Some important appointments were made by the President Tuesday, viz: Frank W. Palmer, of Chicago...

Among the Republicans who have been mentioned in connection with the legislative nomination are Robt. N. Lander, Col. H. B. Clark, T. C. Tinsley, T. H. Major, John Feland, Jr., and Jas. Breathitt.

The City Council made a mistake in not giving a proper hearing to the L. & N. railroad on its petition to have the street over which it has been granted the right of way cleared of obstructions.

There will be five races each day in which many of the noted horses in the South and West will take part. There are two electric lines of Street Cars, also the N. C. & St. L. Railway running directly to the Grand Stand, making trips every ten minutes at the low rate of five cents.

Reduced rates will be given on all railroads leading into the city and a large number from a distance will avail themselves of the opportunity to be present on this grand occasion.

The races will commence promptly at 2 o'clock each day, thirty minutes being allowed between each race. Secretary Gillock and President Fogg will spare no pains to make this spring meeting a success in every particular and lovers of fine stock should not fail to be present as many days as possible.

Remember the date, commencing Thursday, May 2nd and closing Saturday May 11th. Positively no postponement. C. H. GILLOCK, Secretary. G. M. FOGG, President.

Cheap Rates. The L. & N. will give a round trip rate to the Nashville races from May 2 to May 11 for $3.85, including admission to the races, tickets good till May 12.

Western division (formerly C. O. & S. W. R. R.) for trains that will leave on May 7th, 8th and 9th, good to return within thirty days from sale.

The limited express trains of that road run solid between Louisville and Memphis and have Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars and arrive at and depart from Memphis at suitable and reasonable hours and offer advantages, accommodations and conveniences in service and time superior to any other and should induce those going to the Convention to secure tickets via that line.

DEATHS.

COULTER.—The many friends of R. F. Coulter, a former resident and business man of this city, will be pained to learn of the death of his second son, Charles Coulter, in Los Angeles, Cal., on the 4th inst. He was about twenty-six years of age, and fell a victim to that dread disease, consumption. He will be kindly remembered here for his many noble traits of character.—Clarksville Tobacco Leaf.

LONG.—Judge Americus V. Long, formerly county judge of Christian county, died at 10 o'clock Tuesday night, at his home in this city, after a long illness. He had been a sufferer from dropsy for years and for several weeks had expressed to his friends a presentiment that he would die on his 75th birthday, or the night before Wednesday was his birthday and sure enough he died on the night preceding it. He was sleeping quietly and appeared no worse than usual, when suddenly the blood rushed to his face and he gave a few gasps and ceased to breathe. Judge Long was one of the oldest and best known citizens of Hopkinsville. His whole life was spent here and he had acquired a fund of knowledge about Hopkinsville and Christian county equalled by few if any citizens of this county. When the matter was being collected for the history of Christian county recently published, Judge Long's fund of useful information proved very valuable to the historians. Deceased was never married but he leaves many relatives and friends to regret his departure. His funeral services were held at the Universalist church at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and the remains buried in the City Cemetery.

HENRY BOYD, a Seventh street barber, in the city, Tuesday night, of consumption, aged 28 years.

Wife of William Major, near Casey, Tuesday.

IF YOUR BACK ACHES or you are all worn out, really good for nothing is a general remedy known as RHEUMATISM BATTERS. It will cure you, and give you good appetite. Hold it in your hands in medicine.

A Nimrod's Experience.

When in the course of nature laws, "spring time comes, gentle Annie," and the genial rays of the sun together with the April showers awaken the sweet May flowers; when the forest trees robe themselves with living green; when the wild bird sings to charm his mate and the snake and the lizard rustle through the dry leaves at your feet to scare you to death, then one feels the fishing fever creeping over him and he is bound to go or be forced to suffer untold misery. It was these and kindred forces that caused the writer one day last week to accept an invitation from P. P. Hoffman to come out to his boat and go fishing. We found some lumber and tools at his mill, and with the assistance of Gum Hoff, man, the king fisher of South Christian, we built a boat and like Robinson Crusoe we set it afloat. Gum and I got in it and paddled up the pond something near a half mile to his favorite fishing waters, where I succeeded in landing the largest silver perch that had been taken out of the pond this season. After capturing a few of the smaller fry and losing several of the largest that bit, we returned to the mill well satisfied that our boat was entirely adequate to carry at least ten persons with perfect safety. At night we set out three lines from the rear end of our boat, baited with minnows to tempt the palate of such mill pond cat as might pass that way. Next morning we could see that something was hooked. A hasty investigation revealed the fact that each of the three lines was ornamented with a good sized cat fish. They had evidently hung themselves early in the night, for they must have been members of a picnic party, as they had performed the dance around a May pole. It took my friend Gum something over an hour to untangle the lines. In this he certainly exercised a degree of patience that was never equalled, except perhaps by Job, of old. I paddled up the pond by myself and tried for trout until noon. Had several fine ones but did not succeed in landing any of the finny tribe. A'fer dinner Mrs. Hoffman and her guest, Miss Stella Phillips, of Bowling Green, came down to ride in the hum-drum correspondent had named the Bill Rogus. Mrs. Hoffman acted as captain, Miss Phillips pilot and I wrote the part of the engine. So I got up steam as best I could and we moved off up stream on the bosom of the placid waters like a thing of life. The engines, being after the old style, worked very well but slow and sure. The captain had very little to do, as the landings were few and far between, and for this reason she left her mate at the mill. Our pilot landed us at the Deep Rock Springs for a cargo of wild haw flowers. Then we crossed over for some willow blooms and while they were being loaded the engine caught hold of the over hanging bows, when like a thunder bolt out of a clear sky a large water moccasin dropped right into the lap of the engine and ran off into the boat. This came near rendering the engine unfit for use the balance of the day, but his snappiness was soon dispatched with one of the bars in the hand of the engineer. Our catch was not more than our boat could carry, so we returned to the mill without further accident or adventure. The kindness of Gum, the king fisher, and his good wife and of Phil and his better half was appreciated and will not soon be forgotten by FISHERMAN.

The Old Doctors

Drew blood, modern doctors clean it; hence the increased danger for Altaratives. It is now well known that most diseases are due, not to over-abundance, but to impurity of the blood; and it is equally well ascertained that no blood purifier is so efficacious as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"One of my children had a large sore break out on the leg. We applied simple remedies, for a while, thinking the sore would shortly heal. But it grew worse. We sought medical advice, and were told that an alternative medicine was necessary. Ayer's Sarsaparilla being recommended, we used it with marvelous results. The sore healed and healthily returned."—J. J. Armstrong, Welmar, Texas.

"I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be an admirable remedy for the cure of blood diseases. I prescribe it, and it does the work every time."—E. L. Pater, M. D., Manhattan, Kansas.

"We have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla here for over thirty years and always recommend it when asked to name the best blood purifier."—W. T. McLean, Druggist, Augusta, Ohio.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla continues to be the standard medicine in all cases of impure blood."—T. W. Richmond, Dear Lake, Mich.
