

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1889.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

A live and growing city of 10,000 inhabitants, situated in a country of 40,000. The Louisville and Nashville has two lines of railroad in the vicinity. The latest tobacco growing county in the world. Wheat, corn, hay, oats, live stock and fruits produced for export in large quantities. The city has four banks with an aggregate capital of $1,000,000. A planing mill and wagon factory, three carriage factories, line factory, tobacco manufacturers, two countries, three brickyards, broom factory, steam laundry, iron factory, two large flouring mills in the city and several in the county. Splendid driving park and fine open houses. Five theatres centering in Hopkinsville. Building and Loan Association, Commercial Club, a telephone exchange, numbered streets and houses and city lighted by gas. Manufactured streets and brick sidewalks all over the city. Eleven churches, two colleges, a high school and the finest system of public schools, white and colored, in the State. Western Kentucky Lunatic Asylum with a population of 500, two miles east of the city. A $100,000 court house with town clock in the dome. A fine fire department and a company of State Guards. Little River furnishes an adequate supply of water for all purposes. Best estate land and rents cheap. Fine opening for woolen mill, pork packing establishment, fruit cannery, tannery and many other enterprises. Climate mild and invigorating and exceedingly healthful.

Inventor Thos. A. Edison has been made a Count by the Italian government. He is now in Paris.

A. M. Palliam, who killed Jas. M. Miller at Hardinsburg a year ago, is on trial at Brandenburg, Ky.

Millionaire C. P. Huntington's daughter, it is announced, will marry Prince Hatfield, an impetuous Georgian nobleman.

Nine lives were lost in a fire in a New York tenement house early Monday morning. The building was occupied by thirteen families.

The South Fork Fishing Club announce their intention of rebuilding the dam above Johnstons, but will take no steps until the test suit against them for damages is settled.

Sullivan has given bond for $1,000, indemnified his bondsmen and absconded himself from the State of Mississippi. It is dollars to cents that he never goes to jail to serve out his sentence of twelve months.

With only two small counties out—Breathitt and Letcher—which were about a stand off in 1887, Sharp's majority over Colon is 33,618. Cobb received only 3,351 votes against 8,294 for Fox two years ago. Sharp's majority is within a few hundred votes of being double that of Gov. Duckner.

The Cumberland Gap tunnel which is in the States of Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee, is nearing completion. The heading was blown through about a week ago. The tunnel is 3,950 feet in length, and the contractors have been engaged at the work for the past eighteen months.

Experiments made with the "Elixir of Life" have not been very satisfactory so far and some fatal results have followed its use. Dr. Hammond says many of the experiments have been "illogical and unscientific" and that the reported failure were due to the improper way in which the elixir was administered.

Picador, the Louisville correspondent of the Owensboro Messenger, Henderson Gleaner and other Democratic papers in Kentucky, who is a Republican, makes this startling statement about the Congressional race in which Asher G. Caruth defeated A. E. Willson: "He (Caruth) was in 1886 deliberately defrauded out of an honest vote election to Congress as every practical politician in Louisville knows and privately admits. He was elected and counted out."

This is a rather grave charge against the Democratic party for Democratic papers to pay for and circulate.

The junior editor of the Madisonville Hustler, who has but just completed a very interesting honeymoon, was asked by the Clinton Graphic if he had ever kissed by moonlight and here is his answer: "Yes, brother; by the gentle rays of Luna, when the balance of the world was wrapped in slumber; beneath the fierce and burning rays of Phoebus, the god of day, while all others were engaged in the bustle of life; and at dewy eve, the time when all creatures were seeking repose; and at each and all these times we have felt that the whole universe was in a flicker." The young man evidently has it bad.

Five portraits of "the American Duchess" (formerly Mrs. Hamersley, of New York) and the Duke of Marlborough, given in connection with an illustrated article on the famous palace and park of Blenheim, are conspicuous among the pictorial features of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for September. Colonel R. J. Hinton, one of the hydrographic experts of the Irrigation Survey now in operation in the Western States and Territories, describes interestingly, with the aid of the artist and photographer, the processes of "Making the Desert Bloom." An uncommonly attractive outdoor paper is Miss Elizabeth Taylor's "Up the Nippon." Dr. L. B. Fletcher gives a comprehensive account of "Electric Railways and Electric Motors." "Count de Honoyowsky's Adventures," "Carmen Sytes, Poetess and Queen," "Para and the Amazon Delta," "Fantastic Gardening" and "Mme. Tussaud" are among the other illustrated articles; and this number of the favorite magazine is unusually strong in short stories and poems.

PROGRESS IN JAPAN.

Independence a Marked Characteristic of Japanese Independence.

Japan is in an especial sense an American mission field. Of the twenty-five Protestant missionary societies which are laboring in that field twenty are American, including two Canadian societies. The first missions in Japan were begun just thirty years ago. Missionaries of three American churches—the Presbyterian, the Reformed (Dutch), and the Protestant Episcopal—arrived in that country in 1859, and those of the American Baptist Union in the following year. These four churches carried on their missionary work there—and it seemed to be very encouraging work—without help until 1869, when the American Board of Christian Missions of the United States entered the field one after another, since having joined the list since 1880. The Unitarian missionary went out in 1887, just two years after the Society of Friends (orthodox) had sent their missionaries. European societies have been slow to appreciate the claims of Japan as a mission field. They have missions in China and India, but they have left Japan, for the most part, to America. Only one Continental society has a mission in Japan, begun so recently as 1888. The Scotch Presbyterians, the English Baptists, and three Church of England societies have missionaries in Japan; but of the 443 missionaries laboring in Japan at the close of 1888, no fewer than 386 were from the United States and Canada. The number of missionaries in Japan in 1888 indicates an increase of 90 for the year. There are 249 organized churches, of which 92 are wholly and 157 partially self-supporting—an increase of 28; 25,514 members—a gain of 3,768; 9,698 scholars in day and boarding schools—a gain of 2,533; 287 theological students, and 143 for the year. Just killed the Lion. Mrs. Peterson—That outside of farmer Brown is certainly one of the most impalpable things, I suppose Mrs. Brown took on herself. "Yes, indeed; Brown had cut off a piece of the new clothes-line to hang himself with, and you never saw a sadder woman in your life!"

Dress the Hair.

With Ayer's Hair Vigor. Its cleanliness, beneficial effects on the scalp, and the removal of dandruff, are its universal virtues. It keeps the hair soft and pliant, preserves its color, prevents it from falling out, and if the hair has become weak or thin, promotes a new growth. "To restore the original color of my hair, which had turned prematurely gray, I used Ayer's Hair Vigor with satisfactory success. I cheerfully testify to the efficacy of this preparation."—Mrs. P. H. Davidson, Alexandria, La.

Efficacy of this preparation.

"I was afflicted some three years with scalp disease. My hair was falling out and what remained turned gray. I was induced to try Ayer's Hair Vigor, and in a few weeks my hair began to grow again, and my scalp was restored to its original color."—(Rev.) S. S. Sims, Pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Boston, Mass.

A few years ago I suffered the entire loss of my hair from the effects of tetter. I hoped that after a time nature would repair the loss, but I waited in vain. Many remedies were suggested, none, however, with such prompt success as Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began to use it. The result was all I could have desired. A growth of hair sprang out all over my head, and grew to be as soft and luxuriant as I ever had, and of a natural color and firm set."—J. H. Pratt, Bradford, Texas.
