CREAM OF NEWS.

IT IS NEW AND TRUE THIS COLUMN HAS IT.

Two Men Killed—Found Dead—Suicide—Throat Cut—Fight at a Cake Walk—Other Bloody Items.

Two in Webster

Postmasters for Webster county: Providence, Albert Browning; Belmont, A. A. Ashby.

Bro. Brewer Goes Out.

Postmaster W. B. Brewer, of Fairview, has been superseded as stamp licker at Fairview, Ky., by H. G. Petrie, Jr. Mr. Brewer has been postmaster for a long time and has made a most efficient officer.

Cut His Throat Severely.

Frank Whitlow, a young son of Mr. F. M. Whitlow, while bathing in a pond near Casky Sunday, severely cut his throat on a barbed wire across the pond. The wound was not fatal, but was a bad cut and had to be dressed by Dr. Moseley.

Overcharged Gas Cylinder.

By the explosion of an overcharged gas cylinder at the Clarksville Ice Factory Saturday afternoon, two negroes, George Munford and George Dick, was instantly killed, and J. C. Mattill, the foreman, was badly injured.

Hand Badly Mashed.

Beverly, June 14.—Ed Fleming had his hand injured severely a day or two ago by a very peculiar accident. He got his hand caught between a fence and the end of a wagon tongue with such force that the tongue was stuck through his hand, crushing it horribly and inflicting a very painful and serious injury.

Free Silver Barbecue.

There will be a big free silver picnic near White Plains, on the Bakersport and Mt. Carmel road, on Saturday, the 10th day of July. The intention is to make it one of the very best ever held in that country. The Dawson Glee Club will be present and furnish music for the occasion. The Hon. Ollie James, of Marion, will deliver an address, and other speakers have been invited. A good crowd from this city will attend.

The Public Schools.

The examinations in the public schools are in progress this week and will be concluded to-morrow. On Thursday night, as heretofore announced, the final commencement exercises will be held at the Tabernacle and diplomas will be awarded to a class of eleven graduates. There will be other interesting exercises in which the little children will participate.

A Lively Cake Walk.

Lafayette, June 14.—There was a cake walk near the state line, below this place, Saturday night and a large crowd of negroes were present. The affair broke up in a free fight in which knives, pistols and sticks were used. A negro named Bustle shot five times at Frank Mitchell, at close range, but missed him and Mitchell then seized a wagon standard and split Bustle's scalp with a blow that knocked him senseless. Dr. Stone sewed up the wound. No lives were lost, but there were many bruises.

He Swung Himself Off.

Princeton, Ky., June 10.—C. G. Peichard, a farmer living three miles from town, committed suicide this morning, about 4:30 o'clock, by hanging himself. He arose, as was his custom, about 4 o'clock to make fires. He was heard to go out of the house, and, as he did not return, by 5 o'clock, the family became anxious about him and began a search.

His daughter found him in an old out-house, about three hundred yards from the residence, hanging from a rope fastened to a rafter. He leaves a wife and four children.

Mason a Free Man.

Attorney A. P. Crocket has just won quite a victory in the court of appeals, in the case of Walter Mason against the Commonwealth, which was reversed last Wednesday. Mason was indicted for breaking into the wine cellar of Mr. Larkin Harned, and on the trial Mr. Crocket argued that the indictment was improperly drawn, but the court overruled his motion to dismiss, and Mason was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary.

Mr. Crocket took the case to the court of appeals, and the matter was decided in his favor, which will make Mason a free man again. Mason has been confined in the Eddyville prison since the last term of circuit court, but will be released as soon as the proper papers can be issued.

Jno H. Mitchell dropped dead on the street in Louisville.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

An Asylum Patient Commits suicide in His Cell.

H. B. Turner, an inmate of the Western Kentucky Asylum for the Insane, committed suicide Friday night by hanging. He tied one end of a sheet around his neck, and fastening the other to the iron grating over the ventilator in his room swung off. The sheet stretched considerably and when Turner's dead body was found by an attendant the next morning his feet were resting on the bed. He had died of strangulation and probably committed the deed of self destruction early in the night, as his body was cold and stiff when discovered. Turner's home was near South Union, in Logan county, and he was received at the asylum Feb. 22, last. He was formerly book keeper for Bray & Landrum, a Louisville firm, and while in their employ his mind became suddenly unbalanced and it was necessary to send him here for treatment. He had improved, however, and was possessed of suicidal mania, having made four unsuccessful attempts to destroy himself within the past few weeks. He was 38 years old and unmarried. The remains were taken to his old home Saturday for interment.

TOM MAJOR IN TROUBLE.

His Louisville Warehouse Has to Quit Business.

As a result of investigations made by Secretary C. H. Shackleton, of the Louisville Leaf Tobacco Exchange, the Major Warehouse, conducted by Tom P. Major and J. D. Headley, under the firm name of Tom P. Major & Co., ceased this morning to be a member of the exchange. Secretary Shackleton read his report, showing that he had found that the Major Warehouse had reported upon tobacco that they had sold a less weight to the seller than they had charged the buyer with, and furthermore, he reported that prices had been reported to the seller lower than actually charged the buyer.

After hearing this report Mr. Major said that the discrepancies were caused by clerical errors, that he was an honest man and was willing to make good for any loss that occurred to any one.

A motion was made to expel the firm from the Leaf Tobacco Exchange, but upon Mr. Major's request the firm was allowed to resign. This, of course closes the career of the Major warehouse in this city.

Mr. Major, seen at his office by a reporter, said that he was an honest man and repeated what he had said to the members of the exchange, claiming that the discrepancies in weights and prices were the result of errors and not of an intennig to defraud. He said that he would soon be connected with another warehouse in this city. Mr. Major came here from Clarksville, Tenn., in December, 1894.

Sized Him up About Right.

Will Allen in Louisville Times from Washington:

"There is a man in Hopkinsville named Wilgus. There he is known as Postmaster Wilgus. In religious circles he is doubtless known as Brother Wilgus. Here in Washington, where he frequently comes, he is known only as Bill Wilgus, and there is a colony of the souls here, saddened by long absence from home, which does not disguise its delight at the cheering company of this Hopkinsville wonder. Wilgus is one of the few postmasters in the country who have influence of their own. When he wants a new safe, a few extra clerks or an improved towel roller for his office, Wilgus doesn't have to write to his Congressman and ask him to intercede for these things. He boards the train for Washington, and the next day he works such a jolly off on the whole post office department that it is all he can do to persuade them not to give him a new building. Wilgus has just left town, and he departed with the assurance that the money on certain claims for extra clerk hire would beat him back to Hopkinsville. You want to watch out for Wilgus. One of these days he will come shooting into Congress."

AFTER PRESIDENT FAURE.

Attempt to Assassinate Another Ruler of France.

Paris, June 13.—An attempt was made to day to assassinate Felix Faure, President of the French Republic, while he was en route to Long Champs to witness the Grand Prix.

While M. Faure's carriage was passing a ticket near La Cascade restaurant, in the Bois de Boulogne, a bomb, which subsequently proved to be a piece of tubing about six inches long and two inches in diameter, with a thickness of half an inch, charged with powder and swan shot, exploded.

No one was injured by the explosion. A man in the crowd, suspected as the prime mover, was arrested. He gave his name as Gallet and made only the briefest replies to questions put to him by the police.

CIRCUIT COURT.

ONE CONVICT GIVEN AN UNUSUAL QUICK TRIAL.

First Batch of Indictments Returned Yesterday—The Wootton Case Posponed Till September.

The business in circuit court since last report has not been very brisk. The case of T. W. Wootton, charged with murder, was called yesterday and continued at the instance of the commonwealth's attorney until the 7th day of the September term.

The Garrott case is set for next Monday, the 13th day of the term.

The following indictments were returned yesterday:

Henry Adams, col., voluntary manslaughter.

Ed Harned, malicious shooting.

Willie Roach, col., detaining female.

Wm. Davis, horse stealing.

A. D. Jones and others, furnishing liquor to minor.

Wm. Davis, who was indicted for horse stealing, was tried yesterday and convicted of stealing A. O. Lackey's horse and given two years in the penitentiary.

The rest of this week will be taken up with common law cases.

"Big Willie" Was a Man.

The negroes of Bardwell were thrown into a feverish state of excitement a few days ago when they learned that one of their associates whom they had supposed to be a woman, was really a man.

About four years ago a tall, rather masculine looking person, ostensibly a woman, came to Bardwell from Tennessee and soon became known as "Big Willie," who proved to be a good cook and was employed by several families at different intervals. "Big Willie" associated with the negroes in the town, and was well known to nearly all of them. "Big Willie" died rather suddenly, and the negro women commenced to dress the corpse, when to their utter astonishment the corpse proved to be that of a man. Several white people visited the body and verified the statement made by the negroes.

The corpse was buried. There was apparently no reason why the deceased should have hid his sex.

Some of the Bardwell darkeys think he was a criminal, who wore skirts to disguise himself and evade capture.

Through Wonderland.

The delegation from this city and the Western portion of the State to San Francisco to the International C. E. convention, is increasing daily. Besides the most wonderful of all conventions, the wonderfully cheap railroad rate and the magnificent scenery to be viewed in a trip across the Continent, are attaching many people, and when the Kentucky special leaves St. Louis Tuesday June 26, she will have on board the most congenial party which ever started across the plains and through the Rockies to the coast.

Railroad fare from St. Louis and return is $46.00. Going sleeper fare will be $7.00 per berth. This includes use of cars for one day stopover at Colorado Springs, and two days at Salt Lake City.

For sleeper berth and information address Allan D. Wallis, Excursion Manager Western Kentucky, Hopkinsville, Ky.

Saturday's List for Kentucky.

Washington, June 15.—Fourth class postmasters for Kentucky appointed to day were as follows: Brusbar, Greenup county, Josephine Lowder; Eastpoint, Johnson county, F. M. Mole; Foxport, Fleming county, P. E. Million; Gamaliel, Monroe county, H. P. Allen; McQuady, Breckinridge county, J. W. Fate; Morton's Gap, Hopkins county, R. M. Williams; Pinckard, Woodford county, C. L. Ryley; St. Charles, Hopkins county, J. V. McEwen; Salyersville, Magoffin county, A. L. Bailey.

The Press Convention.

The Kentucky Press Association will meet at Middlesborough to-morrow and after spending this week in the mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee will visit the Centennial in a body. Hopkinsville will not be represented at Middlesborough, but the following members of the association will join the crowd at Nashville next Monday: Mr. and Mrs. Thos. C. Underwood, of the New Era; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilgus, honorary members; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. M. Meacham, of the Kentuckian.

"Owney" Again Reported Killed.

A special dispatch from Toledo reports that "Owney," the postal tramp dog, was shot and killed yesterday by Postmaster Brand. Owney had acted ugly and bitten a postal clerk severely. His skin will be mounted and sent to the "dead letter office museum."
