

NOTED CASE.

J. J. Cornelson, Who Horse-whipped Judge Reid, Dies at Lexington.

Victim of the Assault Declined to Seek Redress, but Committed Suicide Soon After.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 14.—J. J. Cornelson, formerly of Mt. Sterling, whose assault upon Appellate Judge Richard Reid, fifteen years ago caused Reid to commit suicide died at his home in Lexington this morning.

Judge Reid was a judge of the Court of Appeals and a candidate for re-election.

J. J. Cornelson had been defeated in long litigation by a final opinion from the highest State court, and he held Judge Reid responsible for the decision.

Judge Reid was conducting a successful canvass for re-election. He was a gentleman of high personal character, and a Judge above reproach.

Cornelson invited Reid into a room alone for a conference on a legal point, and then drew a horse whip or cowhide and struck the Judge rapidly and violently, finally overcoming all resistance on the part of Reid and left him bruised and bleeding.

The assault caused profound excitement in the State, deeper even than did Buford's killing of Ellis. Reid refused to follow Cornelson, for his whole soul revolted against strife.

But though he could not take the life of his assailant, the assault played on his mind so that he would not face his friends or the public, and finally he took his own life.

This tragedy was followed by various trials of Cornelson; by fine and imprisonment for a short period, but after a time he was released. Before his assault upon Reid, Cornelson had a promise of some success at the bar, but he never recovered his position, and gradually he disappeared from the public gaze.

The babies are restless this week. Mamma is away, attending the Congress of Mothers.

LENT IS HERE.

What Good Catholics Are Permitted To Eat.

Lent began Wednesday and will be observed by the members of several religious denominations for forty days.

The Catholic churches prescribe certain rules and the following dispensations are granted by the Holy See:

1. The use of flesh-meat, as also of eggs, is permitted at every meal on the Sundays of lent, and at the principal meal on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, with the exception of Saturday in Ember week and Holy Saturday.
2. Custom also allows the use of eggs, butter milk, etc., at the evening collation, and also at the principal meal on the days on which the use of flesh-meat is forbidden.
3. The quality of the food allowed at a collation in this diocese is bread, salads, vegetables and cold fish.
4. A small piece of bread with a cup of coffee, tea or chocolate, can be taken in the morning.
5. Where it is not convenient to take the principal meal at noon, it is lawful to invert the order, and take collation in the morning and dinner in the evening.
6. Drippings and lard may be used in the preparation of the kinds of food which are permitted.
7. On Sunday there is neither fasting nor abstinence, but fish cannot be used with flesh-meat at the same meal at any Sunday during lent.
8. Those who are exempt from the precept of fasting can partake of flesh-meat at every meal during the day when, by special indulgence, flesh-meat is permitted at the principal meal.

SMITH ART GALLERY.

Grand Scheme Of A Rich Man At Washington.

Franklin W. Smith, of Boston, and St. Augustine, a gentleman of rare imagination and intelligence, with a devotion to art and education that is not often found among business men, for the last twelve or fifteen years has been agitating a grand scheme for the construction in Washington, on the site of the old naval observatory, of a national gallery of history and art, to cost $10,000,000, and to be the most extensive museum in the world. It is a magnificent idea, and everybody commends it, although it is difficult to comprehend its magnitude and grandeur. In the original plan of the capital city the site he has selected was set apart by orders of Washington for a university to be founded by the government. The first step was the erection of an observatory for the purpose of observations for the guidance of the man who made the almanacs, but a few years ago a new naval observatory was erected on the summit of a hill in the suburbs of the city, and the location was abandoned. It is now the most desolate and unsightly portion of Washington, but it is on the bank of the Potomac and might be made a very attractive place. There is certainly no better site for such a palace of art and architecture as Mr. Smith has designed. —Chicago Record.

A New Secretary for the Kentucky Poultry Association.

I wish to announce to the Kentucky State Poultry Association the election of Mr. Frank G. Hogan, of O'Bannon, Ky., as Secretary of the K. S. P. A. vice Mr. Paul Wagner resigned. Mr. Hogan is a true fancier and a business man. His office and address is 425 W. Main, Louisville, Ky. He is in the same building with the Treasurer, Mr. J. L. Ormsby. The Association is to be congratulated on having secured such a secretary.

We shall have, from time to time, an occasional notice for the members throughout the State and for this paper to publish, and let me remind every member in the State to begin now to work for the show. Each one send us in one or two new names and exhibitors and the officers will try and do the rest.

Very respectfully,
A. H. Hite,
Pres. Ky. State Poultry Ass'n.

CASTORIA.

This is certainly a wonderful chance. We are aware that our people who suffer from nervous, chronic or sexual complaints do not have the same opportunity to be cured as do the residents of the great cities where the most eminent physicians and specialists reside. Dr. G. H. Towner, Detroit, Mich., (P. O. box 6), who has the largest practice in the world, and who is without doubt the most successful specialist in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, offers to give free consultation by mail to all sufferers. Write to him at once about your case. He will surely cure you.

The Doctor has just published a very instructive and interesting book entitled "Sexual Health and Marriage," that should be read by every man. He will send a copy free to anyone mentioning this paper and enclosing stamp for reply.
