FOR COUNTY COURT CLERK. We are authorized to announce W. T. VANCE as a candidate for County Court Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR COUNTY CLERK. We are authorized to announce M. D. DAVIS as a candidate for County Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR COUNTY CLERK. We are authorized to announce THOMAS J. MURPHY as a candidate for County Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR SHERIFF. We are authorized to announce W. M. WEST as a candidate for Sheriff of Christian County, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR JAILER. We are authorized to announce W. LONG as a candidate for Jailer of Christian County, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR JAILER. We are authorized to announce JOHN S. LONN as a candidate for Jailer of Christian County, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR JAILER. We are authorized to announce W. T. VANCE as a candidate for Jailer of Christian County, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR ASSessor. We are authorized to announce CHARLES H. PERRY as a candidate for Assessor of Christian County, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR Assessor. We are authorized to announce OWEN J. SMITH as a candidate for Assessor of Christian County, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR Assessor. We are authorized to announce MISS SUSAN STANWOOD as a candidate for Assessor of Christian County, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR Assessor. We are authorized to announce MRS. JAMES G. BLAINE as a candidate for Assessor of Christian County, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR Assessor. A Yale student has been arrested for making a boar drunk on champagne and serious trouble is being made between students and faculty.

FOR Assessor. A bloody race riot occurred at Jessup, Ga., Christmas day in which four white men and six or eight colored men were killed before order could be restored.

FOR Assessor. The Emperor of Germany has the influenza and it threatens to aggravate his chronic earache to an extent that may involve his brain and affect his reason.

FOR Assessor. Why is it that there are no Democratic candidates announced for county attorney? The office is now filled by a Democrat and should not be allowed to go begging.

FOR Assessor. Very few of the country papers mention an issue on account of Christmas. The Kentuckian dropped the "time-honored custom" several years ago and with this issue winds up another full year of 105 numbers.

FOR Assessor. Hon. Harvey Myers, of Covington, who was yesterday elected Speaker of the House, is one of the best known of the younger politicians of Eastern Kentucky. He has served several terms in the House, in which body he has been a prominent and useful member.

FOR Assessor. Conductor Henry A. Cahler, of the L. & N. railroad, was fatally shot by an unknown tramp Thursday evening, whom he had put off his train near Louisville. He died the next day.

FOR Assessor. Capt. Cahler had been in the service of the L. & N. for 15 years and was once before shot and wounded in the same way. This makes the second L. & N. conductor to be killed in the discharge of his duty within four months.

FOR Assessor. The other case was that of Capt. Jas. Lemon, shot by Wm. T. Brame, of this city. Brame has never been arrested, but is believed to be quietly living among his relatives on both sides of the state line near Lafayette, Ky.

FOR Assessor. There is a reward of $700 still offered for his arrest.

FOR Assessor. We are just in receipt of a copy of a handsome "souvenir" for 1890, sent out by excellent paper, the Detroit Free Press, which we deem worthy of special mention.

FOR Assessor. It contains about twenty beautiful pictures, representing both foreign and American scenery. It also contains several articles by authors of note, so-called poetry, etc., and is really a gem that should be in every house.

FOR Assessor. A copy of this "souvenir" will be sent free to any one forwarding a year's subscription to the Weekly Free Press within twelve months from Nov. 1st, '89.

FOR Assessor. A monument is to be erected at Atlanta to Henry W. Grady and $90,000 have already been raised in that city. A number of large subscriptions have also been wired from the North.

FOR Assessor. STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, ss. FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the city of Toledo, County, and State of Ohio, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FOR Assessor. FRANK J. CHENEY. Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of November, A. D. 1889.

FOR Assessor. A. W. GLEASON Notary Public.

FOR Assessor. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system. Send for testimonials free.

FOR Assessor. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists, 75cents.

MYERS GETS IT.

The Legislature Organizes With a Townsman of Carlisle in the Chair.

Full List of the Other Officers.

The Democratic legislative caucus met at Frankfort Saturday, with 82 of the 85 Democrats present. Hon. Geo. B. Kinkead was elected chairman by the Myers men. Gus W. Richardson of Meade, having retired from the Speakership contest, Messrs Myers, Cox and Settle were placed in nomination. Myers was nominated on the first ballot, receiving 43 votes to 28 for Cox and 12 for Settle.

Green R. Keller was nominated for Chief Clerk, James E. Stone for Assistant Clerk and Robt. Tyler for Sergeant-at-Arms without opposition. The only spirited contest was for Doorkeeper. The names before the caucus were Fossy, of Webster, Clark, Poindexter, of Hancock, Coleman of Trimble, Smith Cook, of Shelby, Webster of Taylor, Riley of Todd, Oliver of Anderson and Grundy of Washington. On the sixth ballot the race had narrowed down to Poindexter, Cook, Riley and Coleman. Poindexter was dropped on the seventh, Coleman on the eighth and on the ninth, Cook, the Shelby county candidate, was nominated by a majority so large that the nomination was made unanimous.

SENATE CAUCUS.

The Senate caucus elected D. H. Smith chairman. Harry Glenn was re-nominated for Clerk without opposition.

W. M. Cronwell was nominated for Assistant Clerk over W. L. Reeves, of Paducah, by 22 to 7.

G. W. Castle, of Louisville, was nominated for Sergeant-at-Arms over Bart Jenkins and Clay Elliott.

Urele Joe Road, of Louisville, was nominated for Doorkeeper.

CANDIDATES FOR LIBRARIAN. Miss Bartlett, of Trimble county; Mrs. Fish, Miss Curcio, Owensboro; Mrs. Thompson, of Paducah, and Mrs. Day, of Franklin, are the lady candidates for State Librarian. They are all busy interviewing such members as they can entice into the parlors of the hotels. Ed Porter Thompson and Walker Peters are the male candidates for the same office.

The Legislature was called to order at noon yesterday and organized in both branches by the election of the Democratic caucus nominees.

The Kentuckian appears to-day in a new dress, which is the first of a series of improvements to be made in the near future. The past year has been a pleasant and prosperous one with us and we propose to show our appreciation of favors bestowed by trying to make the Kentuckian better than ever. Nothing is too good for patrons like ours—especially the advertisers, who have frequently caused embarrassment by their wholesale demands upon our space. The Kentuckian is happy to state that it enters its twelfth volume with bright and hopeful prospects. Ten years of hard work and close application to business have made the paper an established success. It "points with pride" to the past, "hails with pleasure" its present outlook, and sees nothing in the future to "vex with alarm."

It begins the new year with no incumbrances to impede its progress and impair its usefulness. The current year has been its best year and it starts out in 1890 with a good record, a stout heart and a clear conscience. In the future as in the past it will work for its country, its city and itself. It is not too proud to handle filthy lucre and will continue to disseminate knowledge for revenue only. Who will start the ball for 1890? Don't all speak at once.

Conductor Henry A. Cahler, of the L. & N. railroad, was fatally shot by an unknown tramp Thursday evening, whom he had put off his train near Louisville. He died the next day.

There is a reward of $700 still offered for his arrest.

TEN KILLED.

A Fatal Accident on the C. and O. A bad wreck occurred on the C. and O. road Saturday, near White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., in which ten persons were killed outright, five passengers and five employes. The killed were: Kidder Kidd, Hannibal, Mo.; Barksdale, baggage-master, Huntington; H. Morrison, mail clerk, Charleston. He was not on duty, but was returning to his home.

Newsboy, not known. Two colored men, names not known, who worked on the Allegheny section, Thomas Karash, Blackstown, Kan.; U. D. West, Howardsville, Va. The other two names not known.

About ten are reported injured, but only the names of two are given who are most seriously hurt. They are Conductor Schweikert, who has his legs crushed, and Section Master Myers, who was hurt in the back and breast. The dead were sent to Racon, and the injured to the Caldwell Hotel at White Sulphur Springs, where everything possible was done for their comfort.

Eight Negroes Mobbed. A mob of several hundred men raided the jail at Barnwell Court House, S. C., Saturday morning, overpowered the jailer, and took out eight negro prisoners charged with murder. These were Ripley Johnson and Mitchell Adams, charged with the murder of John Hoffmann, a white man, and six others charged with the murder of young Martin. The prisoners were taken out of town and shot to death. The jailer was tied and forced to accompany the lynchers. The lynching was accomplished in a very skillful manner, the citizens of the town not knowing about it.

Capt. Smith Cook, of Shelby county, Doorkeeper of the House, is the tallest man in Kentucky. He was one of Barnum's "Congress of Giants" a few years ago, when his show visited this city. Capt. Cook is seven or eight feet high and large in proportion.

A gang of toughs captured the town marshal of Hillsboro, in Fleming county, together with his five deputies and locked them up in the calaboose and threw away the keys. The doors had to be broken open to release the captives.

Christmas horrors have followed each other in rapid succession. Theodore Gross and wife and their eight children, ranging from 2 to 22 years of age, were burned to death in a dwelling house at Huron, Mich., Sunday morning before day.

The Courier-Journal says preparations are being made to begin at once the extension of the O. V. railroad to Nashville.

Ben Poindexter, the Hancock county editor, was defeated for Doorkeeper of the House by a bluegrass man but it took a giant to do it.

A bill giving Oklahoma a territorial form of government will be one of the first to come up in the House next week.

Henry Wolford, City Treasurer of Louisville, died last Friday, after a long illness.

The ex-Emperor of Brazil died Saturday morning in Portugal.

Carlos I, Portugal's new king, was formally proclaimed ruler Saturday.

Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful Bleeding Cure ever known. Sold by H. B. GAINES.

FULL OF FUN. —She meant rare or well done.—Landlady—"How do you like your beefsteak?" Boarder—"Tender."—Boston Courier.

—Mike—"What's the matter, Bill? Yer looking pale." Bill—"Too much headwork, Mike. I had ter sleep all night wid me head agin a knot-hole ter keep his muskaters out of the barn."—Time.

—"Young man," said a minister to a member of his congregation, "do you know what relations you sustain in this world?" "Well, just at present the only relation I am sustaining in this world is my father-in-law, but you can just gamble on it I am not going to sustain him very long."—Judge.

—Mrs. Lumkins—"Joshua, I am going to the dentist to have a tooth pulled out. You mind the baby while I'm gone." Mr. Lumkins (jumping for his hat)—"Say, you mind the baby and I'll go and get a tooth pulled, you know."—N. Y. Sun.

—Rusher—"Ask that man what he wants, John. He seems to be deaf and dumb." John—"He writes on this paper, s'r, that he is looking for a 'Rusher.'—Poor wretch. Write and ask him what he can do." John—"He writes here, s'r, that he would like a job to tend the telephone."—Rusher—"You may as well engage him; he will do as well as any one.—America.

—A nephew to his old and wealthy uncle—"I am desperate, and unless you send me two thousand dollars by this evening I shall take my life; by midnight I shall be no more." Reply of the uncle—"Yours of this date received. When, some time ago, you sent me a missive of similar import, and I sent you my revolver, what did you do? You spouted the weapon. I have no more revolvers."—Judge.

—"Now, that too over there," remarked the visitor from the city, would make a first-rate poker player, wouldn't it?" "That peer-teen over there—hold up, sonny, Lenthin—'t's always holdin' up pees; or it's great on pees. Anyhow to get pees in it somebore, and ye can't fool me." And the visitor from the city took the next train home.—Merchant Traveler.

EVERY-DAY CLOTHES.

How They Influence Character and Disposition in the Wearer. There are women who go about their work, not elaborately-dressed, but who are always the embodiment of neatness. No row of paper pads above the forehead suggests the headgear of the ancient Egyptians, or reminds one that the boundary lines between civilization and barbarism are not always clearly defined. The satin smooth hair, the becoming morning dress, the spotless apron, and the collar to match, these are the standard and visible signs of the woman who fulfills King Solomon's ideal of feminine perfection. There may be occasions when she receives her friends, or goes abroad figuratively arrayed in purple and fine linen. But it is not when she goes to market, brushing against kerosene barrels and battering against the air her splendid hair, nor does she sit her splendid chair, talking for the benefit of those who are met at the breakfast table, when no stranger has been admitted to the family circle, arguing tidiness in all the minute details of housekeeping. One knows instinctively that there are no dark corners in the house over which such a deft-handed Dorcas presides into a year—during the May morning or the annual daylight of house-keeping. Pantry shelves are spotless, unobscured; four, spices, sugar and salt are labeled and under cover.

The drawing-room is not cluttered with fancy work and useless bric-a-brac. The chambers, sweet, pure and silent, are abodes of peace. The books on the orderly shelves in the library are where they should be. Tennyson, in the particular nook assigned him, where he could be found at midnight in the dark, any night in the year. The dictionary is on its stand, the encyclopedias at hand for reference. The children who have been here and read in such surroundings have been started on their way, well disciplined and half-armed for the battle of life. They have learned the value of order as a time-saver; of cleanliness as a promoter of comfort, health, and happiness; of thrift and economy, which saves and mends and considers no labor to these ends performed in vain. The daily influence of such a home will follow the young man into the world whether he shall go to make a place and a name for himself. It will create just such another home when the daughter goes forth from her father's roof to take her place, in grace and dignity, beside that heartstone whose good genius she is destined to be. Nor does it end there, for the force of heredity is not spent in one or two generations. It is a bene and a blessing to the end of time. It is a good advantage, says George Macdonald, to have been well born—by which he meant, born to a realization of the responsibilities of life, rather than an appreciation of life. And the obverse of all this? Unfortunately, there is one out of domestic claims rises its evil voice. With the form and gentleness of a woman, her garb is disheveled and unclean. Dust and ashes are her habitations; figurative, if not literal, darkness is round her and waste, disease, discomfort, unloveliness, unhappiness. Spiritual and mental training is such a home there are none and like the more fortunate the bruta of her descendants are perpetuated forever. She is the familiar spirit of misfortune and of irreparable poverty, and though an angel were sent from Heaven, her condition and that of those dependent upon her could not be changed. That she blossoms out in unnatural freshness and sweetness once a week, or on state occasions, like a poor girl that becomes a butterfly for just one day, does not augur any hope for the future. It is the speech and dress and behavior six days out of seven that determine the value of the life in its entirety.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Only a Question of Time. "James," said the undertaker, "have you heard how Mr. Hawkins, the sick old gentleman at the other end of the avenue, is getting along this evening?" "Yes, sir," responded the shop boy. "The doctor gave him a dose of 'lixir of life last night, and—"

"I think, James," said the undertaker with cheerful sadness, "you may set that lamp in the window and turn the light on a little. If any body should call for me within the next half hour I shall be lying on the lounge just inside the door of the back room."—Chicago Tribune.

—"My friend," said a young man as he fell into the water, "you own your life to me." "How much discount for cash?" asked Mr. Elmerston vacantly, as he wrung the water out of his coat.—Washington Capital.

—"William," I guess papa has said something that's made mamma awful mad. He'll get a roaring after them catters has gone away." Johnny—"How do you know?" "She's begun to call him 'darling.'"—Chicago Tribune.

When it is taken into consideration the fact that Whiskey is used largely by those who seek its medicinal benefits, the Purity and merits of the Whiskies sold, becomes a question of great importance.
