LAST SAD RITES.

Body of the Dead President Buried at Canton.

State Funeral at Washington Tuesday And Body Viewed By Thousands.

Canton, O. Sept. 19.—After a State funeral at Washington Tuesday, the body of President McKinley was taken to Canton Wednesday and delivered to his townsmen. Every branch of the State Government was represented. The body was allowed to lie in state at the courthouse during the afternoon, where thousands, nearly all of whom had known him in life, passed in file to look upon the now scarcely familiar countenance. In the evening the casket was closed and taken to the McKinley home. Mrs. McKinley's condition was such that she could not participate in the funeral services to day in the little church where thirty years ago she was married. The final funeral services took place in the First Methodist church at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The services were short and simple. The body was then escorted by an imposing procession to Westlawn cemetery, where it was placed in a receiving vault.

Whole Town In Deep Mourning.
The whole town was in deep black. The only house in all this sorrow-stricken city without a piece of mourning drapery, strange as it may seem, was the old familiar McKinley cottage, on North Market street to which so many distinguished men in the country have made pilgrimages. The blinds were drawn, but there was no outward token of the blow that had robbed it of its most precious possession. The flowers bloomed on the lawn as they did two weeks ago. There was not even a bow of crepe upon the door when the stricken widow was carried by Abner McKinley and Dr. Rixey through it into the darkened home.

Only the hitching post at the curb in front of the residence had been swathed in black by friends in order that it might conform to the general scheme of mourning decoration that had been adopted.

Features Scarcely Familiar.
Sad as was the procession which bore the body to the courthouse, where it lay in state this afternoon, it could not compare with the sadness of that endless double line of people who streamed steadily through the dimly-lighted corridors of the building from the time the coffin was opened until it was taken home to the sorrowing widow at nightfall. Perhaps the great change that had come upon the countenance moved the people more than the sight of the familiar features.

The signs of discoloration which appeared upon the brow and cheeks yesterday at the state ceremonial in the rotunda of the Capitol in Washington had deepened. The lips had become livid. All but two of the lights from the chandelier above the head were extinguished in order that the change might appear less noticeable, but every one who viewed the body to-day remarked the darkened features and the ghastly lips.

SEAT OF WAR

In Hopkins County Not As Bad As Reported.

Two Hostile Forces in Camp But No Serious Trouble Has Occurred.

Madisonville, Ky., Sept. 18.—The probably fatal wounding of a non-union miner by unknown persons, who fired a half hundred shots through a house filled with sleeping negroes; the wounding of a young nonunion man by a deputy sheriff who mistook him for a trespassing union striker; harmless, but somewhat fear-inspiring, fusillades from the rifles of both strikers and guards; the arrival of probably 200 armed strikers from points outside the county; the swearing in of more deputies to be stationed with shouldered rifles and shotguns at various places designated by the mine operators, and the arrival of assistant Adj. Gen. Percy Haley, as the representative of Gov. Beckham, to investigate the situation with the view of reaching a conclusion on the question of calling out state troops—all these constitute the events which have made this a day not without excitement in Hopkins county.

The Situation.

And yet, while this array of facts presents seemingly a highly sensational situation, such a characterization might mislead one to believe that the people here were wrought to an intense pitch of excitement, when such is not the case.

Reinecke mine near Madisonville was idle again to-day. The account of the holding up of the non-union men yesterday by the union men was correctly given, there being no denial that the hold-up was by the men camping about Madisonville.

The Strikers' Claims.

Their friends assert that it is their only act of violence since the camp was formed. Many shots were fired at and in the vicinity of the Reinecke mine this morning and again late this afternoon, but it is asserted by the strikers that none of the shots were fired by them. They charge that guards at the Reinecke mine secreted themselves in a patch of woods near the mines and also adjacent to the strikers' camp and fired their rifles in order to create the impression that the strikers were resorting to further violence.

Union Men Arrested.

Andy Tuck, George Dockery, Wesley Cook, William Griffin and Thomas Coffman, all union men, were arrested to-day on the charge of confederating and banding together for the purpose of intimidating the employes of the Reinecke Coal Company. The first three were sent to jail in default of a bond of $200 to appear before Judge Hall Thursday for examining trial. Griffin and Coffman gave bond for their appearances, and were released. An effort may be made to resume operations in the Reinecke or the Monarch mines to-morrow.

Prisoners Taken to Hopkinsville.

County Judge Hall to-night issued an order to the Sheriff to convey to the Christian county jail in Hopkinsville Deputy Sheriff Lindle and his possemen, McIntosh and Johnson, who are in jail in this city convicted of the murder of Henry Taylor and William Cook, union miners at Carbondale last January. The movements of the union men of the past few days have been such that the officers fear an attempt would be made to do the prisoners harm should they remain in this city. This move was safely guarded, only two or three persons knowing that such a change was contemplated. The prisoners left on the midnight train, accompanied by Deputy Sheriffs.

WAITING FOR INFORMATION.

Gov. Beckham Orders Troops to Be Ready to Move.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 18.—After being in communication by telephone a number of times during the day with the civil officers of Hopkins county, the scene of the mining troubles, Gov. Beckham tonight determined to hold the troops in readiness in their armories until to-morrow when he will receive information regarding the situation from Circuit Judge Nunn and assistant Adj. Gen. Haley. Judge Nunn has as yet made no request that troops be sent, and he will go to Madisonville tonight to ascertain the true situation. Col. Haley also went to Madisonville for that purpose. The Governor does not intend to send the State troops into the mining section until the civil authorities are no longer able to force obedience to the law. The Hopkinsville, Owensboro and Bowling Green companies, and Battery A., of Louisville, are held under marching orders.

Mr. Cayce lived in this city a few years ago and was a salesman for Guynn & Bradshaw when they conducted a grocery on Ninth street. He was a gentleman who enjoyed the esteem of a host of friends and in his death that neighborhood has lost one of its best citizens. He was about 30 years old and a member of the Christian church.
