The May Alkabeth, coming as usual on the fifteenth of each month, is so full of clever articles on authors and their latest work that it quite merits the title of a "Literary Number." It has two names on its title page that are new to the South. Prof. John H. Cutterson, the well-known Boston Organist, writing "A Man and His Music," a clever critical study of Chopin, based on a new life of the great musician; and Prof. Charles H. Livermore, formerly of Johns Hopkins, contributing a poem of considerable length that is both beautiful and strong. Capt. Usina's narrative of his adventures in the Confederate Navy well sustains the interest that previous chapters have aroused, and "Old Man Mack," writing from the South-west, adds to the fascination of his series, "Tales of a Tenderfoot," by the little story of "The Water in Greenhorn Gulch." Distinctive Southern literature has received a real addition by Mr. McKenzie's story of South Carolina life, "At the Head of the Big Road," in which aristocratic planters, Tillman politicians and Yankee gun clubs are cleverly mingled. Winthrop Stanford, in "A Literary Lawyer," tells entertainingly of Harris Dickson, the young Vicksburg jurist, who has made a hit in literature with "The Black Wolf's Breed," the article being accompanied by an excellent portrait. As is to be expected of a literary number, the book reviews the May Alkabeth are especially good, six of the leading new publications being discussed in signed reviews. The usual departments of the magazine are well sustained. Atlanta, Ga.

Rudyard Kipling, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, Ian Maclaren, Cyrus Townsend Brady, Julia Magruder and Mrs. Burton Kingsland are among the contributors to the June Ladies' Home Journal. Some of its notable features are: "The passion Play This Year," "The Richest Woman in America" (Hetty Green), "How Some Familiar Things Came to Be," and "The Masterpiece of Mary, Queen of Scots," picturing an apron worked by that unfortunate sovereign while in prison awaiting the executioner. Dr. S. Weir Mitchell's article, "When the College is Hurtful to a Girl," is sure of wide reading; so are Ian Maclaren's views on "The Minister and His Vacation," Mr. Kipling's "Just-So" story humorously accounts for the kangaroo's long hind legs, and is the best of his series. The fiction features of the June Journal are the opening chapters of Julia Magruder's new serial, "The Noise in the Choir," and "The Autobiography of a Girl." A drawing by A. E. Frost, "The Auction at the Farm," a series of photographs showing "Sol Smith Russell in His Summer Home," and views "Through Picturesque America," lend pictorial interest to the excellent number. By the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

"Everybody's Magazine for June is full of that sort of literature that is easy to read and hard to forget. The skilful admixture of information with interest, which is characteristic of the articles in this magazine is shown at its best.

The "Simple Explanation" of the month is entitled "Electricity and Some Other Puzzles." The author disclaims at the outset any intention of "explaining" what electricity is, for he says no explanation has yet been given. But he talks breezily along about the latest theories in regard to it and when the reader finishes he will have a very good idea of what it is thought to be, as well as a pretty clear understanding of the hypotheses that concern light, heat, gravitation and the atomic and molecular construction of matter. "The Descent of the Horse" is a well-illustrated article that traces in a bright and readable way the evolution of the animal from the earliest progenitor;—and who, it seems was about the size of a fox.

Two bright little doggerels are now floating the rounds of the press. One was delivered at a Washington banquet, and runs: Women have many faults, Men have only two, Everything they say, And everything they do.

Another effusion regarding men is this: "Man wants but little here below," The man who wrote that, lied. The average man wants everything And then is not satisfied.

Steady Girl Wanted. Several young men complain that they have no steady girl. It seems that they no sooner get fairly started with a girl, probably have the theatre tickets all bought, when the girl can't go because she has a sick headache. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin cures all forms of Stomach Trouble and Sick Headache. Girls—"A word to the wise" etc. Your friend, C. K. Wylly.

How To Cure a Sprain. Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 50-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. BABCOCK, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by R. C. Hardwick.

A woman in Idaho got a divorce from her husband because he would not take her to the Paris Exposition. He testified in court that he was afraid of water and that he was afraid of a bath tub even; he got so seasick. That man has Indigestion just as a good many others we know and should take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Get it at C. K. Wylly's.

HAS NATURE WARNED YOU? Nature herself clad in the early garb of spring, blossoms forth trees and flowers causing the despondent chord to vibrate to this, the most delightful of all, springtime and how do you feel? Have you that tired shakiness feeling the forerunner of Chills, Malaria and Typhoid Fever? If so, you must not pass this warning as it is an indication of sickness; avoid this, consult us as our advice costs you nothing. Call on your druggist and procure a bottle of Dr. Carlstedt's German Liver Powder. Take one dose a day at bed time for six days; then follow by procuring a bottle of Yucatan Chill Tonic, following the directions and after two weeks' course of these two great remedies, you will feel like the flowers look in the spring. Prepare yourself for the malarial or hot season when the atmosphere is full of germs. If necessary and when your system warns you, repeat the above. These Remedies in stock and sold by

F. F. Mouser, druggist at Chetopa, Kansas, says: "I have the best sale on Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin of any article in my store." So has C. K. Wylly.

The good die young, but the bad always outlive their usefulness.

A lazy liver may be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. A stick is all right for the back of a lazy man. But it would be a savage as well as a stupid thing to beat a weary man or a starving man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging liver it is a great mistake to lash it with drastic drugs. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred a torpid or sluggish liver is but a symptom of an ill-nourished body, whose organs are weary with overwork. Let your liver alone. Start with the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in proper working order, and see how quickly your liver will become active and energetic. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the deflection of other organs.
