The Tariff Plank.

We denounce the McKinley tariff law enacted by the Fifty-first Congress as the culminating atrocity of class legislation; we denounce Republican protection as a fraud, a robbery of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of the few.

We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal Government has no constitutional power to enforce and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only, and demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of the government, honestly and economically administered.

Vermont goes Republican by 21,000, a Democratic gain of 3 per cent.

Mr. Cleveland has gone to New York to meet and confer with Senator Hill.

Maud S. had her Nancy Hanks. Jno. L. Sullivan his Corbett and Ben Harrison may prepare for his tureen.

Alabama and Arkansas! God bless you both. When the pie is cut you deserve to have slices as big as the map of Texas.

Will some kind-hearted Democrat at Seary, Arkansas, please buy the copy of Homer Price, "People's Party Elector for the State-at-Large"?

Arthur H. Marks, son of Governor Marks, the eloquent Tennesseean, who seconded Judge Turney's nomination in the recent convention, died at Monticello Wednesday, aged 28 years.

Democrats of Christian county, emulate the example of your brothers in Alabama and Arkansas. The Democratic party is good enough for Democracy. This is no year for chafing.

Part of Harrison's letter in general of his demand for corporations, the one raised by oppressive people. Fortunately, the people have had a good day.

Strives hard to make the election a leading issue in sign and tries to keep the issue in the background. He is pathetic when he argues that the Democratic party will ensure if the Democrats win out of the place he left four years ago.

Editorial is still soundbarring nothing. It has been in session and is as far from the troubles better. Dr. France has introduced an amendment to the revenue bill, an amendment to the revenue bill, an amendment to the revenue bill.

There has been kept out of New Orleans, although new cases are reported at the quarantine. The death occurs occasionally among the immigrants. The situation, but not yet alarming. Passengers complain bitterly. The quarantine and the patrons have organized a committee to cross the river.

Erwin got 324 votes in the county. If Pettit does as well he may congratulate himself. Democratic and not cracks will elect the next Congress.

The New Orleans Prize Fights Surprised the Sports.

The athletic encounters at New Orleans three nights of this week drew great crowds of the sporting fraternity from every part of the country.

The fights took place in the Olympic club rooms under Queensbury rules, in the presence of 7000 sports.

All of the leading daily papers were represented by special correspondents, 247 reporters having seats in the press gallery. The Courier-Journal was represented by Harry L. Means, an old Hopkinsville boy, whose reports showed him to be capable of first-class journalistic work.

On Monday night Jack McAuliffe, the light-weight champion, fought Billy Myer, the "Streator" (Ill.) Cyclone. The limit was 138 lbs and McAuliffe scored 1373 and Myer at 1371. McAuliffe won an easy victory, knocking out his adversary in the fifteenth round. Myer was clearly outclassed and was whipped from the start, though he developed wonderful powers of endurance, as he was punished severely and frequently knocked down as early as the sixth round.

Tuesday night the fight was between Geo. Dixon, the colored "scorer," and Jack Skelly, an ambitious amateur who had never fought in the professional ring. Dixon is the feather-weight champion and he easily retained his belt, knocking out Skelly in the eighth round after punishing him cruelly from the start. This fight resulted as everybody expected at Dixon's backers gave heavy odds from the time the betting began.

The great fight of the week came off Wednesday night. It was a struggle between James J. Corbett, of California, for the world's championship belt worn by the latter for many years.

The purse was for $35,000 in addition to the championship of the world. Sullivan stripped at 2114 and Corbett at 179. In the toss for choice of corners Corbett won and the men faced each other at 9:10 in the presence of 9,000 people who had paid $500,000 to see the fight. Bets were two and three to one on Sullivan and Corbett backers had to find at odds as low as $100 to $35. To the surprise of everybody Corbett was an easy winner and on the 21st round the champion was knocked out and left sprawling in his blood. Corbett avoided the slugging in the first half of the battle and then assumed the aggressive and completely whipped the perspiring and badly wounded champion. Sullivan had his nose, mouth and head bloodied while Corbett escaped without a scratch and was in fine condition at the close.

Sullivan made a speech saying he was glad America still had the championship and that he had fought once too often. Corbett wins a fortune and his friends are in clover knee high. It is reported that a contractor of this city won $5,000 at odds of $25 to $1.

Ellis' Great Speech.

Capt. Ellis' speech here last Monday is bearing rich fruit in the cause of democracy. His calm and dispassionate reasoning, his convincing and unanswerable arguments and his sledgehammer blows at error wherever he saw it, have had a profound effect in the county. Democrats have been enthused and filled with admiration for their leader. The third party foolishness has been given a back-seat and no candid man now believes that Pettit is in the race. Weak-kneed Democrats have turned back to party lines and Democrats will be Democrats in this county this year. The best and truest Democrats in Kentucky are found in Christian county and there will be very few deserters from their ranks in this year of universal victory. Capt. Ellis will shortly arrive to the county and make six or eight speeches, but the leaders here want him to wait until he can meet and demolish both his opponents in joint discussions. He has already given Pettit one dose and sent him covering back to Frankfort, brandishing a disorganizer, demagogue and deceiver. Ellis' speeches strengthen the cause of Democracy. We have heard many express the opinion that his effort here was the finest speech ever heard in the court house. It has left a trail of enthusiasm behind it that will lighten party lines all over the county. His great speech and the complete collapse of the third party in Alabama and Arkansas has done the work in this end of the district.

Erwin got 324 votes in the county. If Pettit does as well he may congratulate himself. Democratic and not cracks will elect the next Congress.

Passing of the Third Party.

Students of current events can see but one lesson in the election returns so far held this year. There will be no side shows in politics this year worth the price of admission.

It will be the old fight over again between the two great parties. Third party advocates are laboring hard to create the impression that they will carry some of the States and really figure in the election returns.

The facts make these claims appear as the idle ravings of the ignorant or the misguided. There never has been, nor can there ever be a third party worth the serious attention of thoughtful men.

The Republican State of Rhode Island has held its election and is still Republican, though large Democratic gains were shown. There was no third party in it. Vermont has voted and no change is shown. The old lines have not been altered. Alabama, one of the chosen fields for conquest by the third party, has held its election and the Democracy has triumphed over the third party, the Republicans and the bolting Democrats combined by 12,000 majority. These figures are safe enough and show that Alabama is as sure to vote for Cleveland as is Kentucky. A significant fact in Alabama is shown by the returns. The Republican party is going to pieces there as it is losing ground all over the country, and even the colored vote is turning into the Democratic column, as the colored men are beginning to realize that the people who employ them, educate them and stand between them and want are their true friends. It is bound to come to this. The Democratic party is the place for the colored voters, and sooner or later they will see it and believe it.

One other State has voted this week and it is but a repetition of the results in Alabama. Arkansas was selected as a "doubtful" State by the best efforts. They had their biggest guns on the stump. Weaver, Field and other lesser lights pleaded with the people to leave the Democratic party and a fusion was attempted with the Republicans, and what was the result? Arkansas has done herself proud. She has settled the South's vote in advance. Democracy swept the State like a tornado and only four counties were lost to the victorious party. The third party was obliterated and counties that have never been Democratic since the war have put themselves right by big majorities. As in Alabama the Republican leaders went over to the third party ticket and the colored voters voted with the Democrats. By common consent the Republican ticket was abandoned and the fight was Democracy against its united enemies. These elections have settled the contrast. The South, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Wisconsin, Michigan and perhaps Illinois, Iowa, Montana, Rhode Island and Massachusetts will vote for Cleveland, and Senators will be gained in New York, Wisconsin and Montana, and with entire control of the government after the '93 Democratic party will redeem its pledges to the people.

Stand firm boys, and when the victory is won be in a position to say "I helped to do it."

Harrison's letter of acceptance appeared this week. It is a long and tiresome flow of words, that few people will have the courage to read from end to end. It praises high taxation, lauds conditional free trade under the name of "reciprocity" and with equal inconsistency while clamoring to be in favor of the rights of the people under the law, advocates a force bill in the following words:

"I shall again urge upon Congress that provision be made for the appointment of a non-partisan commission to consider the subject of appointments and elections in their relation to the choice of Federal officers."

This commission should be charged with the duty of inquiring into the whole subject of the law of election related to the choice of officers of the national government."

This of course means that he still wants the election taken out of the hands of the people and put under government control. If any man doubts that the Republicans intend to try to pass a force bill if Harrison is re-elected let him read his letter.

VERA VERA.

Over the Mountains and Down by the Deep Blue Salted Sea.

Mr. Emron,

Being requested to write up some impressions and observations in our recent trip to Old Point Comfort, we are induced to respond in casual traces of events and thoughts incident to the journey, though trivial to some and of interest to others. While this may not be in a line of current news, yet we will aim to be readable about base ball or a profound dissertation on the tariff!

Our last year's trip so charmed us with its varied scenes and unexpected delights, so full of grandeur and wonderful to behold, that we thirsted for more of the same sort this year.

We thought we had surveyed by passing glances, the mountains in their loftiness, and recorded all the field-notes then pertinently descriptive, in a comprehensive grouping, but we were convinced that then "the half had never been told."

On the morning of Aug. 16th, quite a large crowd here boarded the train for that far away port, full of expectancy and lively with cheery hopes, among whom were W. A. Wilgus and wife, W. F. Randle and wife, W. H. Elgin and wife, S. P. Elgin and wife, Moses Elb and wife, Mrs. William Trice, Mrs. Joe Buckner, Mrs. Ada Graham, M. B. King and daughter, in charge of two other young ladies, Mr. Hill and family, Mrs. Will Long and Vera and his "better half," and others whom we do not now remember.

Some there were who had a faint conception of the pleasing surprise in store for them along the serpentine highway of the iron horse.

The most of our crowd were true lovers and appreciative admirers of the sublime and beautiful in nature, while some were trained in the higher criticisms of human art, who took in both with a more pleasing sense of refinement.

We soon forgot our misgivings in the kaleidoscopic compensations of delight, groundless fears were ignored or forgotten and we lost sight of imaginary perils in our swift pilgrimage to where the wild waves hum their ceaseless refrain to enliven the present, and hymn their doleful dirges over the liquid tomb of long-buried ages.

We flew, as it were, on wings of steam, (on coaches full) along fertile valleys, by parched fields, where a disastrous drought has left proofs of its withering finger touches.

A few grew a little "soo sick" as it were, from the tremble and jar of continuous travel, yet all bore the heat and fatigue with commendable fortitude, their quivering nerves grew steady as new bows were inspired at every turn, by ascending grades and thundering valleys and thundering through tunnels, dark as a thousand midnight, then out on trembling bridges, lofty enough to make the timid catch their breath, when yielding to allowable fears and a nervous fright.

Some, accustomed to the dangers of rapid transit, lost sight of sleep or rest, but can snore away the tedious hours with a dozy unconcern, not in keeping with the wonders then passing in review, at the rate of 40 miles an hour, or more. But to our sleepless vision, earth and sky and mountain and valley and cliff and cataract were to grand to describe in a brief review. Our conceptions were enlarged and our ideas were expanded to a fuller realization of this world's bigness, and of human littleness, and of the Creator's Almightyness: in finite contrast.

Our friend, Moses Elb, while standing in a car-door, viewing the scenery
