscription papers and enough money was subscribed in a short time to erect and furnish a small house which has been built, and was moved into yesterday.
Dr. Miller's Lecture.
Dr. Jehu DeWitt Miller delivered the fourth Chautauque lecture of the series at the Ninth street Presbyterian church Saturday evening on the subject "The Uses of ugliness." A large crowd listened attentively to his lecture, which was more than an hour long, but so full of good things that it was intensely interesting and entertaining throughout.

The post-mortem examination held on the body of Frank Giant, the colored man who died at the Jones place last week, served to exonerate the colored people who were suspected of having poisoned him. Coroner Bell found no evidence of foul play and the jury decided that Gant died of pneumonia.
A social and musical party was held at Mr. A. W. Pyle's Saturday evening, which was attended by a number of the young people. Misses Jessie Wade and Katie McDaniel and Messrs. A. J. Meadors, G. G. McDaniel, Chas. Anderson and Terry Hill furnished the music.
Saturday was the regular day for the County Teachers' Association to meet in monthly session at the Public School building. Only fourteen teachers were present and nothing was done. After discussing some matters in a conversational way, the meeting adjourned.

Gallbreath, J. W.; J. I. Landes, Texas; C. H. Dietrich, Sec.; W. H. Ovey, S. D.; Ed. Eghrman, J. D.; H. W. Tibbs and S. W. Harrison, Stewards; W. B. Lander, Tyler.

County Court.
The regular monthly meeting of County Court was held yesterday. The most important matter of business attended to was the creation of two new voting places in the Hopkinsville District. This had become imperatively necessary from the great increase in the voting population, which was shown to be nearly 2,000 at the last election, when nearly a full vote was brought out. The district is divided by Seventh street and its extensions, the Princeton and Fairview roads east and west, and by the Railroad and Clarkville pike south.
THE NEW DISTRICTS.
No. 1—All that portion of the district west of the L. & N. and north of Seventh street and the Princeton road. Voting place at Court House.
No. 2—All that portion west of the L. & N. Railroad to its intersection with the Clarkville pike and west of the pike from that point and south of Seventh street and the Princeton road. Voting place at Ragdale's warehouse.
No. 3—All that portion east of the L. & N. Railroad and north of Seventh street and the Fairview pike. Voting place at Wheeler, Mills & Co's Store, Cor. Sixth and Railroad Streets.
No. 4—All that portion south of Seventh street and the Fairview pike and east of the L. & N. Railroad to its intersection with the Clarkville pike and east of the pike from that point. Voting place at Gant & Gaither's warehouse, opposite the passenger depot.
The precincts were made upon the petition of about 100 citizens and the division takes effect immediately, and the new polls will be opened at the special election in March.

G. U. West has moved his stock of groceries to his former stand on Ninth street.

A thrilling accident reported exclusively in the KENTUCKIAN, which, by-the-way, publishes nothing but reliable news, was made the foundation for the following sensational item clipped from the Owensboro Inquirer: "While out hunting yesterday near Hopkinsville, Geo. Willis had raised his gun to fire at a bird, when the weapon suddenly exploded in his hands, knocking him senseless, cutting his forehead open, and inflicting other injuries that will prove fatal."
That paper probably got it from a daily paper to which it had been sent by some unreliable correspondent, who magnified and distorted the KENTUCKIAN'S account, and raised the date from Dec. 26 to Jan. 3.

Policemen Tryman and West arrested George Ballard Saturday night for disorderly conduct at Pooty Tocco's establishment on Seventh street. This was the first arrest made by any of the new police.
Geo. W. Pott's stock of saddlery was sold under the hammer yesterday by his assignee.

Shot At By Footpads.

Geo. H. Smith, son of Geo. W. Smith of this city, was shot at about two miles from town on the Buttermill road, one night last week. He was riding along when two footpads with handkerchiefs over their faces called to him to halt. Smith put whip to his horse and as the animal started to run leaned forward in the saddle, when one of the men fired at him, the ball passing through the back of his overcoat and over his back. The fact that Smith was in a stooping posture alone saved his life. He did not recognize the would-be assassins.

Mr. Wm. N. Childress, who departed this life on the 31st ult., was a citizen of high standing, one that will be greatly missed by all who knew him. Deceased was an affectionate husband, a generous father and a genial friend. Your correspondent had only a few years acquaintance with Wm. Childress, but I can truly say I never met a more noble and agreeable gentleman than he was. My heartfelt sympathies are extended to his family in their sore bereavement.
