

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the Ivory." They are not, but like all counterfeits, they lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for Ivory Soap and insist upon having it. 'Tis sold everywhere.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 8, 1890.
USEFUL AND SUGGESTIVE.
—In making solution for plants, first make a paste with the Paris green, then put it in water.
—Cut stale cake into slices and spread preserves between them; lay in a deep glass dish and heap the dish full of whipped cream; they do which some-thing.
—Peach Marmalade.—Peel ripe peaches, remove the seeds, put the fruit in a kettle with a little water and boil until reduced to a pulp; run through a colander, add half a pound of fruit to half a pound of sugar, and hot carefully until stiff.—Ladies' Home-Journal.
—In watering plants under glass, avoid extremes and give each part of the house just the amount of water that is required. Considerable good judgment is required in this, also some plants in the same house may suffer from dryness, while others are injured by overwatering.
—In purchasing pyrethrum powder for destroying insects care should be taken to procure a fresh and unadulterated article. It is best to buy of a trustworthy wholesale druggist doing a large business. The price will be somewhat higher, but the quality will be enough better to compensate for added cost.—N. Y. Examiner.
—Custard Caramel.—Place half a teaspoonful of sugar in a frying-pan, and stir continually until it melts and turns a light brown; then add half a cup of water, and when this has become thoroughly mingled together pour in a pint of hot milk and remove from the fire. Add three well-beaten eggs and a pinch of salt and bake.—Country Gentleman.
—A popular preventive for the moth is oil of cedar, the odor of which, it is said, will drive the miller from the room. Clothes saturated with the oil should be kept in a room several hours, which should then be aired thoroughly. Gum camphor placed in trunks or boxes containing woollens will protect them effectually if they are closed with ordinary care.—N. Y. World.
—After removing your shoes put them in correct position by pulling up the uppers and lapping the flap over and fastening one or two buttons. Then pinch the instep down to the toe, bringing the fulness up instead of allowing it to sag. A large, firm, woven leather foot, with a foot-peg, a boot that is kicked off and left to lie where it falls, or is thrown into the closet, will soon lose shape and gloss.—Boston Budget.
—Fried Shad Toes.—Take the roe of a large fish, clean it, wash it, and thoroughly break it up, separating any bits of skin. Season with salt and pepper to taste, break into it two eggs, and add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Mix all thoroughly. Have ready well heated frying-pan, put into it one tablespoonful of pure lard, and when it is quite hot put in the fish roe, mashing it out well. Cover it to keep the particles of roe from flying out while frying. When nicely browned on one side, turn it up and brown the other. Cooked in this way the roe gets thoroughly done, is richer and much nicer than fried in the ordinary way.—Ladies' Home Journal.

THE DEAF CUSTOMER.
The deaf customer is the clerk who is waited on.
Of all customers who come into a retail store and who store, the deaf customer is next to an invalid, the most difficult for a salesman to handle.
Deaf people are, almost invariably, a little or a good deal too sensitive regarding their infirmity, and when they do not understand they have a way of pretending that they do which sometimes leads to embarrassing results. It happened to be in a shoe store the other day when an old lady entered. She did not carry a trumpet and she did not cough, nor did she have any visible signs that her hearing was not acute as his own.
"I would like a pair of shoes," she said, in a low tone of voice.
"What kind would you like?" asked the clerk.
The old lady did not reply or notice that any one had spoken.
"What kind would you like?" repeated the clerk in a little louder and more distinct tone.
Still the old lady made no sign.
"What kind of a shoe would you like?"
"I beg pardon?"
"I say, what style of a shoe would you like?" he asked the clerk.
"Oh, something easy."
"Button, lace or Congress?"
"Button."
"Button, lace or Congress?"
"Yes, something real easy. I'm troubled with corns, and I have to wear easy shoes."
"I say, would you like buttoned shoes?"
"No, I don't like buttoned shoes."
"What fastening would you like, then?"
"How?"
"Do you want your shoes to lace up?"
"Yes, I like shoes better than I do slippers for out-door wear. Now in the house."
"I say—would you like the kind with strings?"
"No, I want the ones with rubber in the sides."
"Congress?"
"Yes, Congress."
"I haven't heard."
Clerk pauses to catch his breath.
"What size, please?"
"What size do you wear?"
"Yes, I want something that'll wear. The last pair I had wore out in a week."
"But, what number?"
"I don't remember exactly."
"About number six?"
"How?"
"I say, about six?"
"Yes, I am about six. Caught a hard cold going to meetin' last Sunday. There was a draft all through the service, right on my—"
"Is number six your size, do you think?"
"How large is your foot?"
"I used to wear four, but I have to wear six now. You see—"
"What width?"
"How'd I ride? Jake brought me in. He's come in with a grip, I—"
"I say, do you want broad or narrow shoes?"
"Broad or narrow?"
"Broad, while the heart-broken clerk sympathized with himself.
"There's a good, easy shoe."
"How?"
"This one I'm showing you is good and easy."
"Yes."
"Would you like to try it on?"
"What was that you said? I'm a little deaf."
"Great Scott! A little! Try it on."
"How much did you say?"
"I didn't say."
"How?"
"Easiest."
"How?"
"Fit it on?"
"What do you think?"
"They're two dollars."
"Two dollars! Isn't that a good deal?"
"Not when a fellow has to turn himself into a howling Apache Indian to suit upon you."
"Very cheap."
"I wasn't calculatin' to buy to-day, anyhow, but Jake has to wait for his grip and I'm just lookin' around. I may come up again."
"Good-day."
"Good-day."
"And the good old lady put her spectacles away in her hand-bag and wandered slowly out just as a quiet, shy, modest lady came in and asked to see some fine, hand-turned Dongola shoes.
"What size?" howled the clerk.
The modest little lady almost turned a somersault in her horror, and it took the clerk ten minutes to explain the clerk's mistake and convince her that he was not an escaped lunatic.—C. S. Hood, in Drake's Magazine.

WHAT IS SCROFULA
It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces swelling lumps or swellings, which cause painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eye, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness, which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors," which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most common, it is the most general of all diseases, and afflicts, for every few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED
By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by its remarkable cure it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and powerful medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you are afflicted with scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofula some years ago from the time she was 20 months old. She had a large swelling on her neck, which was so large that it was necessary to form a hole in her neck, and one of them after going to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the humors and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child."—J. B. CARLISLE, Naughton, N. J.
N. B. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla, sold everywhere. It is prepared and bottled by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 100 Doses One Dollar.

THE LATEST COLORS.
Queer Combinations That Are Finding Favor in Europe.
Ochre is the name of a bluish gray color with a greenish hue.
Sable is a green ranging between common green and olive.
Pottok is a light Bordeaux red.
Candole, a heliotrope, leaning toward a plain lilac.
Fresco is a new shade of purple, which in ancient days we greet a new dark lilac.
Chene is the name of an oak brown.
With regard to red colors we may name Anemone, Orchidee and Amaranthe, which are going to remain fashionable, and which are known to most of our readers.
Blue colors will be in great favor next winter, and it is said that they will be leading.
The latest blue shade in the market, however, is called Jeanne d'Arc. It is of a light, though intense hue, and very becoming.
Of the new gray colors we mention Edin, a neutral and not a blackish gray. In our former article we have already referred to sapphire, turquoise and blue tints, which are likely to be much worn.
Oscrita is the name for a green yellow, much lighter than the lightest olive. This shade will scarcely be in favor, as it is not of a sturdy, as it is now called, is a reddish lilac, and in fact a new bluish green of an elegant hue.
Mistley is the name for a reddish blue, which is already now greatly worn abroad.—Day Goods Gazette.

QUANTER'S CHICKEN-MAGIC Cholera Cure!

Thousands of dollars worth of chickens are destroyed by Cholera every year. It is more fatal to them than all other diseases combined. But the discovery of a liquid remedy that positively destroys the Microbes has been made. Half of the young chickens are killed by Microbes before they are fryers. A 50-cent bottle is enough for 100 chickens. It is guaranteed, if, after using two-thirds of a bottle you are not satisfied with it as a cure for Cholera, return it to the druggist from whom you purchased it, and he will refund your money.
