LIQUOR LICKS.

THE WETS SWEEP THE COUNTY FROM END TO END.

HOPKINSVILLE ALONE ROLLS UP A MAJORITY OF 644.

THE MAJORITY 1000 IN THE COUNTY.

Saturday opened with a cold drizzling rain, but by noon the rain ceased and harring the mud there were no serious drawbacks to the election.

The voting was started with a rush by the wets early in the morning, showing that they were closely organized. The majority steadily increased at both city polls all day and No. 1 fairly piled up. At noon the majority in town was 448, in a total poll of 1,075. The Drys hoped that the worst was over and that they could begin to reduce after dinner, but it grew and grew and was increased about 200 before the election was over. By two o'clock the Drys gave up the fight and it became only a question of majority.

The upper poll was manned by Walter Kelly and G. U. West, judges; A. D. Hicks, clerk; Geo. D. Dalton, sheriff; A. H. Anderson challenger for the Wets and Geo. Bradley and Irvin Lander, col., challengers for the Drys.

The lower one by J. M. Hipkins and W. S. Davison, judges; L. H. Petree, clerk; W. H. Moore, sheriff; A. C. Brent, col., challenger for the Wets and Ben Boyd, col., challenger for the Drys.

Committees of ladies from the W. C. T. U. were seated in the rooms where the polls were located and lunch stands were situated in rooms adjoining, where a free lunch was served to voters of the Dry ticket. The presence of ladies at the polls was objected to by the Wets, but the officers decided that the same privilege would be extended to both sides and they were allowed to remain. The Wets declined to avail themselves of the privilege. The Drys did not appear to have an organization and but little work was done by them at the polls. On the other hand an army of workers were stirring themselves to corral the voters for the Wet side and "headquarters" were located a few yards from each of the polls. Among the workers were the prospective saloonists, the representatives of whiskey interests, the blind tiger men, the high license men, the drinking men, the men who think prohibition has hurt business, those who were opposed to blind tigers, the colored men who considered their "liberty" at stake and those who had money bet on the Wets. All were working in unison to find the doubtful votes, while the purchasable element was by no means neglected. The Wet men shows that they were organized for business and their voters were marched up in squads of not only five but twenty-five or more. One squad of 35 was composed entirely of young white voters, some of whom were casting their maiden votes.

There were no disturbances of any kind in the city, not even an angry discussion, and the election was the fairest and best managed the city has ever seen. The chief of police detailed Geo. Walker, Geo. Lander, Geo. Merritt and Sol Fritz as extra policemen, and the polls were kept clear of crowds all day.

The following are the figures as near as could be obtained yesterday:

The Last Speeches.

The closing speeches of the campaign were made at the court house Friday. Judge Quarles spoke for the Wet side in the afternoon to a full house. He said he would establish three propositions: That the use of intoxicating liquors was right and recommended by the Bible. That prohibition was a failure. That all great men used liquor. He quoted Deut. 4th chapter and 26th verse; Proverbs 31st chapter, 6th and 7th verses; Luke 7th chapter and 33rd verse, and Timothy 5th chapter to sustain his first proposition. He argued that Christ himself drank wine and even made 96 gallons upon one occasion at a wedding feast. That God made spirituous liquors for man's use, and that the prohibition idea was a northern notion not in keeping with southern ideas. He said all of the great men of the past and of the present used liquor. Washington and Jackson each had a distillery and made and used it. All the Presidents except Hayes drank and he had himself tipped glasses with Senator Beck and other prominent men. He then read statistics to show that prohibition was a failure and voted not in an appeal to the colored voters closed to vote away their freedom, or sell their votes to the temperance ladies for a cup of coffee and a fritter, but to sell them higher if they sold them at all.

He spoke for about two hours and a good part of his speech was ridicule of Sam Small, whom he called an "importation from Georgia."

SMALL AT NIGHT.

Mr. Small closed his week's campaign at night to a still larger audience and his speech was his best effort. He had been posted in regard to Judge Quarles' speech and he handled him in the severest terms. He accused him of falsifying Scripture, blaspheming Christ and ridiculing the Christian religion. Christ made wine out of water and if he would make his out of the same material no harm would be done. Wine had been consecrated by Christ for sacramental purposes and should be used for no other purpose. He replied to every part of Judge Quarles' address to the great satisfaction of his adherents and closed with an eloquent peroration that fairly electrified the large audience. Nothing like his eloquence had ever been heard in the court house before, and even those who disagreed with him admitted that Sam Small fairly surpassed himself. He is by long odds the finest orator who has ever ransacked Christian County for any cause.

Coffee Medical Institute.

LOUISVILLE Feb. 11, 1889.

We doubt if there be a city in the country that affords superior advantages to that of Louisville for medical treatment, for you here find some of the most eminent surgeons and specialists known to the profession. This time was when the "doctor" made a specialty of everything in the form of disease or health, and he knew but little of either, still he was sanguine his saddle bags contained healing for nations; but time has wrought many changes, and many of us have learned that we do not know everything, that there is a specialty for nearly all. In this connection we take pleasure in calling the attention of the public to the Coffee Medical Institute at 520 Fifth street, of which Drs. Coffee & Forshoe are proprietors. These gentlemen make a specialty of curing rupture without a knife or truss, and in a short space of time at the same time painless, and there is no charge until cure is effected. This branch is the specialty of Dr. Forshoe who also treats disease of women and children most successfully. Dr. Coffee treats the eye, ear, throat and lungs and chronic nasal and post nasal catarrh, and his long experience and careful study have made him most successful. Again at this college deformity is treated in a manner second to no institution of the kind in the country, many cures effected being most remarkable. This institute is most pleasantly located and fitted throughout in as pleasant a manner as possible where patients can be assured of all the comforts of home with nursing not to be surpassed. It is here one secures that kind care and attention which has won for the doctors a most enviable reputation, and for the institute a name placing it amid the leading medical resorts of the country, having the confidence of patients far and near and the good will of all and we deem it our duty to congratulate the doctors on their success, and the citizens of Louisville on having in their very midst so creditable an institution.—Illustrated Chicago Century.

Dr. Forshoe will be at the Phoenix Hotel, Saturday, March 9th, one day only.
