CONSUMPTION

By the Physicians SEVERE COUGH At Night Spitting Blood

Given Over by the Doctors! LIFE SAVED BY AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the physicians pronounced consumption. The cough was extremely distressing, especially at night, and was frequently attended with the spitting of blood. The doctors being unable to help her, I induced her to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was surprised at the great relief it gave. Before using one whole bottle, she was cured, so that now she is quite strong and healthy. That this medicine saved my wife's life, I have not the least doubt."—K. MORRIS, Memphis, Tenn.

ENVOY FROM JAPAN.

SCHINICHIRO KURINO, DIPLOMAT AND SCHOLAR.

He Has Lately Succeeded the Much Lamented Mr. Tateno—Has Served his King Country on Many Important Missions.

R. SCHINICHIRO Kurino, the new envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Japan in the United States, who recently arrived at the legation in N street in Washington, succeeded Mr. Gozo Tateno, soon after the expiration of three years of service by Mr. Tateno, a gentleman who had admirably maintained the cordial relations which have existed for years between Japan and the United States, and whose charming wife, readily adapting herself to western ways, and acquiring some command of the English language, made the legation one of the most attractive at the capital. Mr. Kurino is still a young man in the diplomatic service. He was born about forty-four years ago, in the south of Japan, and comes of one of the old two-sword Samurai families, a class that is furnishing many of the most advanced and advancing men of the empire of the Rising Sun. He was liberally educated in Japan, and equipped with a fine knowledge of the English language, he came to the United States and took the law course at Harvard. His stay in this country made him familiar with the country and its government, and was of great advantage to him in the career which he had chosen in the diplomatic service of Japan. Upon his return to his home he entered the home foreign office, in a clerical capacity, where his abilities soon indicated him as a man entitled to advancement and to responsible office. The relations of Japan to Korea have for many years required the services in the Hermit kingdom of Japanese of good training and natural aptitude, as the disposition of China to be jealous of Japanese influence has been observed by the emperor of Japan for a long time. While Japan has constantly maintained a diplomatic representative at Seoul, she has found it necessary to send to the Korean capital, from time to time, special representatives to "feel" the situation, consult with the regular representative, and communicate to him the interest of the home foreign office in Korean and Chinese affairs. Mr. Kurino was sent on such missions to Korea in 1883, 1884, and again in 1894, so that he is thoroughly familiar with the events leading up to the conflict now proceeding in Korea, says Harper's Weekly. He has also been intrusted with important missions to Europe, having visited France and Portugal in 1893, his mission to Portugal being to denounce the claim of extra territorial jurisdiction by that country in Japan, its right having expired by a limited convention on the subject. The estimation in which he is held by the Japanese government is indicated by the fact that for several years he has been the chief of the political section of the home foreign office, the branch of the diplomatic service which arranges all treaties and other agreements with foreign countries. An American asking to which political party in Japan the new minister is attached would be told, by a well informed person, that the government is supposed to ignore political divisions in selecting members of the administration. The administration of Japan is not yet responsive to parties, as in England, the tendency to that state of affairs being one of the matters of political contention in the empire. The change of ministers at Washington does not involve a change in the rest of the personnel of the legation, several of the attaches who were connected with it under Minister Tateno remaining in service with his successor.

The Hiccup Nut.

The fruit of this South African plant is locally known as the "hiccup nut," and by the natives as "Umtandawa." The plant is a climbing shrub with ovate leaves and terminal spikes of dull red flowers. The fruit is an oblong nut with a pleasant flavor, but causes violent hiccup if only a few are eaten. At one time Mr. Wood tried them on himself, and did not try to repeat the experiment. An allied species, C. erythrophyllum, Sond., known as "Umdaba," distinguished by its papery, four winged fruits, and its leaves turning almost white before flowering, but reddish in the autumn, is stated by Mr. J. Kirkman to be used as a medicine by the natives in the dose of one half ounce or less, but an overdose causes death.

A WOMAN'S HEART.

ONE DISEASE THAT Baffles the Physician.

The Story of a Woman Who Suffered For nine Years. How she Was Cured.

(From the Newark, N. J. Evening Press.)

On the summit of a pretty little knoll in the heart of the village of Clifton, N. J., stands a handsome residence about which cluster the elements of what is regarded by the country people round about as little short of a miracle. The house is occupied by the family of Geo. Archer, a former attaché of the police department of New York City, but who now holds a responsible position with the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Archer's family consists of his wife, a sprightly little woman, who presents a picture of perfect health, and a son twenty-seven years of age. No one would suppose to look at Mrs. Archer now that she was for nearly nine years, and less than two months ago, an invalid so debilitated that life was a burden. Yet such was the case, according to the statement made by Mrs. Archer and her relatives to a reporter who visited their pretty home recently.

In 1885 she strained herself in running to catch a boat. Then ensued a long spell of illness, resulting from the tax upon her strength. Doctor after doctor was consulted and while they all agreed that the patient was suffering from a valvular trouble of the heart, none could afford her the slightest relief.

"Oh, the agony I have suffered," said Mrs. Archer, in speaking of her illness. "I could not walk across the floor; neither could I go up stairs without stopping to let the pain in my chest and left arm cease. I felt an awful constriction about my arm and chest as though I were tied with ropes. Then there was a terrible noise at my right ear, like the labored breathing of some great animal. I have often turned expecting to see some creature at my side. The only relief I obtained was when I visited Florida and spent several months there. On my return, however, the pains came back with renewed force."

"Last July," continued Mrs. Archer, "I was at Springfield, Mass., visiting and my mother showed me an account in the Springfield Examiner, telling of the wonderful cures effected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. My mother urged me to try the pills and on November 25th last I bought a box and began taken them, and I have taken them ever since, except for a short interval. The first box did not seem to benefit me, but I persevered, encouraged by the requests of my relatives. After beginning on the second box, to my wonder, the noise at my right ear ceased entirely. I kept right on and the distress I used to feel in my chest and arm gradually disappeared. The blood has returned to my face, lips and ears, which were entirely devoid of color, and I feel well and strong again."

"My son, too, had been troubled with gastritis and I induced him to try the Pink Pills, with great benefit. I feel that everybody ought to now of my wonderful cure and I bless God that I have found something that has given me this great relief."

Mr. Archer confirmed his wife's statement and said that a year ago Mrs. Archer could not walk one hundred feet without sitting down to rest.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are not a patent medicine in the sense in which that term is usually understood, but are a scientific preparation successfully used in general practice for many years before being offered to the public generally. They contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of the grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale or sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature. These Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and are never sold in bulk or by the dozen or hundred.
