How He Hanged It.

During one of their college vacations Daniel Webster and his brother returned to their father's farm. Thinking he had a right to some return for the money he had expended on his education, the father gave them scythes and requested them to mow. Daniel made a few sweeps and then stopped to wipe his brow and rest.

"What is the matter, Dan?" asked his father.

"My scythe doesn't hang right, sir."

His father fixed it and Dan went to work again, but with no better success. Something was wrong with the implement, and was not long before it needed fixing again, when his father said, impatiently: "Well, hang it to suit yourself."

Daniel, with great composure, hung it on a near-by fence and returned from the field.—Philadelphia Press.

The Renewal a Strain.

Vacation is over. Again the school bell rings at morning and at noon, again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all except the most rugged. The little girl that a few days ago had roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health. Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic, which may avert much serious trouble, and we know of no other so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.

Had Solved the Problem.

George—Women are still pushing their way into all industries.

Jack—That's so. I have just been discharged to make way for a woman.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor of New Albany, Bradford County, Pa. "I was about to give up the trip when editor Ward of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one on the way and one before starting. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I got a bottle of this same remedy and one dose cured me. Sold by C. K. Wyly."

FACTS ABOUT COINS.

Government Loses in Coining Gold, but Profits on the Pennies.

A strange thing about our coining system is that the government loses money in coining gold, but makes a big profit in coining pennies, says the Boston Herald. For instance, in a ten-dollar gold piece there is exactly ten dollars' worth of gold and ten per cent. of copper—put in to harden the precious metal—besides the cost of minting. A silver piece of money is about half profit, but the penny pays Uncle Sam best of all, as the blanks are purchased at the rate of $7,300 per million. That is, the United States government obtains for 73-10 cents the copper blanks which by the process of stamping are transformed into one dollar's worth of pennies.

What becomes of the millions of pennies coined each year by the government is an unsolved problem. To supply the demand the mint at Philadelphia must keep on turning out new pennies at an average rate of 4,000,000 per month. This useful little coin has its beginning, of course, in a coppermine. By the process of smelting the copper is separated from the iron or lead or silver in the ore and is bought by agents who sell it to a firm in Waterbury, Conn., who are under a contract to supply the government with copper blanks—that is, pennies un-stamped. At Waterbury the new copper is melted and mixed with tin and zinc, according to a recipe prescribed by the treasury department at Washington, and then hardened into bricks. These are cut into slices the thickness of a cent and the strips are passed through the machines with punches that work up and down with enormous pressure and stamp out the little round disks just the size of a penny. These blanks are put up in strong boxes and sent by express to the mint at Philadelphia, where they are stamped with the head on one side and the denomination on the other.

In 1776 was coined a New York cent. The obverse bears a bust supposed to have been intended for Gen. Washington in the costume of the continental army; encircling it is the motto, "Non Vi Virtute Vici." The reverse has the figure of liberty, seated on a pedestal, holding in her right hand a staff surmounted by a liberty cap and in her left the scales of justice. Around the coin are the words "Neo Eboracensis," with the date in the exergue, 1786.

The Vermont cents were coined for four successive years. One variety has on the obverse an eye with rays extending from it which are divided into 13 stars; around the coin are the words "Quarta Decima Stella;" reverse, the sun rising from behind the mountains, a plow in the foreground, with the legend "Vermont Ersum Res Publica," with the date 1785. Another type has on the obverse a poorly cut head with the words "Vermont Auctori," on the reverse "Inde et Lib," with the date 1788. Another with the same legend reads "Et Lib Inde, 1788."

The Connecticut cents bear date 1785, 1786 and 1787. The obverse has a head with the words "Auctori Connee," on the reverse, a figure of Liberty holding a staff in one hand and an olive branch in the other, surrounded by the motto "Inde et Lib" and the date. There are many varieties of this cent, all of which are very poorly executed.

Without date is a cent having on one side the motto "Unanimity is the Strength of Society" encircling a hand holding a scroll on which is inscribed "Our Cause is Just." Reverse 15 stars in the form of a triangle; on the stars are indented the initials of the several states. Kentucky heading the column. This was struck at Lancaster, England, in 1791, for circulation in America and was called the Kentucky cent.

In 1787 the commonwealth of Massachusetts ordered from its mint a copper coin having on one side an Indian with his bow and arrow, near his forehead a star and around the coin the word "Commonwealth;" on the other side the American eagle, holding in his right talon an olive branch, in the left a bunch of arrows, on its breast a shield on which is inscribed the word "Cent" and around the edge of the coin "Massachusetts, 1787." Half cents of the same type were struck. The coinage was continued for two years, but upon the adoption of the constitution of the United States, which prohibited the several states from coining money, the mint was abolished. The mint was established by vote of the Massachusetts assembly in 1786, and $70,000 in cents and half cents were ordered to be made.

WEAKNESS.

There is a form of weakness to which women are subject which is responsible for much general ill-health and unhappiness; it is known as "female weakness." From this local cause can be traced the slow advance of failing health which not infrequently leaves the woman a chronic invalid.

No woman should allow womanly diseases to progress without proper treatment. The trouble is that these diseases progress, often, because of improper treatment.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can be relied on as a safe and sure cure for womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"My health is the best now that it has been for four years," writes Mrs. Phebe Morris, of Ira, Cayuga Co., N. Y., Box 52. "I have taken but two bottles of your medicine, 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' These medicines have done me more good than all that I have taken before. I could do my work only about half the time, and now I can work all the time for a family of four. Before I took your medicines I was sick in bed nearly half the time. My advice to all who are troubled with female weakness is to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery'—the most wonderful medicines in the world."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (TEETHING POWDERS)

Dr. J. W. Berry (of Arkansas Methodist Conference, writes): "Enclosed find fifty cents for which please mail me two packages of 'TEETHINA.' We wonder how we have raised children without it. The other day a lady in Missouri sent me a package and it came at a most opportune time; our babe was in a serious condition; his bowels had been in that condition for days, and nothing that we gave did any good; the second dose of 'TEETHINA' gave perfect relief and he has had no further trouble. Other members of the family have used it and every dose has been a perfect success."
