TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1891.

Like Kentucky, Maryland now has a Gov. Brown who is a Democrat and a statesman.

James Cooper, the well-known circus man who owns the Foropough circus, died in Philadelphia, Friday.

Chas. Heft, a prominent citizen of Freeamansburg, Pa., hiccoughed him self to death last week. He was afflicted for eleven days.

Gen. Montgomery C. Meigs, of the United States Engineer Corps, retired list, died of a gripe in Washington Saturday, aged 76.

Barnes and Houston were both passed over in the Paducah postoffice matter and Capt. Ed Farley secured the coveted plum. His appointment was made Saturday.

John Diel, the champion fat man of the world, who weighed 763 pounds, succumbed to an attack of the grip at Cincinnati on New Year's day. He was 25 years old.

Rev. Geo. O. Barnes, the evangelist, who has been living in Scotland for several years, is on his way to the United States and will again take up his residence at Stanford, Ky.

Gov. Humphrey, of Kansas, has appointed ex-Congressman Bishop W. Perkins United States Senator to succeed Senator Plumb, deceased. The appointment is for one year.

The cold wave in the Northwestern States was far beyond anything ever experienced in this favored clime, where the extremes of heat and cold are never felt. The mercury in Minnesota and other states dropped to 22 degrees below zero.

The Supreme Court of the United States will decide the Boyd-Thayer gubernatorial contest from Nebraska this week, and it is believed Boyd will be declared eligible and restored to his office, from which he was ousted by the Republicans.

Lewis C. Laylin, a Sherman man, has been nominated for Speaker of the Ohio House by a vote of 38 to 34. Jas. F. McGraw, a Foraker man claims that this means nothing and that Little Breches will defeat Sherman in the Senatorial caucus. All the indications point to a very close race.

Atlanta, in her desire to "turn over a new leaf" has concluded to grant only twenty-five liquor licenses instead of about 300 under which she has been operating during the past year. This means a fortune to those who secured the necessary permits as the trade in the liquor line in that city is reported as immense.

Treasurer Hale at the last moment reconsidered his determination to retire from office and withdrew his resignation. He took the oath of office yesterday for the four years' term. This puts an end to the Governor's proposed promotion of Sam Norman and Ed Leigh, who will remain in their present places.

Archibald Forbes, the famous war correspondent, is always in readiness for marching orders. He has a set of equipments for warm countries and another for cold countries, and keeps himself provided with passports for every land to which there is any possibility that he may be ordered. He has a keen and well-trained intellect, and is master of a vigorous, incisive style. His endurance is great and his bravery remarkable.

M. Deschanel, deputy of the department of Euro-et-Loire, who has been commissioned by the French government to proceed to the United States with the view of investigating the social question and the position of workmen and their masters, will confer with Cardinal Gibbons, Henry George, and the leading men in all religious bodies and schools of thought in America.

About one hundred and fifty Tennessee convicts have been returned to the mines at coal Creek. They were claimed together in squads of five a special guard put in charge of each group. There are no murderers nor rapists among the number sent, the law especially providing that that class of prisoners be kept in the main prison. No further trouble is anticipated. Twenty thousand men are held in readiness in case of an emergency.

Last Friday was the day fixed upon for the substitution of the weighing for the gauging system in the internal revenue department, and as soon as practicable all whisky will hereafter be weighed on scales for that purpose and out compliance of the expensive proofing, the size of the barrel heads and the classification of the barrels, and if the new system proves successful the credit for getting it belongs very much to them.

War on the Texas Border.

It is not generally known that part of the United States army is now engaged in an effort to repel a foreign invader and that several skirmishes have occurred. It is difficult to get the news, as the scene of the trouble is remote from a telegraph station, and still harder to get the straight of the affair from the imperfect reports received. A revolutionist named Garza, with 200 followers, is engaged in an insurrection against the Mexican government. Pressed by the soldiers of President Diaz, Garza crossed over the Rio Grande and established a recruiting station in Texas. He has been operating chiefly in Starr and Duval counties. Learning that an armed troop had invaded Texas, Capt. J. G. Bourke with 150 soldiers set out to find Garza and drive him out. He found Garza and drove him out. He found Garza and drove him out. He found Garza and drove him out.

Twice during the last twenty years, the office of Governor of Kentucky has been filled by a statesman not only able, but broad-minded and possessing an intelligent conception of public affairs. The messages of Gov. Knott were models as State papers, but the first message of Gov. Brown, while characterized by the same high order of ability, pitches into existing evils with a directness that shows that Fentucky has had no executive with the courage of his convictions to so marked a degree as the present Governor. Gov. Brown's administration promises to be one of which not only the Pennyroyal country but the whole State will be proud.

To Our "Charter Members."

There are upon our subscription books a number of subscribers who have taken the KENTUCKIAN continuously since its first issue Jan. 1, 1879. They were "charter members" and have stuck to us through thick and thin, year in and year out for thirteen years. They have followed the paper through all its changing fortunes and stood by it with a loyalty that has never wavered. Now that the KENTUCKIAN is firmly established as the best and most prosperous newspaper in Western Kentucky, we have this proposition to make to our old "Stand-bys." Every subscriber who has taken the KENTUCKIAN since its first issue, during 1892, be given, if he desires it, an extra copy of the paper free, to be sent to any address desired. This does not contemplate a renewal of your own subscription without pay, but the proposition is to give you two papers when you pay up for 1892. The only condition required is that the extra paper be sent to a name not now on our list. All these subscriptions will expire with the year 1892, whether put on Jan. 1 or July 1. This offer is made for three reasons. The first is to show our appreciation of past favors, and also to introduce the KENTUCKIAN into families where it does not now go and the third is to prove that "13" after all is not as unlucky a number as has been represented.

Chiles, Marie Mimms; Martin Henschfeld, Alma Yost; Lute Petree, Otis Dickinson; Cross White, Lizzie Small; Chas. Waller, Wess Slack; W. J. Dickinson, May Belle Johnson; Jeff Walbridge, Susie Garth; E. Sebree Reeves, Ida Henschfeld; L. P. Guinn, Imogene McCown; Arch Dickinson, Polly Simms; John Dickinson, Pearl Simms; Horace Rutherford, Anna Gillis.

ROVERS: Messrs. John Garth, Otis Wilson, Sam Dickinson and Walter Buck.

After refreshments, the party engaged in original wit and humor, and all of the latest games of fascination, until the late hour of 1 o'clock, when the weather becoming very inclement the party adjourned. The young ladies, assumed gallants that they were, escorted the young gentlemen to their several homes and saw them safely ensconced with their parents, who received them with open arms.

And He's Right, Too. Manager Opera House, Galbreath, in a recent conversation gave vent to his indignation, at what he terms "the neck" of the fly-by-night theatrical snap, which try to secure time at his house, and he shook his head as he said "no more for me, I'm tired; I'll know they're right or they don't get in; this town is good enough for the best only." He certainly has a fine list of attractions booked, some above the average; he feels highly elated at securing the great New York success, "She Couldn't Marry Three," which will appear here for one night during the next few weeks.

Hon. Polk Laffoon has become editor of the Sheffield, (Ala.) Enterprise.

A great many persons, who have found no relief from other treatments, have been cured of rheumatism by Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Do not give up until you have tried it. It is only 50 cents per bottle. For sale by Buckner Leavelle.

The semi-annual statement of the City Bank is published in this issue. This banking institution was never in a more prosperous condition than now as shown by this statement. With a capital stock of $60,000 a surplus of $55,000 is shown after declaring a 4 per cent. dividend. This proves conclusively that the management of the bank's affairs has been judicious, and further, that it has enjoyed a very liberal patronage, which is very gratifying to the many friends of the institution.

WHISKEY is often used as medicine, in which case the purity of the article is of the greatest importance. I. W. Harper is a Kentucky distiller of national reputation. The product of his Distillery is shipped direct to the retail dealer, by means of an indicator tells in what part of the house an entrance is being attempted. "And am I supposed to get out of bed and grapple hand-to-hand in the darkness with the burglar, or burglars?" "Yes, unless you can get your wife to do it instead." "Humph, I guess I'll make the old style burglar alarm, the dog, last a little longer."

"The three tribes of the Fort Berthold reservation, which include the Mandan tribes in the United States that have never been at war with the government. Of these three the Mandans are the smallest, numbering a little over 200, small-pox having almost destroyed them about 1833. But they are the most interesting. There is a story to the effect that they are descended from some fishermen who sailed west from Wales in the eleventh century and were never heard of afterward. The story is that the party reached the mouth of the Mississippi and worked their way up that river. Many of their words resemble the Welsh language, and they are of much lighter complexion than the Indians usually are. There are full blooded Indians almost white among them."

"A Matter of Location.—Stuffer (at the end of the Simpsons bell)—"Do you know, I can't find my overcoat anywhere." Simpkins—"Have you looked in the refreshment room?" Stuffer—"Why, no. How could it be in there?" Simpkins—"You haven't been anywhere else during the evening, have you?" Clothier and Furnisher.

Mammoth Clothing and Shoe Co., SUCCESORS TO PYE, DICKEN & WALL.

"I suppose the baby is a delicate pinkish-brown?" "No. He's a rosy yellow," replied the proud and self-satisfied father.—"The baby?" "What are you doing now?" "I'm inquired the managing editor of a man who was writing a criticism of the ballet. "Roasting chestnuts," was the reply.—"I want to see a new dry goods store to-day." Husband (sadly)—"I suppose, as usual, that you opened a new account there?" Wife—"No. They didn't know me, so the things are coming C. D.'s.—"Cloak Review."—"Tea is now adulterated with hops. The hops are grown in England and shipped thence to Japan or China, where they are treated by a process similar to that of drying the leaf of the tea plant, and then mixed with the tea for the English and American markets."—The ship Challenger, of Bath, Me., recently arrived at Havre from Portland, Ore., after a passage of 114 days, breaking all sailing records between those ports. The same ship has been the run from San Francisco to Liverpool in 99 days, the average passage being 139 days. The average from Portland to Havre is 149 days, the previous record being 150 days. The health officer of the port of New York holds that preparations ought to be made for the establishment of an international system of quarantine. The health officers of different countries could notify each other of the presence of any contagious disease, so that a timely check could be put upon its spread.—In fishing for sturgeon near Kalamazoo, Wash., the fishermen do not use bait. They have hooks about a foot apart on a rope that is suspended a short distance from the bottom of the river. A fish, resting on the bottom, comes caught on one hook, and by floundering about gets caught on one or two more hooks. The fishing grounds extend as far as the Dulles river in Oregon.—A Columbus, Ind., musical freak is called "Whiffly," though his proper name is William Isinger. He plays in a peculiar manner with his lungs any tune with a distinctness and clearness that brings out every note as fully as it can be brought out on any piano or other musical instrument by the most accomplished performer.—That curious plant commonly called the mother-in-law obtained its name in a queer way. An expert of botanical gardens attached to the Smithsonian Institution, in the course of his researches into the properties of the plant to a reporter, mentioned the fact that it had the power of paralyzing the tongue. "A good thing for a mother-in-law," said the reporter, and then, there the name mother-in-law was applied to the plant.—Farmers on the Pacific coast are interested in a discussion of the uselessness or usefulness of a pig's tail. One side argues that it is as useless as the other, and the other side of the matter asserts that the tail indicates the exact physical condition of the animal. If it hangs loose, it indicates that the pig is not in condition and that its feed should be changed. If it is curled tightly, it indicates contentment and good health.—While ascending Pike's Peak by the new railway, about one person in 500 is affected by the rarity of the air at the high altitude. The indications of distress are tingling and redness of the nose and then blackness under the eyes. A woman who was dying apparently on a trip recently was sent back on the locomotive to the foot of the mountain, where she recovered. The summit is 14,000 feet above the level of the sea.—As no official provision could be made for the entertainment of properly accredited persons who visit Chicago in the interest of the Columbian exposition, a reception committee of leading Chicago society women, of which Mrs. George L. Dunlap is chairman, has been formed for this purpose. The members of this committee are each pledged to extend in turn the hospitality of their homes to such guests as the management of the exposition shall desire to have entertained.—"More Trouble.—"Since you think yourself so smart," said the exchange editor, glancing backward over his shoulder, "perhaps you can tell me why the letter 'B' is like Lord Byron." "I don't believe it is," retorted the financial editor belligerently. "The letter 'B' is like Lord Byron," said the exchange editor, raising his eyebrows. "You think it is immortally immortal." And the other man, with a hunted look in his eye, raised the window and stuck his head out to get fresh air.—Chicago Tribune.
